Students Stalking Elusive Seats In Too-Full Classes

By BRUCE COLEMAN

"It's a damn shame that a county as rich as this has to have 70 kids in a class. Teachers can't teach under these conditions."

Speaking was Del Mar, a Negro student from Mill Valley, who was sweating as he carried a large Malcolm X Day poster and some flyers across the College of Marin campus in Monday's rain.

His complaint, echoed by many other students at College of Marin, was voiced as students scurried about the campus, many without chance of success, to find a place in classrooms offering courses needed for completion of their educational programs.

With enrollment about 1,000 students more than last spring, much of the increase attributed by college officials to disturbances on other Bay Area campuses, one student described the situation as amounting to running around "with a hunting license for courses."

Asked if he was affected by the high enrollment and dearth of classes this spring semester, Mar replied: "In political science class, the teacher said, 'We have almost 70 kids.' I said, 'I'll Wait'."

Mary Griffin, a pretty, long-haired brunette, granted there are problems getting into classes but, to fight this, she advocates "persistency."

Miss Griffin, dressed in trousers and a pea coat, said, "A lot of people are too naive. They will never get what they want. They're not persistent enough to keep after it."

The psychology major noted that she was on a waiting list for a human relations class but kept returning until she was admitted.

Olive-skinned Warren Lim from Honolulu reported he tried to get two classes during last week's "hunting season" but both were closed. One was in photography, his minor. Another was psychology. He couldn't get in the latter so he took anthropology which will fulfill his general education requirement.

This is a disadvantage, he said, because he still has to take photography and wants to take psychology.

Sitting in the Student Center in a yellow rain jacket was Todd Patterson who said he was snookered out of three classes, all closed — psychology, sociology and social geography.

"There were waiting lists but there were like 50 on most of them," said Patterson. "So I took different classes."

It's a loss to him, he continued, because he didn't get as many classes as he wanted. He is signed up for twelve-and-one-

Failure Of Bonds Linked To Unrest

San Rafael Elementary School District's $2.1 million bond proposal was defeated at the polls yesterday, failing to garner the necessary two-thirds majority.

The unofficial final count was 3,729 yes votes and 2,459 no, for a 60.26 per cent favorable vote.

There were 6,188 votes cast, a 37.9 per cent turnout.

Dr. John F. Plank, superintendent of schools, said the defeat reflected taxpayer criticism of the present turbulence on college campuses.

Since rejection of the bond issue also "reflects on the quality of education in the district and on the children, it's deplorable," Plank said.

He declined to predict the board of education's next course.

Passage of the bonds would have provided $1,577,900 toward construction of a Glenwood Middle School and $522,100 for improvements at the district's 14 existing schools.

The financing also would have enabled the district to switch to a middle school program, eliminating sixth grades in neighborhood schools.

The bond measure was a scaled down version of a $3.1 million bond proposal which was defeated by district voters in October, 1967.

In 1964 district voters approved a $3.3 million bond issue.

The proposal was heavily favored in the Glenwood School area as expected, but failed to get even a majority vote in the Davidson Junior High School area.

The voter turnout was one of the two lowest in special bond and tax elections in Marin County since the start of last year. A 38 per cent turnout — almost

Zucker Claims Grand Jury Story Distorted

County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker, who was criticized by the 1968 grand jury, reported today that "relations with this year's grand jury were very cordial."

"Withing the constraints of the grand jury system we believe they have attempted to do a good job," said Zucker.

He said the news article in Saturday's Independent-Journal appears to be a distortion of the grand jury's report.

"Nowhere does the report use the words, 'rude, arrogant and extravagant' as headlined by the news article. Nowhere does the report indicate members of the planning staff other than the planning director were interviewed by the jury as implied."

(The grand jury report, on page 10, said: "Plans would be submitted . . . necessary changes made to meet various requirements of the law, only to be thrown out by the planning director on some technicality or new thought. . . From other witnesses, evidence of similar arbitrariness was received. . . Does the planning director consider himself the only competent staff arbiter?"

(The following page said "it came as a surprise to this committee how often the planning director became an advocate of his own position before other bodies which was at variance to the commission's decision." It called this "a distortion."

(On page 11, it charged the director with "uneconomic and, at times, capricious application and administration of planning objectives." On the same page, it urged that "the planning department budget be carefully scrutinized" and listed planning cost of $1.91 per capita in Marin, compared with other Bay Area counties ranging from $1.10 in Sonoma down to 24 cents in Alameda.

(On page 12, it recommended "that the planning director, in some manner, should be made to realize that he is a public servant and that the public is entitled to cordial service.")

Zucker said the grand jury report was not accurate when it suggested he refused to furnish the number of applicants for

Deadline Nears For Ballot Spots

The deadline to file candidacy papers for mayor and for the city council and board of education of San Rafael is noon tomorrow, according to City Clerk W. C. Cornwell.

Only incumbents have filed thus far. They are Mayor C. Paul Bettini, Councilmen Fred C. Robbins Jr. and Harry A. Barbier and Lawrence I. Kramer and Paul L. Jones, members of the board of education.

A typographical error in yesterday's Independent-Journal said that Bettini, Barbier and Robbins had "failed" to retain their seats in the April 15 election. It should have said the three filed to keep their seats.

Also, Jones names was omitted from the school board filings.

Nixon Says Poverty War Stays

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon told Congress today he is stripping the Office of Economic Opportunity of two major programs—Head Start and the Job Corps—and delegating their work elsewhere.

In a special message, however, Nixon promised to keep OEO alive as an "incubator" for experimental programs bearing on the antipoverty campaign.

And he called for a national commitment aimed at "providing all American children an opportunity for healthful and stimulating development during the first five years of life."

During his campaign for the presidency, Nixon described Head Start as "one of the programs that deserves continuing, and could even be accelerated." But he said the Job Corps should be eliminated, declaring, "This is one program that has been a failure."

Effective July 1, the popular Head Start program, to offer summertime preschooling to deprived youngsters, will be delegated to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

On the same day, responsibility for the Job Corps, which seeks to train school dropouts and unskilled jobless youths for gainful employment, will be delegated to the Labor Department.

The President proposed no new legislation in his message but promised that before June 30 "I will send Congress a comprehensive proposal for the future of the poverty program, including recommendations for revising and extending the act itself beyond its scheduled 1970 expiration."

He said he would ask Congress to also extend for one year authorization for anti-poverty appropriations that run out on June 30.

Nixon, while critical of some aspects of administration of poverty funds, said OEO has proven "the value of having in the federal government an agency whose special concern is the poor."

Court Told How Sirhan Practiced

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan spent at least five hours at a firing range the day before Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was fatally shot, using up at least eight boxes of ammunition and at times shooting as fast as he could, witnesses at his murder trial said today.

One said Sirhan commented that his gun was powerful enough "to kill a dog."

This was the fourth day of testimony at Sirhan's trial on a charge he killed the New York senator after the latter's win in the California presidential primary last June.

Michael Saccoman, one of several who said they saw Sirhan at the San Gabriel Valley Gun Club last June 4, was asked if he discussed hunting with the defendant.

"He said he was going on a hunting trip with the gun. I told him it was against the law because you can't use pistols. I explained the reason was lack of accuracy," Saccoman said.

Asked for Sirhan's reaction to that, Saccoman said the defendant said: "I don't know about that. It would kill a dog." Saccoman said he took this to mean it was powerful enough to kill an animal.

State Students Balk; Judge Orders Pleas

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Municipal Judge Walter Calcagno ordered innocent pleas entered yesterday for 110 of the 456 demonstrators arrested during a demonstration last month at San Francisco State College.

He issued the order after the defendants filed past the judge and refused to enter pleas. Instead, they demanded copies of the complaints filed against them.

The remainder of the defendants are scheduled to enter pleas before Judge Calcagno today, tomorrow and Friday. The demonstrators were charged with disturbing the peace, failing to disperse and illegal assembly on Jan. 23.

Calcagno said the defendants would be tried in lots of 10, beginning March 17. He ordered the public defender's office to represent the students, few of whom had representation during yesterday's appearance.

The San Francisco State Legal Defense Committee, the legal arm of the Third World Liberation Front, requested an immediate end to arrests and prosecution of strikers. It asked the court to declare unconstitutional sections of the California Penal Code dealing with unlaw-

Campus Violence Bills Set; Reagan Sounds A Warning

Both Reagan and the Senate Judiciary Committee moved against militant dissidents yesterday—Reagan in a strong statement at his news conference and the committee in approving new student control legislation, clearing the way for final Senate action.

The governor reiterated his belief that a group of students forced the enrollment of 40 people at knifepoint at a state college, and cited this as part of a pattern of violence. His office later identified the college as San Francisco State.

"It never happened," replied a San Francisco State spokesman.

He said Reagan might have been referring to an incident last summer when some high school students of Latin descent entered the office of Charles Stone, San Francisco State's dean of admissions. They asked for admission of more Mexican-Americans and others with a Latin background.

Reagan, however, said he learned of the incident when it was reported to state college trustees at a closed-door meeting, by "an administrative of-

Israeli Warns Arabs Over Jet Attacks

Jet In Zurich Takeoff Hit By Guerrilla Fire

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel warned Arab nations and airlines today they must "take immediate measures to prevent further attacks on Israel's air routes." It claimed the moral right and ability to break up guerrilla raids at any place.

Transport Minister Moshe Carmel outlined the government's position before the Knesset, Israel's Parliament, in Jerusalem in the wake of the Arab attack on an El Al jetliner in Switzerland yesterday.

The jet, a Boeing 720, was attacked as it taxied down a runway at Zurich's Kloten airport. Fire by the guerrillas, three men and a woman, came from behind a snowbank.

Six of the 27 passengers were wounded with the most serious being trainee pilot Yoran Peres. He was hit in the abdomen by three bullets.

One of the four raiders was gunned down, and the three others taken into custody. Also the passenger, who allegedly did the shooting, was detained by Swiss police, an El Al spokesman said.

"Israel's air routes are of the highest security priority", he said. "Israel has the full moral right and operational ability to take all necessary defensive

Supervisors Veto $15,000 For EOC

Marin County Economic Council will not get an extra $15,000 from county reserves to run its program for the coming year, the Marin County Board of Supervisors decided yesterday. (Other supervisors stories, page 24.)

Supervisors stressed they were turning down the request only because the county's own budget is still unclear, and the extent of shortages will not be known until budget discussions begin in June.

Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson of Fairfax, member of the EOC, and Victor H. Carey, executive director, appealed for the extra $15,000 for the program year, from April 1 this year to March 30 of next year.

They said two more staff members, costing $15,000, are needed to carry on the current level of work. The anticipated total budget, including the $15,000, is $174,000.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar noted that $147,000 of the $174,000 is allocated to wages. "What do all these people do?" he asked.

"As Mr. Baar says, most of the money seems to be going to salaries," declared Michael Wornum. Until he gets more information, Wornum said he does not feel qualified to vote on the request.

"I am sympathetic to the EOC program but until we go through our budget sessions, I will not vote another dollar for this," said chairman John F. McInnis.

Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. declared the EOC is moving in the right direction. "If we play too close to the hilt, we may remove the impetus created by the new board (of the EOC)."

Cary and Mrs. Wilson acknowledged that the county has already committed $25,000 for the EOC, and the $15,000 would bring the total county contribution to $40,000.

But without the extra $15,000, Carey said he would lose valuable field workers. "Personally, I have to admit I've reached battle fatigue."

"Lots of people have battle fatigue," replied Baar. "People are getting tired of taxes, so battle fatigue is not only one way."

The supervisors concluded they are all in favor of the EOC program, but they cannot commit $15,000 more at this time while the county's own budget is still up in the air.

Marin Road Damage Set At $200,000

Marin County supervisors yesterday declared the county a disaster area at the request of County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost, who reported road damages amounting to $200,000 since the rainstorms hit last December.

Frost said the supervisors must proclaim a state of emergency in order to qualify for various federal aid for damages wrought by the rain and windstorm.

"There is no price tag attached to the amount of federal aid," said Frost. On county road damage, the federal government provides a certain percentage of the amount of damage over the normal, he explained. In 1967, Frost recalled that road damages came to $300,000, and the government chipped in about $160,000.

Aid from the Small Business Administration also goes to some losses suffered by private individuals and special districts, said Frost.

He told the supervisors that one house off Laverne Avenue in Homestead Valley was demolished, and several others are threatened by slides.

Supervisors stressed they were turning down the request only because the county's own budget is still unclear, and the extent of shortages will not be known until budget discussions begin in June.

Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson of Fairfax, member of the EOC, and Victor H. Carey, executive director, appealed for the extra $15,000 for the program year, from April 1 this year to March 30 of next year.

They said two more staff members, costing $15,000, are needed to carry on the current level of work. The anticipated total budget, including the $15,000, is $174,000.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar noted that $147,000 of the $174,000 is allocated to wages. "What do all these people do?" he asked.

"As Mr. Baar says, most of the money seems to be going to salaries," declared Michael Wornum. Until he gets more information, Wornum said he does not feel qualified to vote on the request.

"I am sympathetic to the EOC program but until we go through our budget sessions, I will not vote another dollar for this," said chairman John F. McInnis.

Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. declared the EOC is moving in the right direction. "If we play too close to the hilt, we may remove the impetus created by the new board (of the EOC)."

Cary and Mrs. Wilson acknowledged that the county has already committed $25,000 for the EOC, and the $15,000 would bring the total county contribution to $40,000.

But without the extra $15,000, Carey said he would lose valuable field workers.

"Personally, I have to admit I've reached battle fatigue."

"Lots of people have battle fatigue," replied Baar. "People are getting tired of taxes, so battle fatigue is not only one way."

The supervisors concluded they are all in favor of the EOC program, but they cannot commit $15,000 more at this time while the county's own budget is still up in the air.

Marin Road Damage Set At $200,000

Marin County supervisors yesterday declared the county a disaster area at the request of County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost, who reported road damages amounting to $200,000 since the rainstorms hit last December.

Frost said the supervisors must proclaim a state of emergency in order to qualify for various federal aid for damages wrought by the rain and windstorm.

"There is no price tag attached to the amount of federal aid," said Frost. On county road damage, the federal government provides a certain percentage of the amount of damage over the normal, he explained. In 1967, Frost recalled that road damages came to $300,000, and the government chipped in about $160,000.

Aid from the Small Business Administration also goes to some losses suffered by private individuals and special districts, said Frost.

He told the supervisors that one house off Laverne Avenue in Homestead Valley was demolished, and several others are threatened by slides.

Pentagon Seeking To Cut Draft Call

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon planners say the draft ultimately could be cut to just a few hundred men a month if enough money and effort are spent on recruiting, improving morale and polishing the services' image.

While more money is important, the officials say a higher pay scale won't be enough alone to attract and hold the volunteers needed even when the Vietnam war ends and U.S. forces are cut by 700,000 men.

What is needed, they contend, is a concerted drive to "improve morale and job satisfaction," to burnish the "overall service image" and stage an intensive recruiting effort.

If this works out, then the draft could be used mostly to obtain doctors and other specialists.

However, some senior Pentagon officials would regard it a victory if the draft—now taking about 33,000 men a month—could be trimmed to 2,000 or 3,000 monthly after the war is ended.

They recall that inductions fell to the 3,000 mark in February 1965, only a few months before the big Vietnam war buildup which led to drafting of as many as 48,000 a month.

Few officials are for a complete abolishment of the draft.

While the Pentagon tries to work out a long-range plan moving in the direction of an all-volunteer force, efforts also are under way to erase draft inequities, chiefly by switching to a lottery system, provided Congress approves.

White House Silent On Moscow Visit Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has refused to knock down speculation that President Nixon already has been invited to visit the Soviet Union.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler was asked yesterday whether Nixon had been invited to meet with Soviet leaders and said he didn't have anything to report on the subject.

Reminded that was not a denial, Ziegler said:

"I wouldn't discuss anything in relation to this speculation."

Talk about an invitation escalated following Nixon's hour-long conference Monday with Soviet Ambassador Anatoliy Dobrynin—a session that lasted twice as long as scheduled.

In his most recent news conference, Nixon scoffed at "instant summitry" but indicated he would be glad to talk with Soviet leaders later after full advance preparations.

Ziegler flatly ruled out the possibility Nixon would add Moscow to the intinerary of his five-nation Western European trip that starts Sunday.

No American president has ever visited the Soviet Union. An invitation to Dwight D. Eisenhower was canceled in 1960 after the U2 spy plane was shot down over Russia.

Soviet leaders were believed to have been interested in meeting with former President Johnson in hopes of offsetting criticism for the invasion of Czechoslovakia, a goal some say they still hope to achieve by an early Nixon visit.

Wilkinson Or Morton May Replace Bliss

WASHINGTON (AP) — The names of Maryland Congressman Rogers C. B. Morton and former football coach Charles "Bud" Wilkinson were prominent today in speculation over a new republican national chairman.

President Nixon, however, apparently intends to wait until returning from his European trip early in March before naming a replacement for Ray Bliss.

Bliss, who served as national chairman for four years, told Nixon in a letter released by the White House yesterday that he plans to resign by mid-April and return to his insurance business in Akron, Ohio.

Morton aides said he remains in the dark about whether he will be offered the assignment. Morton himself declined comment.

A Nixson associate who predicted shortly after the November election that Bliss was on his way out, named Morton and Wilkinson, former University of Oklahoma football coach and now GOP national committeeman from that state, as front-runners.

Washington Campus Hit By Unrest

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The current wave of student unrest spread to predominantly Negro Howard University in Washington, D.C., while black students at the University of Wisconsin in Madison called for a cooling-off period.

At Howard several hundred students occupied the law school building yesterday morning seeking a meeting with the faculty to discuss demands. They left early today after a U. S. marshal read a temporary court injunction ordering them out.

There was no violence but protest leaders said their protest would continue today with a boycott of classes.

Elsewhere there were these developments:

Madison, Wis.—Black students called for a temporary halt in the class boycotts and disruptions ending 10 days of turmoil on campus. Chancellor H. Edwin Young said a "substantial portion" of the 1,900 National Guardsmen called out at the height of the crisis has been deactivated.

The Negroes urged whites to return to classes and win faculty over to their cause but vowed they would continue their own boycott to back a list of 13 demands including creation of an autonomous black studies department.

Chapel Hill, N.C—Leaders of the Black Student Movement at the University of North Carolina said they would resort to "revolutionary tactics" if their demands for a black students studies program and other concessions are not met by Friday.

Philadelphia—About 700 protesters began a sit-in last night at the University of Pennsylvania administration building to protest a new $10 million science center. They said construction of the center would displace residents of a poverty area.

Providence, R.I.—Several students at Moses Brown School, a college preparatory institution, refused to wear their required shirts and ties to protest the expulsion of two students for drunkeness and suspension of another for wearing his hair too long.

Stink Bombs, Violence Spark 13 U.C. Arrests

BERKELEY (UPI)—Thirteen more persons were arrested at the strike-torn University of California Tuesday during five hours of sporadic violence in which stink bombs were thrown, many windows broken, and police pelted with rocks and bottles. (Related stories, page 7.)

A scheduled noontime rally on Sproul Hall steps by the newly-organized Radical Student Union was canceled by school authorities and this angered the strikers and heightened the tempo of protest.

Another event which incensed strikers occurred with the rough arrest of Jim Nabors, leader of the Third World Liberation Front which is in the vanguard of the strike.

Students closed in and then patrolmen moved into the crowd, swinging nightsticks and receiving taunts and obscenities. Nine of the arrests occurred there.

Eleven of those arrested were students, bringing the total to 90 students arrested so far. The administration has begun moving to hold hearings in the cases of the arrested students.

Stink bombs exploded in the crowded student cafeteria and outside administration offices in Sproul Hall. Groups of pickets also clogged traffic in the nearby downtown Berkeley area and went to other campus entrances. A few demonstrators also went on a rampage through the Life Sciences Building, breaking inner glass doors and windows.

Patrolmen and deputies formed a wedge and got the demonstrators rounded up near Sproul Hall, but not before rocks, bottles and any debris at hand were thrown at them by some of the militants.

In another move, the administration called for a hearing regarding the Third World Liberation Front which could lead to the group's interim suspension as a campus organization.

Plane Carrying 35 Missing; Search On

HAWTHORNE, Nev. (UPI)—Ground parties, some on skis or snowshoes, battled rain and heavy snow today in their search for a DC3 airliner missing with 35 persons aboard on a "gamblers flight."

"We've got three good leads," said Col. Clarence Brown of the Western Air-Sea Rescue Service headquartered at Hamilton Air Force Base. However, he said, all but two of 37 search planes remained grounded today by the weather.

The clues came from persons who reported hearing the sounds of twin engines which suddenly stopped.

At the Circle L ranch near Dyer, Nev., a cowboy said "I thought it was coming right through the house," Col. Brown said.

The leads placed the DC3, similar to the C47 which was the workhorse of World War II, in an area deep in snow around Mount Tom and Mount Montgomery on the California-Nevada border, about 50 air miles from Hawthorne, Nev., where it took off at 4:06 a.m. yesterday.

The plane, carrying 32 passengers and a crew of three, was operated by Mineral County Airlines, which also conducts business as Hawthorne Nevada Airlines.

Most of the passengers were on the return leg of a flight that carries Southern California customers to a Hawthorne casino on an overnight $10 excursion plan which includes air fare, dinner and cocktails.

The flight originated Monday night in Long Beach, where 14 persons boarded the plane. Eighteen others were picked up later at Burbank, where they were due to return at 6:30 a.m. yesterday.

The air search was called off at sundown Tuesday but crews with jeeps, four-wheel drive vehicles, snowshoes and skis continued the ground search throughout the night.

Yesterday Hamilton ordered three HC130 Hercules rescue aircrafts for the search party. The planes are part of the base's 41st Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Squadron.

One of the planes is operating out of Hamilton and the other two from Nellis Air Force Base, near Las Vegas.

measures at any place to break up the ring of terrorism on the airways and assure that Israel has completely free air traffic."

He singled out neighboring Lebanon and declared the government in Beirut had the duty to "uproot any nest of piracy from its territory."

Carmel's words received close attention throughout Israel. He was the first high-ranking government official to blame Lebanon for the Arab attack on an Israeli jet at Athens in December. Israeli commandos subsequently struck Beirut's International Airport and destroyed 13 Lebanese planes.

Carmel said the hijack of an El Al plane to Algiera last July and the attacks in Athens and Zurich all originated in Israel's view, from Lebanon. He pointed out the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine took full credit for the Swiss incident in a statement published in Beirut yesterday.

He warned of "complete chaos among the airways of the Middle East unless" the attacks are halted and added: "Safeguarding air safety is important not only to Israel but the Arabs and all the Arab airlines who want to keep their routes open. They should take immediate action."

identical — rejected a tax ceiling increase in Sausalito School District on March 5, 1968.

Bolinas-Stinson School District had a 56 per cent turnout for a bond issue election (also unsuccessful) on April 2, 1968.

Turnouts were 48 per cent in Novato for a municipal bond issue election and 68 per cent in Ross for a town tax rate increase on Jan. 23 of last year — the Novato bonds failing and the Ross tax (which required only a simple majority) passing.

The unofficial voting count by precincts was:

Sun Valley School, 201 yes, 151 no; West End School, 139 yes, 228 no; San Rafael City Hall, 170 yes, 153 no; Farley residence, 1480 Lincoln Avenue, 150 yes, 94 no; Gallinas School, 211 yes, 138 no; John MacPhail School, 217 yes, 114 no; Oliver Hartzell School, 235 yes, 128 no; San Pedro School, 168 yes, 103 no; San Rafael Boy Scout Hall, 76 yes, 107 no; San Rafael City Schools Administration Building, 141 yes, 154 no.

Glenn S. Dumke, chancellor of the state colleges, said the incident happened "some time ago," although the participants — whom he identified as Negroes — now deny using knives. "but if they were not, it was quite clear they might as well have been," he said of the reported use of knives.

Reagan made it clear he will continue his strong stand, declaring "the very quality and the very success of our educational institutions is at stake and I don't think it is confined to California."

Less than two hours before he made the statement, members of the Senate Judiciary Committee completed action on the first of some 65 measures introduced to combat protesters.

Sent to the Senate floor on a bipartisan vote was a bill making it a felony — with a maximum state prison sentence of 10 years — to assault a campus police officer. The offense is now a misdemeanor, punishable by a maximum one year in the county jail.

Approved and referred to the Finance Committee was a bill giving campus officials the power to remove faculty, students or outsiders whose presence "threatens the orderly operation" of the institution. Present trespass law gives officials only the power to tell outsiders to leave the campus.

The committee also sent to the floor a resolution telling university, state college, junior college and local school officials to enforce current campus rules and file criminal charges against dissidents if necessary.

MARIN FIRE CALLS

ful assembly, failure to disperse and disturbing the peace.

The committee's suit listed as defendants Acting President S. I. Hayakawa of the strike-torn school, Police Chief Thomas J. Cahill and District Attorney John Ferdon.

Other developments:

Student Body President Russell Blass described as "groundless" charges by the State Attorney General's Office that his administration has mishandled student funds. About $500,000 in such funds were frozen by court order.

The administration prohibited students who have been arrested since November from working in its program for minority students. The ban applied to 32 positions in the campus Education Opportunity program.

Striking members of the American Federation of Teachers continued discussions on a proposal to end their walkout, which began Jan. 6. It provides reinstatement of strikers whose "separation notices" have been sent to the State Controller. As of Tuesday, 187 such notices had been received in Sacramento and 23 more were expected.

building permits and the number of permits issued. "Such material was included in my presentation to the grand jury and is also included in numerous public documents such as the county annual budget and the department's annual report.

"We did refuse to furnish information on the number of applications filed, with a decision not to build. As we explained to the jury our records are not organized this way. Nor do we have any way of knowing when a decision not to build was made. For example, it is not uncommon to find approved subdivisions still having vacant lots after 20 years."

The grand jury report noted that applicants should be treated politely and with respect. "We strive to do so," said Zucker. "We recognize our role as public servants. In doing so, we realize that the public must be defined, not only as the applicant, but also the over 200,000 residents of the county as well as the future residents of the county. This is what planning is all about."

Plane Carrying 35 Missing; Search On

HAWTHORNE, Nev. (UPI)—Ground parties, some on skis or snowshoes, battled rain and heavy snow today in their search for a DC3 airliner missing with 35 persons aboard on a "gamblers flight."

"We've got three good leads," said Col. Clarence Brown of the Western Air-Sea Rescue Service headquartered at Hamilton Air Force Base. However, he said, all but two of 37 search planes remained grounded today by the weather.

At the Circle L ranch near Dyer, Nev., a cowboy said "I thought it was coming right through the house," Col. Brown said.

The leads placed the DC3, similar to the C47 which was the workhorse of World War II, in an area deep in snow around Mount Tom and Mount Montgomery on the California-Nevada border, about 50 air miles from Hawthorne, Nev., where it took off at 4:06 a.m. yesterday.

The plane, carrying 32 passengers and a crew of three, was operated by Mineral County Airlines, which also conducts business as Hawthorne Nevada Airlines.

Most of the passengers were on the return leg of a flight that carries Southern California customers to a Hawthorne casino on an overnight $10 excursion plan which includes air fare, dinner and cocktails.

The flight originated Monday night in Long Beach, where 14 persons boarded the plane. Eighteen others were picked up later at Burbank, where they were due to return at 6:30 a.m. yesterday.

The air search was called off at sundown Tuesday but crews with jeeps, four-wheel drive vehicles, snowshoes and skis continued the ground search throughout the night.

Yesterday Hamilton ordered three HC130 Hercules rescue aircrafts for the search party. The planes are part of the base's 41st Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Squadron.

One of the planes is operating out of Hamilton and the other two from Nellis Air Force Base, near Las Vegas.

measures at any place to break up the ring of terrorism on the airways and assure that Israel has completely free air traffic."

He singled out neighboring Lebanon and declared the government in Beirut had the duty to "uproot any nest of piracy from its territory."

Carmel's words received close attention throughout Israel. He was the first high-ranking government official to blame Lebanon for the Arab attack on an Israeli jet at Athens in Decem ber. Israeli commandos subsequently struck Beirut's International Airport and destroyed 13 Lebanese planes.

Carmel said the hijack of an El Al plane to Algiera last July and the attacks in Athens and Zurich all originated in Israel's view, from Lebanon. He pointed out the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine took full credit for the Swiss incident in a statement published in Beirut yesterday.

He warned of "complete chaos among the airways of the Middle East unless" the attacks are halted and added: "Safeguarding air safety is important not only to Israel but the Arabs and all the Arab airlines who want to keep their routes open. They should take immediate action."

Glenn S. Dumke, chancellor of the state colleges, said the incident happened "some time ago," although the participants — whom he identified as Negroes — now deny using knives. "but if they were not, it was quite clear they might as well have been," he said of the reported use of knives.

Reagan made it clear he will continue his strong stand, declaring "the very quality and the very success of our educational institutions is at stake and I don't think it is confined to California."

Less than two hours before he made the statement, members of the Senate Judiciary Committee completed action on the first of some 65 measures introduced to combat protesters.

Sent to the Senate floor on a bipartisan vote was a bill making it a felony — with a maximum state prison sentence of 10 years — to assault a campus police officer. The offense is now a misdemeanor, punishable by a maximum one year in the county jail.

Approved and referred to the Finance Committee was a bill giving campus officials the power to remove faculty, students or outsiders whose presence "threatens the orderly operation" of the institution. Present trespass law gives officials only the power to tell outsiders to leave the campus.

The committee also sent to the floor a resolution telling university, state college, junior college and local school officials to enforce current campus rules and file criminal charges against dissidents if necessary.

Petaluma Child, 5, Injured By A Truck

A 5-year-old Petaluma boy was struck yesterday at 3:45 p.m. by a truck at McGregor Avenue and South McDowell Boulevard.

Arnold James McClymonds, 705 Regina Cou, was treated by a private physician. Police said he stepped into the path of a truck driven by Michael L. Sepulveda, 40, of Santa Rosa.

ful assembly, failure to disperse and disturbing the peace.

The committee's suit listed as defendants Acting President S. I. Hayakawa of the strike-torn school, Police Chief Thomas J. Cahill and District Attorney John Ferdon.

Other developments:

Student Body President Russell Blass described as "groundless" charges by the State Attorney General's Office that his administration has mishandled student funds. About $500,000 in such funds were frozen by court order.

The administration prohibited students who have been arrested since November from working in its program for minority students. The ban applied to 32 positions in the campus Education Opportunity program.

Striking members of the American Federation of Teachers continued discussions on a proposal to end their walkout, which began Jan. 6. It provides reinstatement of strikers whose "separation notices" have been sent to the State Controller. As of Tuesday, 187 such notices had been received in Sacramento and 23 more were expected.

building permits and the number of permits issued. "Such material was included in my presentation to the grand jury and is also included in numerous public documents such as the county annual budget and the department's annual report.

"We did refuse to furnish information on the number of applications filed, with a decision not to build. As we explained to the jury our records are not organized this way. Nor do we have any way of knowing when a decision not' to build was made. For example, it is not uncommon to find approved subdivisions still having vacant lots after 20 years."

The grand jury report noted that applicants should be treated politely and with respect. "We strive to do so," said Zucker. "We recognize our role as public servants. In doing so, we realize that the public must be defined, not only as the applicant, but also the over 200,000 residents of the county as well as the future residents of the county. This is what planning is all about."

ON THE WAY DOWN — Parachutes billow as a U.S. Air Force C130 drops supplies on a remote airstrip in South Vietnam. The parachutes pull the cargo from the belly of the plane and permit the plane to deliver supplies to bases where runways can handle only small, light aircraft. The operation has been stepped up since a new Red push started last weekend.

Red Push Costly Near Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — American Air Cavalrymen clashed briefly today with North Vietnamese troops who military sources said were moving into attack positions 35 miles northeast of Saigon.

Sharp fighting also was reported 18 miles north of Saigon, in the Mekong Delta, south of the capital, and along the jungle trails from Laos and the A Shau valley, west of Da Nang and Hue.

U.S. and South Vietnamese forces reported killing 145 enemy soldiers at a cost of six Americans and 13 South Vietnamese killed, 13 Americans and 33 South Vietnamese wounded and seven South Vietnamese missing.

Allied troops also uncovered many more tons of rice and munitions near the Cambodian border, another indication the enemy is still trying to stock up for an offensive in the Saigon area, military spokesmen said.

The American Air Cavalrymen were riding helicopter gunships looking for troops from the North Vietnamese 5th Division in the triple-canopied jungle of War Zone D. Suddenly they spotted several men in an opening and cut into them with machine guns.

A short while later, Air Cavalrymen on the ground discovered the bodies of 15 North Vietnamese killed by the gunships. Two-and-one-half hours later, more Air Cavalrymen were landed to pursue the enemy.

A U.S. spokesman said American bombers and artillery sent the North Vietnamese fleeing through the jungle, and eventually all contact was lost during the afternoon.

Military sources said troops of North Vietnam's 5th Division are moving through War Zone D to join up with an independent regiment and two sapper battalions for an attack, most likely on major allied bases and headquarters just north of Saigon.

Pueblo Crew Claims No Capture Training

CORONADO (UPI) — The Navy sent the 83 men of the USS Pueblo on a spy mission to the edge of a Communist country without telling them how to behave if captured.

That was the testimony yesterday of three officers of the Pueblo before a Navy court of inquiry into the ship's capture off the coast of North Korea Jan. 23, 1968. The hearing is in its third phase, dealing with the conduct of the men in captivity.

The secret testimony resumed today before a board of five admirals with four more witnesses waiting to describe their 11 months in a Korean prison.

Still at the witness table when today's session opened was to be Lt. (j.g.) Timothy Harris 23, Jacksonville, Fla., who began telling the court his story yesterday. Harris was to be followed today by CWO Gene H. Lacy, 37, Seattle.

Like two other officers who testified before him, Harris said his only advice on how to behave as a prisoner of war came before he was commissioned, when he was still in Officer Candidate School.

There, he was told about the U.S. government's official code of conduct for men who became prisoners of war. It forbids any form of collaboration with the enemy and requires a servicemen to tell his captors only his name, rank, service number and date of birth.

Harris said he received no more instructions after he left OCS, even when he was assigned to the Pueblo, an electronic espionage vessel. His testimony paralleled that of Lt. Edward R. Murphy Jr., the Pueblo's second in command, and Lt. (j.g.) Frederick C. Schumacher, the operations officer.

All three said that after violent beatings by the Koreans they agreed to sign "confessions" the Pueblo entered Korean waters and engaged in espionage.

The only variation to their stories involved the length of time they held out.

Schumacher said he stood his ground in the face of Korean threats he would be killed if he din't "confess"—but came to terms during a beating by Korean guards.

"I didn't think I could resist torture, and I couldn't see any point in going through with it," Schumacher said. He admitted fear preyed on him after his capture.

Goldenaires Set Three-Day Trip To San Diego

A three-day trip to Dan Diego, with a side jaunt to Tijuana, has been planned by the San Rafael Goldenaires.

The trip, March 18 to 20, is open to all Marin residents over 50.

An installment plan has been set up at the city's recreation center to help senior citizens pay the cost of the trip and further information is available at the center.

The trip will include a San Diego Harbor excursion, tours of the San Diego Zoo and Sea World and a tour of La Jolla.

The Goldenaires club is sponsored by the city parks and recreation commission.

Courthouse Fate Is Panel's Topic

Disposition of the courthouse in San Rafael will be discussed at 9 a.m. tomorrow on the KTIM Sounding Board.

Panelists will be John F. McInnis, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors; Roderick P. Martinelli, attorney for an organization interested in exchanging property at the Civic Center for the courthouse property; Dan E. Andersen, San Rafael city manager, and Ernest N. Kettenhofen, past chairman of the board of supervisors.

Questions will be accepted for the live broadcast tomorrow. The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be repeated at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

San Quentin Inmates Talk To Lawmakers

San Quentin convicts yesterday called for several changes in the penal system, including an ombudsman who would also serve as the prisoner's channel to the legislature and the public.

Twenty-two convicts, selected to represent the 3,800 San Quentin inmates, spoke for four hours yesterday in a study session with three members of the Assembly Criminal Procedures Committee.

Inmates spoke on five major topics, using an 85-page bill of particulars drawn up by prisoners since a similar meeting last spring, according to Associate Warden James W. L. Park.

Park said inmates objected to the California Adult Authority practice of automatically reinstating the maximum sentence after parole is violated.

Speakers also objected to the practice of holding an alleged offense a parole violation. Park explained that if a man on parole is suspected of burglary, that is grounds for a parole violation even though the offense is not proven in court.

"On parole, you don't just have to be a normal citizen . . . you have to be something better," one convict said. Another added, "You gotta be superman."

Convicts also spoke out against the "excessive severity" of mandatory narcotics sentences and pointed out the big pushers are rarely affected by the laws. Park said narcotics offenders frequently serve 15 years, the average term for murder.

Prisoners also touched on the uncertainty of rules for parole. Park said there is "considerable confusion" about what a man must do to win parole and said prisoners called for an individual prescription for each man who enters the prison.

Official's Son Is Fined $500

I-J Special Report

REDWOOD CITY — Keith R. Goldsmith, 25-year-old son of U. S. Commissioner Richard S. Goldsmith of Mill Valley was fined $500 and placed on probation for three years after pleading guilty yesterday to charges of possessing marijuana.

Goldsmith, a Stanford University student, was sentenced in San Mateo County Superior Court by Judge Allison Rouse.

He was arrested for reckless driving in Atherton last July. Police who stopped him for the traffic violation reported finding the marijuana during a search of his car.

Rouse put Goldsmith on probation instead of giving him a jail sentence on the recommendation of Probation Officer P. A. Tye who said Goldsmith had suffered a personality change as a result of brain damage suffered in a 1964 auto accident.

TODAY'S NEW LAMB

Ever notice how the best food stores always have the biggest lamb displays? This winter, go adventuring to your meatman's lamb display. Take home a variety of cuts. Lamb chops and steaks to broil or panfry. Lamb for a stew or a ragout. Lamb to roast. For a special cold weather treat, try an American favorite, lamb hot. Hot from the oven and hot with the sauces and seasonings of the Southwest. Here's a recipe that tells you how to do it.

Tangy Lamb Shoulder (makes 4 to 6 servings)
1 pre-carved shoulder of lamb*
Salt and pepper to taste
¾ cup chili sauce
¾ cup chopped onion
3 tablespoons capers
1½ tablespoons firmly packed brown sugar
1½ teaspoons prepared horseradish

Sprinkle lamb with salt and pepper. Place on rack in shallow roasting pan. Roast in 325° (slow) oven 30 to 35 minutes per pound or until meat thermometer registers 175° to 180° for lamb as done as you like it. Combine chili sauce, onion, capers, sugar and horseradish. Spoon ½ cup of this mixture on lamb a half-hour before end of roasting time. Heat remaining sauce and serve with lamb.

* Have your meatman pre-carve the lamb roast on a bandsaw and tie. It's then already sliced for serving.

ON THE WAY DOWN — Parachutes billow as a U.S. Air Force C130 drops supplies on a remote airstrip in South Vietnam. The parachutes pull the cargo from the belly of the plane and permit the plane to deliver supplies to bases where runways can handle only small, light aircraft. The operation has been stepped up since a new Red push started last weekend.

Red Push Costly Near Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — American Air Cavalrymen clashed briefly today with North Vietnamese troops who military sources said were moving into attack positions 35 miles northeast of Saigon.

Sharp fighting also was reported 18 miles north of Saigon, in the Mekong Delta, south of the capital, and along the jungle trails from Laos and the A Shau valley, west of Da Nang and Hue.

U.S. and South Vietnamese forces reported killing 145 enemy soldiers at a cost of six Americans and 13 South Vietnamese killed, 13 Americans and 33 South Vietnamese wounded and seven South Vietnamese missing.

Allied troops also uncovered many more tons of rice and munitions near the Cambodian border, another indication the enemy is still trying to stock up for an offensive in the Saigon area, military spokesmen said.

The American Air Cavalrymen were riding helicopter gunships looking for troops from the North Vietnamese 5th Division in the triple-canopied jungle of War Zone D. Suddenly they spotted several men in an opening and cut into them with machine guns.

A short while later, Air Cavalrymen on the ground discovered the bodies of 15 North Vietnamese killed by the gunships. Two-and-one-half hours later, more Air Cavalrymen were landed to pursue the enemy.

A U.S. spokesman said American bombers and artillery sent the North Vietnamese fleeing through the jungle, and eventually all contact was lost during the afternoon.

Military sources said troops of North Vietnam's 5th Division are moving through War Zone D to join up with an independent regiment and two sapper battalions for an attack, most likely on major allied bases and headquarters just north of Saigon.

Pueblo Crew Claims No Capture Training

CORONADO (UPI) — The Navy sent the 83 men of the USS Pueblo on a spy mission to the edge of a Communist country without telling them how to behave if captured.

That was the testimony yesterday of three officers of the Pueblo before a Navy court of inquiry into the ship's capture off the coast of North Korea Jan. 23, 1968. The hearing is in its third phase, dealing with the conduct of the men in captivity.

The secret testimony resumed today before a board of five admirals with four more witnesses waiting to describe their 11 months in a Korean prison.

Still at the witness table when today's session opened was to be Lt. (j.g.) Timothy Harris 23, Jacksonville, Fla., who began telling the court his story yesterday. Harris was to be followed today by CWO Gene H. Lacy, 37, Seattle.

Like two other officers who testified before him, Harris said his only advice on how to behave as a prisoner of war came before he was commissioned, when he was still in Officer Candidate School.

There, he was told about the U.S. government's official code of conduct for men who became prisoners of war. It forbids any form of collaboration with the enemy and requires a servicemen to tell his captors only his name, rank, service number and date of birth.

Harris said he received no more instructions after he left OCS, even when he was assigned to the Pueblo, an electronic espionage vessel. His testimony paralleled that of Lt. Edward R. Murphy Jr., the Pueblo's second in command, and Lt. (j.g.) Frederick C. Schumacher, the operations officer.

All three said that after violent beatings by the Koreans they agreed to sign "confessions" the Pueblo entered Korean waters and engaged in espionage.

The only variation to their stories involved the length of time they held out.

Schumacher said he stood his ground in the face of Korean threats he would be killed if he din't "confess"—but came to terms during a beating by Korean guards.

"I didn't think I could resist torture, and I couldn't see any point in going through with it," Schumacher said. He admitted fear preyed on him after his capture.

Goldenaires Set Three-Day Trip To San Diego

A three-day trip to Dan Diego, with a side jaunt to Tijuana, has been planned by the San Rafael Goldenaires.

The trip, March 18 to 20, is open to all Marin residents over 50.

An installment plan has been set up at the city's recreation center to help senior citizens pay the cost of the trip and further information is available at the center.

The trip will include a San Diego Harbor excursion, tours of the San Diego Zoo and Sea World and a tour of La Jolla.

The Goldenaires club is sponsored by the city parks and recreation commission.

Courthouse Fate Is Panel's Topic

Disposition of the courthouse in San Rafael will be discussed at 9 a.m. tomorrow on the KTIM Sounding Board.

Panelists will be John F. McInnis, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors; Roderick P. Martinelli, attorney for an organization interested in exchanging property at the Civic Center for the courthouse property; Dan E. Andersen, San Rafael city manager, and Ernest N. Kettenhofen, past chairman of the board of supervisors.

Questions will be accepted for the live broadcast tomorrow. The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be repeated at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

San Quentin Inmates Talk To Lawmakers

San Quentin convicts yesterday called for several changes in the penal system, including an ombudsman who would also serve as the prisoner's channel to the legislature and the public.

Grand Jury Lauds Water Operations

"Marin Municipal Water District is well managed and is doing a good job in providing water in sufficient quantity and of good and safe quality," the 1968 Marin County Grand Jury concluded after studying district operations.

The grand jury commended the water district for its foresight in planning for supplemental water sources to stay ahead of the demand, citing plans for immediate extra water through the North Marin County Water District and future additional water from the Russian River.

Data contained in the water district's annual report of the 1967-68 fiscal year, issued last week by Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger, preceded by a few days the grand jury's report.

Seeger reported there are now 49,222 service connections in the district with an annual consumption of 9.7 billion gallons. The figures represent an increase in the past 20 years of 260 per cent in the number of services and 340 per cent in the annual consumption, he said.

During the past 55 years, water rates have been raised once — a 15 per cent hike in 1965.

The water district, one of the largest landowners in Marin County, held plant and property valued at $42,247,000 at the end of the fiscal year, Seeger reported.

It collected $3,774,313 from the sale of water, a 6.5 per cent increase over the 1966-67 fiscal year.

Seeger reported that a slowdown in home construction limited new services to 693 during the fiscal year and noted a new fee schedule for service installation had been approved by the board.

The new rates upped installation costs as much as $120 depending on the size of the meter.

While new construction was minor, major repairs and improvements were made to the system, Seeger reported.

Thirteen major contract jobs were let for a total of $378,705, Seeger reported, and 6,475 feet of water mains were replaced at a cost of $88,905.

Fireline installations, improvements shared by the water and fire districts, totaled 7,429 feet at a cost of $93,218, Seeger said.

The district now has a total of 758 miles of pipe, an increase of 25 per cent in the past 10 years.

Other activities reported by Seeger included approval of an enlarged data processing system; rehabilitation of Phoenix Dam, and preparation for entering the sewage business if the need arises.

The major complaint noted by Seeger and the grand jury was on the taste and odor of water. Seeger reported to the jury that steps were taken to correct the problem and that the water was safe, despite its taste.

Speck Appeals Death Sentence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Condemned slayer Richard F. Speck says he shouldn't be put to death because 50 prospective jurors were excused from his trial because they objected to capital punishment.

Speck, 27, convicted of killing eight nurses in a Chicago dormitory in 1966, filed his appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court yesterday.

The appeal, made through three public defenders, points to a court decision last June forbidding execution of William C. Witherspoon, who had been convicted of killing a Chicago policeman in 1960. In that case the court said no death sentence would be valid if returned by a jury screened to eliminate persons with conscientious objections to the death penalty.

Marijuana Charge Ordered Dismissed

A motion to suppress evidence obtained illegally was granted Monday in Marin Municipal Court by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. in the case against Timothy Brooks Hogue, 23, and Sandra Christine Hanson, both of San Anselmo, and narcotics charges were dismissed against both.

Hogue had been charged with possessing marijuana, dangerous drugs and using a minor to procure dangerous drugs. Miss Hanson, who was babysitting for Hogue and his wife at the time of the arrest Dec. 3, was charged with possession of marijuana.

Campus Blamed For Crime Rise

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —The need for keeping police on the strife-torn San Francisco State College has contributed to a higher crime rate in the city, Police Chief Thomas Cahill says.

He said yesterday that the city's crime rate has gone up 19 per cent the past year and that the police intelligence bureau spends 98 per cent of its time "on what's happening on the streets or at colleges" instead of on organized crime.

He told a meeting of two civic groups that even on so-called quiet days at the college, 250 officers are used to police the campus.

Preschool Eye Tests Proposed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An eye doctor says a vision problem that affects six million Americans can be prevented by a simple test given between the ages of three and four.

Preschool eye testing on a universal basis is the way to erase disuseamblyopia or "lazy eye," Dr. Leonard Apt told newsmen yesterday. He said a slight misalignment of the eye may hold back eye development, but if discovered early, usually can be corrected by glasses or an eye patch.

Marinite's Vote May Be Key To Bail Bond Funds

By CHARLES YOAKUM

DAVIS — Does a university belong in the bail bond business?

That's the unusual and controversial question that goes before the University of California's Davis campus student legislature tomorrow and a Marin County resident's vote may well decide the issue.

The student legislature will consider using student body money to establish a bail bond fund for Davis students who are arrested.

Freshman legislator Robert Figari of Tiburon has indicated that he will vote against the proposal as it now stands. His vote may prove decisive since the 25-member legislature is almost evenly divided on the hot issue.

Under the proposal up to $1,000 would be made available to any student who is arrested and cannot provide his own bail. The proposal puts no restrictions on offenses to be covered by the fund.

The money would be in the form of a 60-day loan and would be interest free.

This latest proposal is an outcropping of another piece of legislation which was presented two weeks ago when 14 Davis students were arrested in connection with the disturbances at San Francisco State College.

Members of the Davis student legislature at that time tried to rush through a bill authorizing student body funds to bail out the 14 students. Opponents to the bill, however, walked out of the legislative session and no action could be taken due to a lack of a quorum.

The proposal before the legislature tomorrow does not concern those 14 students specifically, but sets up a standing bail bond fund available to any student arrested in the future.

Figari told the Independent-Journal that he doesn't oppose the concept of a student-funded bail bond, but has objections to the present proposal for several reasons, the primary one being the lack of money.

"We've already decided on deficit spending for next year," he said, "so to approve this bail fund would mean robbing some other activity of money or raising the student body card price."

Student body funds come from the mandatory purchase of a $5 activities card by each student.

"We don't even know how much money to budget for such a bail bond fund," he continued. "If $1,000 is to be made available to a student, its going to take a lot of money to have an adequate reserve."

Figari also said he was concerned about the bill turning the legislature into a "body of students making moral judgments."

He said, "Any student wanting to borrow money would have to request approval through us (the legislature). And that means that we have to make moral decisions about what sort of offenses should be given priority."

Figari also saw problems in the legislature "becoming political."

"If we approve money, for example, to bail out a student who is arrested while picketing at San Francisco State, then it would appear that we as a body approve of the strike," Figari added.

Figari said he was also concerned about how delinquent loans could be collected.

"About all we could do is take away the student's registration card," he said, "but that wouldn't get our money back

The freshman legislator said that his discussions with students showed a 50-50 split on the proposal.

The university's administration has remained uncommitted to date. Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs, Dr. James Murphy, however, did note that the final authority on the student's budget is the university's chancellor.

"It is possible that if he objected to the item, he could decide not to approve the budget, I suppose," Murphy said.

Another administrative source, who preferred not to be identified, said, however, that due to the shaky relationships between students and administration in the university structure, it "was doubtful" that the university would question the item "as long as it was not out-and-out illegal."

The bail bond issue takes on special significance in light of recent developments involving student money at San Francisco State. There, the state attorney general's office announced Monday that control of student body money was being sought by an injunction because of alleged misuse of funds.

Preserving Of Marshes Held A Must

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A marine biologist commended yesterday the growing concern of California leaders for preserving what he called "the priceless values" of the state's coastline and bays and estuaries.

John P. Harville, director of the Moss Landing Marine Laboratry sponsored by California state colleges, said the state has 1,200 miles of open ocean washed shoreline and 650 additional miles of shoreline in bays and estuaries.

'IRREPLACEABLE'

"All of these irreplaceable assets are vulnerable to the most massive population growth pressures that have ever faced any people any place on earth," Harville said.

He appeared at a joint federal and state conference on waterquality management for estuaries

Harville declared that a significant value of marshes and mudflats was the enormous wet surface area they provided for absorbing air pollutants.

ESTUARY VALUES

Joseph Bodovitz, executive director of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission, emphasized also the air pollution control value of estuaries.

Bodovitz said reducing San Francisco Bay's surface area with fills would increase the frequency and intensity of temperature inversions.

Temperature inversions trap pollutants and increase Bay Area smog, he said.

Bodovitz said filling estuaries would increase the danger of water pollution by reducing both the water surface area and the volume of water required to assimilate increasing quantities of liquid waste.

FILL PERILS

He also said the fills would destroy the habitat of wild fowl and fish.

He said the open water, mudflats and marshlands of the bay constitute a complex biological system in which plants, fish and waterfowl live in a delicate balance created by nature.

He said a new fill or dreging project may sometimes have highly destructive effects on this biological balance.

Federal Grant Set For Health Planning

The Bay Area Comprehensive Health Planning Council has been awarded a $200,000 federal grant to develop an organization for multicounty health planning, Justice John B. Molinari, council president, announced today.

The grant will enable the council to hire an executive director and planning staff to pinpoint health needs and resources, he said.

Preschool Eye Tests Proposed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An eye doctor says a vision problem that affects six million Americans can be prevented by a simple test given between the ages of three and four.

Preschool eye testing on a universal basis is the way to erase disuseamblyopia or "lazy eye," Dr. Leonard Apt told newsmen yesterday. He said a slight misalignment of the eye may hold back eye development, but if discovered early, usually can be corrected by glasses or an eye patch.

State Estimates Oil Well Slick Has Caused $1 Billion Damages

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — The State of California estimates the oil from an uncontrollable well in the Santa Barbara Channel caused more than $1 billion damage (See other Sacramento stories on pages 12 and 13.)

And that figure may be revised upward, said Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, if the current seepage of "residual oil" from the ocean floor continues.

Lynch announced yesterday state and local officials filed a $500 million damage claim against the federal government and the Interior department.

Another $560 million suit will be filed against Union Oil Co. of California, operator of the drilling platform, and the three other oil companies who lease the site with Union.

The well that created a vast slick fouled 35 miles of beaches. It was plugged with tons of drilling mud and cement more than a week ago, but oil continued to seep from a shallow strata pressurized by the original leak.

Patches of crude petroleum continued to splotch the surface of the Pacific off Southern California but the major concentration was about two miles long and from 10 to 30 feet wide.

At its height, the original slick covered an estimated 800-square miles of the Pacific.

The state claim against the U.S. government charged that Interior Department officials "failed to appropriately inspect and supervise" drilling operations on Union's rig.

The suit against the companies will contend negligence in drilling operations.

CONTINUE OIL BATTLE — Workmen at Carpinteria Beach, south of Santa Barbara, gather oil-soaked straw that has collected on the shore near the site of the Union Oil Co. offshore drilling rig rupture. Mop-up operations are continuing this week. (UPI Telephoto)

Officer Tells Rally Plans

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Another Oakland police officer who infiltrated Stop the Draft Week planning sessions in October 1967 testified yesterday in the felony conspiracy trial of the Oakland Seven.

Officer Robert Wheeler, 23, testified he had volunteered to provide a two-way radio, pass out leaflets urging participation in the demonstration and drive a sound truck urging support in the demonstrations.

Wheeler, like James Bruce Coleman, the other police infiltrator who testified last week, was uncovered a day before he actually took part in the demonstration.

Wheeler testified that he had never seen all of the seven defendants at one meeting together and during his testimony, in which he referred frequently to a stack of typed notes, spoke of other leaders in the antidraft planning sessions who are not on trial.

Presidio's Sentences Criticized

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The trial of one of the 27 soldiers accused of mutiny at the Presidio stockade was tentatively set to begin today at Fort Irwin in the Mojave Desert, while in the Bay Area politicians decried harsh sentences given those already convicted.

A mistrial was declared yesterday in the court-martial of Pvt. John Colip, 20, of Sacramento, as a result of a legal technicality involving granting of a change of venue. The court legal officer held that with the change of venue, a new start must be made.

The change must be approved by the Sixth Army commander and Army officials said the court-martial would be reinitiated as soon as approval is granted.

Meanwhile, Congressman Jerome Waldie of Antioch condemned sentences averaging 15 years imposed on three soldiers convicted so far.

He called them "ferocious and vindictive" and added: "Certainly the balance of compassion of the officers who arrived at this verdict can be questioned."

The soldiers were charged with mutiny following a sitdown strike last October to protest the killing of a fellow prisoner during an escape attempt and conditions at the Presidio.

Among the 23 still awaiting trail is Pvt. Keith C. Mather of San Bruno, one of the Marin City Nine who chained themselves to clergymen in an antiwar protest at St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church last summer.

Shaw's Alleged Alias Name Enters Case

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A prosecution witness testified today she saw Clay Shaw, charged with conspiring to assassinate President John F. Kennedy, sign a guest registration book as "Clay Bertrand."

Bertrand is the alias that the prosecution contends Shaw used in plotting with Lee Harvey Oswald and others to murder Kennedy.

Mrs. Jessie Parker, the state's 41st witness, said she was working as a hostess at the VIP room at New Orleans International Airport when she saw Shaw sign in as Clay Bertrand on Dec. 14, 1966.

"Is it not a fact," asked defense lawyer F. Irvin Dymond on cross-examination, "that the next time you saw Shaw—in this courtroom—you refused to identify him until the district attorney's office threatened you with a lie detector or polygraph test?"

Mrs. Parker denied that she was "threatened," but agreed the test was proposed.

When she was referred back to Asst. Dist. Atty. James Alcock for redirect examination, he jumped up and said, "Did you not take a lie detector test?"

When Mrs. Parker said she had, Alcock asked for an immediate subpoena of the police office who conducted the test and a report on the results. Such testimony is seldom admissible at a trial, but Alcock contended that Dymond had "opened the door" for it during cross-examination.

Mrs. Parker's testimony marked a shift back to Shaw after a long series of witnesses called in connection with the Nov. 22, 1963 assassination in Dallas' Dealey Plaza.

She was preceded by Dr. John M. Nichols, a University of Kansas pathologist. He testified that an examination of the Zapruder movie showing the assassination indicated the President could have been shot by a gunner in front of him.

Auto Is Entered

Mrs. Michael Chiechi reported to police yesterday that during the night someone broke her car windshield, probably with a rock, while the car was parked in front of her hoe at 30 Granada Drive, Corte Madera.

Marinite's Vote May Be Key To Bail Bond Funds

By CHARLES YOAKUM

DAVIS — Does a university belong in the bail bond business?

That's the unusual and controversial question that goes before the University of California's Davis campus student legislature tomorrow and a Marin County resident's vote may well decide the issue.

The student legislature will consider using student body money to establish a bail bond fund for Davis students who are arrested.

Freshman legislator Robert Figari of Tiburon has indicated that he will vote against the proposal as it now stands. His vote may prove decisive since the 25-member legislature is almost evenly divided on the hot issue.

Under the proposal up to $1,000 would be made available to any student who is arrested and cannot provide his own bail. The proposal puts no restrictions on offenses to be covered by the fund.

The money would be in the form of a 60-day loan and would be interest free.

This latest proposal is an outcropping of another piece of legislation which was presented two weeks ago when 14 Davis students were arrested in connection with the disturbances at San Francisco State College.

Members of the Davis student legislature at that time tried to rush through a bill authorizing student body funds to bail out the 14 students. Opponents to the bill, however, walked out of the legislative session and no action could be taken due to a lack of a quorum.

The proposal before the legislature tomorrow does not concern those 14 students specifically, but sets up a standing bail bond fund available to any student arrested in the future.

Figari told the Independent-Journal that he doesn't oppose the concept of a student-funded bail bond, but has objections to the present proposal for several reasons, the primary one being the lack of money.

"We've already decided on deficit spending for next year," he said, "so to approve this bail fund would mean robbing some other activity of money or raising the student body card price."

Student body funds come from the mandatory purchase of a $5 activities card by each student.

"We don't even know how much money to budget for such a bail bond fund," he continued. "If $1,000 is to be made available to a student, its going to take a lot of money to have an adequate reserve."

Figari also said he was concerned about the bill turning the legislature into a "body of students making moral judgments."

He said, "Any student wanting to borrow money would have to request approval through us (the legislature). And that means that we have to make moral decisions about what sort of offenses should be given priority."

Figari also saw problems in the legislature "becoming political."

"If we approve money, for example, to bail out a student who is arrested while picketing at San Francisco State, then it would appear that we as a body approve of the strike," Figari added.

Figari said he was also concerned about how delinquent loans could be collected.

"About all we could do is take away the student's registration card," he said, "but that wouldn't get our money back from those students who didn't repay their loan."

The freshman legislator said that his discussions with students showed a 50-50 split on the proposal.

The university's administration has remained uncommitted to date. Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs, Dr. James Murphy, however, did note that the final authority on the student's budget is the university's chancellor.

"It is possible that if he objected to the item, he could decide not to approve the budget, I suppose," Murphy said.

Another administrative source, who preferred not to be identified, said, however, that due to the shaky relationships between students and administration in the university structure, it "was doubtful" that the university would question the item "as long as it was not out-and-out illegal."

The bail bond issue takes on special significance in light of recent developments involving student money at San Francisco State. There, the state attorney general's office announced Monday that control of student body money was being sought by an injunction because of alleged misuse of funds.

Preserving Of Marshes Held A Must

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A marine biologist commended yesterday the growing concern of California leaders for preserving what he called "the priceless values" of the state's coastline and bays and estuaries.

John P. Harville, director of the Moss Landing Marine Laboratry sponsored by California state colleges, said the state has 1,200 miles of open ocean washed shoreline and 650 additional miles of shoreline in bays and estuaries.

'IRREPLACEABLE'

"All of these irreplaceable assets are vulnerable to the most massive population growth pressures that have ever faced any people any place on earth," Harville said.

He appeared at a joint federal and state conference on waterquality management for estuaries

Harville declared that a significant value of marshes and mudflats was the enormous wet surface area they provided for absorbing air pollutants.

ESTUARY VALUES

Joseph Bodovitz, executive director of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission, emphasized also the air pollution control value of estuaries.

Bodovitz said reducing San Francisco Bay's surface area with fills would increase the frequency and intensity of temperature inversions.

Temperature inversions trap pollutants and increase Bay Area smog, he said.

Bodovitz said filling estuaries would increase the danger of water pollution by reducing both the water surface area and the volume of water required to assimilate increasing quantities of liquid waste.

FILL PERILS

He also said the fills would destroy the habitat of wild fowl and fish.

He said the open water, mudflats and marshlands of the bay constitute a complex biological system in which plants, fish and waterfowl live in a delicate balance created by nature.

He said a new fill or dreging project may sometimes have highly destructive effects on this biological balance.

Federal Grant Set For Health Planning

The Bay Area Comprehensive Health Planning Council has been awarded a $200,000 federal grant to develop an organization for multicounty health planning, Justice John B. Molinari, council president, announced today.

The grant will enable the council to hire an executive director and planning staff to pinpoint health needs and resources, he said.

State Estimates Oil Well Slick Has Caused $1 Billion Damages

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — The State of California estimates the oil from an uncontrollable well in the Santa Barbara Channel caused more than $1 billion damage (See other Sacramento stories on pages 12 and 13.)

And that figure may be revised upward, said Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, if the current seepage of "residual oil" from the ocean floor continues.

Lynch announced yesterday state and local officials filed a $500 million damage claim against the federal government and the Interior department.

Another $560 million suit will be filed against Union Oil Co. of California, operator of the drilling platform, and the three other oil companies who lease the site with Union.

The well that created a vast slick fouled 35 miles of beaches. It was plugged with tons of drilling mud and cement more than a week ago, but oil continued to seep from a shallow strata pressurized by the original leak.

Patches of crude petroleum continued to splotch the surface of the Pacific off Southern California but the major concentration was about two miles long and from 10 to 30 feet wide.

At its height, the original slick covered an estimated 800-square miles of the Pacific.

The state claim against the U.S. government charged that Interior Department officials "failed to appropriately inspect and supervise" drilling operations on Union's rig.

The suit against the companies will contend negligence in drilling operations.

Officer Tells Rally Plans

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Another Oakland police officer who infiltrated Stop the Draft Week planning sessions in October 1967 testified yesterday in the felony conspiracy trial of the Oakland Seven.

Officer Robert Wheeler, 23, testified he had volunteered to provide a two-way radio, pass out leaflets urging participation in the demonstration and drive a sound truck urging support in the demonstrations.

Wheeler, like James Bruce Coleman, the other police infiltrator who testified last week, was uncovered a day before he actually took part in the demonstration.

Wheeler testified that he had never seen all of the seven defendants at one meeting together and during his testimony, in which he referred frequently to a stack of typed notes, spoke of other leaders in the antidraft planning sessions who are not on trial.

Presidio's Sentences Criticized

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The trial of one of the 27 soldiers accused of mutiny at the Presidio stockade was tentatively set to begin today at Fort Irwin in the Mojave Desert, while in the Bay Area politicians decried harsh sentences given those already convicted.

A mistrial was declared yesterday in the court-martial of Pvt. John Colip, 20, of Sacramento, as a result of a legal technicality involving granting of a change of venue. The court legal officer held that with the change of venue, a new start must be made.

The change must be approved by the Sixth Army commander and Army officials said the court-martial would be reinitiated as soon as approval is granted.

Meanwhile, Congressman Jerome Waldie of Antioch condemned sentences averaging 15 years imposed on three soldiers convicted so far.

He called them "ferocious and vindictive" and added: "Certainly the balance of compassion of the officers who arrived at this verdict can be questioned."

The soldiers were charged with mutiny following a sitdown strike last October to protest the killing of a fellow prisoner during an escape attempt and conditions at the Presidio.

Among the 23 still awaiting trail is Pvt. Keith C. Mather of San Bruno, one of the Marin City Nine who chained themselves to clergymen in an antiwar protest at St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church last summer.

Shaw's Alleged Alias Name Enters Case

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A prosecution witness testified today she saw Clay Shaw, charged with conspiring to assassinate President John F. Kennedy, sign a guest registration book as "Clay Bertrand."

Bertrand is the alias that the prosecution contends Shaw used in plotting with Lee Harvey Oswald and others to murder Kennedy.

Mrs. Jessie Parker, the state's 41st witness, said she was working as a hostess at the VIP room at New Orleans International Airport when she saw Shaw sign in as Clay Bertrand on Dec. 14, 1966.

"Is it not a fact," asked defense lawyer F. Irvin Dymond on cross-examination, "that the next time you saw Shaw—in this courtroom—you refused to identify him until the district attorney's office threatened you with a lie detector or polygraph test?"

Mrs. Parker denied that she was "threatened," but agreed the test was proposed.

When she was referred back to Asst. Dist. Atty. James Alcock for redirect examination, he jumped up and said, "Did you not take a lie detector test?"

When Mrs. Parker said she had, Alcock asked for an immediate subpoena of the police office who conducted the test and a report on the results. Such testimony is seldom admissible at a trial, but Alcock contended that Dymond had "opened the door" for it during cross-examination.

Mrs. Parker's testimony marked a shift back to Shaw after a long series of witnesses called in connection with the Nov. 22, 1963 assassination in Dallas' Dealey Plaza.

She was preceded by Dr. John M. Nichols, a University of Kansas pathologist. He testified that an examination of the Zapruder movie showing the assassination indicated the President could have been shot by a gunner in front of him.

Auto Is Entered

Mrs. Michael Chiechi reported to police yesterday that during the night someone broke her car windshield, probably with a rock, while the car was parked in front of her hoe at 30 Granada Drive, Corte Madera.

Teachers —Requires schools with high percentage of students from poverty and social tension areas to limit to a maximum 25 per cent the number of classroom teachers having one year or less of classroom teaching experience; AB 545, B. Greene, D-Los Angeles.

Minors — Permits employment of a minor under 18 years of age between 10 p.m. and 5 a.m. if the labor commissioner determines the employer has written consent of the minor's parents or guardians and the school district the minor is attending, and he determines the employment will not be detrimental to the minor's health, safety or welfare; AB 541, Campbell, R-Hacienda Heights.

Employment — Removes prohibition against employment of minors under 16 in certain hazardous occupations if the labor commissioner grants permission to work at such occupations; A B540, Campbell.

THE SENATE

Bills Introduced

School — Reduces time required for computing average daily attendance of adult school students to seven class hours; AB 337, Alquist, D-San Jose.

Alcoholism — Maintains state program for prevention, treatment and control of alcoholism as a permanent program; SB 338, Marks, R-San Francisco.

Elections — Requires statement of qualifications for candidates to be printed in type of uniform size, darkness and spacing; SB 339, Schmitz, R-Tustin.

Tuition — Grants a $20 tax credit from state personal income taxes for tuition and fees paid by a taxpayer for himself, his spouse or dependents to public and private schools and institutions of higher learning; SB 340, Schmitz.

Education — Requires inclusion in history, government or similar courses in elementary, secondary and junior college classes instruction in the role of labor, labor-management relations, labor law and labor economies in the development of the free public school systems in the United States and California; SB 342, Rodda, D-Sacramento.

Transit Mail Carrying Is Asked Again

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to authorize transit districts to carry freight and mail as well as passengers — a power sought in past years by the Marin County Transit District — has been introduced in the Legislature.

A similar bill was killed in committee last year by lobbyists for the trucking and bus industries, which want to keep the profitable service in the hands of private companies. The transit district has argued that it should have the profitable service if it takes over the deficit passenger operations from Greyhound Bus Lines.

The Marin district also has tried unsuccessfully to get the power to operate a bus charter service, but here, too, could not make a dent in lobbyists' opposition.

The new bill is authored by Assemblyman Patrick D. McGee, R-Van Nuys.

Unruh Attacks GOP On Election Reforms

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assembly Democratic Leader Jesse M. Unruh blames Republicans for killing a resolution he sponsored urging a direct popular election for president.

The former speaker said the Assembly's Rpublican - controlled Committee on Elections and Constitutional Amendments had jeopardized "the entire election reform movement in this country" Yesterday by defeating his resolution for a direct popular vote.

Unruh said he hoped that "more judicious thought among Republican assemblymen" would lead to a reversal of the Republican position.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, whose rival resolution urging reform of the electoral college system failed to get enough support for a vote, said he planned to ask for a compromise measure.

"I intend to ask the chairman to take both resolutions under advisement and come up with something that may be more general in nature, dealing with reform of the electoral college system," Bagley said.

Unruh's resolution urged Congress to propose a constitutional amendment abolishing the electoral college and providing for direct popular election of the president.

Bagley's resolution urges an amendment eliminating electors — but retaining the same number of electoral votes for each state. It would also substitute a "one-man, one-vote" system if an election was thrown into the House of Representatives instead of the present "one-state, one-vote" rule.

Unruh called Bagley's resolution, which was supported by State Controller Houston I. Flournoy, "a gimmick" to salvage the electoral college system.

Bagley countered that his proposal to have both resolutions taken under consideration certainly was no gimmick. "Jess has been oriented to his minority status quickly," he said. "When you're a member of the minority you charge gimmickry — we did it against him for years."

Unruh walked out of the committee meeting, shaking his head, and said: "This is an unbelievable performance that the Republicans don't want to let the people vote directly on the president."

Better Court Reporters' Pay Sought

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to increase the pay of court reporters and probate commissioners in Marin County was introduced yesterday by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Court reporters' maximum annual salary, under the bill, would go from $12,900 in superior court and $12,000 in municipal court to $17,448 in both. Temporary court reporters would get a pay raise from $45 to $50 a day.

Probate commissioners would get a raise from a maximum of $12,000 to $18,000.

The bill was requested by the Marin County Board of Supervisors. The salaries are paid from local taxes, unlike judges' salaries, which are partly paid by the state.

Bagley also introduced a bill to allow tabulated indexes of registered voters to be kept in alphabetical order instead of only by street addresses. It was asked by the supervisors at the request of the county elections department.

Motor vehicle deaths in the United States during 1968 are estimated at 54,900, says the National Automobile Club.

Charges Denied By Young Suspect

Robert Bruce Jones, 20, of no fixed address, who walked out of Marin Superior Court Feb. 10, pleaded innocent in Municipal Court yesterday to charges of escaping from custody, car theft and possession of marijuana.

A preliminary hearing on the three new charges was set for Tuesday.

Jones was arrested Thursday by the California Highway Patrol, who said that he was driving a stolen car and that he had a marijuana cigarette tucked in his waistband.

He already faces car theft charges in Superior Court on March 17 when a jury trial will be held in an earlier case.

Bill Seeks Span Panel Transportation Power

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to empower the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District to operate all forms of transportation, including ferry boats, was introduced today by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco.

Foran, chairman of the Assembly Transportation Committee, said his bill anticipated a favorable report on the feasibility of ferries. A feasibility study now being done for Marin and San Francisco counties by consultant Arthur D. Little Inc. is due June 30.

His bill, if passed and signed into law, would not become effective until late this year, depending on when the Legislature adjourns, but a Foran aide said progress on planning a ferry system would not be delayed.

"I feel it is high time the functions of the bridge district be expanded to meet the needs of the modern day commuter," said Foran, adding the district no longer can be concerned only "with serving the automobile."

The bridge board voted Friday to seek just this sort of bill. The board made a similar request last year, but the 1968 Legislature rejected the request on the ground that changes in the composition of the district board must be made before it could be entrusted with new powers. Since then, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, won passage of a law expanding the board to include county supervisors and city councilmen.

The bridge board's vote Friday, however, was for an urgency bill, which would be effective immediately upon being signed into law. Urgency bills are more difficult to pass because they require a two-thirds approval in both houses of the Legislature.

Jerome B. White, attorney for the bridge district, has ruled that such legislation would be necessary for the district to to go into the ferry business. Present law empowers the district to go into the commuter bus business, however, he has said.

McCarthy Seeking Leeways On Pickup Truck Hauling

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to let owners of pickup trucks haul a wide range of items, without paying $17 extra for a commercial license plate, was introduced yesterday by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

Present Department of Motor Vehicles regulations sharply limit what can be carried in a pickup truck without a commercial plate, and McCarthy's bill would license pickups according to their use. Owners' statements on how they intend to use them would be accepted, but the Califoria Highway Patrol still would enforce the ban against commercial use of pickups with passenger car plates.

Under the present code, "personal property" can be hauled in pickups with passenger car plates, but the attorney general has ruled that this includes only such things as suitcases, briefcases, golf clubs, groceries and camping equipment.

"Nonpersonal property" that cannot be carried under the present code, according to the attorney general, includes building materials, garbage, grass, fertilizer, furniture, boat motors and boats. Thus, boat owners can tow their boats if they have a station wagon with passenger car plates, but may not if they have a pickup with passenger car plates — despite the fact that the have to pay a personal property tax on the boat.

Another oddity in the present code is that pickups may carry passenger car plates if they have permanently attached campers, but must have commercial plates if the camper can be removed from the pickup.

Violators under the present code court face both perjury and vehicle code prosecution because they have to sign an affidavit that they will not carry "nonpersonal" property when they get passenger car plates for a pickup.

Farm Bureau's Officers Elected

Alfred L. Poncia of Fallon was succeding James A. Marshall of elected president of the Marin County Farm Bureau yesterday, Tomales.

Other officers selected yesterday were Stanley Swift and Henry Tomasini, both of Nicasio, vice presidents, and James Grossi of Novato, treasurer.

Poncia and David Burbank of Fallon were named as delegates to the state Farm Bureau convention to be held next month, with Marshall and Swift as alternates.

The next meeting will be at 10 a.m. March 11.

Foran Asks Bay Panel Pay Boosts

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to hike the pay of the 12 directors of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District from $25 to $50 a meeting has been introduced by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco.

Each of the six counties in the district has two directors, and Marin's are Supervisor William A. Gnoss and San Rafael City Councilman John A. Miskimen.

The bill, asked by the district board at the Feb. 5 meeting at which they banned all backyard burning after Dec. 31 of this year, also increases directors' maximum yearly pay from $660 to $1,200.

The district's chief administrative officer, D. J. Callaghan, commented then that such a bill would be "timely" because no state legislators "are running for election this year."

Wedding Day Starts Off In Hectic Manner

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) —The bridegroom's wedding gift had to be hosed down. The wedding car wouldn't start and a police car was pressed into service. But Dame Zara Holt married gentleman farmer and member of Parliament Jeff Bate today in Australia's wedding of the year.

Television carried the ceremony throughout Australia's eastern seaboard.

Dame Zara, whose age is her secret, is the widow of Prime Minister Harold Holt, who drowned in 1967. Bate is 62, wears mutton chop whiskers, and it's the third marriage for both.

Bate gave his bride a $2,000 stud Friesian calf, named Meadow Glen-Dame Zara, and brought it by plane to Melbourne early today. Friends lifted it from the plane, and a taxi truck took it to Dame Zara's home in the Toorak suburb. There the calf was hosed down so it would be spic and span.

When time came for the bride to leave for the ceremony at a daughter-in-law's house, the family car wouldn't start. The party piled into a police squad car and roared off with two uniformed troopers up front.

Tuition — Grants a $20 tax credit from state personal income taxes for tuition and fees paid by a taxpayer for himself, his spouse or dependents to public and private schools and institutions of higher learning; SB 340, Schmitz.

Education — Requires inclusion in history, government or similar courses in elementary, secondary and junior college classes instruction in the role of labor, labor-management relations, labor law and labor economies in the development of the free public school systems in the United States and California; SB 342, Rodda, D-Sacramento.

Transit Mail Carrying Is Asked Again

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to authorize transit districts to carry freight and mail as well as passengers — a power sought in past years by the Marin County Transit District — has been introduced in the Legislature.

A similar bill was killed in committee last year by lobbyists for the trucking and bus industries, which want to keep the profitable service in the hands of private companies. The transit district has argued that it should have the profitable service if it takes over the deficit passenger operations from Greyhound Bus Lines.

The Marin district also has tried unsuccessfully to get the power to operate a bus charter service, but here, too, could not make a dent in lobbyists' opposition.

The new bill is authored by Assemblyman Patrick D. McGee, R-Van Nuys.

Unruh Attacks GOP On Election Reforms

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assembly Democratic Leader Jesse M. Unruh blames Republicans for killing a resolution he sponsored urging a direct popular election for president.

The former speaker said the Assembly's Rpublican - controlled Committee on Elections and Constitutional Amendments had jeopardized "the entire election reform movement in this country" Yesterday by defeating his resolution for a direct popular vote.

Unruh said he hoped that "more judicious thought among Republican assemblymen" would lead to a reversal of the Republican position.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, whose rival resolution urging reform of the electoral college system failed to get enough support for a vote, said he planned to ask for a compromise measure.

"I intend to ask the chairman to take both resolutions under advisement and come up with something that may be more general in nature, dealing with reform of the electoral college system," Bagley said.

Unruh's resolution urged Congress to propose a constitutional amendment abolishing the electoral college and providing for direct popular election of the president.

Bagley's resolution urges an amendment eliminating electors — but retaining the same number of electoral votes for each state. It would also substitute a "one-man, one-vote" system if an election was thrown into the House of Representatives instead of the present "one-state, one-vote" rule.

Unruh called Bagley's resolution, which was supported by State Controller Houston I. Flournoy, "a gimmick" to salvage the electoral college system.

Bagley countered that his proposal to have both resolutions taken under consideration certainly was no gimmick. "Jess has been oriented to his minority status quickly," he said. "When you're a member of the minority you charge gimmickry — we did it against him for years."

Unruh walked out of the committee meeting, shaking his head, and said: "This is an unbelievable performance that the Republicans don't want to let the people vote directly on the president."

Better Court Reporters' Pay Sought

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to increase the pay of court reporters and probate commissioners in Marin County was introduced yesterday by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Court reporters' maximum annual salary, under the bill, would go from $12,900 in superior court and $12,000 in municipal court to $17,448 in both. Temporary court reporters would get a pay raise from $45 to $50 a day.

Probate commissioners would get a raise from a maximum of $12,000 to $18,000.

The bill was requested by the Marin County Board of Supervisors. The salaries are paid from local taxes, unlike judges' salaries, which are partly paid by the state.

Bagley also introduced a bill to allow tabulated indexes of registered voters to be kept in alphabetical order instead of only by street addresses. It was asked by the supervisors at the request of the county elections department.

Charges Denied By Young Suspect

Robert Bruce Jones, 20, of no fixed address, who walked out of Marin Superior Court Feb. 10, pleaded innocent in Municipal Court yesterday to charges of escaping from custody, car theft and possession of marijuana.

A preliminary hearing on the three new charges was set for Tuesday.

Jones was arrested Thursday by the California Highway Patrol, who said that he was driving a stolen car and that he had a marijuana cigarette tucked in his waistband.

He already faces car theft charges in Superior Court on March 17 when a jury trial will be held in an earlier case.

Bill Seeks Span Panel Transportation Power

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to empower the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District to operate all forms of transportation, including ferry boats, was introduced today by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco.

Foran, chairman of the Assembly Transportation Committee, said his bill anticipated a favorable report on the feasibility of ferries. A feasibility study now being done for Marin and San Francisco counties by consultant Arthur D. Little Inc. is due June 30.

His bill, if passed and signed into law, would not become effective until late this year, depending on when the Legislature adjourns, but a Foran aide said progress on planning a ferry system would not be delayed.

"I feel it is high time the functions of the bridge district be expanded to meet the needs of the modern day commuter," said Foran, adding the district no longer can be concerned only "with serving the automobile."

The bridge board voted Friday to seek just this sort of bill. The board made a similar request last year, but the 1968 Legislature rejected the request on the ground that changes in the composition of the district board must be made before it could be entrusted with new powers. Since then, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, won passage of a law expanding the board to include county supervisors and city councilmen.

The bridge board's vote Friday, however, was for an urgency bill, which would be effective immediately upon being signed into law. Urgency bills are more difficult to pass because they require a two-thirds approval in both houses of the Legislature.

Jerome B. White, attorney for the bridge district, has ruled that such legislation would be necessary for the district to to go into the ferry business. Present law empowers the district to go into the commuter bus business, however, he has said.

McCarthy Seeking Leeways On Pickup Truck Hauling

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to let owners of pickup trucks haul a wide range of items, without paying $17 extra for a commercial license plate, was introduced yesterday by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

Present Department of Motor Vehicles regulations sharply limit what can be carried in a pickup truck without a commercial plate, and McCarthy's bill would license pickups according to their use. Owners' statements on how they intend to use them would be accepted, but the California Highway Patrol still would enforce the ban against commercial use of pickups with passenger car plates.

Under the present code, "personal property" can be hauled in pickups with passenger car plates, but the attorney general has ruled that this includes only such things as suitcases, briefcases, golf clubs, groceries and camping equipment.

"Nonpersonal property" that cannot be carried under the present code, according to the attorney general, includes building materials, garbage, grass, fertilizer, furniture, boat motors and boats. Thus, boat owners can tow their boats if they have a station wagon with passenger car plates, but may not if they have a pickup with passenger car plates — despite the fact that the have to pay a personal property tax on the boat.

Another oddity in the present code is that pickups may carry passenger car plates if they have permanently attached campers, but must have commercial plates if the camper can be removed from the pickup.

Violators under the present code court face both perjury and vehicle code prosecution because they have to sign an affidavit that they will not carry "nonpersonal" property when they get passenger car plates for a pickup.

Farm Bureau's Officers Elected

Alfred L. Poncia of Fallon was succeding James A. Marshall of elected president of the Marin County Farm Bureau yesterday, Tomales.

Other officers selected yesterday were Stanley Swift and Henry Tomasini, both of Nicasio, vice presidents, and James Grossi of Novato, treasurer.

Poncia and David Burbank of Fallon were named as delegates to the state Farm Bureau convention to be held next month, with Marshall and Swift as alternates.

The next meeting will be at 10 a.m. March 11.

The soup is a blend of condensed chili beef and bisque of tomato, with onion and mexicorn added.

Celebrate A Birthday With Theme Taken From The Astrological Chart

The signs of the Zodiac are signs of the times. You see them everywhere these days. And what a perfect setting they make for a birthday celebration! Take advantage of this comic craze, and have a horoscope party for the next birthday on your list.

Set up a birthday bar with both food and the decorations following the astrological theme. Have lunar sandwiches, starry cupcakes, and soup in a big tureen with the birthday party's zodiac sign. It's wonderful, if you have one ready-made, like a fish tureen for Pisces; but you can make a beauty yourself with a straight-sided kettle or casserole covered in colored foil. Just paste on a paper fish or a ram for Aries, or a bull for Taurus. If you don't already know the zodiacal signs, almost anyone can tell you these star-gazing days.

Everybody serves himself at a birthday bar, which makes for comfortable guests and a relaxed hostess. The sandwiches and cakes can be as simple or elaborate as you care to make them. The soup should be a sensation.

You'll find it so easy to make a really spectacular soup, you'll think you, too, were born under a lucky star. All you need is some canned soup, a few extras, and a simple recipe. Chili beef soup, blended with bisque of tomato, onion, and mexicorn, and garnished with shredded cheese is a heavenly bowlful, astrologically speaking. Chicken and stars soup, an appropriate beginning, with ham, mushrooms, and watercress added, is equally delicious.

PISCES BIRTHDAY PARTY SOUP

¼ cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (11 ounces) condensed chili beef soup
1 can (11 ounces) condensed bisque of tomato soup
2 soup cans water
1 cup cooked mexicorn
Shredded mild process cheese

Cook onion in butter until tender. Blend in soups and water; add corn. Heat; stir now and then. Garnish with cheese. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

LUCKY STAR CHICKEN SOUP

½ cup chopped cooked ham
1 can (2 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed chicken & and stars soup
1 soup can water
¼ cup snipped watercress leaves

Brown ham and mushrooms in butter; add remaining ingredients. Heat; stir now andd then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Dessert Ideas With Cooked Apples Perk Up Appetites

The cool and damp days of winter call for something homey and delicious for dessert. Spicy baked apples, apple crisp and cream or apple-raisin cobbler are variations on the cooked apple theme.

APPLE-RAISIN COBBLER

4 cups sliced apples (about 4 medium)
½ cup raisins
⅔ cup sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
Dash of salt
½ cup water
1½ cups biscuit mix
2 tablespoons sugar
⅓ cup milk

Heat oven to 400°. Mix apples and raisins in square pan, 9x9x2 inches. In small bowl, blend ⅔ cup sugar, the cinnamon, salt and water; pour over apple mixture. Mix biscuit mix, 2 tablespoons sugar and the milk. On lightly floured cloth-covered board, roll dough into 9-inch square; place over apple mixture. Bake 30 minutes or until crust is golden brown. 8 servings. "Cobbled up" in a hurry.

CINNAMON BAKED APPLES

Choose baking apples, such as Rome Beauty, Golden Delicious or Greening.

Heat oven to 375°. Wash, core and remove 1-inch strip of skin around middle of each apple or pare upper half of each to prevent splitting. Place apples upright in baking dish. Place in center of each apple 1 to 2 tablespoons granulated or brown sugar, 1 teaspoon butter and ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon. Pour water (¼ inch deep) into baking dish. Bake until tender when pierced with fork, 30 to 40 minutes. (Time will vary with size and variety of apple.) If desired, spoon syrup in pan over apples several times during baking.

APPLE CRISP AND CREAM

Pare half a dozen tart, firm apples and cut each into 8 parts, removing core and seeds. Place the segments closely together in a buttered 8-by-12-inch pan. Mix together 2 tablespoons granulated sugar and ¼ teaspoon cinnamon and sprinkle this over the apples. Now mix 1 cup flour with ¼ cup brown sugar, and rub into it with the fingertips ½ cup butter until it is a crumbly consistency. Spread this over the apples and pat firm.

Bake in 450 degree oven for ½ hour or until the apples are tender. Eaten warm, either plain or with heavy cream, this is perfect with ham or sausages for breakfast. With hard sauce or sweetened whipped cream it becomes dessert.

MINTED APPLE chunks make a delightful accompaniment for meat (especially lamb) or poultry. Peel Pippin apples, cut into chunks and cook in syrup (using 1 cup sugar and 1 cup water) to which a few drops of oil of peppermint have been added. Cook until tender, then add either green or pink food coloring.

'La Chaudiere' Tradition Becomes New World Chowde

A famous chef, when asked to define chowder, described it as a thick, hearty soup containing fish or shellfish. He suggested that it probably originated in early New England.

This was a natural assumption because early settlers along New England's shores did utilize fish and shellfish in many ways. Seafoods were theirs for the taking and they developed many nourishing, filling, and comforting chowder recipes that were cherished and handed down from generation to generation.

CHOWDER ACTUALLY developed several centuries ago in coastal villages of France. When the fishermen came home from the sea, each man would throw a part of his catch into a huge copper kettle called "la chaudiere." The community would share in a feast celebrating their safe return. This tradition found its way to Canada and down the coast of New England where "la chaudiere" became chowder.

Haddock, a favorite fish in New England since early colonial days, is available, either fresh or frozen, in markets across the country. The white, tender meat is protein-rich and low in fat content and can be used in a wide variety of tasty recipes. Most of the haddock fillets are frozen in blocks and processed into fish sticks and portions which have become very popular as a convenience item.

OLD-FASHIONED haddock chowder is a true old-time New England chowder. The basic recipe has been modified and tested by home economists of the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries to simplify the preparation for today's busy homemaker. Large pieces of haddock add an unusual and satisfying touch that make this chowder so nourishing it could easily be used as the main course for any meal. Add a salad and some crispy bread — and the menu is complete.

1½ pounds haddock fillets, fresh or frozen
¼ cup chopped bacon or salt pork
½ cup chopped onion
2 cups diced potatoes
1 cup water
1 teaspoon salt
Dash white pepper
1½ cups milk
1 can (6 ounces) evaporated milk
Dill pickle strips

Thaw frozen fillets. Remove skin and bones from fillets. Fry bacon until crisp in a 12-inch fry pan. Remove bacon and reserve fat. Drain bacon on absorbent paper. Cook onion in bacon fat until tender. Add potatoes and water. Place fillets on top of potatoes. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cover and simmer for 15 to 20 minutes or until potatoes are tender and fillets flake easily when tested with a fork. Do not stir. Add milk. Heat. Sprinkle with bacon. Serve with dill pickle strips. Makes 6 servings.

Marinade Is Sauce For This Chicken Teriyaki

The raisin marinade serves as a sauce during baking.

½ cup seedless raisins
½ cup soy sauce
½ cup sherry
½ teaspoon ground ginger
1 teaspoon brown sugar
1 crushed clove garlic (optional)
1 (2½-pound) broiler-fryer, cut up

Chop raisins. Combine with soy sauce, wine, ginger, brown sugar and garlic. Pour over chicken and refrigerate several hours or overnight. Place chicken in baking pan, pouring marinade over pieces. Cover tightly with foil. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour. Uncover and continue baking about 30 minutes, until chicken is tender and browned. Makes 4 servings.

Warm Sugar

Butter and sugar can be creamed easily when the butter is hard by warming the sugar slightly in a preheated 250-degree oven.

Biz soaks out stains and dirt which no other pre-soaker can. Test it yourself and see...

"Biz is better"

WITH BIO-ENZIM
BIZ
FOR PRE-SOAKING LAUNDRY
REVOLUTIONARY BIOLOGICAL ACTION!
SOAKS OUT TOUGH DIRT AND STAINS
SOAKS BRILLIANCE INTO WHITES AND COLORS

Procter & Gamble's new pre-soak invention.

Housewives who tested Biz against another laundry pre-soaker prefer Biz almost 2 to 1.

Housewives all over America conducted tests in their own homes. Given unidentified samples of Biz and the other pre-soaker by an independent testing organization, housewives used both on their own laundry problems.

The results are conclusive:

Biz is overwhelmingly preferred! Housewives volunteered these preferences. For tough stain removal, Biz was preferred by almost 2 to 1. For whiter clothes, by almost 3 to 1.

Biz is the most effective pre-soaker you can buy! Biz soaks out stains which no other pre-soaker can. Biz has Bio-Enzim — a combination of stain and dirt removal ingredients, including enzymes that break down stains and dirt biologically so you can easily wash them away.

Prove to yourself that Biz is better. Test Biz yourself and you'll see that Biz gets out stains that the other pre-soaker does not. Tough stains like dried-in mushroom gravy, grape juice, blueberry pie filling, coffee and many more. Yet Biz is safe for all washable fabrics and colors — even delicate lingerie. Take the Biz challenge and go soak your clothes in Biz. You'll see for yourself. Biz is better! Biz soaks out stains and dirt which no detergent, no bleach, or no other pre-soaker can remove!

LUCKY THE LADY who has a fish tureen for a Pisces birthday bar. The soup is a blend of condensed chili beef and bisque of tomato, with onion and mexicorn added.

Celebrate A Birthday With Theme Taken From The Astrological Chart

The signs of the Zodiac are signs of the times. You see them everywhere these days. And what a perfect setting they make for a birthday celebration! Take advantage of this comic craze, and have a horoscope party for the next birthday on your list.

Set up a birthday bar with both food and the decorations following the astrological theme. Have lunar sandwiches, starry cupcakes, and soup in a big tureen with the birthday party's zodiac sign. It's wonderful, if you have one ready-made, like a fish tureen for Pisces; but you can make a beauty yourself with a straight-sided kettle or casserole covered in colored foil. Just paste on a paper fish or a ram for Aries, or a bull for Taurus. If you don't already know the zodiacal signs, almost anyone can tell you these star-gazing days.

Everybody serves himself at a birthday bar, which makes for comfortable guests and a relaxed hostess. The sandwiches and cakes can be as simple or elaborate as you care to make them. The soup should be a sensation.

You'll find it so easy to make a really spectacular soup, you'll think you, too, were born under a lucky star. All you need is some canned soup, a few extras, and a simple recipe. Chili beef soup, blended with bisque of tomato, onion, and mexicorn, and garnished with shredded cheese is a heavenly bowlful, astrologically speaking. Chicken and stars soup, an appropriate beginning, with ham, mushrooms, and watercress added, is equally delicious.

PISCES BIRTHDAY PARTY SOUP

¼ cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (11 ounces) condensed chili beef soup
1 can (11 ounces) condensed bisque of tomato soup
2 soup cans water
1 cup cooked mexicorn
Shredded mild process cheese

Cook onion in butter until tender. Blend in soups and water; add corn. Heat; stir now and then. Garnish with cheese. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

LUCKY STAR CHICKEN SOUP

½ cup chopped cooked ham
1 can (2 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed chicken & and stars soup
1 soup can water
¼ cup snipped watercress leaves

Brown ham and mushrooms in butter; add remaining ingredients. Heat; stir now andd then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Marinade Is Sauce For This Chicken Teriyaki

The raisin marinade serves as a sauce during baking.

½ cup seedless raisins
½ cup soy sauce
½ cup sherry
½ teaspoon ground ginger
1 teaspoon brown sugar
1 crushed clove garlic (optional)
1 (2½-pound) broiler-fryer, cut up

Chop raisins. Combine with soy sauce, wine, ginger, brown sugar and garlic. Pour over chicken and refrigerate several hours or overnight. Place chicken in baking pan, pouring marinade over pieces. Cover tightly with foil. Bake in moderate oven ([illegible] degrees F.) 1 hour. Uncover and continue baking about 30 minutes, until chicken is tender and browned. Makes 4 servings.

Warm Sugar

Butter and sugar can be creamed easily when the butter is hard by warming the sugar slightly in a preheated 250-degree oven.

Dessert Ideas With Cooked Apples Perk Up Appetites

The cool and damp days of winter call for something homey and delicious for dessert. Spicy baked apples, apple crisp and cream or apple-raisin cobbler are variations on the cooked apple theme.

APPLE-RAISIN COBBLER

4 cups sliced apples (about 4 medium)
½ cup raisins
⅔ cup sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
Dash of salt
½ cup water
1½ cups biscuit mix
2 tablespoons sugar
⅓ cup milk

Heat oven to 400°. Mix apples and raisins in square pan, 9x9x2 inches. In small bowl, blend ⅔ cup sugar, the cinnamon, salt and water; pour over apple mixture. Mix biscuit mix, 2 tablespoons sugar and the milk. On lightly floured cloth-covered board, roll dough into 9-inch square; place over apple mixture. Bake 30 minutes or until crust is golden brown. 8 servings. "Cobbled up" in a hurry.

CINNAMON BAKED APPLES

Choose baking apples, such as Rome Beauty, Golden Delicious or Greening.

Heat oven to 375°. Wash, core and remove 1-inch strip of skin around middle of each apple or pare upper half of each to prevent splitting. Place apples upright in baking dish. Place in center of each apple 1 to 2 tablespoons granulated or brown sugar, 1 teaspoon butter and ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon. Pour water (¼ inch deep) into baking dish. Bake until tender when pierced with fork, 30 to 40 minutes. (Time will vary with size and variety of apple.) If desired, spoon syrup in pan over apples several times during baking.

APPLE CRISP AND CREAM

Pare half a dozen tart, firm apples and cut each into 8 parts, removing core and seeds. Place the segments closely together in a buttered 8-by-12-inch pan. Mix together 2 tablespoons granulated sugar and ¼ teaspoon cinnamon and sprinkle this over the apples. Now mix 1 cup flour with ¼ cup brown sugar, and rub into it with the fingertips ½ cup butter until it is a crumbly consistency. Spread this over the apples and pat firm.

Bake in 450 degree oven for ½ hour or until the apples are tender. Eaten warm, either plain or with heavy cream, this is perfect with ham or sausages for breakfast. With hard sauce or sweetened whipped cream it becomes dessert.

MINTED APPLE chunks make a delightful accompaniment for meat (especially lamb) or poultry. Peel Pippin apples, cut into chunks and cook in syrup (using 1 cup sugar and 1 cup water) to which a few drops of oil of peppermint have been added. Cook until tender, then add either green or pink food coloring.

Marin Women

TALKING THINGS over are the "talk of the London fashion scene," Ossie Clark and his partner, Alice Pollock. The two own Quorum, a tiny Chelsea boutique, featuring not so tiny prices.

Ossie Clark Digs Far-Out Fashions

By NADEANE WALKER

As the newest lion on the London fashion scene, Ossie Clark must expect such orders, and take them in stride. His price was 300 pounds ($720) for the job.

A pale, lean young man with the sensitive face of a post, Ossie's only resemblance to the king of the jungle is his floppy mane of hair. Because his hair flops, he tied it back with a narrow scarf and launched a craze for headbands.

The wizardy of Ossie (pronounced Ozzie) is making him, along with Alice Pollock, his partner in Quorum, a tiny Chelsea boutique, possibly the most-talked about talent British fashion.

Last fall Ossie and Alice gave fashion editors who don't shock easily a jolt with their open-hanging, no bra-no blouse "Nude Look" collection. Twiggy bought some, but she pins them together at the bust. Another well-known model girl wears them as they come.

"SURE PEOPLE will wear them," says Ossie. "Just give them time."

Ossie and Alice reckon they're at least a year ahead of the American buyers, but then say Quorum has a lot of private customers in the United States, "and the buyers will catch on." Already one buyer has sold copies of one of their coats, London price 17 pounds ($40.80 dollars) for 500 dollars in America.

His fans claim everybody copies Ossie, so Ossie has decided to "knock off my own range" for mass production. With Alice, he recently signed a contract with Radley, a British company which will put its label in dresses selling for under five pounds ($12).

"I don't know where fashion is going until I'm actually working on a collection," says Ossie. "That's what makes it enjoyable. Every woman I see in the streets, I mentally redesign her clothes. Everything influences me.

"Customers have to listen to us. We criticize their hairstyles, shoes, everything."

Ossie was born in 1942 in Liverpool, the port city that spawned the Beatles, the youngest of six children. On the same day Alice was born in Southern Rhodesia, the daughter of a mining engineer. To escape wartime bombing, Ossie was evaculated to Oswaldtwistle, Lancashire. ("That's where I got my name. My real name's Raymond.") while Alice was brought up "by my granny" from the age of nine in Shrewsbury, England.

AT 12, OSSIE was making clothes for his two neices, aged 2 and 3. Encouraged by a high school art teacher and his mother, he went on to the Royal College of Art School of Fashion. Alice thought she was going to be a pianist, then a dancer.

"I was so bad at it I changed to languages, did a secretarial course, worked at the French Embassy and then for a film company."

They got together while Ossie was still at fashion school, and with his help Alice opened Quorum in Kensington early in 1965.

They moved to Chelsea two years ago.

"Our first collection," says Alice, "didn't sell much, but it made people talk." As green kids, "we had some fantastic disasters." One of these happened when actress Julie Christie stepped on a nail in their shop. She's still a customer; so is singer Cleo Lane and designer Schiaparelli's granddaughter.

They both say, with some satisfaction, "We're singing our own pop song now."

ELENA ZELAYETA

Things Still Cooking At 70

"Everyone can't have everything in life," said Elena Zelayeta.

The lively, gray haired woman in the becoming royal blue dress talked with enthusiasm about her family, friends, enlarging her food factory, a new book, travel . . . It seemed that Elena did have everything.

A world-acclaimed authority on Mexican cooking, Mrs. Zelayeta will give a cooking demonstration for members and friends of St. Stephens Guild at 1 p.m. Tuesday at Whitaker Hall in Belvedere. Mrs. J. Paul Silvestri Jr. of Tiburon is chairman.

Before her Marin appearance she will preview the kitchen, making sure that she can find each item and each appliance with ease.

"I AM BLIND — totally blind," she said. "There is nothing they can do, so I have to do something about myself. You've got to want to help yourself."

This philosophy and the determination to follow it through have been Elena's guiding forces. Girlhood struggles in San Francisco, where her parents and four younger brothers and sisters were stranded after political upheavals in Mexico in 1910, began the strengthening process. Her parents, natives of Spain, had gone to live in Mexico City, where they had a successful restaurant and hotel. All this was lost when, on a vacation trip to San Francisco, they learned of the revolution which made it impossible for them to return to Mexico. Elena's eyesight had not been good since a childhood attack of scarlet fever. She lost her vision entirely just before her second son was born, and when she was operating a Mexican restaurant in downtown San Francisco. She was widowed in 1945, while her two sons, Larry and Bill "still needed a home. I had to be both mother and father," she says.

Seventeen years ago she started a small food business in her own home.

"At that time I had three books out, but I was afraid that they might stop selling and my family would not have an income." At first she sold her Mexican foods to fine food stores in San Francisco. One complaint from a store owner was that all the boxes in which she wrapped her delicacies were different, and not uniformly marked. The blind Elena had, of course, no idea what the containers looked like.

Both of her sons helped with her business in the early stages. Now Larry continues to assist with factory operations, while Bill is a salesman traveling the Western United States for his firm.

"Parents have a very important part to play," Elena emphasized. "We were brought up a little bit differently. There was respect. My father had rules. Spanish women are very strict about their children. When dinner time comes everyone must be at the table together. Now parents are afraid of their children, afraid to cross them, afraid the child won't love them. . . . I am glad for the strictness of my own home. Without it I'd never have been able to tackle my blindness."

Now 70, an age when many think of taking life a little easy, Elena has many plans. Her sixth book, "Favorite Foods California Style," was published late last year and was the publisher's December Book of the month club selection. She recently appeared on a television program, "Success Story." She gives lectures and demonstrations throughout the country. Trips to Mexico and a return to Europe are in the future. At the time of our visit she was preparing for a visit from the representative of the Fonda del Sol restaurant in New York which she serves as food consultant, and a dinner party at her home was part of the plan.

"In entertaining everything is organization," she said. "On Wednesday I order for a Saturday party. There are so many prepared foods now — even in Mexico tortillas are made by machine — but with me it's complicated. I try not to use too many prepared foods. I have pride."

A DREAM MENU, something like she will prepare for the St. Stephens Guild program, includes her own concoction, Foam Soup, a chicken broth with tiny fluffy dumplings, a salad shaped like a Mexican Hat, green enchiladas and flan.

"Having a large number of dishes from which to choose is like having a large wardrobe," Elena chuckled. "As my mother said, 'if you only had one dress you would have no trouble making up your mind.' So it is with the many good things to eat. For my own entertaining I use both Mexican and continental dishes."

She sums up her approach to living, "My best in someone else's eyes may not be very good, but I can't torture myself with that thought. I don't strive for perfection; if I did, I'd be a nervous wreck. I think that one of the most important rules for successful living is to make use of what you have, understand your limitations and live accordingly. Some people are never happy even when doing their best because they want more — from themselves and from others, too. And some people never try at all because they're so afraid the results won't be perfect. I do the very best I can, and let it go at that."

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Newlyweds Feted At Ross Reception

By MOLLY MARIN

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hallett Jr. were honored at a reception Sunday afternoon hosted by his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Harold E. Hallett, and the Women's Guild of St. John's Church in Ross.

More than 200 friends attended the reception held at the rectory for the couple, who were married Dec. 29 at St. Eugene's Cathedral in Santa Rosa. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Ward of Santa Rosa.

Following a wedding trip to Hawaii the couple returned to their studies at Sonoma State College. The bridegroom was graduated from Yale University and is working toward a Ph.D. in marine biology at Sonoma State, where he is also a teaching assistant.

Biz soaks out stains and dirt which no other pre-soaker can. Test it yourself and see...

"Biz is better"

WITH BIO-ENZIM
BIZ
FOR PRE-SOAKING LAUNDRY
REVOLUTIONARY BIOLOGICAL ACTION!
SOAKS OUT TOUGH DIRT AND STAINS
SOAKS BRILLIANCE INTO WHITES AND COLORS

Procter & Gamble's new pre-soak invention.

Housewives who tested Biz against another laundry pre-soaker prefer Biz almost 2 to 1.

Housewives all over America conducted tests in their own homes. Given unidentified samples of Biz and the other pre-soaker by an independent testing organization, housewives used both on their own laundry problems.
The results are conclusive:

Biz is overwhelmingly preferred! Housewives volunteered these preferences. For tough stain removal, Biz was preferred by almost 2 to 1. For whiter clothes, by almost 3 to 1.

Biz is the most effective pre-soaker you can buy! Biz soaks out stains which no other pre-soaker can. Biz has Bio-Enzim – a combination of stain and dirt removal ingredients, including enzymes that break down stains and dirt biologically so you can easily wash them away.

Prove to yourself that Biz is better. Test Biz yourself and you'll see that Biz gets out stains that the other pre-soaker does not. Tough stains like dried-in mushroom gravy, grape juice, blueberry pie filling, coffee and many more. Yet Biz is safe for all washable fabrics and colors – even delicate lingerie. Take the Biz challenge and go soak your clothes in Biz. You'll see for yourself. Biz is better! Biz soaks out stains and dirt which no detergent, no bleach, or no other pre-soaker can remove!

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Is The Forbidden More Enticing Or Does It Just Seem That Way?

DEAR HELEN:

I agree with "Outdated" who claims men should stay pure until marriage. It's great to know that my marriage partner never made love to another, and she feels the same about me. My wife and I were both ignorant before marriage, but we managed to work things out all right without any real hassle. Doing what comes naturally isn't difficult.

This reminds me of the story about the Army sergeant who asked his men, "All guys whose unmarried sisters are virgins, raise your hands." Of course all hands went up, whereupon the sergeant remarked, "Since it's fair to say that all men would answer the same, I could only assume that either you are all lying, or there's one girl running around, who is brotherless and mighty busy!"

In other words, if a guy loses his virginity, somewhere along the line a girl must also. Therefore, I think it's sort of hypocritical for a man to deflower girls right and left and expect to find a pure rosebud waiting to be picked when he decides it's time to settle down. — DAVE

DEAR HELEN:

Isn't it true that in Sweden, where they've tossed away false prudery about sex, there is less going on between unmarried people than there was when "illicit" sex was considered a sin?

If you let adults govern themselves about morality they won't go on a non-stop orgy. They may indulge even less, because the forbidden is almost always more enticing. More likely they'll keep on doing as they've always done, but they'll cut out the sneaking around and pretending — and isn't that a relief? — EMMETT

DEAR EMMETT:

Make up your mind: Is the "forbidden more enticing" or the unforbidden "a relief"?

I don't know whether Swedes are less or more sexy since the switchover, but I might point out repeal of the Volstead Act didn't cut down on liquor consumption. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Our daughter was a bridal attendant three times in 1968. The cost of clothes, showers, etc. ran into the hundreds of dollars, but I'm not complaining about that.

What bothers me is that only one of these girls, now wives, has ever invited my daughter in for so much as coffee in her new home. And only one sent a Christmas card: The same girl, of course, and she was the most underprivileged of the group. The others never even called to thank us for the showers we gave.

What kind of people are these? — MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER:

Impolite and ungrateful! When the babies start coming, don't get roped into showers or gifts. — H.

PERSONAL TO IMPATIENT: It is written: He who hurries often passes up more than he overtakes. Slow down: You've got a few good years left, you know. — H.

Beauty Tips For Eyelashes, Hands

One good way to judge placement of false eyelashes comes from Ron Buchardt, makeup designer for Charles of the Ritz. Start the inner corner of the lash one finger depth from the nose, he says. In other words, leave about one-half inch from the inner corners without the falsies, rather extending them toward the outer lids. Buchardt offers another makeup tip to the woman wanting to make her hands longer and slimmer. Use very pale polish instead of the deep tones.

Rain, rain go away. We want to go to the beach and play. This firecracker stripe group is shown in a bikini style and a two-piece boy-leg. The button front swim jacket with elasticized sleeves and hip band can cover-up either.

Children Who Are Overweight May Be Overeaters Through Adult Years

The overweight adult is well known to be handicapped in more than looks. He is likely to develop hypertension, have heart disease, and die earlier than an individual of normal weight. He is more prone to have diabetes and gall bladder disease. If he requires an operation, the work of the surgeon is more complicated and the patient's risk is increased. Often obesity begins in childhood.

To become obese an individual must have an intake of potential energy greater than his expenditure of energy. This excess he stores as fat. This does not mean an obese individual is necessarily a glutton. A very small excess of calories taken in daily for many months and years will cause an accumulation of excess pounds. As a person becomes very heavy, moving around is increasingly difficult, activity diminishes, and fewer calories are burned.

Most obese people who go to a doctor hope the condition will be attributed to "glands" and medication prescribed which will effortlessly melt away the extra pounds. Less than 2 per cent of obese patients have demonstrable glandular disorders. For the rest the cause is unknown and the only treatment is to reduce the intake of food, increase the expenditure of energy, or both.

Most information on increased death and disease rates from obesity is derived from life insurance statistics and deals only with adults. Although statistics are not available for children, it is known that overweight children develop into overweight adults. As many as 5 per cent of children are above the normal range of weight for their height and age. Of these children, about 70 per cent have one or both parents who are obese. Does this mean that obesity, or at least a tendency to gain weight easily, is inherited? Perhaps, but it is also possible that family eating patterns are at fault.

CHILDREN CAN become overweight at any stage of childhood. Some mothers who consider it desirable for their baby to be chubby feel it is their duty to feed him as much as he will take. During the toddler years, when children normally become taller and relatively thinner, some of these mothers urge more food on the child than he needs, and gradually the feeling develops that food means mother's love. If the child has been sickly, food is urged on him "to make him strong."

During pre-adolescent years children normally deposit fat and gain weight before they start their adolescent growth spurt, but excessive weight gain results in a fat child.

During adolescence, the combination of normal growth spurt with new interest in personal appearance gives some overweight children incentive to reduce to normal weight. For others, however, being unattractive makes it easier to avoid the anxiety of social contact with the opposite sex.

The overweight child is often told not to worry — he will "grow out of it." The mildly chubby child who gained weight in the pre-adolescent years probably will become a normal adult, but the habitually overweight child probably will not. Real obesity in childhood is not only a handicap to physical accomplishments — athletics, dancing, etc. — but is also a serious psychologic problem. The pre-adolescent who is fat, slothful, and socially unacceptable resorts to eating like an alcoholic takes to the bottle. This constitutes a vicious circle which may go on into adult years.

1. The mother of the chubby infant and toddler should limit sweets and second helpings. Candy and most desserts provide "empty calories" without the nutrients needed for growth.

2. Food should not be used to pacify children.

3. The school child should be encouraged toward increased physical activity and to limiting between-meal snacks to fruit, milk, etc.

4. The older child who is concerned about his weight should be helped by offering him foods recommended by his doctor and eliminating the temptation of candy, pop, and rich desserts.

The origin of obesity involves cultural, family, psychological, and genetic factors. It is no wonder that this complicated problem has no simple solution, says the California Medical Association.

Former Teacher, Travel Guide Heads Belvedere Guild 3 Of Sunny Hills

Fixing up old houses and second homes is a hobby of Mrs. Donald J. O'Leary, newly-elected president of Belvedere Guild 3 of Sunny Hills.

A graduate of the University of California at Santa Barbara, Mrs. O'Leary did graduate work at the University of California at Los Angeles, Long Beach State College and Arizona State University. Loris O'Leary is a former teacher and counselor, and is qualified to give intelligence tests. With this background, she is very interested in local public schools.

Travel, too, is a major enthusiasm, perhaps spurred by her experience as a tour director in Japan for the United States government. Frequent ski trips to Lake Tahoe, tennis and swimming are her outdoor pleasures.

The new president is a former Girl Scout leader, treasurer for the Reed Union School District Parent-Teacher Club, and belongs to the Belvedere-Tiburon Guild of the Boyd Museum of Science.

The O'Learys have lived in Tiburon for five years. Mr. O'Leary is an attorney and business consultant. They have two children, Karen, 13, and Kevin, 12.

The guild president has been a member for three years. She has been Belvedere June tea chairman, and Guild Grape Festival chairman. Any interested woman who will give her time to the guild's projects — a fund-raising picnic, staffing the Bargain Box, assisting at the Grape Festival, and participation in the All-Belvedere Guilds June tea — is welcome to become a member.

Other new officers are Mmes. B. G. Johnston, vice president; Raymund Millzner, secretary; Ralph Schilling, treasurer; and Victor Grant, Bargain Box.

Engagement Announced In East Bay

A champagne party, hosted by Mr. and Mrs. George Y. Johnson of Oakland, was the occasion for the announcement of their daughter Emilene's engagement ot Jeffrey Fearn, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Fearn of San Rafael.

Emmy is a senior at the University of California at Davis, where she is editor of the Students' Viewpoint, a member of Prytanean Society and a resident adviser.

Jeff, who was graduated from U.C. at Davis, also was a resident adviser. He begins active duty as a second lieutenant with the Army Field Artillery at Ft. Sill, Okla., in March.

TALKING THINGS over are the "talk of the London fashion scene," Ossie Clark and his partner, Alice Pollock. The two own Quorum, a tiny Chelsea boutique, featuring not so tiny prices.

Ossie Clark Digs Far-Out Fashions

By NADEANE WALKER

As the newest lion on the London fashion scene, Ossie Clark must expect such orders, and take them in stride. His price was 300 pounds ($720) for the job.

A pale, lean young man with the sensitive face of a post, Ossie's only resemblance to the king of the jungle is his floppy mane of hair. Because his hair flops, he tied it back with a narrow scarf and launched a craze for headbands.

The wizardy of Ossie (pronounced Ozzie) is making him, along with Alice Pollock, his partner in Quorum, a tiny Chelsea boutique, possibly the most-talked about talent British fashion.

Last fall Ossie and Alice gave fashion editors who don't shock easily a jolt with their open-hanging, no bra-no blouse "Nude Look" collection. Twiggy bought some, but she pins them together at the bust. Another well-known model girl wears them as they come.

"SURE PEOPLE will wear them," says Ossie. "Just give them time."

Ossie and Alice reckon they're at least a year ahead of the American buyers, but then say Quorum has a lot of private customers in the United States, "and the buyers will catch on." Already one buyer has sold copies of one of their coats, London price 17 pounds ($40.80 dollars) for 500 dollars in America.

His fans claim everybody copies Ossie, so Ossie has decided to "knock off my own range" for mass production. With Alice, he recently signed a contract with Radley, a British company which will put its label in dresses selling for under five pounds ($12).

"I don't know where fashion is going until I'm actually working on a collection," says Ossie. "That's what makes it enjoyable. Every woman I see in the streets, I mentally redesign her clothes. Everything influences me.

"Customers have to listen to us. We criticize their hairstyles, shoes, everything."

Ossie was born in 1942 in Liverpool, the port city that spawned the Beatles, the youngest of six children. On the same day Alice was born in Southern Rhodesia, the daughter of a mining engineer. To escape wartime bombing, Ossie was evaculated to Oswaldtwistle, Lancashire. ("That's where I got my name. My real name's Raymond.") while Alice was brought up "by my granny" from the age of nine in Shrewsbury, England.

AT 12, OSSIE was making clothes for his two neices, aged 2 and 3. Encouraged by a high school art teacher and his mother, he went on to the Royal College of Art School of Fashion. Alice thought she was going to be a pianist, then a dancer.

"I was so bad at it I changed to languages, did a secretarial course, worked at the French Embassy and then for a film company."

They got together while Ossie was still at fashion school, and with his help Alice opened Quorum in Kensington early in 1965.

They moved to Chelsea two years ago.

"Our first collection," says Alice, "didn't sell much, but it made people talk." As green kids, "we had some fantastic disasters." One of these happened when actress Julie Christie stepped on a nail in their shop. She's still a customer; so is singer Cleo Lane and designer Schiaparelli's granddaughter.

ELENA ZELAYETA

Things Still Cooking At 70

"Everyone can't have everything in life," said Elena Zelayeta.

The lively, gray haired woman in the becoming royal blue dress talked with enthusiasm about her family, friends, enlarging her food factory, a new book, travel . . . It seemed that Elena did have everything.

A world-acclaimed authority on Mexican cooking, Mrs. Zelayeta will give a cooking demonstration for members and friends of St. Stephens Guild at 1 p.m. Tuesday at Whitaker Hall in Belvedere. Mrs. J. Paul Silvestri Jr. of Tiburon is chairman.

Before her Marin appearance she will preview the kitchen, making sure that she can find each item and each appliance with ease.

"I AM BLIND — totally blind," she said. "There is nothing they can do, so I have to do something about myself. You've got to want to help yourself."

This philosophy and the determination to follow it through have been Elena's guiding forces. Girlhood struggles in San Francisco, where her parents and four younger brothers and sisters were stranded after political upheavals in Mexico in 1910, began the strengthening process. Her parents, natives of Spain, had gone to live in Mexico City, where they had a successful restaurant and hotel. All this was lost when, on a vacation trip to San Francisco, they learned of the revolution which made it impossible for them to return to Mexico. Elena's eyesight had not been good since a childhood attack of scarlet fever. She lost her vision entirely just before her second son was born, and when she was operating a Mexican restaurant in downtown San Francisco. She was widowed in 1945, while her two sons, Larry and Bill "still needed a home. I had to be both mother and father," she says.

Seventeen years ago she started a small food business in her own home.

"At that time I had three books out, but I was afraid that they might stop selling and my family would not have an income." At first she sold her Mexican foods to fine food stores in San Francisco. One complaint from a store owner was that all the boxes in which she wrapped her delicacies were different, and not uniformly marked. The blind Elena had, of course, no idea what the containers looked like.

Both of her sons helped with her business in the early stages. Now Larry continues to assist with factory operations, while Bill is a salesman traveling the Western United States for his firm.

"Parents have a very important part to play," Elena emphasized. "We were brought up a little bit differently. There was respect. My father had rules. Spanish women are very strict about their children. When dinner time comes everyone must be at the table together. Now parents are afraid of their children, afraid to cross them, afraid the child won't love them. . . . I am glad for the strictness of my own home. Without it I'd never have been able to tackle my blindness."

Now 70, an age when many think of taking life a little easy, Elena has many plans. Her sixth book, "Favorite Foods California Style," was published late last year and was the publisher's December Book of the month club selection. She recently appeared on a television program, "Success Story." She gives lectures and demonstrations throughout the country. Trips to Mexico and a return to Europe are in the future. At the time of our visit she was preparing for a visit from the representative of the Fonda del Sol restaurant in New York which she serves as food consultant, and a dinner party at her home was part of the plan.

"In entertaining everything is organization," she said. "On Wednesday I order for a Saturday party. There are so many prepared foods now — even in Mexico tortillas are made by machine — but with me it's complicated. I try not to use too many prepared foods. I have pride."

A DREAM MENU, something like she will prepare for the St. Stephens Guild program, includes her own concoction, Foam Soup, a chicken broth with tiny fluffy dumplings, a salad shaped like a Mexican Hat, green enchiladas and flan.

"Having a large number of dishes from which to choose is like having a large wardrobe," Elena chuckled. "As my mother said, 'if you only had one dress you would have no trouble making up your mind.' So it is with the many good things to eat. For my own entertaining I use both Mexican and continental dishes."

She sums up her approach to living, "My best in someone else's eyes may not be very good, but I can't torture myself with that thought. I don't strive for perfection; if I did, I'd be a nervous wreck. I think that one of the most important rules for successful living is to make use of what you have, understand your limitations and live accordingly. Some people are never happy even when doing their best because they want more — from themselves and from others, too. And some people never try at all because they're so afraid the results won't be perfect. I do the very best I can, and let it go at that."

For Elena's friends, her best is very good.

ON THE AGENDA

Husband-Wife Team To Perform For Thursday Musical Club

The Thursday Musical Club will feature Istvan Nadas and his wife, Rosalie, in a program of four-hand works for piano at their February concert tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. at the Mill Valley home of the Harrison Leppos. President Mrs. Hugh Middleton will assist the hostess in welcoming members and their guests.

MRS. ISTVAN NADAS

Istvan Nadas studied piano in his native Hungary with Bela Bartok and Louis Kentner. While in his teens, he toured Europe as soloist with orchestras and in recital, performing the classics as well as the music of contemporary composers.

ISTVAN NADAS

After World War II, having received the highest decorations from the Italian government for his blossoming career as an artist of the piano, he was subsequently appointed to the directorship of the piano department at the National Conservatory of Caracas, Venezuela. In 1953 he moved to the United States.

Mr. Nadas is a professor of piano at San Francisco State College. He, his wife and young daughter make their home in the city. Mrs. Leland Jordan will introduce the artists.

Following the program, tea will be served by the refreshment committee headed by Mmes. Fred Stribling and A. Dean Gough, assisted by Mmes. John D. MacAuley, Roger Wurtz, Elliott Stevens, Carlos Freitas, Paul Daly and John Anton. Pouring at the tea table will be Mmes. Delmar Clinton and Rodney Hartman.

THE SUNNY HILLS Bargain Box will be open as usual on Saturday, Washington's Birthday. A 22 cents sale on wearing apparel and other items will be featured.

The regular monthly silent auction will be held at 2 p.m.; unusual items to be auctioned are a pre-Civil War flintlock rifle; a rocking chair, which is a twin of the one that the late President Kennedy used; many old cast iron untensils; a white ostrich feather cape and matching purse; and a collection of old bottles.

Every half hour during the business day, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., a cherry pie will be awarded to a customer.

PLANS ARE underway to form a new bethel of the International Order of Job's Daughters in the Novato area, according to Mrs. E. W. LeVan of Novato. Twenty-five girls between the ages of 12 and 20 who are related to members of the Masonic fraternity are needed to start the group, which would meet twice a month and also have dinners, dances, trips and other social activities. Adult counselors have been chosen for the group, Mrs. LeVan states.

MARIN CHAIRMEN for the June 1-7 annual KQED Auction have been named. With an unprecedented record of $334,000 raised during last year's auction, volunteers are enthusiastic about the 1969 big fund-raiser for the non-commercial Channel 9.

In Marin Mrs. Thomas Parks of San Rafael will direct area solicitation. Mrs. Thomas Kearney of Mill Valley and Mrs. Jarvis Gates, formerly of Sausalito, who recently moved to Piedmont, are chairmen of auctioneers.

Solicitation chairmen are Mmes. Bryan Chapman for Sausalito, Belvedere and Tiburon; Norman Solari, San Rafael; Robert Bilger, Mill Valley, Corte Madera, Larkspur; Mark Morris, San Anselmo; Barbara Vorhees, Fairfax; Mervyn Dowd Jr., Kentfield, Greenbrae, Ross; Jerome London, Novato and Terra Linda; and Ellen Clarke Eilert, Woodacre, Stinson Beach and Bolinas.

Prospective donors may contact area chairmen for cash or merchandise gifts they wish to give to KQED for the annual auction.

The auction will again be telecast in color from the Palace of Fine Arts daily from 2 p.m. June 1 through June 7. A preview will be held the last week in May for art, antiques and items of unusual interest and value.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Is The Forbidden More Enticing Or Does It Just Seem That Way?

DEAR HELEN:

I agree with "Outdated" who claims men should stay pure until marriage. It's great to know that my marriage partner never made love to another, and she feels the same about me. My wife and I were both ignorant before marriage, but we managed to work things out all right without any real hassle. Doing what comes naturally isn't difficult.

This reminds me of the story about the Army sergeant who asked his men, "All guys whose unmarried sisters are virgins, raise your hands." Of course all hands went up, whereupon the sergeant remarked, "Since it's fair to say that all men would answer the same, I could only assume that either you are all lying, or there's one girl running around, who is brotherless and mighty busy!"

In other words, if a guy loses his virginity, somewhere along the line a girl must also. Therefore, I think it's sort of hypocritical for a man to deflower girls right and left and expect to find a pure rosebud waiting to be picked when he decides it's time to settle down. — DAVE

DEAR HELEN:

Isn't it true that in Sweden, where they've tossed away false prudery about sex, there is less going on between unmarried people than there was when "illicit" sex was considered a sin?

If you let adults govern themselves about morality they won't go on a non-stop orgy. They may indulge even less, because the forbidden is almost always more enticing. More likely they'll keep on doing as they've always done, but they'll cut out the sneaking around and pretending — and isn't that a relief? — EMMETT

DEAR EMMETT:

Make up your mind: Is the "forbidden more enticing" or the unforbidden "a relief"?

I don't know whether Swedes are less or more sexy since the switchover, but I might point out repeal of the Volstead Act didn't cut down on liquor consumption. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Our daughter was a bridal attendant three times in 1968. The cost of clothes, showers, etc. ran into the hundreds of dollars, but I'm not complaining about that.

What bothers me is that only one of these girls, now wives, has ever invited my daughter in for so much as coffee in her new home. And only one sent a Christmas card: The same girl, of course, and she was the most underprivileged of the group. The others never even called to thank us for the showers we gave.

What kind of people are these? — MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER:

Impolite and ungrateful! When the babies start coming, don't get roped into showers or gifts. — H.

PERSONAL TO IMPATIENT: It is written: He who hurries often passes up more than he overtakes. Slow down: You've got a few good years left, you know. — H.

Beauty Tips For Eyelashes, Hands

One good way to judge placement of false eyelashes comes from Ron Buchardt, makeup designer for Charles of the Ritz. Start the inner corner of the lash one finger depth from the nose, he says. In other words, leave about one-half inch from the inner corners without the falsies, rather extending them toward the outer lids. Buchardt offers another makeup tip to the woman wanting to make her hands longer and slimmer. Use very pale polish instead of the deep tones.

Children Who Are Overweight May Be Overeaters Through Adult Years

The overweight adult is well known to be handicapped in more than looks. He is likely to develop hypertension, have heart disease, and die earlier than an individual of normal weight. He is more prone to have diabetes and gall bladder disease. If he requires an operation, the work of the surgeon is more complicated and the patient's risk is increased. Often obesity begins in childhood.

To become obese an individual must have an intake of potential energy greater than his expenditure of energy. This excess he stores as fat. This does not mean an obese individual is necessarily a glutton. A very small excess of calories taken in daily for many months and years will cause an accumulation of excess pounds. As a person becomes very heavy, moving around is increasingly difficult, activity diminishes, and fewer calories are burned.

Most obese people who go to a doctor hope the condition will be attributed to "glands" and medication prescribed which will effortlessly melt away the extra pounds. Less than 2 per cent of obese patients have demonstrable glandular disorders. For the rest the cause is unknown and the only treatment is to reduce the intake of food, increase the expenditure of energy, or both.

Most information on increased death and disease rates from obesity is derived from life insurance statistics and deals only with adults. Although statistics are not available for children, it is known that overweight children develop into overweight adults. As many as 5 per cent of children are above the normal range of weight for their height and age. Of these children, about 70 per cent have one or both parents who are obese. Does this mean that obesity, or at least a tendency to gain weight easily, is inherited? Perhaps, but it is also possible that family eating patterns are at fault.

CHILDREN CAN become overweight at any stage of childhood. Some mothers who consider it desirable for their baby to be chubby feel it is their duty to feed him as much as he will take. During the toddler years, when children normally become taller and relatively thinner, some of these mothers urge more food on the child than he needs, and gradually the feeling develops that food means mother's love. If the child has been sickly, food is urged on him "to make him strong."

During pre-adolescent years children normally deposit fat and gain weight before they start their adolescent growth spurt, but excessive weight gain results in a fat child.

During adolescence, the combination of normal growth spurt with new interest in personal appearance gives some overweight children incentive to reduce to normal weight. For others, however, being unattractive makes it easier to avoid the anxiety of social contact with the opposite sex.

The overweight child is often told not to worry — he will "grow out of it." The mildly chubby child who gained weight in the pre-adolescent years probably will become a normal adult, but the habitually overweight child probably will not. Real obesity in childhood is not only a handicap to physical accomplishments — athletics, dancing, etc. — but is also a serious psychologic problem. The pre-adolescent who is fat, slothful, and socially unacceptable resorts to eating like an alcoholic takes to the bottle. This constitutes a vicious circle which may go on into adult years.

1. The mother of the chubby infant and toddler should limit sweets and second helpings. Candy and most desserts provide "empty calories" without the nutrients needed for growth.

2. Food should not be used to pacify children.

3. The school child should be encouraged toward increased physical activity and to limiting between-meal snacks to fruit, milk, etc.

4. The older child who is concerned about his weight should be helped by offering him foods recommended by his doctor and eliminating the temptation of candy, pop, and rich desserts.

The origin of obesity involves cultural, family, psychological, and genetic factors. It is no wonder that this complicated problem has no simple solution, says the California Medical Association.

Former Teacher, Travel Guide Heads Belvedere Guild 3 Of Sunny Hills

A graduate of the University of California at Santa Barbara, Mrs. O'Leary did graduate work at the University of California at Los Angeles, Long Beach State College and Arizona State University. Loris O'Leary is a former teacher and counselor, and is qualified to give intelligence tests. With this background, she is very interested in local public schools.

Travel, too, is a major enthusiasm, perhaps spurred by her experience as a tour director in Japan for the United States government. Frequent ski trips to Lake Tahoe, tennis and swimming are her outdoor pleasures.

The new president is a former Girl Scout leader, treasurer for the Reed Union School District Parent-Teacher Club, and belongs to the Belvedere-Tiburon Guild of the Boyd Museum of Science.

The O'Learys have lived in Tiburon for five years. Mr. O'Leary is an attorney and business consultant. They have two children, Karen, 13, and Kevin, 12.

The guild president has been a member for three years. She has been Belvedere June tea chairman, and Guild Grape Festival chairman. Any interested woman who will give her time to the guild's projects — a fund-raising picnic, staffing the Bargain Box, assisting at the Grape Festival, and participation in the All-Belvedere Guilds June tea — is welcome to become a member.

Other new officers are Mmes. B. G. Johnston, vice president; Raymund Millzner, secretary; Ralph Schilling, treasurer; and Victor Grant, Bargain Box.

Engagement Announced In East Bay

A champagne party, hosted by Mr. and Mrs. George Y. Johnson of Oakland, was the occasion for the announcement of their daughter Emilene's engagement ot Jeffrey Fearn, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Fearn of San Rafael.

Emmy is a senior at the University of California at Davis, where she is editor of the Students' Viewpoint, a member of Prytanean Society and a resident adviser.

Jeff, who was graduated from U.C. at Davis, also was a resident adviser. He begins active duty as a second lieutenant with the Army Field Artillery at Ft. Sill, Okla., in March.

Bach Group Concert Scheduled On Sunday

The Bach-to-Mozart Chamber Group will present the fourth concert of the 1968-69 Candlelight Chamber Music Series Sunday at 8 p.m. in Brown's Hall, Mill Valley.

Part I of the program will consist of the Purcell Trumpet Voluntary for Trumpet and Strings; the J. S. Bach Aria "Es ist Vollbracht" from Cantata 159 for Baritone, Oboe and String, and Monteverdi's "Ahi, Sciocco Mondo" for Soprano Baritone and Continuo.

Part II includes Joseph Fiala's Quartet in F Major for Oboe and Strings, three traditional songs of the troubadours for soprano and viola, and Monteverdi's "Ardo E Scoprir" for Soprano, Baritone and Continuo.

Concluding the evening will be a duo for viola and cello by Walter Piston, "Lungi dal Ben Ch'Adoro" by Bernardo Gffi for Soprano, Cello and Continuo, and Handel's Occasional Oratorio for Baritone, Trumpet, Oboean strings and Continuo.

Musicians performing will be soprano Gwen Curatilo and baritone Edgar Jones; George Nagata and Gail Denny, violins; Rolf Storseth, cello; Asbjorn Finess, viola; Margaret Fabrizio, harpsichord; Edward Haug, trumpet, and Raymond Duste, oboe.

The fifth concert in the series will be presented by the Danzi Woodwind Quintet on March 28.

Orchid Talk Set

Mrs. A. F. Lawton of Tiburon, who specializes in growing out-of-door orchids, will speak at 8 p.m. tomorrow at a public meeting of the Marin Orchid Society at 735 Center Boulevard, Fairfax.

Grading System Is Due Board Study

A change in grading to eliminate credit for grades fo D and F at College of Marin will be presented to the board of trustees for action at a meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Fine Arts Building at the college.

Trustees will also be asked to approve a plan to restrict attendance by out-of-district students at College of Marin.

Scientist Feels Doom Avoidable

PASADENA (AP) — Although 98 per cent of all the species that have existed in 3.5 million years of life on earth are now extinct, man has the knowledge to avoid a similar fate, says a Caltech biologist.

Prof. James Bonner said yesterday man has the ability now to increase the supply of favorable genes by selective breeding.

Normally, "We would expect to be superseded eventually by some other creature more intelligent than we, just as we superseded Neanderthal man," Dr. Bonner told a Caltech symposium on "The Far Reach of Science."

Improved genetic management may also mean organ transplants will become obsolete, he said.

"Instead, we will grow new organs to replace worn-out ones."

The on-tree value of the 1967-68 citrus crop to Florida citrusmen was $300 million.

ON THE AGENDA

Husband-Wife Team To Perform For Thursday Musical Club

The Thursday Musical Club will feature Istvan Nadas and his wife, Rosalie, in a program of four-hand works for piano at their February concert tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. at the Mill Valley home of the Harrison Leppos. President Mrs. Hugh Middleton will assist the hostess in welcoming members and their guests.

MRS. ISTVAN NADAS

Istvan Nadas studied piano in his native Hungary with Bela Bartok and Louis Kentner. While in his teens, he toured Europe as soloist with orchestras and in recital, performing the classics as well as the music of contemporary composers.

ISTVAN NADAS

After World War II, having received the highest decorations from the Italian government for his blossoming career as an artist of the piano, he was subsequently appointed to the directorship of the piano department at the National Conservatory of Caracas, Venezuela. In 1953 he moved to the United States.

Mr. Nadas is a professor of piano at San Francisco State College. He, his wife and young daughter make their home in the city. Mrs. Leland Jordan will introduce the artists.

Following the program, tea will be served by the refreshment committee headed by Mmes. Fred Stribling and A. Dean Gough, assisted by Mmes. John D. MacAuley, Roger Wurtz, Elliott Stevens, Carlos Freitas, Paul Daly and John Anton. Pouring at the tea table will be Mmes. Delmar Clinton and Rodney Hartman.

THE SUNNY HILLS Bargain Box will be open as usual on Saturday, Washington's Birthday. A 22 cents sale on wearing apparel and other items will be featured.

The regular monthly silent auction will be held at 2 p.m.; unusual items to be auctioned are a pre-Civil War flintlock rifle; a rocking chair, which is a twin of the one that the late President Kennedy used; many old cast iron untensils; a white ostrich feather cape and matching purse; and a collection of old bottles.

Every half hour during the business day, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., a cherry pie will be awarded to a customer.

PLANS ARE underway to form a new bethel of the International Order of Job's Daughters in the Novato area, according to Mrs. E. W. LeVan of Novato. Twenty-five girls between the ages of 12 and 20 who are related to members of the Masonic fraternity are needed to start the group, which would meet twice a month and also have dinners, dances, trips and other social activities. Adult counselors have been chosen for the group, Mrs. LeVan states.

MARIN CHAIRMEN for the June 1-7 annual KQED Auction have been named. With an unprecedented record of $334,000 raised during last year's auction, volunteers are enthusiastic about the 1969 big fund-raiser for the non-commercial Channel 9.

In Marin Mrs. Thomas Parks of San Rafael will direct area solicitation. Mrs. Thomas Kearney of Mill Valley and Mrs. Jarvis Gates, formerly of Sausalito, who recently moved to Piedmont, are chairmen of auctioneers.

Solicitation chairmen are Mmes. Bryan Chapman for Sausalito, Belvedere and Tiburon; Norman Solari, San Rafael; Robert Bilger, Mill Valley, Corte Madera, Larkspur; Mark Morris, San Anselmo; Barbara Vorhees, Fairfax; Mervyn Dowd Jr., Kentfield, Greenbrae, Ross; Jerome London, Novato and Terra Linda; and Ellen Clarke Eilert, Woodacre, Stinson Beach and Bolinas.

Prospective donors may contact area chairmen for cash or merchandise gifts they wish to give to KQED for the annual auction.

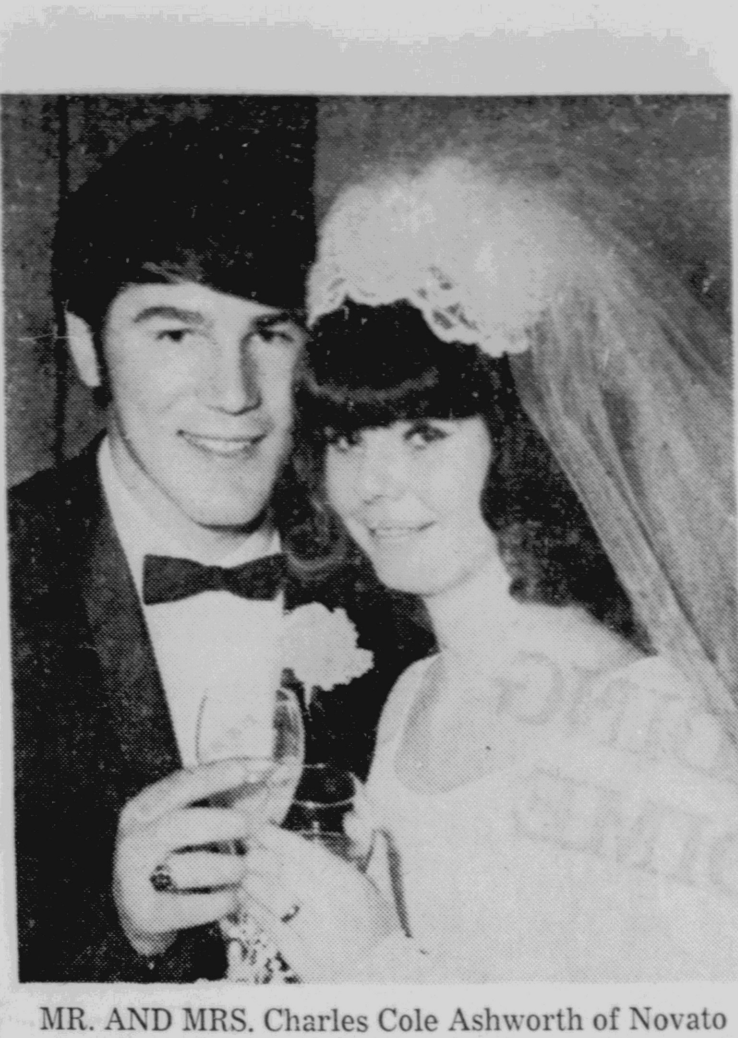
The auction will again be telecast in color from the Palace of Fine Arts daily from 2 p.m. June 1 through June 7. A preview will be held the last week in May for art, antiques and items of unusual interest and value.



MR. AND MRS. Charles Cole Ashworth of Novato toast one another following their wedding on Valentine's Day at the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Novato. Mrs. Ashworth is the former Patricia Maureen Slater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Triplett of Novato.

Dawn Roberts Wed In Reno

Exchanging marriage vows Sunday at a ceremony at the Chapel of Promise in Reno were Dawn Elise Roberts of Mill Valley and Russell John Mackey of San Anselmo.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Roberts of Mill Valley and the sister of Barry Roberts. She is a graduate of Tamalpais High School and the College of Marin and is continuing her studies at San Jose State College.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mackey of San Anselmo. His brothers are Ken Mackey of Mill Valley and Michael Mackey, a student at Humboldt State College. He is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and attended College of Marin and Heald's Business College in San Francisco. He is employed at Food Villa Market in San Jose.

Kathleen Campbell Will Be Wed To Dennis Anderson

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac C. Campbell of Novato announce the engagement of their daughter Kathleen to Dennis Anderson of Atlantic, Iowa.

Kathleen will be graduated from Novato High School in June and is the sister of Dean L. Campbell of Crystal, Minn., Stanley C. Campbell of Palo Alto and Bonnie Campbell of Novato.

Dennis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale R. Anderson of Atlantic and the brother of Robert D. Anderson of Novato. He is a graduate of Atlantic High School, attended College of Marin and is employed by Safeway Stores, Inc.

Miss Gilmore Is Bride Of Gary Aycock

Novato Community Methodist Church was the setting Saturday for the marriage of Linda Gilmore and Gary Aycock.

Delores Coulter of Novato was maid of honor. Barry Aycock of Novato was his brother's best man, and Roy Gilberti of Ignacio ushered.

A reception at the Non-commissioned Officers Club at Hamilton Air Force Base followed the ceremony.

Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gilmore of Townsend, Mont. She was graduated from Novato High School, attended College of Marin and is employed by Longs Drugs in San Anselmo. The bride is the sister of John W. Gilmore of Novato and Mrs. Anna Mae Gill, Charles Gilmore and Mrs. William Shakle, all of Townsend.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Aycock of Novato are the bridegroom's parents. He is a graduate of Sarrattsville High School in Maryland and is attending College of Marin. Gary is employed by the Independent-Journal and Regal Gas Station in San Rafael.

Following a wedding trip to San Francisco the couple will live in San Rafael.

Probably the greatest art film of all time.
Tonight at 8:30 on Channel 20.

720 CENTER BLVD., FAIRFAX, CALIF. 400 LAS GALLINAS ROAD, SAN RAFAEL

Bach Group Concert Scheduled On Sunday

The Bach-to-Mozart Chamber Group will present the fourth concert of the 1968-69 Candlelight Chamber Music Series Sunday at 8 p.m. in Brown's Hall, Mill Valley.

Part I of the program will consist of the Purcell Trumpet Voluntary for Trumpet and Strings; the J. S. Bach Aria "Es ist Vollbracht" from Cantata 159 for Baritone, Oboe and String, and Monteverdi's "Ahi, Sciocco Mondo" for Soprano Baritone and Continuo.

Part II includes Joseph Fiala's Quartet in F Major for Oboe and Strings, three traditional songs of the troubadours for soprano and viola, and Monteverdi's "Ardo E Scoprir" for Soprano, Baritone and Continuo.

Concluding the evening will be a duo for viola and cello by Walter Piston, "Lungi dal Ben Ch'Adoro" by Bernardo Gffi for Soprano, Cello and Continuo, and Handel's Occasional Oratorio for Baritone, Trumpet, Oboe an strings and Continuo.

Musicians performing will be soprano Gwen Curatilo and baritone Edgar Jones; George Nagata and Gail Denny, violins; Rolf Storseth, cello; Asbjorn Finess, viola; Margaret Fabrizio, harpsichord; Edward Haug, trumpet, and Raymond Duste, oboe.

The fifth concert in the series will be presented by the Danzi Woodwind Quintet on March 28.

Orchid Talk Set

Mrs. A. F. Lawton of Tiburon, who specializes in growing out-of-door orchids, will speak at 8 p.m. tomorrow at a public meeting of the Marin Orchid Society at 735 Center Boulevard, Fairfax.

Grading System Is Due Board Study

A change in grading to eliminate credit for grades fo D and F at College of Marin will be presented to the board of trustees for action at a meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Fine Arts Building at the college.

Trustees will also be asked to approve a plan to restrict attendance by out-of-district students at College of Marin.

Scientist Feels Doom Avoidable

PASADENA (AP) — Although 98 per cent of all the species that have existed in 3.5 million years of life on earth are now extinct, man has the knowledge to avoid a similar fate, says a Caltech biologist.

Prof. James Bonner said yesterday man has the ability now to increase the supply of favorable genes by selective breeding.

Normally, "We would expect to be superseded eventually by some other creature more intelligent than we, just as we superseded Neanderthal man," Dr. Bonner told a Caltech symposium on "The Far Reach of Science."

Improved genetic management may also mean organ transplants will become obsolete, he said.

"Instead, we will grow new organs to replace worn-out ones."

Teachers Get Blame For School Unrest

Heavy blame was placed yesterday on "racist teachers" for unrest in Bay Area high schools.

"I hear the word 'nigger' used by teachers," said Stanley M. Pease, a Tamalpais High School social studies instructor who last fall completed a study of unrest at six Bay Area high schools.

"You go to any school and it (racism) is there," he said. "I don't know of any school that's free of it."

Pease, reporting to the discipline study committee of the Tamalpais High School District board, said some teachers assumed minority students were "not really going to do well" in class and did little to help them.

SPECIAL PROGRAMS

Among the recommendations in Pease's report was to start special programs for teachers and counselors to enable them to develop greater sensitivity to students.

"Many times teachers create problems merely by the way they talk and act toward students," according to the report. "This type of training might include an examination of minority group problems and those of various subcultures.

Other recommendations in Pease's report were creation of a Black Students Union at Tamalpais High School, provision for a room at Tamalpais High School as a meeting place for blacks and for "furthering black culture," creation of a black parent-student advisory group and the start of greater efforts to bring "disaffected" students into student government and other school activities.

NO INFORMATION

District Trustee Gloria Melbostad said the school board "feels of no help" in avoiding possible strife at district schools because "we get absolutely no information on what's going on."

"We're told everything's fine and we only hear when Bob (Robert Prather, principal of Tamalpais High School) gets in a bind," she said.

The 23-member study committee was formed last fall to see if it can reach new policy on student discipline.

At its next meeting, at 4 p.m. March 4 at the district office, the committee is expected to discuss policy on parent responsibility and mass absences.

Plea Entered In Drug Case

A preliminary hearing was set for April 11.

Bench Warrant Is Issued In Drug Case

A bench warratn with bail set at $1,000 was issued yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for Jon Theodore Kilpatrick, 24, of no known address, who failed to appear in court.

Kilpatrick, who is charged with possession of dangerous drugs, was first arrested in a December raid at 14 Sentinel Court, San Rafael.

PLUS 5% STATE SALES TAX

720 CENTER BLVD., FAIRFAX, CALIF. 400 LAS GALLINAS ROAD, SAN RAFAEL

Independent-Journal
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

REJECTED — Sausalito city councilmen last night turned down this proposal for development of the American Distillery site as a residence and entertainment center for 700 young single persons. R and B Development Company has built seven other such communities it calls South Bay Clubs, one of them in Mountain View, the rest in Southern California.

School Fund Need Urged In Fairfax

Fairfax School Supt. H. Reginald Hammond warned school district trustees last night that present school programs would have to be cut back next year unless the district either raises taxes or gets more aid from the state.

The board postponed a decision on whether to approve a tax hike, raising the current $3.035 per $100 assessed valuation tax rate, until its next meeting on March 4.

Dr. Hammond estimated income for the next fiscal year would be roughly $800,000 compared to projected expenditures — keeping all programs at their present level and adding no new ones — would be about $863,000. This would mean a deficit of about $60,000 unless taxes were boosted, more state aid was received or programs were cut back, he said.

Hammond will present budget estimates on three different levels at the next meeting. He said he would present one budget that would hold the line on present programs but still require increased income.

Another set of figures would reflect what programs would have to be cut to the bone to match expected expenditures with expected income.

A third budget proposal would include some new programs school authorities feel are needed.

Fairfax School District trustees also:

DEER PARK — Heard Pierre Joske of the county parks and recreation department propose continuation of a 30-year agreement for joint development of the Deer Park School area. Such development has been blocked by the objections of residents and the Fairfax City Council and Hammond said the school trustees probably would want to scrap the agreement unless something was done within a year.

AGREEMENT—Approved an agreement under which the county superintendent of schools office will provide full-time emotionally handicapped classes for Fairfax students.

CALENDAR — Postponed approval of the 1969 school calendar until it is decided whether students will get both Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays off or just get one free "Presidents' Birthday" day.

Street Link Speed Urged

The Marin County Redevelopment Agency last night recommended the county build the proposed connector road between Marin City and Tennessee Valley.

Agency member Collie B. Gaines urged quick action by the county because the people of Marin City want a second route out of the community. The only access now is to the south toward Highway 101 and Bridgeway.

County Public Works Director Donald Frost said the road would connect Keys Court with Tennessee Valley road near Highway 1. The road, 1,500 feet long, would cost an estimated $175,000, Frost said.

Agency Director Donald O. Stutsman estimated today the redevelopment agency and housing authority might be able to contribute $60,000 to $70,000 toward the project.

The agency also awarded a $690 contract to Alvis Allen of Marin City to build a new temporary bus shelter on Donahue Street. Only other bidder was J. B. Madden at $715. The old shelter blew down in a storm several weeks ago.

Sausalito Turns Down Young Singles Project

Sausalito City Council last night rejected an appeal to permit an apartment development for 700 young single persons, charging it was too big for the city to absorb.

Residents asserted that the development would alter the character of the community at a two-hour hearing which attracted a standing room audience of about 75 persons at city hall.

Under fire was a proposal by R and B Development to construct the apartment on the American Distillery Co. property north of the city.

The firm was appealing planning commission denial of its application for a higher density than the city ordinance permits.

Atty. Albert Bianchi, representing the firm, explained it was seeking pre-zoning because it intended to annex to the city.

The firm proposed 16 three-story apartment buildings grouped around a recreation center on the 13-acre site along Bridgeway.

Councilman George C. Hoffman said the proposed density would be a drastic digression from the city's general plan, and "I just don't think it's for Sausalito."

Councilman Alexander R. Imlay noted that a large influx of single adults would throw the population makeup of the city out of balance.

One resident, making a plea for variety in population, said the young adults would be monogamous in "terms of habit and wouldn't support the organic growth of this town."

Bruce E. Woelfel and David E. Freedheim, members of the Sausalito School District board, said the proposed development would have no benefit to the district.

It would be "in the midst of two schools, and not in the best interests of the district,'' Freedheim said. "Sausalito must invite families with children."

One woman, who identified herself as a businesswoman, said the city must be aware of the times with half the population soon to be under 25 years of age.

Bianchi contended that previous opposition to the project has been based on emotionalism, and that the apartments would be better use of the site than single family homes or industry.

"It's too big and it's too massive," said Councilman Robin Sweeny. We already have a transient population and to add transient residents would compound the problem.'

The city needs a population that will assimilate and will participate in civic affairs, Hoffman said. "I don't think you can do that with large enclaves, each with individual and private interests."

Mrs. Charles Lester, representing the Sausalito Parents Club, said 'a large group of any one type is out of scale to the community, a working way from a varied community."

One resident said the plan "had all the charm of a corporate plan . . . and seems to have a fast buck flavor that indicates lack of concern for the community."

After the hearing the council unanimously voted to uphold the planning commission's denial.

Council Objects To Price Of Proposed Library Site

Library trustees last night reported that the cost of the railroad site, estimated at $216,000, was too high. They recommended that the council consider acquiring the Sausalito Fuel and Ice Co. property at Litho and Caledonia streets.

The council appointed George R. Chapman of 210 West Street, a credit collection manager, as city treasurer to succeed Edwin S. Long, who resigned Jan. 21, after serving since April, 1952.

Chapman will complete Long's term which ends in April, 1972. The council passed a resolution of appreciation commending Long for his service.

Councilmen also approved an agreement whereby Madden and Lewis Inc. granted the city an easement along Humboldt Avenue, about 530 feet long and six feet wide, for a walkway or boardwalk to provide public access to the waterfront and to a triangular parcel at the southeast corner of Humboldt and Johnson Street.

The easement was granted in lieu of 11 parking spaces.

The Sausalito City Council Also:

WATERFRONT PLAN — Postponed until next Tuesday review of a proposed plan for Sausalito's central waterfront submitted by property owners in the area, noting that the proposal would be before the city planning commission tonight.

RETIREMENT — Introduced an ordinance to increase employee and city contributions to provide increased retirement benefits for employees under the state retirement system, a plan ndorsed by employees. The complicated sliding scale provides that a 20-year-old joining the system who now pays 3.58 per cent of his salary retirement would pay 5.37 per cent of his salary above $133 a month. A 30-year-old would pay 6.03 per cent instead of 4.06, and a 40-year-old would pay 7.13 per cent instead of 4.83.

PARK LANDSCAPING — Approved a contract with Eckbo, Dean, Austin and Willians, of San Francisco, landscape architects, to design Princess Park, at Princess Street and Bridgeway, at a fee of 15 per cent of the cost of the project.

CAAB REVIEW — Adopted an ordinance requiring review by Advisory Board of proposed signs and hillside cuts and grading.

701 PLANNING — Authorized the city's planning consultant William Spangle and Associates of Portola Valley to provide staff work at a cost of $1,216 as part of the city's contribution toward its 701 planning grant from the state.

COUNTY CHARGES — Authorized City Mgr. George M. Patterson to seek a reduction in the deductions made by Marin County for processing the city's parking tickets, a change Patterson said would save the city $10,000 a year. The deductions are based on dollar amounts, not number of tickets, and Sausalito which has $2 parking tickets is paying more revenue than cities which have $1 tickets, Patterson explained. It costs no more to process a $2 ticket than a $1 ticket and the city shouldn't have to pay a percentage on the second dollar, Patterson contended.

FIRE ENGINE — Transferred $9,000 from the budget reserve to make the first payment on a new fire engine which has been delivered and is expected to be in operation soon.

CLAIM DENIED — Denied a claim from Jeff Grinnell of 1661 Mar West, Tiburon, for $376 damage to his car, which he said was struck by a city fire truck Jan. 31, 1969.

ADJOURNMENT — Because the agenda was not completed due to the late hour, adjourned until 8 p.m. Tuesday and adjourned in memory of Josie Rosa, 95, of 195 Woodward Avenue, a native of Sausalito and 70-year resident, who died last week.

Pay Demands Bring Tax Rate Worry

Recent demands for higher salaries and fringe benefits by county social workers and the Marin County Employees Association could send the tax rate soaring to $2.69, a jump of 42 cents over the current rate, the Marin County Property Owners Association warned yesterday.

In a letter delivered to the county administrator, association president Albert J. Bianchi announced his group will fully study and compare the $2.5 million pay demands of county employees with salary scales of comparable governmental agencies and private industry in the Bay Area.

Bianchi pointed out that the board of supervisors issued a statement last month, declaring its intent to hold the tax rate to the current $2.27, and that the new pay demands could seriously jeopardize fulfillment of this goal.

Bianchi said the $2.5 million pay demand was comparable to a $45 million increase in assessed property valuation over last year's figures.

The association asked for copies of the salary demands made by the employees association, the Social Workers Union, and any future pay requests from other county employee groups.

Bianchi's letter zeroed in particularly on social workers' demands. He pointed out that the highest pay increases given last year went to 23 eligibility workers in the Department of Public Social Services.

"These people received 15 per cent pay increases last year and recent demands by the Social Workers Union could give them additional 15 per cent salary raises in both 1969 and 1970," said Bianchi.

"We recognize that our county employees must receive wages commensurate with the cost of living index, and we would certainly support reasonable salary increases of this nature. However, the stated salary demands appear to be more than a little excessive."

Upset Cats Lead To Discovery Of House's Burglary

Mrs. Jacqueline Jeremy of Greenbrae felt something was wrong last night when her two cats ran to the front door, apparently trying to get out.

She called to her son, Joseph, and together they found the upstairs bedroom in disarray. Larkspur police were called at 9:35 p.m.

Mrs. Jeremy, who lives at 291 Via Lerida, told officers she hadn't heard anything probably because she had been watching television in the dining room. Her son, she said, saw two young men running down the street, one carrying a guitar under his arm.

Entry was made through an unlocked back door. Missing, Mrs. Jeremy told police, were a portable TV set, $200; a guitar, $100; two radios, 125, $5 change from a piggy bank and credit cards.

Car Looted

Arthur R. Crowe of 165 Novato Street, San Rafael, reported to police yesterday the theft of clothing and a rotisserie, with a total value of $110, from his car parked outside the Country Club Bowl on Vivian Way in San Rafael.

North Marin Water Post To Churchill

Eugene S. Churchill, auditor and office manager of the North Marin County Water District, last night was named general manager of the district, effective March 1. He will replace Jerome B. Gilbert who resigned to become executive officer of the State Water Resources Board.

Churchill, who has been with the district since 1960, will have his salary increased from $13,800 to $17,400 per year, he said.

He is married; he and his wife, Jean, have five children: a married daughter, Mrs. Linda Migeley of Novato; Steven, 11; Barbara, 9; Laurie, 5 and Lee, 3. They live at 6 Truman Drive.

Senior engineer of the district, James D. Fritz, was named chief engineer and his salary increased from $16,200 to $16,800 per year, Churchill said.

The North Marin County Water District board also:

WARM SPRINGS — Voted to ask Congressman Don H. Clausen, R-First District, to get warm springs dam funds increased. The flood control benefits of the dam had been cut from $9 million to $1.5 million, Churchill said.

REPORT — Received the semiannual report in which operating income was reported as $396,207, slightly above the estimated $395,303. The expenses were $222,232, less than the estimated $227,213. The district has performed $102,138 of its capital improvements budgeted at $179,832 for the fiscal year.

HIDDEN VALLEY — Approved replacing corroded Main connections in Hidden Valley at a cost estimated at $2,200.

REBATES — Made $26,093 in rebates to contractors and developers who have installed mains which benefit other areas.

San Rafael Captain Appointed Bar Pilot

Capt. Donald J. O'Brien of San Rafael, has been appointed a bar pilot for the San Francisco, San Pablo and Suisun bays, Capt. Joseph W. Dickover, president of the board of pilot commissioners, reported.

O'Brien, 48, of 15 Wolfe Avenue, has been with Pacific Far East Line since 1950 and most recently commanded the Oregon Bear. He holds an unlimited master's license and first class pilot endorsements for San Francisco Bay and tributaries to Stockton.

Hub Teachers Seek 20 Pct. Pay Hike

San Anselmo School District teachers last night asked district trustees for an approximately 20 per cent salary hike for 1969-70.

No action was taken, the subject to be negotiated at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, at Redhill School, Supt. Stephen L. Parodi reported.

The 96 teachers, now being paid a total of $891,838, would be paid $1,093,361. Requested is a new salary range from $6,900 per year to $14,688. Salary range is now $6,000 to $12,352.

Parodi explained that, if the raise were approved, it would require an increase in the present tax rate of $3.415 per $100 assessed valuation.

Parodi said he and two trustees will meet with classified employees at 4 p.m., tomorrow, at Redhill School to discuss salaries and job discriptions.

San Anselmo School District Board Also:

RESIGNATION — Accepted resignation of trustee Robert W. Corlett. Corlett resigned due to "press of business," then filed to run for Tamalpais High School District trustee.

TEACHER-AIDES — Hired kindergarten teacher-aides Mrs. Mollie Reilly, Wade Thomas School; Mrs. Marilyn Citti, Yolansdale School; Robyn McKinley, Brookside School and Mrs. Marjorie Pope, Isabel Cook School, at $270 per month for a six-hour day.

CLASSROOM SPACE — Heard a letter from Mrs. James Denebeim, a Sleepy Hollow parent volunteer, noting deficiencies in classroom space for special classes. Trustees discussed renting portables, bond issues and a tax increase but took no action.

ARCHITECT AGREEMENT — Approved a $1,500 agreement with architect Schachtman Velikonia of Vallejo to make preliminary renderings of proposed new school buildings.

SHOPLIFTING BULLETINS — Agreed to make bulletins regarding shoplifting available for use of teachers with pupils but not to send them home with children.

Martyrs' Day Program Set

A Martyrs' Day program in memory of slain American leaders will be held for parents at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the library of Martin Luther King School, Sausalito.

The program will be "an attempt to show contemporary life through the eyes of children," said Mrs. Raye Richardson, multiethnic coordinator for the Sausalito School District. The persons honored will include president John F. Kennedy, Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, Malcolm X, and Medgar Evers.

The main part of the program will be "A Primer For Malcolm," using pictures to illustrate words beginning with M — such as malnutrition, mother, mourner, mercy, memory — Mrs. Richardson said.

The program is to be positive in tone, showing man emerging immortal through his children, she said.

$200 Scholarship Is Being Offered

A $200 scholarship to encourage young people to continue their education in the fields of agriculture or home economics is being offered by the North Bay Wool Growers Association headed by Ernest Broderson of Petaluma and the North Bay Bo-Peeps.

Students, who are residents of Marin, Sonoma and Napa counties and are high school seniors or who have completed less than two years of college, may apply through the Farm and Home Advisers Office, Room 100-P, 2555 Mendocino Avenue, Santa Rosa, by April 1.

Teen Nabbed As Suspect In Burglary

A 15-year-old youth who matched the description of a teen-ager seen leaving the scene of a $1,000 burglary in San Rafael Saturday, was arrested last night after a brief flight from police.

San Rafael Patrolman Kenneth R. Homen said he was patroling on Fourth Street near the Rafael Theater about 6 p.m. when he noticed that one of two boys walking together was wearing a fur cap of the type seen on a youth leaving the home of Dan Gilmer at 34 Paloma Street Saturday.

Gilmer said $1,000 was stolen from a cabinet in a bedroom of his home.

Homen said he left his patrol car to question the youth, who also matched the physical description of the suspected burglar, but the suspect ran. The companion was held and questioned.

Later, police went to St. Vincent's School for Boys and arrested Anthony Logan Thomas, a resident there, on suspicion of burglary. A quantity of clothing, a radio, tape casettes and other items, said by police to have been bought by Thomas with the stolen money, were confiscated.

Thomas, whose home is in San Francisco, was taken to Juvenile Hall. His companion, also a resident of St. Vincent's, was cited to the probation department, although he was not involved in the burglary, police said.

Marijuana Case To Superior Court

Judith HinoJosa, 23, of San Francisco was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on a charge of possessing marijuana Aug. 11 in Mill Valley.

Teachers Get Blame For School Unrest

Heavy blame was placed yesterday on "racist teachers" for unrest in Bay Area high schools.

"I hear the word 'nigger' used by teachers," said Stanley M. Pease, a Tamalpais High School social studies instructor who last fall completed a study of unrest at six Bay Area high schools.

"You go to any school and it (racism) is there," he said. "I don't know of any school that's free of it."

Pease, reporting to the discipline study committee of the Tamalpais High School District board, said some teachers assumed minority students were "not really going to do well" in class and did little to help them.

SPECIAL PROGRAMS

Among the recommendations in Pease's report was to start special programs for teachers and counselors to enable them to develop greater sensitivity to students.

"Many times teachers create problems merely by the way they talk and act toward students," according to the report. "This type of training might include an examination of minority group problems and those of various subcultures.

Other recommendations in Pease's report were creation of a Black Students Union at Tamalpais High School, provision for a room at Tamalpais High School as a meeting place for blacks and for "furthering black culture," creation of a black parent-student advisory group and the start of greater efforts to bring "disaffected" students into student government and other school activities.

NO INFORMATION

District Trustee Gloria Melbostad said the school board "feels of no help" in avoiding possible strife at district schools because "we get absolutely no information on what's going on."

"We're told everything's fine and we only hear when Bob (Robert Prather, principal of Tamalpais High School) gets in a bind," she said.

The 23-member study committee was formed last fall to see if it can reach new policy on student discipline.

At its next meeting, at 4 p.m. March 4 at the district office, the committee is expected to discuss policy on parent responsibility and mass absences.

Plea Entered In Drug Case

A preliminary hearing was set for April 11.

Bench Warrant Is Issued In Drug Case

A bench warratn with bail set at $1,000 was issued yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for Jon Theodore Kilpatrick, 24, of no known address, who failed to appear in court.

Kilpatrick, who is charged with possession of dangerous drugs, was first arrested in a December raid at 14 Sentinel Court, San Rafael.

Supervisors Rescind Inverness Pier Vote

Marin County supervisors, who approved a 224-foot long pier with a two-story house on the end of it in Tomales Bay last month, rescinded that action yesterday and asked the county planning staff to study an interim ordinance to control construction along the bay. (Other Supervisors stories, page 1.)

R. K. Joerger of Millbrae applied to the Army Corps of Engineers last December for permission to build the pier and house on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, north of Inverness Yacht Club.

On Jan. 28, supervisors wrote to the corps that the county approved the construction because no policy had been set on length of piers in Tomales Bay.

Yesterday, stiff opposition came from David N. Plant, who owns property just south of Joerger's; Harold E. Gregg, president of Marin Conservation League, and Allen D. Telford, president of Iverness Improvement Association.

Construction of piers 200 and 300 feet long with multistory houses perched on the end would "create another mess similar to the condition now existing in Richardson Bay," declared Plant.

Gregg and Telford argued that Joerger's pier would be precedent-setting, a hazard to navigation, and create sewage problems.

Michael Wornum, who was absent when the pier was approved on Jan. 28, said he had misgivings about the board action. His motion to reconsider was seconded by Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and approved unanimously.

Chairman John F. McInnis deplored the lack of a policy on construction in Tomales Bay and suggested that another letter be sent "to express to the Corps that our earlier letter was filed without adequate information."

"So moved," said Baar. His motion passed unanimously. The supervisors asked the planning department to study the area and consider an interim ordinance to control construction on Tomales Bay.

300,000 Book Circulation Seen In The Novato Area

The Novato branch of the Marin County library, which now has a book circulation of 100,000 per year, should double or triple that circulation when the new branch is built on Novato Boulevard, County Librarian Bruce D. Bajema predicted yesterday.

He presented his report, along with a request for county application for federal funds. Supervisors authorized an application for $186,570 federal matching funds to help build the 11,000-square foot library at an estimated total cost of $573,710.

North Marin now has a population of 33,000 which will grow to 40,000 by 1970 and 63,000 by 1980, the librarian reported.

He said the new building should be designed so that it can be enlarged in the future.

Benjema predicted the book circulation would jump to 220,000 to 240,000 during the first year, and to 300,000 in three or four years. Construction is scheduled to begin late this year and the building completed next summer.

The one and one-half acre site, on the north side of Novato Boulevard, west of Tamalpais Avenue, was purchased from Jerome Hoyt last year for $134,475. Parking spaces for 45 cars will be provided. Architects Marquis and Stoller of San Francisco are preparing plans and specifications.

Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

TASK FORCE — Appointed Mrs. Elaine B. Guthrie of Ross to fill a vacancy on the Aid to Families With Dependent Children Task Force.

AMBULANCE SERVICE — Asked the county administrator to study improved ambulance service in West Marin because of crowds expected at Point Reyes National Seashore, and to negotiate with Petaluma Fire Department to provide ambulance service in the Point Reyes Station area. Improvements were recommended by Thomas Larke Jr., chairman of the Emergency Medical Care Committee.

YOUTH CONFERENCE — Designated the County Superintendent of Schools to coordinate preparations for county participation in the Governor's Conference on Children and Youth to be held in Sacramento next fall.

COMUNUICATIONS — Approved changes in classification of communications employees so that two more dispatchers can be added to the staff. These will come from the four teletype operators authorized for this year, but not yet filled.

HUMAN RIGHTS — Authorized an application by the Human Rights Commission for federal funds to pay for two staff members to administer Fair Employment Practices legislation. Austin J. Thompson, executive director, said no county funds will be needed.

ABATEMENT — Authorized a resolution to abate a home owned by Jean Paul Pickens at the corner of Alta and Centura streets, Lagunitas, because it is a fire and health hazard.

NEW CHURCH — Approved plans for a new church sanctuary, social hall, classrooms and offices for the California Conference Covenant Church on a five-acre knoll at the end of Ellen Drive, Marinwood.

REZONING — Approved a rezoning from one-family residential to planned residential for 2.6 acres of land at Trillium Lane and Erica Road, Tamalpais Valley, for Peterson-Cobby Co. of San Francisco. The new zoning will allow two units per acre.

MERRYDALE ROAD — Continued until March 25 a request by the First Congregational Church of San Rafael for apartment zoning of four-and-one-half acres on the southwest corner of Merrydale Road and North San Pedro Road. Supervisors asked the planning commission to rush a zoning plan for the entire Merrydale area instead of zoning "piece-meal."

EXTEND TERM — Changed the county code so that Human Rights commissioners James Quiett and Arthur Brown can serve more than two terms, the maximum allowed at present.

RUNWAY EXTENSION — Awarded a $103,746 contract to low bidder Brown Ely Co. of San Rafael to extend the runway at Gnoss Field from 2,200 feet to 3,300 feet and install lighting for the runway and taxiway.

Courthouse Land Swap Under Study

An offer to trade $800,000 worth of land north of the Civic Center for the old San Rafael courthouse square was referred to the county administrator for study and a report on future land needs at the Civic Center complex.

Marin County supervisors asked the administrator and county counsel to report back in two or three weeks.

DSI Corp., which owns 63 acres immediately to the north of the Civic Center is willing to swap a portion of that property, the price of the land to be determined after an appraisal by three independent appraisers.

Chairman John F. McInnis said he wants the staff to study details of the offer and the future needs for land by the county.

San Rafael City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen urged immediate action to call for bids on the courthouse property. He noted that San Rafael has discussed the possibility of swaping the courthouse square for city property on Francisco Boulevard.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar asked Anderssen to present the city's proposal if it has concrete offers to make. He also asked County Administrator Alan Bruce to present any other proposals that might come in.

"There are several other parties who have nibbled or shown some interest," said Bruce. "But I have no right to tip anyone's hand as to specifics."

Closed Session

The Fairfax City Council will meet in closed session at 8 p.. today to consider hiring City Clerk Frances Lestanguet as city administrator and to consider appointment of a city treasurer. The meeting will be in the Fairfax Women's Club, 46 Park Road.

Maren Rinne To Personnel Chief's Post

Mrs. Maren F. Rinne, personnel analyst in Marin since July 1967, was promoted yesterday to personnel director at a salary of $1,348 per month.

Marin County Board of Supervisorvisors approved the salary on a 4-to-1 vote, with Louis H. Baar objecting to the salary raise, which would bring Mrs. Rinne's pay to the same rate as the present personnel director, Robert D. Elliott. Elliott will leave at the end of this month for a higher paying job with a private firm.

Mrs. Rinne had been getting $1,084 per month.

Session On Signs

The San Rafael Planning Commission will hold a study session on new sign regulations at 7:30 p.m. today at San Rafael City Hall.

Pay Demands Bring Tax Rate Worry

Recent demands for higher salaries and fringe benefits by county social workers and the Marin County Employees Association could send the tax rate soaring to $2.69, a jump of 42 cents over the current rate, the Marin County Property Owners Association warned yesterday.

In a letter delivered to the county administrator, association president Albert J. Bianchi announced his group will fully study and compare the $2.5 million pay demands of county employees with salary scales of comparable governmental agencies and private industry in the Bay Area.

Bianchi pointed out that the board of supervisors issued a statement last month, declaring its intent to hold the tax rate to the current $2.27, and that the new pay demands could seriously jeopardize fulfillment of this goal.

Bianchi said the $2.5 million pay demand was comparable to a $45 million increase in assessed property valuation over last year's figures.

The association asked for copies of the salary demands made by the employees association, the Social Workers Union, and any future pay requests from other county employee groups.

Bianchi's letter zeroed in particularly on social workers' demands. He pointed out that the highest pay increases given last year went to 23 eligibility workers in the Department of Public Social Services.

"These people received 15 per cent pay increases last year and recent demands by the Social Workers Union could give them additional 15 per cent salary raises in both 1969 and 1970," said Bianchi.

"We recognize that our county employees must receive wages commensurate with the cost of living index, and we would certainly support reasonable salary increases of this nature. However, the stated salary demands appear to be more than a little excessive."

Upset Cats Lead To Discovery Of House's Burglary

Mrs. Jacqueline Jeremy of Greenbrae felt something was wrong last night when her two cats ran to the front door, apparently trying to get out.

She called to her son, Joseph, and together they found the upstairs bedroom in disarray. Larkspur police were called at 9:35 p.m.

Mrs. Jeremy, who lives at 291 Via Lerida, told officers she hadn't heard anything probably because she had been watching television in the dining room. Her son, she said, saw two young men running down the street, one carrying a guitar under his arm.

Entry was made through an unlocked back door. Missing, Mrs. Jeremy told police, were a portable TV set, $200; a guitar, $100; two radios, 125, $5 change from a piggy bank and credit cards.

Car Looted

Arthur R. Crowe of 165 Novato Street, San Rafael, reported to police yesterday the theft of clothing and a rotisserie, with a total value of $110, from his car parked outside the Country Club Bowl on Vivian Way in San Rafael.

North Marin Water Post To Churchill

Eugene S. Churchill, auditor and office manager of the North Marin County Water District, last night was named general manager of the district, effective March 1. He will replace Jerome B. Gilbert who resigned to become executive officer of the State Water Resources Board.

Churchill, who has been with the district since 1960, will have his salary increased from $13,800 to $17,400 per year, he said.

He is married; he and his wife, Jean, have five children: a married daughter, Mrs. Linda Migeley of Novato; Steven, 11; Barbara, 9; Laurie, 5 and Lee, 3. They live at 6 Truman Drive.

Senior engineer of the district, James D. Fritz, was named chief engineer and his salary increased from $16,200 to $16,800 per year, Churchill said.

The North Marin County Water District board also:

WARM SPRINGS — Voted to ask Congressman Don H. Clausen, R-First District, to get warm springs dam funds increased. The flood control benefits of the dam had been cut from $9 million to $1.5 million, Churchill said.

REPORT — Received the semiannual report in which operating income was reported as $396,207, slightly above the estimated $395,303. The expenses were $222,232, less than the estimated $227,213. The district has performed $102,138 of its capital improvements budgeted at $179,832 for the fiscal year.

HIDDEN VALLEY — Approved replacing corroded Main connections in Hidden Valley at a cost estimated at $2,200.

REBATES — Made $26,093 in rebates to contractors and developers who have installed mains which benefit other areas.

San Rafael Captain Appointed Bar Pilot

Capt. Donald J. O'Brien of San Rafael, has been appointed a bar pilot for the San Francisco, San Pablo and Suisun bays, Capt. Joseph W. Dickover, president of the board of pilot commissioners, reported.

O'Brien, 48, of 15 Wolfe Avenue, has been with Pacific Far East Line since 1950 and most recently commanded the Oregon Bear. He holds an unlimited master's license and first class pilot endorsements for San Francisco Bay and tributaries to Stockton.

Hub Teachers Seek 20 Pct. Pay Hike

San Anselmo School District teachers last night asked district trustees for an approximately 20 per cent salary hike for 1969-70.

No action was taken, the subject to be negotiated at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, at Redhill School, Supt. Stephen L. Parodi reported.

The 96 teachers, now being paid a total of $891,838, would be paid $1,093,361. Requested is a new salary range from $6,900 per year to $14,688. Salary range is now $6,000 to $12,352.

Parodi explained that, if the raise were approved, it would require an increase in the present tax rate of $3.415 per $100 assessed valuation.

Parodi said he and two trustees will meet with classified employees at 4 p.m., tomorrow, at Redhill School to discuss salaries and job discriptions.

San Anselmo School District Board Also:

RESIGNATION — Accepted resignation of trustee Robert W. Corlett. Corlett resigned due to "press of business," then filed to run for Tamalpais High School District trustee.

TEACHER-AIDES — Hired kindergarten teacher-aides Mrs. Mollie Reilly, Wade Thomas School; Mrs. Marilyn Citti, Yolansdale School; Robyn McKinley, Brookside School and Mrs. Marjorie Pope, Isabel Cook School, at $270 per month for a six-hour day.

CLASSROOM SPACE — Heard a letter from Mrs. James Denebeim, a Sleepy Hollow parent volunteer, noting deficiencies in classroom space for special classes. Trustees discussed renting portables, bond issues and a tax increase but took no action.

ARCHITECT AGREEMENT — Approved a $1,500 agreement with architect Schachtman Velikonia of Vallejo to make preliminary renderings of proposed new school buildings.

SHOPLIFTING BULLETINS — Agreed to make bulletins regarding shoplifting available for use of teachers with pupils but not to send them home with children.

Martyrs' Day Program Set

A Martyrs' Day program in memory of slain American leaders will be held for parents at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the library of Martin Luther King School, Sausalito.

The program will be "an attempt to show contemporary life through the eyes of children," said Mrs. Raye Richardson, multiethnic coordinator for the Sausalito School District. The persons honored will include president John F. Kennedy, Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, Malcolm X, and Medgar Evers.

The main part of the program will be "A Primer For Malcolm," using pictures to illustrate words beginning with M — such as malnutrition, mother, mourner, mercy, memory — Mrs. Richardson said.

The program is to be positive in tone, showing man emerging immortal through his children, she said.

$200 Scholarship Is Being Offered

A $200 scholarship to encourage young people to continue their education in the fields of agriculture or home economics is being offered by the North Bay Wool Growers Association headed by Ernest Broderson of Petaluma and the North Bay Bo-Peeps.

Students, who are residents of Marin, Sonoma and Napa counties and are high school seniors or who have completed less than two years of college, may apply through the Farm and Home Advisers Office, Room 100-P, 2555 Mendocino Avenue, Santa Rosa, by April 1.

Teen Nabbed As Suspect In Burglary

A 15-year-old youth who matched the description of a teen-ager seen leaving the scene of a $1,000 burglary in San Rafael Saturday, was arrested last night after a brief flight from police.

San Rafael Patrolman Kenneth R. Homen said he was patroling on Fourth Street near the Rafael Theater about 6 p.m. when he noticed that one of two boys walking together was wearing a fur cap of the type seen on a youth leaving the home of Dan Gilmer at 34 Paloma Street Saturday.

Gilmer said $1,000 was stolen from a cabinet in a bedroom of his home.

Homen said he left his patrol car to question the youth, who also matched the physical description of the suspected burglar, but the suspect ran. The companion was held and questioned.

Later, police went to St. Vincent's School for Boys and arrested Anthony Logan Thomas, a resident there, on suspicion of burglary. A quantity of clothing, a radio, tape casettes and other items, said by police to have been bought by Thomas with the stolen money, were confiscated.

Thomas, whose home is in San Francisco, was taken to Juvenile Hall. His companion, also a resident of St. Vincent's, was cited to the probation department, although he was not involved in the burglary, police said.

Marijuana Case To Superior Court

Panels Named For Drug Study

Subcommittees to study various aspects of controlling drug abuse on the Tiburon Peninsula have been appointed by the Tiburon Peninsula Citizens Committee on Drug Abuse.

Rampton W. Harvey and Dr. Charles J. Epstein have been named to investigate how to improve community and school education on the dangers of drug use and A. H. Harris and Henry C. Mahlman will study the kinds of discipline the community wants the schools to enforce on students found using drugs, according to Harvey.

The committee, meeting Monday night, discussed the drug problem with inspector Dennis Sawdon of the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau, Sheriff's Lt. Harvey Teague of the Marin County Juvenile Bureau, Belvedere Police Chief William S. Woodington and Tiburon Sheriff's Capt. William Johansen of the Tiburon substation.

The committee will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in the Belvedere City Hall.

Guilty Plea Halts Trial On Auto Theft

Leonard Paul Jason, 41, of San Francisco, changed his plea to guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court as a jury trial was set to open in his case. He was accused of stealing a car in Larkspur Nov. 28.

Judge Harold J. Haley set sentencing for March 23.

Six Arrested In Drug Raid Plead Innocent

Six of seven persons arrested in a $350,000 drug raid in Tamalpais Valley Jan. 17 pleaded innocent to a variety of drug charges yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

A preliminary hearing was set for April 8 for Richard Conrad Pace, 24, owner of the Resh Gallery in Tamalpais Valley where most of the drugs were allegedly found; Richard Raymond Argento, 21, of San Rafael; Charles Noell Hess, 26, of Oakland; Richard Frankling Black, 27, of Sausalito; Frederick Martin Englehardt, 28, of San Francisco, and Linda Jean Shack, 21, of Mill Valley.

The seventh defendant, Jeffrey Linn Frocier, 20, of Belmont, was referred to juvenile court.

They face charges ranging from selling and transporting drugs to possessing marijuana and other drugs.

Santa Venetia Crash Injures Cyclist

George W. Noel, 19, of 1060-C Los Gamos Road, San Rafael, was treated yesterday for multiple bruises and scrapes at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, San Rafael, after a two-car collision in Santa Venetia, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The Patrol said Noel's motorcycle collided at 9:15 p.m. at North San Pedro Road and Washington Street with a car driven by Benny T. Quigley, 17, of 321 Glen Park, San Rafael.

Candidate Will Seek Petaluma Districting

Petaluma Council candidate Donald P. Petro said today he will seek a charter amendment to provide that city council be elected from specified districts rather than "at large."

In dividing up the city into six districts, Petro said the areas would reflect the voting population in ratio to the six council seats available. The seventh seat is that of the mayor, elected at large.

Saying it was a move to get city government closer to the people, Petro said, "If a councilman is elected by a specific district, he will have more contact with his constituents and be more responsive to their needs."

He said the voters often feel alienated from the council and speak of the councilmen in terms of "they." "If the voters have a councilman for a neighbor and know he is responsible for their district, they will be more inclined to make their feelings known to him," the candidate said.

In his plan, the first district would be the entire eastern portion, all areas east of Highway 101; the second district, the central portion south of Highway 101 to Petaluma Boulevard; district three, the northwestern section, south of Petaluma Boulevard; district five, from B Street to G Street, and district six, from G Street to the southern city limits.

Petro said he will notify City Clerk Lillian Nomsen of his intention to circulate a petition to request the charter amendment.

The petitions must carry 15 per cent of the voters who cast ballots in the previous general election. Petro said this is estimated at 1,600 persons.

"I know it will take work. I feel confident that the petitions requirements can be fulfilled and returned to the clerk in the required 21 days," he said. That date will probably be March 27.

According to the city charter, the clerk would then have 10 days in which to verify the petitions names. "This would mean that the proposed amendment would be presented to the council at the April 7 meeting," he said.

The council at that time could accept the proposal and introduce an ordinance to enact it. Feeling this is an improbability, Petro said the council would most likely order the measure put on the June 15 municipal election ballot.

Petro's proposal also calls for a special council election within six months if the charter amendment passes on June 15. "If that special election weren't called, it would be another two years before the district voting plan would be put into operation," he said.

Noting he expects the plan to meet a great deal of criticism, Petro said he feels most will be directed at the proposed district boundary lines.

Two Firms Get Permits In Petaluma

The Petaluma Planning Commission last night approved use permits for two new businesses.

Kaiser Sand and Gravel Co. was granted a permit to operate a ready mix concrete batching operation at 592 Lakeville Highway. As a condition, the firm must set the building back to allow for future street widening.

Also granted was a use permit requested by Bonnie Gray to operate a dog bathing and clipping business at her home at 520 Reynolds Drive. The commission stipulated that only one customer's dog may be on the premises at a time.

The Petaluma Planning Commission also:

PUMP STATION — Granted site design approval for the new city pump station in a residential section on Mission Drive at McNear Avenue.

REZONING — Recommended that the Sonoma County Planning Commission grant the request of Val-Cargo Co. to rezone six acres at 717 North McDowell Boulevard from agricultural to multiple residential to allow expansion of a mobile home park.

BEAUTY SHOP — Recommended the Sonoma County Board of Zoning Adjustments grant the application of Paul Guachat of 416 Thompson Lane be approved to allow him to operate a beauty shop in his home.

Sentencing Set On Drug Charge

Nicholas Robert Miles, 32, of Mill Valley, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a felony charge of possessing marijuana for sale, and misdemeanor charges of indecent exposure and driving without a license were dropped.

Judge Peter Allen Smith ordered him to appear in Superior Court March 17 for sentencing.

Miles was arrested Dec. 11 on Shoreline Highway.

Supervisors Rescind Inverness Pier Vote

Marin County supervisors, who approved a 224-foot long pier with a two-story house on the end of it in Tomales Bay last month, rescinded that action yesterday and asked the county planning staff to study an interim ordinance to control construction along the bay. (Other Supervisors stories, page 1.)

R. K. Joerger of Millbrae applied to the Army Corps of Engineers last December for permission to build the pier and house on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, north of Inverness Yacht Club.

On Jan. 28, supervisors wrote to the corps that the county approved the construction because no policy had been set on length of piers in Tomales Bay.

Yesterday, stiff opposition came from David N. Plant, who owns property just south of Joerger's; Harold E. Gregg, president of Marin Conservation League, and Allen D. Telford, president of Iverness Improvement Association.

Construction of piers 200 and 300 feet long with multistory houses perched on the end would "create another mess similar to the condition now existing in Richardson Bay," declared Plant.

Gregg and Telford argued that Joerger's pier would be precedent-setting, a hazard to navigation, and create sewage problems.

Michael Wornum, who was absent when the pier was approved on Jan. 28, said he had misgivings about the board action. His motion to reconsider was seconded by Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and approved unanimously.

Chairman John F. McInnis deplored the lack of a policy on construction in Tomales Bay and suggested that another letter be sent "to express to the Corps that our earlier letter was filed without adequate information."

"So moved," said Baar. His motion passed unanimously. The supervisors asked the planning department to study the area and consider an interim ordinance to control construction on Tomales Bay.

Courthouse Land Swap Under Study

An offer to trade $800,000 worth of land north of the Civic Center for the old San Rafael courthouse square was referred to the county administrator for study and a report on future land needs at the Civic Center complex.

Marin County supervisors asked the administrator and county counsel to report back in two or three weeks.

DSI Corp., which owns 63 acres immediately to the north of the Civic Center is willing to swap a portion of that property, the price of the land to be determined after an appraisal by three independent appraisers.

Chairman John F. McInnis said he wants the staff to study details of the offer and the future needs for land by the county.

San Rafael City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen urged immediate action to call for bids on the courthouse property. He noted that San Rafael has discussed the possibility of swaping the courthouse square for city property on Francisco Boulevard.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar asked Anderssen to present the city's proposal if it has concrete offers to make. He also asked County Administrator Alan Bruce to present any other proposals that might come in.

"There are several other parties who have nibbled or shown some interest," said Bruce. "But I have no right to tip anyone's hand as to specifics."

Closed Session

The Fairfax City Council will meet in closed session at 8 p.. today to consider hiring City Clerk Frances Lestanguet as city administrator and to consider appointment of a city treasurer. The meeting will be in the Fairfax Women's Club, 46 Park Road.

Maren Rinne To Personnel Chief's Post

Mrs. Maren F. Rinne, personnel analyst in Marin since July 1967, was promoted yesterday to personnel director at a salary of $1,348 per month.

Marin County Board of Supervisorvisors approved the salary on a 4-to-1 vote, with Louis H. Baar objecting to the salary raise, which would bring Mrs. Rinne's pay to the same rate as the present personnel director, Robert D. Elliott. Elliott will leave at the end of this month for a higher paying job with a private firm.

Mrs. Rinne had been getting $1,084 per month.

Session On Signs

The San Rafael Planning Commission will hold a study session on new sign regulations at 7:30 p.m. today at San Rafael City Hall.

300,000 Book Circulation Seen In The Novato Area

The Novato branch of the Marin County library, which now has a book circulation of 100,000 per year, should double or triple that circulation when the new branch is built on Novato Boulevard, County Librarian Bruce D. Bajema predicted yesterday.

He presented his report, along with a request for county application for federal funds. Supervisors authorized an application for $186,570 federal matching funds to help build the 11,000-square foot library at an estimated total cost of $573,710.

North Marin now has a population of 33,000 which will grow to 40,000 by 1970 and 63,000 by 1980, the librarian reported.

He said the new building should be designed so that it can be enlarged in the future.

Benjema predicted the book circulation would jump to 220,000 to 240,000 during the first year, and to 300,000 in three or four years. Construction is scheduled to begin late this year and the building completed next summer.

The one and one-half acre site, on the north side of Novato Boulevard, west of Tamalpais Avenue, was purchased from Jerome Hoyt last year for $134,475. Parking spaces for 45 cars will be provided. Architects Marquis and Stoller of San Francisco are preparing plans and specifications.

Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

TASK FORCE — Appointed Mrs. Elaine B. Guthrie of Ross to fill a vacancy on the Aid to Families With Dependent Children Task Force.

AMBULANCE SERVICE — Asked the county administrator to study improved ambulance service in West Marin because of crowds expected at Point Reyes National Seashore, and to negotiate with Petaluma Fire Department to provide ambulance service in the Point Reyes Station area. Improvements were recommended by Thomas Larke Jr., chairman of the Emergency Medical Care Committee.

YOUTH CONFERENCE — Designated the County Superintendent of Schools to coordinate preparations for county participation in the Governor's Conference on Children and Youth to be held in Sacramento next fall.

COMUNUICATIONS — Approved changes in classification of communications employees so that two more dispatchers can be added to the staff. These will come from the four teletype operators authorized for this year, but not yet filled.

HUMAN RIGHTS — Authorized an application by the Human Rights Commission for federal funds to pay for two staff members to administer Fair Employment Practices legislation. Austin J. Thompson, executive director, said no county funds will be needed.

ABATEMENT — Authorized a resolution to abate a home owned by Jean Paul Pickens at the corner of Alta and Centura streets, Lagunitas, because it is a fire and health hazard.

NEW CHURCH — Approved plans for a new church sanctuary, social hall, classrooms and offices for the California Conference Covenant Church on a five-acre knoll at the end of Ellen Drive, Marinwood.

REZONING — Approved a rezoning from one-family residential to planned residential for 2.6 acres of land at Trillium Lane and Erica Road, Tamalpais Valley, for Peterson-Cobby Co. of San Francisco. The new zoning will allow two units per acre.

MERRYDALE ROAD — Continued until March 25 a request by the First Congregational Church of San Rafael for apartment zoning of four-and-one-half acres on the southwest corner of Merrydale Road and North San Pedro Road. Supervisors asked the planning commission to rush a zoning plan for the entire Merrydale area instead of zoning "piece-meal."

EXTEND TERM — Changed the county code so that Human Rights commissioners James Quiett and Arthur Brown can serve more than two terms, the maximum allowed at present.

RUNWAY EXTENSION — Awarded a $103,746 contract to low bidder Brown Ely Co. of San Rafael to extend the runway at Gnoss Field from 2,200 feet to 3,300 feet and install lighting for the runway and taxiway.

Zucker Blockbuster Not Only Jury Bomb

The 1968 Marin County Grand Jury, which made little noise during its 12 months of existence, dropped a few bombs in its final report.

Biggest blockbuster was the all-out criticism of Paul C. Zucker, county planning director. He was singled out personally for castigation as being capricious, arbitrary, opinionated and uncooperative. The grand jury recommended that "the planning director, in some manner, should be made to realize that he is a public servant and that the public is entitled to cordial service."

The report even raised a question of Zucker's veracity. It said he "assured this committee that for every unhappy applicant, he could produce 10 letters of commendation," and that he then produced 18 letters, cards and telegrams. These were listed. They ranged from a "thank you" greeting card to "appreciation for assistance in acquiring Kent Island." Several of them commended members of the planning department other than Zucker.

The grand jury had particular reason for being unhappy with the planning director, aside from the numerous complaints about him which it reported. Despite repeated requests, said the report, he failed to furnish information sought to substantiate the high budget of his department. The grand jury's county offices committee found this frustrating, it commented.

THE ALMOST-UNPRECEDENTED censure of Zucker in the grand jury report should not, however, be allowed to overshadow some other possibly significant findings that received more cursory attention in the report.

The county purchasing officer, said the jury, was "attempting to force unwieldy services on various offices," and had devised a "clumsy, expensive and time-consuming" plan for central purchasing of small supplies which now are bought by departments.

The county personnel office was unable to provide data on employee turnover by departments, and in two of four departments in which personnel files were checked, they were found unlocked and in disorder.

"Juvenile Hall has no line of authority," said the report, also flatly declaring: "Juvenile court law in California is wrong, particularly that part in dealing with detention hearings."

Probation department personnel files were reported not up to date, and there was a hint of irregularity in the recommendation that "security checks be required of not only new but all present personnel" in that department.

SOME LAXITIES of the grand jury itself were bared by the report. Foreman Austin W. Little suggested that terms of grand jurors be staggered, complained that the jurors did not have time enough to acquaint themselves with their duties, and asked for an instructional seminar for committee chairmen. Yet the organization of the grand jury — and the laws governing it, which prevent staggered terms—were outlined quite fully in an 88-page "Grand Jury Manual" prepared by Clifford S. Lund, foreman of the very active 1967 grand jury, for the use of future juries.

Perhaps the presiding judge should give more attention to getting the 1969 grand jury properly underway. And certainly the fusillade of condemnation of the county planning director — however deserved it may be — should not be allowed to overshadow the jury's other findings.

Grand jurors work hard and long. Their findings deserve attention.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Cal-Expo Cancels Exhibits; Legislator Proposes Liquidation

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Troubles of the state exposition and fair executive committee are multiplying. The general manager of Cal-Expo, as the state fair is now known, has advised livestock exhibitors that the traditional open division livestock show will not be possible at the 1969 fair because of the financial situation.

The announcement followed an earlier statement that the art show in 1969 has been called off because of financial shortages.

THE OPINION is being expressed in some quarters that if the executive committee keeps following this pattern, it is likely to have nothing left for the 1969 fair except a racing meet and a carnival, events which can hardly carry out the total concept of a "California showcase" as anticipated when development of the new fair, at an expense of some $33 million, was conceived.

Representatives of art and livestock groups are up in arms, but it is a hard fact that something will have to give if the committee is to recoup its financial difficulties and go ahead with the "showcase" as originally planned in future years.

SOME LEGISLATORS feel this isn't possible, and legislation actually has been introduced to junk the entire operation and sell off the assets, which consist for the most part of the fair site and buildings off the Elvas Freeway north of Sacramento.

This legislation came from Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Anaheim, who describes the fair as "abortive" and a project the state should abandon "before the taxpayers are forced to pay any more for this white elephant."

He claims that continuation of the Cal-Expo experiments would lead to deficits of $27 million over the next five years; that it is clear Cal-Expo is not operating on a pay-as-you-go basis, and that the outlook is only for pouring more money down a bottomless drain.

Cory has a lot of facts on his side, the most pertinent one being that the executive committee does not have enough funds available to put on a full-scale show this year and no cohesive plan for raising such capital. It is doubtful as to whether even the money needed to fund the bonds used to furnish capital for the original investment, amounting to more than a million dollars a year, is in sight.

GOV. RONALD Reagan's 1969-70 budget indicates the administration is relying heavily on "private enterprise" to pull the fair out of its financial hole. Investments of private capital, the budget says, "will eventually reduce or eliminate the necessity for state subsidy."

From action so far, this appears to be a faint hope. Private enterprise is interested only in projects which have either the proven ability or the potentiality to generate profits. Cal-Expo has demonstrated neither.

Marin Has Rink For Ice Skating

We enjoyed Mr. (Jim) Gilmartin's column last week and the great coverage he gave to figure skating. However, I was quite surprised to read that the lady he interviewed didn't know about our great ice skating facilities here in Marin and had to take her daughter to Berkeley to practice.

We have a new modern rink centrally located in Corte Madera, together with the service of an outstanding professional staff. The Marin Figure Skating Club, an affiliate of the United States club, meets at the rink and is active both as a social club and as a meda for encouraging young people to participate in competitive skating. There is also hockey for the boys and plain and fancy skating for all. Great fun and a great sport.

Yesterday's Freedom Today's Monopoly

Its strange how times changes things. The railroads wanted and received free lands, monopolies on freight and passenger service. Now they want to keep the free lands, can't get a monopoly on freight and don't want the passenger business unless run under a communistic basis.

The same holds true to the Golden Gate Bridge. In its formative stage a railroad with public interest at heart and a bank with the same thoughts instigated court action to prevent its construction as being unsafe for public use.

The suit was not pressed by the railroad who received the coveted exclusive bus franchise and the bank acquired the bonds. Now the bus company wants to step out of the picture and the bank would like the bonds to on to eternity financing public owned ferries, buses, investigations, etc.

Its strange how our interpretation of freedom of enterprise changes from time to time. Or is it?

Monagan's Plan Deserves Backing

Everyone feeling that we have enough concrete poured over our lovely state for freeways and feel we have too much air pollution please write to all of your representatives to get them to support Assembly Speaker Robert Monagan in his effort to use any excess gasoline tax money for a "total transportation system." That would include not only rapid transit but also fast electric trains between cities.

Sen. Randolph Collier who is chairman of the Senate Transportation Committee has wealthy lobbiests backing his wanting the money used only for concrete highways.

Wealthy lobbiests are hard to beat but if enough letters go in maybe they will no longer ignore the people's rights to breathe clean air and have a public transportation system that is fast, convenient and economical in this beautiful State of California.

Plans For Schools Ignore Economy

The article and picture on page 23 of the Feb. 5 issue of the Independent-Journal, describing the new proposed Glenwood School for the San Rafael Elementary School District, prompt a few comments from this interested Marin County resident. Having served for several years on the board of education of a substantial school district in the Middle West, I believe qualifies me as having some knowledge as to the problems of providing adequate educational facilities in burgeoning communities.

At the time when two other members and I were elected to the board, the cost of providing a classroom plus ancillary facilities had risen to approximately $42,000 per unit. This extravagance resulted primarily from flights of fancy indulged in by architects, coupled with a considerable amount of momument building indulged in by spstem superintendents. Our system was not alone.

Within a year, however, through the implementation of a program designed to educate architects to the economic factors of life, continuous control of overall planning and the institution of a system of stringent bidding controls coupled with strict supervision of construction, we had managed in a period of rising costs to reduce the cost per classroom in the next building program to approximately $25,000 per unit.

Certainly today when on every hand we are witnessing the beginnings of a taxpayers revolt and with this revolt being directed toward the schools, the only area the average person can any longer control (through his vote on bond issues), it should be incumbent on those responsible for planning school systems to provide the maximum classroom facilities with the minimum expenditures.

We seem to be long overdue for the institution of a system of controls that will build school buildings to the maximum efficiency at minimum costs to provide the best type of basic education. . . .

A RESTAURANT OWNER, one short step ahead of the sheriff, couldn't stand eating in his own place any longer because the long rows of empty tables were driving him crazy. One night he called in to see if there was any pick-up in trade and came back from the phone to report to his wife that his place had a party of 75 and a party of 14. "That's better than usual, isn't, dear?" asked his wife hopefully. "Hah," he disputed her. "How can you make a nickel on a 75-year-old woman and a 14-year-old kid?"

Nixon Warns Russia To Keep Hands Off Explosive Mideast

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — Though it was hardly noticed at the time, President Nixon has delivered his first warning to the Soviet Union. It concerns the Middle East.

It is apparent from his actions that Mr. Nixon is convinced that major war between Arabs and Israelis can be averted if both the United States and the Soviet Union keep hands-off — and are careful to keep their matches in their pockets.

This is the real reason the President used his first press conference to show how gravely he viewed the consequences of renewed fighting — not alone as they would affect the Arabs and the Israelis, but the nuclear powers as well.

MR. NIXON is acting on the premise that both Russia and the United States want above all, to avoid direct military confrontation and therefore want to make sure that no war crisis drags them into conflict.

This is why the President did not hesitate to describe the Mideast as a "powder keg," as "very explosive," as ungently requiring a "cooling off."

Then, without making it formal, he went to the heart of the message he wanted to get over to the Kremlin. He said we must "reduce the possibility of another explosion, because the next explosion in the Mideast, I think, could involve very well a confrontation between the nuclear powers, which we want to avoid."

THIS IS the core of the thought that the President hopes the Russian leaders will ponder carefully: that the best way to cool the most explosive danger spot in the world today is for the two nuclear powers to make it crystal clear to the Middle Eastern nations and to each other that they will not allow themselves to become involved.

Why is this the key to averting renewal of the six-day war of 1967?

President Nasser can't risk losing another war to Israel without assurance that the Russians would come to his rescue before it was too late.

Israel has no need, no incentive, to attack the Arab countries because, as a result of the 1967 war, it has adequate security until a peace settlement can be attained.

The harassment of the hit-and-run Arab terrorists is not great enough to weaken Israel or provoke it into renewing the war.

FOR THESE reasons Mr. Nixon apparently feels that war in the Mideast can be averted for the visible future, if Washington and Moscow do what is necessary to convince the Arabs and Israelis that neither side will have one of the nuclear powers as a fighting ally.

Behind this feeling is the conviction here that the essential deterrent which can keep the Soviet Union from taking the risk of becoming Egypt's fighting ally — should war occur — is its fear of a military confrontation with the United States.

This is why the President is warning that war in the Mideast "could involve very well a confrontation between the nuclear powers."

HE DOES NOT mean that preventing war in the Middle East is the same as making peace in the Middle East. He sees a state of nonwar there as no more than buying time while stronger efforts are made to reach a tolerable settlement.

To this end the President is accepting De Gaulle's proposal for four-power discussions at the United Nations, is supporting the U. N. Jarring peace mission, and is going to Europe, among other reasons, to enlist the active help of the NATO countries in promoting a settlement.

But Mr. Nixon does not believe that a peace could be imposed by the big powers or that an imposed peace could be enforced. He believes the only way to peace in the Mideast is for the belligerents to make it through direct negotiation.

This will take time, and time is in short supply if either side makes a miscalculation.

SDS, Black Panthers Map Joint Spring Campaign

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Conclusive evidence is in the hands of congressional investigators disclosing existence of a detailed plan for fomenting student uprisings in universities and high schools throughout the country.

Instigator of this nationwide conspiracy is the revolutionary Students for a Democratic Society in close alliance with the extremist Black Panther party.

Some 300 representatives of SDS, the Black Panthers, the Progressive Labor Party and other radical elements deliberated this plot at an unpublicized meeting at Princepton University early this month.

PRIMARY BASIS of their discussion was a five-page SDS tract titled "Smash the Military Machine in the Schools: A National Winter-Srping Offensive."

Throughout, the document parallels communist doctrine. In tenor, terminology and every other aspect, it echoes undiluted party line ideology and policy, including its characteristic racist appeal to Negroes.

Great emphasis is placed on portraying them as the spearhead of the "mass anti-war and anti-imperialist offensive."

To "denote the mid-point" of the "spring-winter offensive," the SDS calls for a "mass mobilization in Washington in early April."

Its purpose is summarized as follows: "This mobilization will be the clearest presentation since 1965, of SDS' political position: Support for black liberation; immediate withdrawal (from Vietnam); smash imperialism." . . .

TO FUEL the "Smash the Military Machine in the Schools" offensive, the SDS propounds the following five demands:

No ROTC.

No war or counter-insurgency research.

No military or war recruiting

No draft assemblies in high schools.

No high school sending of names to draft boards.

The SDS tract directs that chapters adopt the five demands as the basis for local drives and for initiating "militant actions around these demands immediately after the Washington march."

Strongly advised is that "initial contacts in high schools be made with black groups."

THE FOLLOWING is outlined as a possible regional model for the "winter-spring offensive";

"February: Develop a petition city-wide drive for an end to military in the schools.

"April 12-13: March on Washington. . . .

"April 14-20: March on local board of education; . . . picketing of recruiting stations; attack on draft center; petition for a call for a general strike of students if demands not met by May 1.

"May 1: General student strike which continues to build from the first day; non-negotiability of the demands and the struggle."

Strong emphasis is placed on the thesis that "the demands and the struggle must be non-negotiable."

Panels Named For Drug Study

Subcommittees to study various aspects of controlling drug abuse on the Tiburon Peninsula have been appointed by the Tiburon Peninsula Citizens Committee on Drug Abuse.

Rampton W. Harvey and Dr. Charles J. Epstein have been named to investigate how to improve community and school education on the dangers of drug use and A. H. Harris and Henry C. Mahlman will study the kinds of discipline the community wants the schools to enforce on students found using drugs, according to Harvey.

The committee, meeting Monday night, discussed the drug problem with inspector Dennis Sawdon of the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau, Sheriff's Lt. Harvey Teague of the Marin County Juvenile Bureau, Belvedere Police Chief William S. Woodington and Tiburon Sheriff's Capt. William Johansen of the Tiburon substation.

The committee will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in the Belvedere City Hall.

Guilty Plea Halts Trial On Auto Theft

Leonard Paul Jason, 41, of San Francisco, changed his plea to guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court as a jury trial was set to open in his case. He was accused of stealing a car in Larkspur Nov. 28.

Judge Harold J. Haley set sentencing for March 23.

Six Arrested In Drug Raid Plead Innocent

Six of seven persons arrested in a $350,000 drug raid in Tamalpais Valley Jan. 17 pleaded innocent to a variety of drug charges yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

A preliminary hearing was set for April 8 for Richard Conrad Pace, 24, owner of the Resh Gallery in Tamalpais Valley where most of the drugs were allegedly found; Richard Raymond Argento, 21, of San Rafael; Charles Noell Hess, 26, of Oakland; Richard Frankling Black, 27, of Sausalito; Frederick Martin Englehardt, 28, of San Francisco, and Linda Jean Shack, 21, of Mill Valley.

The seventh defendant, Jeffrey Linn Frocier, 20, of Belmont, was referred to juvenile court.

They face charges ranging from selling and transporting drugs to possessing marijuana and other drugs.

Santa Venetia Crash Injures Cyclist

George W. Noel, 19, of 1060-C Los Gamos Road, San Rafael, was treated yesterday for multiple bruises and scrapes at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, San Rafael, after a two-car collision in Santa Venetia, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The Patrol said Noel's motorcycle collided at 9:15 p.m. at North San Pedro Road and Washington Street with a car driven by Benny T. Quigley, 17, of 321 Glen Park, San Rafael.

Candidate Will Seek Petaluma Districting

Petaluma Council candidate Donald P. Petro said today he will seek a charter amendment to provide that city council be elected from specified districts rather than "at large."

In dividing up the city into six districts, Petro said the areas would reflect the voting population in ratio to the six council seats available. The seventh seat is that of the mayor, elected at large.

Saying it was a move to get city government closer to the people, Petro said, "If a councilman is elected by a specific district, he will have more contact with his constituents and be more responsive to their needs."

He said the voters often feel alienated from the council and speak of the councilmen in terms of "they." "If the voters have a councilman for a neighbor and know he is responsible for their district, they will be more inclined to make their feelings known to him," the candidate said.

In his plan, the first district would be the entire eastern portion, all areas east of Highway 101; the second district, the central portion south of Highway 101 to Petaluma Boulevard; district three, the northwestern section, south of Petaluma Boulevard; district five, from B Street to G Street, and district six, from G Street to the southern city limits.

Petro said he will notify City Clerk Lillian Nomsen of his intention to circulate a petition to request the charter amendment.

The petitions must carry 15 per cent of the voters who cast ballots in the previous general election. Petro said this is estimated at 1,600 persons.

"I know it will take work. I feel confident that the petitions requirements can be fulfilled and returned to the clerk in the required 21 days," he said. That date will probably be March 27.

According to the city charter, the clerk would then have 10 days in which to verify the petitions names. "This would mean that the proposed amendment would be presented to the council at the April 7 meeting," he said.

The council at that time could accept the proposal and introduce an ordinance to enact it. Feeling this is an improbability, Petro said the council would most likely order the measure put on the June 15 municipal election ballot.

Petro's proposal also calls for a special council election within six months if the charter amendment passes on June 15. "If that special election weren't called, it would be another two years before the district voting plan would be put into operation," he said.

Noting he expects the plan to meet a great deal of criticism, Petro said he feels most will be directed at the proposed district boundary lines.

Two Firms Get Permits In Petaluma

The Petaluma Planning Commission last night approved use permits for two new businesses.

Kaiser Sand and Gravel Co. was granted a permit to operate a ready mix concrete batching operation at 592 Lakeville Highway. As a condition, the firm must set the building back to allow for future street widening.

Also granted was a use permit requested by Bonnie Gray to operate a dog bathing and clipping business at her home at 520 Reynolds Drive. The commission stipulated that only one customer's dog may be on the premises at a time.

The Petaluma Planning Commission also:

PUMP STATION — Granted site design approval for the new city pump station in a residential section on Mission Drive at McNear Avenue.

REZONING — Recommended that the Sonoma County Planning Commission grant the request of Val-Cargo Co. to rezone six acres at 717 North McDowell Boulevard from agricultural to multiple residential to allow expansion of a mobile home park.

BEAUTY SHOP — Recommended the Sonoma County Board of Zoning Adjustments grant the application of Paul Guachat of 416 Thompson Lane be approved to allow him to operate a beauty shop in his home.

Sentencing Set On Drug Charge

Nicholas Robert Miles, 32, of Mill Valley, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a felony charge of possessing marijuana for sale, and misdemeanor charges of indecent exposure and driving without a license were dropped.

Judge Peter Allen Smith ordered him to appear in Superior Court March 17 for sentencing.

Miles was arrested Dec. 11 on Shoreline Highway.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By FRANK FARRARA

Patriotic Observance Tends To Dull Through Repetition

Terra Linda High School students believe the pledge of allegiance has become a meaningless exercise through daily recitation and would like to have some other form of patriotic observance.

The fact that students have challenged the daily pledge probably will cause a few more gray hairs at American Legion posts and shake up a few self-styled patriots.

Before those over 30 have apoplexy, it must be pointed out that students don't want to do away with the pledge entirely, but want to have a little variety in their patriotic observances.

Logically. the students have a point. Mumbling through or ignoring the pledge every morning certainly doesn't do much for patriotism.

Neither does playing the "Star-Spangled Banner" before ball games prompt anyone to meditate about the value of his country.

SAN RAFAEL Board of Education members are receptive to hearing suggestions from students about possible patriotic observances.

Whatever proposal they come up with should allow for variations or the observance will fall back into the rut of repetition, and in time become meaningless.

Even hearing Jose Feliciano playing the "Star-Spangled Banner" in his own style would lose it's impact if you had to hear it at the start of each day.

One student suggested having a moment of silence so students could think about becoming better persons and thereby better Americans.

A moment of silence is always welcome, but some minds are bound to wander to thoughts about the opposite sex, a car, a ball game, the latest gossip or when the moment of silence will end.

Another student suggested that the patriotic observance be based upon current events, noting that some people know more about events in U.S. history than of events in their own time.

IS IT of any greater patriotic value to remember every battle of the Civil War than to study the events of the last political campaign or the programs of President Nixon?

The theory is that what's happening now will have more meaning to the students.

The request for a change in daily patriotic observances, came not from some small activist group, if there is such at Terra Linda High School, but from the student council after study by a student committee since early in the school year.

It's a tough job to think of some activity that would qualify as patriotic and have meaning to all hands. For some, patriotism means enlisting in the armed services while to others it means refusing to serve because they believe it is wrong for their country to engage in a war they deem immoral and unjust.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

'Family Life' May Bring Ban On Sex Education

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The fuss over "family life education" may result in doing away with all sex education in California elementary schools.

That would be accomplished with passage of a bill introduced in the Legislature by Assemblyman Carl A. Britschgi, R-San Mateo, with seven co-authors.

Britschgi's bill (AB 247) provides that no instruction in sex education or the sexual aspects of family life may be given below the high school level, except by a licensed physician and surgeon or registered nurse who also meets the teacher certification requirements of the California Education Code.

Since there are very few physicians and surgeons who have California teaching certificates, and probably fewer still registered nurses with such certificates, this would mean no sex education in the schools, with perhaps a handful of exceptions.

"FAMILY LIFE education" has been under particularly heavy fire in Britschgi's San Mateo County district. Aroused parents, banded together as Citizens for Parental Rights, have brought court action there to prevent "family life" studies in the schools. Similar court actions have been brought in Sacramento and San Luis Obispo counties.

Britschgi's bill, however, would outlaw not only the "family life education" program — a special program beginning in kindergarten which was the first new course widely introduced in California schools after enactment of the George Miller Jr. Act to allow local curriculum control. The bill would outlaw all sex education in the elementary schools — unless a doctor or nurse who held a teaching certificate could be found for instructor.

PRIOR TO the introduction of the "family life" program, there was some sex education in most California schools, as part of the health education program. The amount varied from district to district and from school to school. Teachers and school administrators felt it was inadequate in most.

"Family life education" has been pushed by the National Education Association. It has not, however, had unanimous support from education organizations.

The National School Boards Association and American Association of School Administrators last year asked their permanent joint study committee to investigate and report on the desirablilty of adding "family life education" to school curricula.

The 12-member committee (which, incidentally, included two doctors of emdicine among its school board members) recommended unanimously against the program. It held that sex education should be part of health education.

It noted that "school systems throughout the United States are being pressured to offer courses in sex and family life education." Declaring, "the school curriculum is already overloaded," it said flatly: "there is neither time nor justification" for a "family life education" program.

(Incidentally, although the full report of this joint committee was published in the American School Board Journal last May, few California school board members seem aware of it.)

IF CALIFORNIA school districts had followed the advice of their national association and the American Association of School Administrators, it is unlikely Assemblyman Britschgi would have introduced his bill. Sex education could have been improved as part of the health education program — instead of being threatened with legislative extinction.

Despite the attacks by Citizens for Parental Rights and similar groups under other names elsewhere in the state, few districts have dropped "family life education." Some that discontinued certain features of it — including a KQED television series that came in for major criticism in the San Francisco Bay Area — have since re-introduced these features.

Citizens for Parental Rights, meanwhile, has turned its attack on another innovation which also has National Education Association backing "sensitivity training." This is something that has not previously had a place in the schools as part of any standard curriculum. It would not be surprising if a bill to outlaw it appeared soon in the Legislature.

Zucker Blockbuster Not Only Jury Bomb

The 1968 Marin County Grand Jury, which made little noise during its 12 months of existence, dropped a few bombs in its final report.

Biggest blockbuster was the all-out criticism of Paul C. Zucker, county planning director. He was singled out personally for castigation as being capricious, arbitrary, opinionated and uncooperative. The grand jury recommended that "the planning director, in some manner, should be made to realize that he is a public servant and that the public is entitled to cordial service."

The report even raised a question of Zucker's veracity. It said he "assured this committee that for every unhappy applicant, he could produce 10 letters of commendation," and that he then produced 18 letters, cards and telegrams. These were listed. They ranged from a "thank you" greeting card to "appreciation for assistance in acquiring Kent Island." Several of them commended members of the planning department other than Zucker.

The grand jury had particular reason for being unhappy with the planning director, aside from the numerous complaints about him which it reported. Despite repeated requests, said the report, he failed to furnish information sought to substantiate the high budget of his department. The grand jury's county offices committee found this frustrating, it commented.

THE ALMOST-UNPRECEDENTED censure of Zucker in the grand jury report should not, however, be allowed to overshadow some other possibly significant findings that received more cursory attention in the report.

The county purchasing officer, said the jury, was "attempting to force unwieldy services on various offices," and had devised a "clumsy, expensive and time-consuming" plan for central purchasing of small supplies which now are bought by departments.

The county personnel office was unable to provide data on employee turnover by departments, and in two of four departments in which personnel files were checked, they were found unlocked and in disorder.

"Juvenile Hall has no line of authority," said the report, also flatly declaring: "Juvenile court law in California is wrong, particularly that part in dealing with detention hearings."

Probation department personnel files were reported not up to date, and there was a hint of irregularity in the recommendation that "security checks be required of not only new but all present personnel" in that department.

SOME LAXITIES of the grand jury itself were bared by the report. Foreman Austin W. Little suggested that terms of grand jurors be staggered, complained that the jurors did not have time enough to acquaint themselves with their duties, and asked for an instructional seminar for committee chairmen. Yet the organization of the grand jury — and the laws governing it, which prevent staggered terms—were outlined quite fully in an 88-page "Grand Jury Manual'' prepared by Clifford S. Lund, foreman of the very active 1967 grand jury, for the use of future juries.

Perhaps the presiding judge should give more attention to getting the 1969 grand jury properly underway. And certainly the fusillade of condemnation of the county planning director — however deserved it may be — should not be allowed to overshadow the jury's other findings.

Grand jurors work hard and long. Their findings deserve attention.

Cal-Expo Cancels Exhibits; Legislator Proposes Liquidation

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Troubles of the state exposition and fair executive committee are multiplying. The general manager of Cal-Expo, as the state fair is now known, has advised livestock exhibitors that the traditional open division livestock show will not be possible at the 1969 fair because of the financial situation.

The announcement followed an earlier statement that the art show in 1969 has been called off because of financial shortages.

THE OPINION is being expressed in some quarters that if the executive committee keeps following this pattern, it is likely to have nothing left for the 1969 fair except a racing meet and a carnival, events which can hardly carry out the total concept of a "California showcase" as anticipated when development of the new fair, at an expense of some $33 million, was conceived.

Representatives of art and livestock groups are up in arms, but it is a hard fact that something will have to give if the committee is to recoup its financial difficulties and go ahead with the "showcase" as originally planned in future years.

SOME LEGISLATORS feel this isn't possible, and legislation actually has been introduced to junk the entire operation and sell off the assets, which consist for the most part of the fair site and buildings off the Elvas Freeway north of Sacramento.

This legislation came from Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Anaheim, who describes the fair as "abortive" and a project the state should abandon "before the taxpayers are forced to pay any more for this white elephant."

He claims that continuation of the Cal-Expo experiments would lead to deficits of $27 million over the next five years; that it is clear Cal-Expo is not operating on a pay-as-you-go basis, and that the outlook is only for pouring more money down a bottomless drain.

Cory has a lot of facts on his side, the most pertinent one being that the executive committee does not have enough funds available to put on a full-scale show this year and no cohesive plan for raising such capital. It is doubtful as to whether even the money needed to fund the bonds used to furnish capital for the original investment, amounting to more than a million dollars a year, is in sight.

GOV. RONALD Reagan's 1969-70 budget indicates the administration is relying heavily on "private enterprise" to pull the fair out of its financial hole. Investments of private capital, the budget says, "will eventually reduce or eliminate the necessity for state subsidy."

From action so far, this appears to be a faint hope. Private enterprise is interested only in projects which have either the proven ability or the potentiality to generate profits. Cal-Expo has demonstrated neither.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

The choice is not between all the facts and some of the facts, or between all the facts and none at all. The choice is between fact and rumor, and let no one delude himself — as between the two, rumor is the more powerful incendiary. — Roger Tatarian.

In a great library, you get into society in the wildest sense, with the huge advantage of needing no introductions and of not dreading repulses. From that great crowd you can choose what companions you please, for in these silent gatherings of the immortals there is no pride. — W. Somerset Maugham.

Marin Has Rink For Ice Skating

We enjoyed Mr. (Jim) Gilmartin's column last week and the great coverage he gave to figure skating. However, I was quite surprised to read that the lady he interviewed didn't know about our great ice skating facilities here in Marin and had to take her daughter to Berkeley to practice.

We have a new modern rink centrally located in Corte Madera, together with the service of an outstanding professional staff. The Marin Figure Skating Club, an affiliate of the United States club, meets at the rink and is active both as a social club and as a meda for encouraging young people to participate in competitive skating. There is also hockey for the boys and plain and fancy skating for all. Great fun and a great sport.

Yesterday's Freedom Today's Monopoly

Its strange how times changes things. The railroads wanted and received free lands, monopolies on freight and passenger service. Now they want to keep the free lands, can't get a monopoly on freight and don't want the passenger business unless run under a communistic basis.

The same holds true to the Golden Gate Bridge. In its formative stage a railroad with public interest at heart and a bank with the same thoughts instigated court action to prevent its construction as being unsafe for public use.

The suit was not pressed by the railroad who received the coveted exclusive bus franchise and the bank acquired the bonds. Now the bus company wants to step out of the picture and the bank would like the bonds to on to eternity financing public owned ferries, buses, investigations, etc.

Its strange how our interpretation of freedom of enterprise changes from time to time. Or is it?

Monagan's Plan Deserves Backing

Everyone feeling that we have enough concrete poured over our lovely state for freeways and feel we have too much air pollution please write to all of your representatives to get them to support Assembly Speaker Robert Monagan in his effort to use any excess gasoline tax money for a "total transportation system." That would include not only rapid transit but also fast electric trains between cities.

Sen. Randolph Collier who is chairman of the Senate Transportation Committee has wealthy lobbiests backing his wanting the money used only for concrete highways.

Wealthy lobbiests are hard to beat but if enough letters go in maybe they will no longer ignore the people's rights to breathe clean air and have a public transportation system that is fast, convenient and economical in this beautiful State of California.

Plans For Schools Ignore Economy

The article and picture on page 23 of the Feb. 5 issue of the Independent-Journal, describing the new proposed Glenwood School for the San Rafael Elementary School District, prompt a few comments from this interested Marin County resident. Having served for several years on the board of education of a substantial school district in the Middle West, I believe qualifies me as having some knowledge as to the problems of providing adequate educational facilities in burgeoning communities.

At the time when two other members and I were elected to the board, the cost of providing a classroom plus ancillary facilities had risen to approximately $42,000 per unit. This extravagance resulted primarily from flights of fancy indulged in by architects, coupled with a considerable amount of momument building indulged in by spstem superintendents. Our system was not alone.

Within a year, however, through the implementation of a program designed to educate architects to the economic factors of life, continuous control of overall planning and the institution of a system of stringent bidding controls coupled with strict supervision of construction, we had managed in a period of rising costs to reduce the cost per classroom in the next building program to approximately $25,000 per unit.

Certainly today when on every hand we are witnessing the beginnings of a taxpayers revolt and with this revolt being directed toward the schools, the only area the average person can any longer control (through his vote on bond issues), it should be incumbent on those responsible for planning school systems to provide the maximum classroom facilities with the minimum expenditures.

We seem to be long overdue for the institution of a system of controls that will build school buildings to the maximum efficiency at minimum costs to provide the best type of basic education. . . .

A RESTAURANT OWNER, one short step ahead of the sheriff, couldn't stand eating in his own place any longer because the long rows of empty tables were driving him crazy. One night he called in to see if there was any pick-up in trade and came back from the phone to report to his wife that his place had a party of 75 and a party of 14. "That's better than usual, isn't, dear?" asked his wife hopefully. "Hah," he disputed her. "How can you make a nickel on a 75-year-old woman and a 14-year-old kid?"

THE DRUMMONDS

Nixon Warns Russia To Keep Hands Off Explosive Mideast

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — Though it was hardly noticed at the time, President Nixon has delivered his first warning to the Soviet Union. It concerns the Middle East.

It is apparent from his actions that Mr. Nixon is convinced that major war between Arabs and Israelis can be averted if both the United States and the Soviet Union keep hands-off — and are careful to keep their matches in their pockets.

This is the real reason the President used his first press conference to show how gravely he viewed the consequences of renewed fighting — not alone as they would affect the Arabs and the Israelis, but the nuclear powers as well.

MR. NIXON is acting on the premise that both Russia and the United States want above all, to avoid direct military confrontation and therefore want to make sure that no war crisis drags them into conflict.

This is why the President did not hesitate to describe the Mideast as a "powder keg," as "very explosive," as ungently requiring a "cooling off."

Then, without making it formal, he went to the heart of the message he wanted to get over to the Kremlin. He said we must "reduce the possibility of another explosion, because the next explosion in the Mideast, I think, could involve very well a confrontation between the nuclear powers, which we want to avoid."

THIS IS the core of the thought that the President hopes the Russian leaders will ponder carefully: that the best way to cool the most explosive danger spot in the world today is for the two nuclear powers to make it crystal clear to the Middle Eastern nations and to each other that they will not allow themselves to become involved.

Why is this the key to averting renewal of the six-day war of 1967?

President Nasser can't risk losing another war to Israel without assurance that the Russians would come to his rescue before it was too late.

Israel has no need, no incentive, to attack the Arab countries because, as a result of the 1967 war, it has adequate security until a peace settlement can be attained.

The harassment of the hit-and-run Arab terrorists is not great enough to weaken Israel or provoke it into renewing the war.

FOR THESE reasons Mr. Nixon apparently feels that war in the Mideast can be averted for the visible future, if Washington and Moscow do what is necessary to convince the Arabs and Israelis that neither side will have one of the nuclear powers as a fighting ally.

Behind this feeling is the conviction here that the essential deterrent which can keep the Soviet Union from taking the risk of becoming Egypt's fighting ally — should war occur — is its fear of a military confrontation with the United States.

This is why the President is warning that war in the Mideast "could involve very well a confrontation between the nuclear powers."

HE DOES NOT mean that preventing war in the Middle East is the same as making peace in the Middle East. He sees a state of nonwar there as no more than buying time while stronger efforts are made to reach a tolerable settlement.

To this end the President is accepting De Gaulle's proposal for four-power discussions at the United Nations, is supporting the U. N. Jarring peace mission, and is going to Europe, among other reasons, to enlist the active help of the NATO countries in promoting a settlement.

But Mr. Nixon does not believe that a peace could be imposed by the big powers or that an imposed peace could be enforced. He believes the only way to peace in the Mideast is for the belligerents to make it through direct negotiation.

This will take time, and time is in short supply if either side makes a miscalculation.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

SDS, Black Panthers Map Joint Spring Campaign

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Conclusive evidence is in the hands of congressional investigators disclosing existence of a detailed plan for fomenting student uprisings in universities and high schools throughout the country.

Instigator of this nationwide conspiracy is the revolutionary Students for a Democratic Society in close alliance with the extremist Black Panther party.

Some 300 representatives of SDS, the Black Panthers, the Progressive Labor Party and other radical elements deliberated this plot at an unpublicized meeting at Princeton University early this month.

PRIMARY BASIS of their discussion was a five-page SDS tract titled "Smash the Military Machine in the Schools: A National Winter-Srping Offensive."

Throughout, the document parallels communist doctrine. In tenor, terminology and every other aspect, it echoes undiluted party line ideology and policy, including its characteristic racist appeal to Negroes.

Great emphasis is placed on portraying them as the spearhead of the "mass anti-war and anti-imperialist offensive."

To "denote the mid-point" of the "spring-winter offensive," the SDS calls for a "mass mobilization in Washington in early April."

Its purpose is summarized as follows: "This mobilization will be the clearest presentation since 1965, of SDS' political position: Support for black liberation; immediate withdrawal (from Vietnam); smash imperialism." . . .

TO FUEL the "Smash the Military Machine in the Schools" offensive, the SDS propounds the following five demands:

No ROTC.

No war or counter-insurgency research.

No military or war recruiting

No draft assemblies in high schools.

No high school sending of names to draft boards.

The SDS tract directs that chapters adopt the five demands as the basis for local drives and for initiating "militant actions around these demands immediately after the Washington march."

Strongly advised is that "initial contacts in high schools be made with black groups."

THE FOLLOWING is outlined as a possible regional model for the "winter-spring offensive":

"February: Develop a petition city-wide drive for an end to military in the schools.

"April 12-13: March on Washington. . . .

"April 14-20: March on local board of education; . . . picketing of recruiting stations; attack on draft center; petition for a call for a general strike of students if demands not met by May 1.

"May 1: General student strike which continues to build from the first day; non-negotiability of the demands and the struggle."

Strong emphasis is placed on the thesis that "the demands and the struggle must be non-negotiable."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By FRANK FARRARA

Patriotic Observance Tends To Dull Through Repetition

Terra Linda High School students believe the pledge of allegiance has become a meaningless exercise through daily recitation and would like to have some other form of patriotic observance.

The fact that students have challenged the daily pledge probably will cause a few more gray hairs at American Legion posts and shake up a few self-styled patriots.

Before those over 30 have apoplexy, it must be pointed out that students don't want to do away with the pledge entirely, but want to have a little variety in their patriotic observances.

Logically. the students have a point. Mumbling through or ignoring the pledge every morning certainly doesn't do much for patriotism.

Neither does playing the "Star-Spangled Banner" before ball games prompt anyone to meditate about the value of his country.

SAN RAFAEL Board of Education members are receptive to hearing suggestions from students about possible patriotic observances.

Whatever proposal they come up with should allow for variations or the observance will fall back into the rut of repetition, and in time become meaningless.

Even hearing Jose Feliciano playing the "Star-Spangled Banner" in his own style would lose it's impact if you had to hear it at the start of each day.

One student suggested having a moment of silence so students could think about becoming better persons and thereby better Americans.

A moment of silence is always welcome, but some minds are bound to wander to thoughts about the opposite sex, a car, a ball game, the latest gossip or when the moment of silence will end.

Another student suggested that the patriotic observance be based upon current events, noting that some people know more about events in U.S. history than of events in their own time.

IS IT of any greater patriotic value to remember every battle of the Civil War than to study the events of the last political campaign or the programs of President Nixon?

The theory is that what's happening now will have more meaning to the students.

The request for a change in daily patriotic observances, came not from some small activist group, if there is such at Terra Linda High School, but from the student council after study by a student committee since early in the school year.

It's a tough job to think of some activity that would qualify as patriotic and have meaning to all hands. For some, patriotism means enlisting in the armed services while to others it means refusing to serve because they believe it is wrong for their country to engage in a war they deem immoral and unjust.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

'Family Life' May Bring Ban On Sex Education

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The fuss over "family life education" may result in doing away with all sex education in California elementary schools.

That would be accomplished with passage of a bill introduced in the Legislature by Assemblyman Carl A. Britschgi, R-San Mateo, with seven co-authors.

Britschgi's bill (AB 247) provides that no instruction in sex education or the sexual aspects of family life may be given below the high school level, except by a licensed physician and surgeon or registered nurse who also meets the teacher certification requirements of the California Education Code.

Since there are very few physicians and surgeons who have California teaching certificates, and probably fewer still registered nurses with such certificates, this would mean no sex education in the schools, with perhaps a handful of exceptions.

"FAMILY LIFE education" has been under particularly heavy fire in Britschgi's San Mateo County district. Aroused parents, banded together as Citizens for Parental Rights, have brought court action there to prevent "family life" studies in the schools. Similar court actions have been brought in Sacramento and San Luis Obispo counties.

Britschgi's bill, however, would outlaw not only the "family life education" program — a special program beginning in kindergarten which was the first new course widely introduced in California schools after enactment of the George Miller Jr. Act to allow local curriculum control. The bill would outlaw all sex education in the elementary schools — unless a doctor or nurse who held a teaching certificate could be found for instructor.

PRIOR TO the introduction of the "family life" program, there was some sex education in most California schools, as part of the health education program. The amount varied from district to district and from school to school. Teachers and school administrators felt it was inadequate in most.

"Family life education" has been pushed by the National Education Association. It has not, however, had unanimous support from education organizations.

The National School Boards Association and American Association of School Administrators last year asked their permanent joint study committee to investigate and report on the desirablilty of adding "family life education" to school curricula.

The 12-member committee (which, incidentally, included two doctors of emdicine among its school board members) recommended unanimously against the program. It held that sex education should be part of health education.

It noted that "school systems throughout the United States are being pressured to offer courses in sex and family life education." Declaring, "the school curriculum is already overloaded," it said flatly: "there is neither time nor justification" for a "family life education" program.

(Incidentally, although the full report of this joint committee was published in the American School Board Journal last May, few California school board members seem aware of it.)

IF CALIFORNIA school districts had followed the advice of their national association and the American Association of School Administrators, it is unlikely Assemblyman Britschgi would have introduced his bill. Sex education could have been improved as part of the health education program — instead of being threatened with legislative extinction.

Despite the attacks by Citizens for Parental Rights and similar groups under other names elsewhere in the state, few districts have dropped "family life education." Some that discontinued certain features of it — including a KQED television series that came in for major criticism in the San Francisco Bay Area — have since re-introduced these features.

Citizens for Parental Rights, meanwhile, has turned its attack on another innovation which also has National Education Association backing "sensitivity training." This is something that has not previously had a place in the schools as part of any standard curriculum. It would not be surprising if a bill to outlaw it appeared soon in the Legislature.

CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF NOVATO
RESOLUTION NO. 23-69

RESOLUTION GIVING NOTICE OF PROPOSED ANNEXATION TO THE CITY OF NOVATO OF UNINHABITED TERRITORY DESCRIBED HEREIN AND DESIGNATED "CENTER ROAD ANNEXATION NO. 3" AND GIVING NOTICE OF TIME AND PLACE FOR HEARING OF PROTESTS THERETO.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF NOVATO:

1. That is has come to the attention of the City Council of the City of Novato, and this Council finds, that it would be for the best interests of said City and of the residents of the contiguous area herein described to alter the boundaries of said City by annexing thereto and incorporating therein as a part thereof under the provisions of the annexation of Uninhabited Territory Act of 1939, as amended, certain property situated in the County of Marin, State of California, hereby designated "Center Road Annexation No. 3", and described in Exhibit "A" attached hereto and made a part hereof.

2. The reasons why the City of Novato desires said annexation are as follows:

(a) Said territory because of its location and other features should be governed in its development by the same zoning and planning regulations which govern territory within the City of Novato.

(b) Because of its location, said territory will receive the benefit of and should therefore participate in supporting the municipal services of said city.

3. The City of Novato has heretofore filed with the Local Agency Annexation Commission of Marin County, a notice of intention to annex the territory more particularly described in Exhibit "A". Said notice contained the specific boundaries of the territory proposed to be annexed. The description of said territory was submitted to the Marin County Boundary Commission, and the attached description in accordance with the report of said Commission. Thereafter, the Local Agency Annexation Commission of Marin County after public hearing did approve said proposed annexation.

4. That Tuesday, March 25, 1969, at the hour of 8:00 o'clock P.M., in the Council Chambers, Novato Community House, in the City of Novato, County of Marin, California, is hereby fixed as the time and place when and where any person owning real property within the uninhabited territory above described and proposed to be annexed to the City of Novato, and having any objections to the proposed annexation, may appear before the Council of the City of Novato and show cause why such uninhabited territory should not be so annexed to the City of Novato. The protest must be in writing, may be filed at any time before the hour set for hearing objections to the proposed annexation, and shall state the name or names of the owner or owners of property affected and the description and area of such property, in general terms.

5. The City Clerk of the City of Novato is hereby authorized and directed to cause a copy of this resolution to be published at least twice, but not oftener than once a week, in the Novato Advance, a newspaper of general circulation published in said City of Novato and in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Marin, said publication to be complete at least twenty (20) days prior to the date set for hearing.

6. The City Clerk is directed to cause written notice to be given to such other persons as may be legally entitled thereto in the manner required by law.

* * * * *

I HEREBY CERTIFY that the foregoing resolution was duly and regularly adopted by the City Council of the City of Novato, Marin County, California, at a regular meeting thereof, held on the 11th day of February, 1969, by the following vote, to wit:

AYES: COUNCILMEN GARGIULO, WOMACK, SILVA, McASKILL
NOES: COUNCILMEN NONE

Sonoma State Sees 1,000 Disappointed

"There will be about 1,000 disappointed students next fall," said H. J. Soeters, dean of admissions at Sonoma State College in announcing that a waiting list has already been established for the fall semester.

Terming the sudden rush of applications "awfully unusual," Soeters said last year persons could enroll through Sept. 1.

Noting that more than 2,000 applications have been received since Dec. 2, Soeters said his office stopped sending application packets on Feb. 7 only to receive another batch of 160 completed forms in the following Monday mail.

Although the list of students bound for disappointment has not been analyzed, it is expected that most will be from Marin and Sonoma counties. In order to accommodate more local students, enrollment was open only to first-time freshmen and junior college transfers with more than 60 hours credit. Soeters said this ruling was made at the request of the College of Marin and Santa Rosa Junior College.

The dean said between 3,100 and 3,200 students will be admitted for the fall semester, with that number limited only by a lack of space. "At that figure we're operating at maximum capacity, because there are only so many classrooms and we don't have the space or enough hours in the day to schedule classes," he said.

He said the waiting list being prepared will be limited to 150 freshmen and 200 upper division transfer students. He would not estimate what the chances are of those students being enrolled.

"This is not a problem unique to Sonoma State," Soeters said. "It's happening at all the state colleges in Northern California." He said Sacramento State has already closed admissions with San Francisco and San Jose State expected to do the same very soon despite campus unrest.

The dean predicted the fall crush of applications last year when 500 eligible students were turned away for admission in the spring semester. Applications for the term begining this week were closed on Oct. 10.

He said the news is brighter, however, for graduate students. Sonoma State will accept 175 graduates and will maintain a waiting list of 200 more. He also noted that no limits have been placed on continuing students.

Collegiates Scramble To Get Right Classes

half units but wanted to take eighteen-and-one-half.

"Everybody's having troubles," the youth related. "The people who there first get their classes. "If you're not there first, you're out of luck. However," he added, "most of my classes I did get are back down to 25-30 kids."

Several students who were questioned said they had no problems getting into classes but they quickly added, that this was because thy were continuing students and had pre-registered.

A freshman at 28, because he chose to wander the world first in the Merchant Marine, goateed Leslie Zuver said his drama teacher told the class he'd like to cut it down but couldn't.

The teacher told us, Zuver said, he couldn't turn anyone away because he wanted to see everyone have a chance.

Several members of the Associated Students executive council will meet Dr. Sidney W. Brossman in Sacramento at 2 p.m., Feb. 28, Harry C. Gilbert, council vice president said.

The students will ask Brossman, chancellor of California Community Colleges, about possible state aid to open more classes.

They will also ask how the California Coordinating Council for Higher Education's recent staff report will effect College of Marin developments.

Gilbert has had problems getting classes himself. He said his Psychology I class was so crowded that, when the instructor said he couldn't take any more people, three-fourths of the class left. "That left 35-40 students. Ideally a psychology class should be 15-20," he said.

"Yes, we're overcrowded," said dean of students Irwin P. Diamond.

A gentle, professorial man, he discussed the problems:

"The big problem is teachers," he said. "If we had more teachers we could have more classes. If we had more money, we could hire more teachers. There isn't enough money. Space is not the problem at the moment."

Are the students being shortchanged because too much of the college's facilities are tied up in night adult courses?

"No," answered Diamond. "Priority of class space is for the credit program first of all. If necessary, we would remove these (night) classes and try to find other locations for them. They (night classes) are financed in a different way, too."

Is the educational program in imbalance? That is, are 900 students trying to take English courses with room for only 300 while 72 are trying to take Esperanto with accommodations for 75?

Diamond replied that this semester the college has asked students to list their first choice of classes. "It is a check to see if we are in imbalance. We expect to know the results by early next week," the dean said.

Diamond explained that the college keeps no overall record of numbers of students on waiting lists. Asked why, he said, "we get a list of open spaces in classes so we can redirect students.

"When students sign up on waiting lists it doesn't mean much because of the large numbers of variables. For instance, the student may be on the list because he needs the course or because he doesn't have enough units and wants to add the course. Open spaces vary from two to 10 in classes and courses where open spaces are available are limited," he added.

Asked if students who are unable to get necessary courses due to overcrowding will be delayed in entry to a four-year college, Diamond said "no."

They will not be delayed in admission to the four-year college, he said but they could be delayed in completing all the courses for a major.

College enrollment increased more than 1,000 this spring over last spring — a 21 per cent increase. The largest increase was in students enrolled for less than nine units.

Twelve new sections (classes) were added this spring to try to take care of the large number of students who carry less than nine units, the dean commented. All courses are in liberal arts.

The deadline for students to be accepted into classes was advanced from last Friday to today. Diamond said that he expects to know by Friday, when class cards are filed, the capacity of each class and the student load.

Usually, said the dean, we drop a few hundred students from the start of registration. "I don't think we're going to drop too many this semester," he said.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

A Nervous Person's Heart Disease Not Easy To Treat

VAN DELLEN

Neurocirculatory asthenia (NCA) is an ill-defined nervous disorder characterized by complex symptoms.

The victim is certain he has heart disease because of spells of shortness of breath, rapid pulse, palpitation, and pain in the chest. During the attack he breaks out into a clammy sweat, becomes dizzy, and starts to tremble.

Although pain ensues in the region of the left breast, the physician is unable to find anything wrong with the heart.

The nervous person is told that it is natural for the organ to beat rapidly following excitement or after unusual exertion such as running across the street. Even minor effort can produce the symptom.

Most of us are unaware of such changes or are unconcerned when they occur.

Emotionally insecure individuals worry about the pounding heart, and in time the ensuing anxiety leads to a further increase in the beat, often when at rest.

Sufferers of NCA tend to be high-strung and in a chronic state of tension. In this respect, the heart is responding to emotional upheaval in a normal way — by beating rapidly. In time, even normal stimuli cause the heart to beat rapidly for no apparent reason.

THE OLD TICKER becomes the fall guy for their lack of security and inability to cope with the vicissitudes of life.

Most victims prefer to latch onto an organic cause for their symptoms. Influenza leaves the victim weak and the slightest exertion may increase the heart rate and produce exhaustion. The same applies to those who become overly concerned about their heart whenever they hear about the death of a friend from a coronary thrombosis.

MANY INDIVIDUALS with NCA are helped by avoiding factors that bring on symptoms. Others need reassurance, which can be given, because no one ever has died of NCA. Severe cases require psychiatric help.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

HERNIA FROM COUGH

W. W. writes: Can a severe bronchial cough cause a hernia in the abdomen?

REPLY

The basic cause of hernia is an inherent weakness of the abdominal wall. Coughing forces out the defect and may aggravate the condition. But a person with a strong abdominal wall (not only the muscles) can hack until the cows come home without developing hernia.

MOOD AND SPLEEN

D. C. writes: Is melancholy caused by a diseased spleen?

REPLY

A 15th Century physican might have answered yes to this question. That was the era in which the humoral theory was in flower. Melancholia is an old term for depression. And it may be caused by any number of physical and emotional states that affect the mood.

NEEDS LIGHT FOR READING

Mrs. A. K. writes: I wear glasses for reading but seem to have trouble unless the light is excellent. The eye doctor I consulted said the lenses are all right. What does this mean?

REPLY

Middle-aged eyes usually require more illumination than young eyes for reading, even with proper refractions.

BLIND SPOT NORMAL

A. O. writes: An optometrist told me that I have a blind spot in one eye. Is there any special treatment or operation to correct it?

REPLY

Don't be gullible and take treatments or buy glasses to overcome a normal phenomenon. We all have a blind spot.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Best bets on television tonight:

KPIX (5), KXTV (10), 7:30 p.m. — Recording stars Roger Miller and Stevie Wonder join Pat Paulson and singer-composer John Hartford, as well as John Wayne, Steve Allen, Jayne Meadows and Monte Hall in cameo appearances, for an hour of comedy and song with Glen Campbell on "The Glen Campbell Goodtime Hour."

KPIX (5), 8:30 p.m. — "Merv Griffin's Sidewalks of New York" is a one-hour musical salute to the City of New York with guests Dionne Warwick, Dick Shawn, the Union Gap, Joel Grey, Renee Taylor, Hendra and Ullet, Julie Budd, Arthur Treacher and Mort Lindsay and his orchestra. It is a repeat.

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 8:30 p.m. — Marlon Brando stars as a modern-day sheriff in "The Chase" on the ABC Wednesday Night Movie. Co-starring are Jane Fonda, Robert Redford and Angie Dickinson.

KRON (4), KCRA (3), 9 p.m. — Hosts Don Adams and Don Rickles are joined by guest stars Joseph Cotten, Kaye Ballard and the Beach Boys in "Don Adams and Don Rickles Are Alive and Well and Living in California" on the Kraft Music Hall.

KQED (9), 9:30 p.m. — "Performance" presents a Laura Weber and Pete Seegar special. They sing and reminisce. Seeger talks about his early years playing the banjo, new song writers and his father's advice on folk music.

KRON (4), KCRA (3), 10 p.m.—Perry Como hosts "Academy of Professional Sports Awards," the second annual presentation of awards honoring outstanding professional athletes. Personalities from the sports and entertainment fields will present the awards.

KQED (9), 10 p.m — "Homage to Seurat" is a tour of the current exhibit at the California Palace of the Legion of Honor with Albert Elsen, professor of art history at Stanford University. French neo-impressionist Georges Seurat introduces "pointillism," a painting technique.

Four Drinking Drivers Fined

Four persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving on Marin streets and highways.

Thelma Marie Yuvan, 57, of 20 Fairhills Drive, San Rafael, was fined $100 and placed on six months probation. She was arrested Sept. 29 on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Edward Lewis Lane, 57, of 48 Walnut Avenue, Mill Valley, was fined $250 and placed on six months probation. He was arrested on Highway 101 Wednesday.

William Raymond Radford, 42, of 637 Vendola Drive, San Rafael, who was arrested Jan. 11 in Mill Valley, was fined $125 and placed on six months probation.

William Cooper Shaw, 40, of 85 Hillside Drive, Fairfax, was placed on six months probation and fined $150. He was arrested Thursday in San Rafael.

Pleas Of Innocent To Marijuana Sales

Two Larkspur women, Kathy Davenport and Deborah Paganini, have pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court to charges of selling marijuana to an agent of the sheriff's department at their home at Boardwalk One on April 15, 1968.

A motion asking that the charges be dismissed was denied by Judge Harold J. Haley, and he set a jury trial for May 5.

Airport Suffers Rain Damages

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Heavy rains have caused damage estimated at $410,000 at San Francisco International Airport, the Public Utilities Commission heard yesterday.

The report came from airport general manager George Hansen.

Commissioners, who had voted $200,000 for repairs on Jan. 29, voted to appropriate another $210,000.

Making Of Commercials Vs. Films

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The effects of television commercials on motion pictures are obvious: more telescoping of time, space and story, less reliance on traditional narrative and exposition, and so forth.

Like many new things, these effects are not always for the best, and are frequently overdone. Merely being fashionable can be wrong just as often as it is right. Or haven't you noticed how pleasant it is to find a movie with a beginning, a middle and an end these days?

Nevertheless, video commercials have had a great effect on moviemaking. So it is no surprise that the current issue of "Action," the magazine of the Directors Guild of America, carries a special report on commercials.

One of the articles, "What I Learned from Commercials," is an explanation by Richard Lester, director of "Petulia," the Beatles films and other movies, about the intertwining of video ads and motion pictures.

In a talk with William Hall, film columnist of the London Evening News, Lester, who was born in Philadelphia and moved to England in 1955, said:

"Instant impact. I suppose I learned that from the commercials I directed, and a lot of that approach has rubbed off into my feature films.

"I had no film shooting in the accepted sense—most people come up through the cutting rooms, or on the floor via assistant directors. I didn't. I learned through making commercials, and I was doing them at the rate of 80 a year for six years—and doing feature films as well. I must have done about 500 commercials in my life, and although now I don't get too much time, I still like to fit them in . . ."

NBC — TV's expected series cancellations next season include "Star Trek," "Get Smart," The Jerry Lewis Show, "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir," "The Mothers-in-Law," "My Friend Tony" and "The Outsider."

Among the new series will be a half-hour comedy based on the writings of the late, incomparable humorist, James Thurber. Entitled "My World and Welcome to It," it will feature a family and attempt to delve into the fantasies of Thurber, employing both live action and animation.

Soviet Woman Ordered To Jail

MOSCOW (AP) — A court today sentenced a woman member of Moscow's small group of dissenting intellectuals to a year in a labor camp for possessing leaflets protesting the arrest and trial last summer of another member of the group.

The defendant, Irina Pelogorodskaya, 30, an engineer in a patent office when arrested last Aug. 7, was given credit for the more than six months she has spent in jail.

The court rejected a defense request for acquittal. Her court-appointed lawyer, Vladimir Romm, argued that her only motive had been "to help another human being who was in trouble."

Miss Belogorodskaya was found guilty on a charge of distributing "deliberately false fabrications defaming the Soviet state and public order." The offense carries a maximum penalty of three years.

Car Hits Trees; Two Injured

Two persons were injured in San Anselmo yesterday when a Greenbrae youth's car swerved off Saunders Avenue and struck a utility pole, then hit three small trees at Sir Francis Drake High School.

James K. Henington, 21, of 2000 Redwood Highway, suffered facial cuts while his passenger, Sharon Polman, 20, of 1552 San Pedro Road, San Rafael, received cuts on her right arm. They were treated at Marin General Hospital.

Police said Henington reported he was northbound on Saunders Avenue near Park Avenue at 12:40 a.m. Seeing a car coming at him in the wrong lane, he swerved to avert collision.

Youth Must Spend Weekends In Jail

Robert Charles Baldi, 19, of San Rafael, who had pleaded guilty was given a suspended prison sentence but ordered to spend weekends in the county jail until Aug. 31.

He was also placed on two years probation by Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court.

RESOLUTION NO. 23-69

RESOLUTION GIVING NOTICE OF PROPOSED ANNEXATION TO THE CITY OF NOVATO OF UNINHABITED TERRITORY DESCRIBED HEREIN AND DESIGNATED "CENTER ROAD ANNEXATION NO. 3" AND GIVING NOTICE OF TIME AND PLACE FOR HEARING OF PROTESTS THERETO.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF NOVATO:

1. That is has come to the attention of the City Council of the City of Novato, and this Council finds, that it would be for the best interests of said City and of the residents of the contiguous area herein described to alter the boundaries of said City by annexing thereto and incorporating therein as a part thereof under the provisions of the annexation of Uninhabited Territory Act of 1939, as amended, certain property situated in the County of Marin, State of California, hereby designated "Center Road Annexation No. 3", and described in Exhibit "A" attached hereto and made a part hereof.

2. The reasons why the City of Novato desires said annexation are as follows:

(a) Said territory because of its location and other features should be governed in its development by the same zoning and planning regulations which govern territory within the City of Novato.

(b) Because of its location, said territory will receive the benefit of and should therefore participate in supporting the municipal services of said city.

3. The City of Novato has heretofore filed with the Local Agency Annexation Commission of Marin County, a notice of intention to annex the territory more particularly described in Exhibit "A". Said notice contained the specific boundaries of the territory proposed to be annexed. The description of said territory was submitted to the Marin County Boundary Commission, and the attached description in accordance with the report of said Commission. Thereafter, the Local Agency Annexation Commission of Marin County after public hearing did approve said proposed annexation.

4. That Tuesday, March 25, 1969, at the hour of 8:00 o'clock P.M., in the Council Chambers, Novato Community House, in the City of Novato, County of Marin, California, is hereby fixed as the time and place when and where any person owning real property within the uninhabited territory above described and proposed to be annexed to the City of Novato, and having any objections to the proposed annexation, may appear before the Council of the City of Novato and show cause why such uninhabited territory should not be so annexed to the City of Novato. The protest must be in writing, may be filed at any time before the hour set for hearing objections to the proposed annexation, and shall state the name or names of the owner or owners of property affected and the description and area of such property, in general terms.

5. The City Clerk of the City of Novato is hereby authorized and directed to cause a copy of this resolution to be published at least twice, but not oftener than once a week, in the Novato Advance, a newspaper of general circulation published in said City of Novato and in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Marin, said publication to be complete at least twenty (20) days prior to the date set for hearing.

6. The City Clerk is directed to cause written notice to be given to such other persons as may be legally entitled thereto in the manner required by law.

* * * * *

AYES: COUNCILMEN GARGIULO, WOMACK, SILVA, McASKILL

Sonoma State Sees 1,000 Disappointed

"There will be about 1,000 disappointed students next fall," said H. J. Soeters, dean of admissions at Sonoma State College in announcing that a waiting list has already been established for the fall semester.

Terming the sudden rush of applications "awfully unusual," Soeters said last year persons could enroll through Sept. 1.

Noting that more than 2,000 applications have been received since Dec. 2, Soeters said his office stopped sending application packets on Feb. 7 only to receive another batch of 160 completed forms in the following Monday mail.

Although the list of students bound for disappointment has not been analyzed, it is expected that most will be from Marin and Sonoma counties. In order to accommodate more local students, enrollment was open only to first-time freshmen and junior college transfers with more than 60 hours credit. Soeters said this ruling was made at the request of the College of Marin and Santa Rosa Junior College.

The dean said between 3,100 and 3,200 students will be admitted for the fall semester, with that number limited only by a lack of space. "At that figure we're operating at maximum capacity, because there are only so many classrooms and we don't have the space or enough hours in the day to schedule classes," he said.

He said the waiting list being prepared will be limited to 150 freshmen and 200 upper division transfer students. He would not estimate what the chances are of those students being enrolled.

"This is not a problem unique to Sonoma State," Soeters said. "It's happening at all the state colleges in Northern California." He said Sacramento State has already closed admissions with San Francisco and San Jose State expected to do the same very soon despite campus unrest.

The dean predicted the fall crush of applications last year when 500 eligible students were turned away for admission in the spring semester. Applications for the term begining this week were closed on Oct. 10.

He said the news is brighter, however, for graduate students. Sonoma State will accept 175 graduates and will maintain a waiting list of 200 more. He also noted that no limits have been placed on continuing students.

Collegiates Scramble To Get Right Classes

half units but wanted to take eighteen-and-one-half.

"Everybody's having troubles," the youth related. "The people who there first get their classes. "If you're not there first, you're out of luck. However," he added, "most of my classes I did get are back down to 25-30 kids."

Several students who were questioned said they had no problems getting into classes but they quickly added, that this was because thy were continuing students and had preregistered.

A freshman at 28, because he chose to wander the world first in the Merchant Marine, goateed Leslie Zuver said his drama teacher told the class he'd like to cut it down but couldn't.

The teacher told us, Zuver said, he couldn't turn anyone away because he wanted to see everyone have a chance.

Several members of the Associated Students executive council will meet Dr. Sidney W. Brossman in Sacramento at 2 p.m., Feb. 28, Harry C. Gilbert, council vice president said.

The students will ask Brossman, chancellor of California Community Colleges, about possible state aid to open more classes.

They will also ask how the California Coordinating Council for Higher Education's recent staff report will effect College of Marin developments.

Gilbert has had problems getting classes himself. He said his Psychology I class was so crowded that, when the instructor said he couldn't take any more people, three-fourths of the class left. "That left 35-40 students. Ideally a psychology class should be 15-20," he said.

"Yes, we're overcrowded," said dean of students Irwin P. Diamond.

A gentle, professorial man, he discussed the problems:

"The big problem is teachers," he said. "If we had more teachers we could have more classes. If we had more money, we could hire more teachers. There isn't enough money. Space is not the problem at the moment."

Are the students being shortchanged because too much of the college's facilities are tied up in night adult courses?

"No," answered Diamond. "Priority of class space is for the credit program first of all. If necessary, we would remove these (night) classes and try to find other locations for them. They (night classes) are financed in a different way, too."

Is the educational program in imbalance? That is, are 900 students trying to take English courses with room for only 300 while 72 are trying to take Esperanto with accommodations for 75?

Diamond replied that this semester the college has asked students to list their first choice of classes. "It is a check to see if we are in imbalance. We expect to know the results by early next week," the dean said.

Diamond explained that the college keeps no overall record of numbers of students on waiting lists. Asked why, he said, "we get a list of open spaces in classes so we can redirect students.

"When students sign up on waiting lists it doesn't mean much because of the large numbers of variables. For instance, the student may be on the list because he needs the course or because he doesn't have enough units and wants to add the course. Open spaces vary from two to 10 in classes and courses where open spaces are available are limited," he added.

Asked if students who are unable to get necessary courses due to overcrowding will be delayed in entry to a four-year college, Diamond said "no."

They will not be delayed in admission to the four-year college, he said but they could be delayed in completing all the courses for a major.

College enrollment increased more than 1,000 this spring over last spring — a 21 per cent increase. The largest increase was in students enrolled for less than nine units.

Twelve new sections (classes) were added this spring to try to take care of the large number of students who carry less than nine units, the dean commented. All courses are in liberal arts.

The deadline for students to be accepted into classes was advanced from last Friday to today. Diamond said that he expects to know by Friday, when class cards are filed, the capacity of each class and the student load.

Usually, said the dean, we drop a few hundred students from the start of registration. "I don't think we're going to drop too many this semester," he said.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

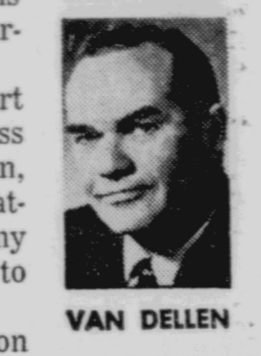
By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

A Nervous Person's Heart Disease Not Easy To Treat



VAN DELLEN

Neurocirculatory asthenia (NCA) is an ill-defined nervous disorder characterized by complex symptoms.

The victim is certain he has heart disease because of spells of shortness of breath, rapid pulse, palpitation, and pain in the chest. During the attack he breaks out into a clammy sweat, becomes dizzy, and starts to tremble.

Although pain ensues in the region of the left breast, the physician is unable to find anything wrong with the heart.

The nervous person is told that it is natural for the organ to beat rapidly following excitement or after unusual exertion such as running across the street. Even minor effort can produce the symptom.

Most of us are unaware of such changes or are unconcerned when they occur.

Emotionally insecure individuals worry about the pounding heart, and in time the ensuing anxiety leads to a further increase in the beat, often when at rest.

Sufferers of NCA tend to be high-strung and in a chronic state of tension. In this respect, the heart is responding to emotional upheaval in a normal way — by beating rapidly. In time, even normal stimuli cause the heart to beat rapidly for no apparent reason.

THE OLD TICKER becomes the fall guy for their lack of security and inability to cope with the vicissitudes of life.

Most victims prefer to latch onto an organic cause for their symptoms. Influenza leaves the victim weak and the slightest exertion may increase the heart rate and produce exhaustion. The same applies to those who become overly concerned about their heart whenever they hear about the death of a friend from a coronary thrombosis.

MANY INDIVIDUALS with NCA are helped by avoiding factors that bring on symptoms. Others need reassurance, which can be given, because no one ever has died of NCA. Severe cases require psychiatric help.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

HERNIA FROM COUGH

W. W. writes: Can a severe bronchial cough cause a hernia in the abdomen?

REPLY

The basic cause of hernia is an inherent weakness of the abdominal wall. Coughing forces out the defect and may aggravate the condition. But a person with a strong abdominal wall (not only the muscles) can hack until the cows come home without developing hernia.

MOOD AND SPLEEN

D. C. writes: Is melancholy caused by a diseased spleen?

REPLY

A 15th Century physican might have answered yes to this question. That was the era in which the humoral theory was in flower. Melancholia is an old term for depression. And it may be caused by any number of physical and emotional states that affect the mood.

NEEDS LIGHT FOR READING

Mrs. A. K. writes: I wear glasses for reading but seem to have trouble unless the light is excellent. The eye doctor I consulted said the lenses are all right. What does this mean?

REPLY

Middle-aged eyes usually require more illumination than young eyes for reading, even with proper refractions.

BLIND SPOT NORMAL

A. O. writes: An optometrist told me that I have a blind spot in one eye. Is there any special treatment or operation to correct it?

REPLY

Don't be gullible and take treatments or buy glasses to overcome a normal phenomenon. We all have a blind spot.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on Tuesday, the 25th day of February, 1969, at 1:45 o'clock p.m., in the Chambers of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin will consider a petition for the formation of the INVERNESS SUBDIVISION NO. 2 PERMANENT ROAD DIVISION;

The petition provides as follows:

PETITION FOR THE FORMATION OF A PERMANENT ROAD DIVISION, TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN:

We, the undersigned, representing at least a majority of the landowners within the proposed Permanent Road Division or the owners of more than fifty percent (50%) of the assessed valuation within said proposed division, hereby petition your Honorable Board to form a Permanent Road Division pursuant to Streets and Highways Code, Sections 1160, et seq., comprising all of the within described property.

The name of the proposed division so to be formed is INVERNESS SUBDIVISION NO. 2 PERMANENT Road Division. The boundaries of the proposed division are more particularly described on EXHIBIT "A", which is attached hereto and made a part hereof, as if more fully set forth.

The number of acres contained in said proposed Permanent Road Division is 30.84 + and the assessed valuation of such acreage, according to the last equalized assessment roll of the County of Marin is $44,860.00.

The value of the improvements on real estate and of the personal property within the proposed division, according to the last equalized assessment roll of the County of Marin, is $33,030.00 and $ —, respectively.

The number of inhabitants in the proposed division, as nearly as can be ascertained is, 54.

A particular description of the location of the highway which it is proposed to permanently maintain is set forth on EXHIBIT "A", which is attached hereto and made a part hereof as if more fully set forth.

Respectfully submitted,

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Best bets on television tonight:

KPIX (5), KXTV (10), 7:30 p.m. — Recording stars Roger Miller and Stevie Wonder join Pat Paulson and singer-composer John Hartford, as well as John Wayne, Steve Allen, Jayne Meadows and Monte Hall in cameo appearances, for an hour of comedy and song with Glen Campbell on "The Glen Campbell Goodtime Hour."

KPIX (5), 8:30 p.m. — "Merv Griffin's Sidewalks of New York" is a one-hour musical salute to the City of New York with guests Dionne Warwick, Dick Shawn, the Union Gap, Joel Grey, Renee Taylor, Hendra and Ullet, Julie Budd, Arthur Treacher and Mort Lindsay and his orchestra. It is a repeat.

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 8:30 p.m. — Marlon Brando stars as a modern-day sheriff in "The Chase" on the ABC Wednesday Night Movie. Co-starring are Jane Fonda, Robert Redford and Angie Dickinson.

KRON (4), KCRA (3), 9 p.m. — Hosts Don Adams and Don Rickles are joined by guest stars Joseph Cotten, Kaye Ballard and the Beach Boys in "Don Adams and Don Rickles Are Alive and Well and Living in California" on the Kraft Music Hall.

KQED (9), 9:30 p.m. — "Performance" presents a Laura Weber and Pete Seegar special. They sing and reminisce. Seeger talks about his early years playing the banjo, new song writers and his father's advice on folk music.

KRON (4), KCRA (3), 10 p.m.—Perry Como hosts "Academy of Professional Sports Awards," the second annual presentation of awards honoring outstanding professional athletes. Personalities from the sports and entertainment fields will present the awards.

KQED (9), 10 p.m — "Homage to Seurat" is a tour of the current exhibit at the California Palace of the Legion of Honor with Albert Elsen, professor of art history at Stanford University. French neo-impressionist Georges Seurat introduces "pointillism," a painting technique.

Four Drinking Drivers Fined

Four persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving on Marin streets and highways.

Thelma Marie Yuvan, 57, of 20 Fairhills Drive, San Rafael, was fined $100 and placed on six months probation. She was arrested Sept. 29 on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Edward Lewis Lane, 57, of 48 Walnut Avenue, Mill Valley, was fined $250 and placed on six months probation. He was arrested on Highway 101 Wednesday.

William Raymond Radford, 42, of 637 Vendola Drive, San Rafael, who was arrested Jan. 11 in Mill Valley, was fined $125 and placed on six months probation.

William Cooper Shaw, 40, of 85 Hillside Drive, Fairfax, was placed on six months probation and fined $150. He was arrested Thursday in San Rafael.

Pleas Of Innocent To Marijuana Sales

Two Larkspur women, Kathy Davenport and Deborah Paganini, have pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court to charges of selling marijuana to an agent of the sheriff's department at their home at Boardwalk One on April 15, 1968.

A motion asking that the charges be dismissed was denied by Judge Harold J. Haley, and he set a jury trial for May 5.

Making Of Commercials Vs. Films

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The effects of television commercials on motion pictures are obvious: more telescoping of time, space and story, less reliance on traditional narrative and exposition, and so forth.

Like many new things, these effects are not always for the best, and are frequently overdone. Merely being fashionable can be wrong just as often as it is right. Or haven't you noticed how pleasant it is to find a movie with a beginning, a middle and an end these days?

Nevertheless, video commercials have had a great effect on moviemaking. So it is no surprise that the current issue of "Action," the magazine of the Directors Guild of America, carries a special report on commercials.

One of the articles, "What I Learned from Commercials," is an explanation by Richard Lester, director of "Petulia," the Beatles films and other movies, about the intertwining of video ads and motion pictures.

In a talk with William Hall, film columnist of the London Evening News, Lester, who was born in Philadelphia and moved to England in 1955, said:

"Instant impact. I suppose I learned that from the commercials I directed, and a lot of that approach has rubbed off into my feature films.

"I had no film shooting in the accepted sense—most people come up through the cutting rooms, or on the floor via assistant directors. I didn't. I learned through making commercials, and I was doing them at the rate of 80 a year for six years—and doing feature films as well. I must have done about 500 commercials in my life, and although now I don't get too much time, I still like to fit them in . . ."

NBC — TV's expected series cancellations next season include "Star Trek," "Get Smart," The Jerry Lewis Show, "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir," "The Mothers-in-Law," "My Friend Tony" and "The Outsider."

Among the new series will be a half-hour comedy based on the writings of the late, incomparable humorist, James Thurber. Entitled "My World and Welcome to It," it will feature a family and attempt to delve into the fantasies of Thurber, employing both live action and animation.

Soviet Woman Ordered To Jail

MOSCOW (AP) — A court today sentenced a woman member of Moscow's small group of dissenting intellectuals to a year in a labor camp for possessing leaflets protesting the arrest and trial last summer of another member of the group.

The defendant, Irina Pelogorodskaya, 30, an engineer in a patent office when arrested last Aug. 7, was given credit for the more than six months she has spent in jail.

The court rejected a defense request for acquittal. Her court-appointed lawyer, Vladimir Romm, argued that her only motive had been "to help another human being who was in trouble."

Miss Belogorodskaya was found guilty on a charge of distributing "deliberately false fabrications defaming the Soviet state and public order." The offense carries a maximum penalty of three years.

Car Hits Trees; Two Injured

Two persons were injured in San Anselmo yesterday when a Greenbrae youth's car swerved off Saunders Avenue and struck a utility pole, then hit three small trees at Sir Francis Drake High School.

James K. Henington, 21, of 2000 Redwood Highway, suffered facial cuts while his passenger, Sharon Polman, 20, of 1552 San Pedro Road, San Rafael, received cuts on her right arm. They were treated at Marin General Hospital.

Police said Henington reported he was northbound on Saunders Avenue near Park Avenue at 12:40 a.m. Seeing a car coming at him in the wrong lane, he swerved to avert collision.

Youth Must Spend Weekends In Jail

Robert Charles Baldi, 19, of San Rafael, who had pleaded guilty was given a suspended prison sentence but ordered to spend weekends in the county jail until Aug. 31.

He was also placed on two years probation by Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court.

BASEBALL STRIKE

Miller Says 'Rejection'

NEW YORK (AP) — A break in the gauntlet laid down by the major league baseball owners may come today. If it does not, a strike by the players would appear to be certain.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players' Association, said he expected to have sometime today the result of his poll of the players' executive committee on whether to accept or reject the owners' latest offer in the pension dispute.

Miller has recommended that the committee reject the owners' offer of Monday, increasing the players pension package to $5.3 million a year, compared to the $6.5 million yearly that the players want.

The owners' latest offer came after they had rejected Miller's offer to submit the pension dispute to binding arbitration.

"The owners still are testing the players," Miller said. "They have laid down the gauntlet."

"The next move is up to the players," said John Gaherin, head of the owners' negotiating committee. Gaherin pointed out the owners' latest offer would increase benefits for 10-year players from $500 a month to $590. The players seek $600, plus various improvements in health and insurance benefits.

Time is of the essence in the dispute since many early training camps already have opened in Florida, although only a token crew of rookies or non-roster players have reported.

The big name players, who have said they will refuse to report until the pension squabble is settled, have until March 1, the official date for holdouts and the actual strike deadline.

Mike Burke, president of the New York Yankees, pointed up the possibility of no major league baseball this season "unless the players become reasonable."

"It's time the players came to their senses," Burke said in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

"There's nothing wrong with anybody getting all they can, legally, but the players and Miller will not be reasonable, even though they have been offered 80 per cent of what they originally demanded."

Ed Short, vice president of the Chicago White Sox, agreed with Burke.

"There is hardly any room for the owners to give in any more," he said in Sarasota, Fla.

There's Some Sport In A Society Story

MY UNFAIR LADIES —

Man, have I got a bone to pick with the little literary lollipops of the I-J Marin Women's section.

The way those social cupcakes report weddings makes them sound about as one-sided as Little Big Horn. The brides get all the ink and the poor slobs who got talked into the matrimonial mess receive second billing — if that much. I can see the day when the groom's name and other vital statistics will be relegated to agate type.

Now they've done it again. Just last Friday on page 17 of ye olde I-J the flowers of the women's section reported the slanted version of the wedding of Maria Louise Helfrich and, incidentally, William Francis Lee III.

Now, To The Meat Of Story

After FIRST identifying Maria as a former Miss Alaska etc. etc. and etc., the journalistic Janes finally got around to the meat of the story, in the last paragraph yet! Apparently as an afterthought, they concluded the story by saying ". . . the couple will travel to Ocala, Fla. where the bridegroom will begin spring training with the Boston Red Sox Team." Period. End of report.

Which is like reporting: "Pat Nixon has moved from Whittier to Washington, D.C., where she has set up housekeeping at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue. Pat is first lady of the United States. Her husband, Dick, accompanied Pat on the trip east."

See what I mean? It's downright unfair and about as slanted as a Kate Smith-Willie Shoemaker teeter-totter duel.

Now, if the little buttercups of the society pages had asked me to report the Lee-Helfrich wedding, I would have submitted the following:

The Way I Would Have Done It

Southpaw slinger Bill Lee, the heralded Terra Linda High School and University of Southern California graduate, checked into spring training camp Fla. today looking forward to his initial season at the professional level of our national pasttime.

Arriving a day later than expected, the Beantown Bosox Bonus Baby explained he was detained briefly in Jackson, Miss. for a ceremony in which he acquired: (1) a gold ring for the third digit on his pitching paw; (2) another mouth to feed, and (3) life-long services of a combination cook-housekeeper-backseat driver in exchange for a diamond bauble the size of home plate.

The lucky girl is the former Maria Louise Helfrich.

20-YEAR-OLD LIGHTWEIGHT

Ramos, Youngest Champ

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The new lightweight champion of the world is Mando Ramos, at age 20 the youngest ever to reach such a lofty position in the history of the 135-pound division in boxing.

The tousled-haired, spindly legged kid from Long Beach won the title when he stopped 31-year-old Teo Cruz of the Dominican Republic in the 11th round of their scheduled 15-round fight last night. Cruz weighted 134¾, Ramos 134½.

Ramos, the ring rage of the teeny-bopper set, was six months off target. He wanted to win the title as a 19-year-old last September against the champion, Cruz.

"Sorry about that," quipped Mando when reminded of the quest which failed in the first fight with the man from Santo Domingo.

Ramos ripped open an ugly gash over Teo's left eye in the eighth round. He kept reopening it, as well as slicing a smaller cut under the eye, until the bloody drama was stopped with 19 seconds remaining in the 11th.

Under California rules, it goes as a knockout, only the second suffered by Cruz in more than a decade as a professional fighter.

"I cut him with a right hand as he came in," said Ramos, whose ring span is some four years and only 26 engagements.

The main cut was 1½ inches long. Veteran cornerman Teddy Bentham patched and repatched the injury and Mando kept reopening it.

Peter Martinez, an American businessman and Teo's manager, had no complaints. "I felt Teo was a little ahead at the time but the doctor was very fair."

Ring officials had different scores after 10 rounds. Thomas had Ramos ahead, 5-3; judge Dick Young had it for Cruz, 6-3, and judge George Latka scored it even., 4-4. The Associated Press had it Cruz, 5-3, and all agreed the youngster was coming on fast.

What's next?

"We really don't know just yet. A guy would have to be a real optimist to make any plans before going into a title fight," said Jackie McCoy, Ramos' manager.

Oaks Win Thriller At Buzzer

OAKLAND (AP) — A 21-foot jump shot and a buzzer and the Denver Rockets were shot down.

Oakland's Henry Logan fired his last-second shot through the hoop last night to give the Oaks the 118-116 overtime victory which widened their lead over Denver to 11 games in the American Basketball Association's Western Division.

The Oaks, who host the Dallas Chaparrals tomorrow night, held a 58-50 halftime margin, and an 85-81 edge at the three quarter mark. Regulation play ended at 101-101.

Warriors Triumph; Host 76ers Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—San Francisco's healthy Warriors try to maintain their season's hex over the Philadelphia 76ers tonight at 8 o'clock in the Civic Auditorrium.

Fresh from a 121-114 National Basketball Association victory over the Detroit Pistons before 2,685 at the auditorium Tuesday night, the Warriors shoot for their fourth win in a row over the 76ers. Philadelphia's only victory over San Francisco this season was on Dec. 14.

Nate Thurmond and Jeff Mullins combined for 69 points to sink the Pistons who led 59-58 at halftime. Thurmond scored 21 points in the Warriors' 43-point third period after being held to six points in the first half. The lanky center finished with 32 points.

San Francisco, paced by Clyde Lee's 21 rebounds, outrebounded Detroit 70-55.

Mullins, who averaged 29 points on the Warriors' recent successful road trip, topped all scorers with 37 points.

The 6-11 Thurmond scored 13 points in a 19-6 outburst that boosted the Warriors from a 70-70 tie into a commanding 89-76 lead with 4:19 remaining in the third period. Detroit closed to 115-112 with 2:49 left to play before Mullins hit five of his team's final six points.

Dave Bing topped the Pistons with 22 points, including 18 in the first half.

Race Champ Sets Mark At Daytona

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — David Pearson, 1968 NASCAR racing champion from Spartanburg, S.C., set a qualifying record for the Daytona 500 today with a 190.029 miles per hour lap around the 2.5-mile Daytona International Speedway.

Pearson said everything was perfect on his run in a 1969 Ford Talladega. There was little wind and the track was cool—ideal for high speeds on the high-banked track.

His record erased the 189.897 M.P.H. set by Paul Goldsmith of Munster, Ind., last Friday in a 1969 Dodge Charger.

STILL NO CONTRACT, BUT . . .

Boccabella Set To Join Montreal

With an eye on a baseball future that could get considerably brighter, San Anselman John Boccabella heads East Friday toward Florida, mecca of spring training camps.

Boccabella, the former Chicago Cub plucked in the expansion draft by the Montreal Expos, will jump into his car Friday, along with one-year-old daughter Ann, and wife Joyce, to head for the Expos' West Palm Beach training camp just "to hang around until this thing gets settled."

"This thing" is the deepening hassle, otherwise known as a strike, between players and management. Boccabella has not signed his contract, and the strike is the reason.

"I'm with the players," Boccabella said. "Marvin Miller (who represents the players legally) explained this to us last year. But it's not just a matter of believing him. I think we should have the right to some of the television money. It's a matter of standing fast until the owners have to give in."

If and when the owners give in or some kind of agreement is reached, Boccabella feels that he has a good chance to play with the Expos, a better chance than he's ever had with the Chicago Cubs and Leo Durocher.

"Gene Mauch is the kind of manager that likes to switch his players around," Boccabella said. "Durocher used to go with pretty much a set lineup."

The former Marin Catholic baseball and grid star was picked as a catcher by the Expos. He can also play, and has played, in the outfield and on first base.

Boccabella's last piece of work for the Cubs, a Triple A fling with Tacoma, Wash., gave him renewed confidence.

"I slipped a little late in the season," he said. "But I was hitting around .290 at one point and my homers and runs batted in were real good."

Boccabella spent the winter working with United Parcel in San Rafael.

"I didn't work for a while after Christmas," he said. "But I've been working the last two weeks, trying to get back into shape."

He has the highest respect for Mauch, the former Philadelphia pilot.

"He's a fiery competitor," he said. "You feel if it's close in the late innings, he can come up with something to win the game."

Boccabella has said he'll play the outfield "as a last resort," but his chief competition at catcher will come from former Houston veteran John Bateman, a husky slugger.

"His only problem is keeping his weight down," Boccabella said. "He's got the experience. He's a good one."

Boccabella, 28, a former all American and graduate at University of Santa Clara, has been in professional baseball since 1963. This could be the best year yet.

After his ups and downs with the Cubs, with the downs including an aborted sale to the Yankees, things are bound to look up for Boccabella, that is if there is going to be a baseball season at all.

Novato, Terra Linda, Wildcats Win Too

Nothing much changed but quite a bit happened in the continuing saga of the Marin County Athletic League basketball race.

League-leading Redwood High School went on a mad orgy of deadeye shooting, played everybody present and all but burned up San Marin's beautiful new gymnasium in Novato in a record 108-61 victory. Novato High stayed a game behind, knocking San Rafael officially out of the race with a scary 67-65 victory in Novato. Terra Linda kept with the trend of high-scoring games, clipping Tamalpais 72-65 in Mill Valley to keep alive and all-but-dead hope for a title tie. And Marin Catholic scored something of an upset, stopping Drake, 77-68, in Kentfield.

54 PER CENT

Redwood had regular Bill Challender and top sub Pete Carroll missing, but fired away for a 54 per cent night from the field in recording its 10th league win, its 20th win of the season and 14th win in its last 15 games.

John Boro, Jerry Piro and Roger Smith led the amazing bombardment with 29, 23 and 18 points, respectively. Boro hits his first seven shots, finished with a 12-for-19 showing. Piro hit on nine of 18 shots and Smith, rejuvinated at last, hit on seven of 10.

However, high game honors went to Gary Howard, San Marin's one and only, who scored 33 points, 17 coming from the free throw line.

FIRST TIME

The 108 points marked the first time a Marin County Athletic League team has scored over 100 points.

Novato never quite managed to deliver the knockout punch to the tough Bulldogs and as a result, the Hornets got scared out of their minds.

The Hornets' usual one-two punch of Steve McNally and Ed Herrnberger were tops again, McNally getting 20 points and Herrnberger 15, but Herrnberger was cold from the field, although doing a great job on the boards.

ON ROPES

Twice, the Hornets had San Rafael on the ropes. Playing for a last shot near halftime with a nine-point lead, they let the Bulldogs get two quickie steals and five points to lead by only 33-29 at the half.

They went ahead by 12 points in the second half, but saw the

Russian Soccer Team To Play

The Kiev squad, which will play the Oakland Clippers later this season, will be introduced before the 1:30 headline game pitting the San Francisco Scots against the Union Espanola.

Four games are set for the day, beginning at 10 a.m. with the Guadalajar of Oakland-Teutonia game. That will be followed by a Mexico United-Greek Americans game at 11:50 a.m. Concordia meets San Francisco Athletic Club at 3:10 p.m. to round out the action.

Tars Host Solano Tonight

College of Marin's basketball team hosts dangerous Solano College of Vallejo tonight at 8 o'clock in a Camino Norte Conference game in Kentfield.

Solano knocked off West Valley last week by an impressive 89-70 count. That's the team to which the Tars dropped a 63-62 decision during the same week.

College of Marin owns an earlier victory over Solano and is trying to get into second place, now owned by DeAnza of Cupertino. The Tars are 5-3 in league play, same as West Valley, while DeAnza is 6-3. Contra Costa leads the league with a perfect 8-0 record.

Solano has the league's top scorer in Rich McKee, who's averaging 23 points per game in league play. Pat Schafer is tops for Marin with an 18-point average, good for third-best in the league.

Williams' Signing Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman for the Washington baseball team says it may be Friday or Saturday before the finishing touches are put on the million dollar deal that will make former slugger Ted Williams the Senators' manager and give him a chunk of the American League club's stock.

When the deal is completed, Williams will become the best paid manager in baseball history.

The spokesman said yesterday that "no further information will be revealed to the public until the contract is ready to be signed. This may take three or four days."

The club official said there was no specific difficulty in the signing but that it is taking time —more than originally expected —to work out the legal details.

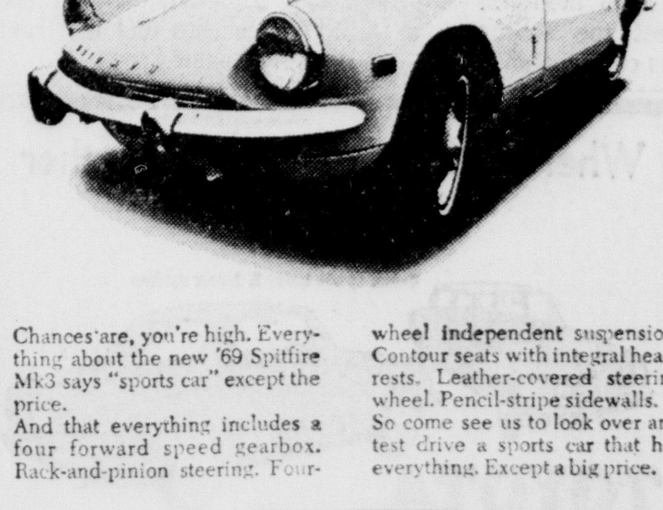
Also, the Senators still haven't started contract talks with their big slugger, Frank Howard. Howard wants a juicy raise this season after leading the major leagues in 1968 in home runs with 44.

It is believed Williams will sign a long-term contract with a salary of around $100,000 a year and get options to buy 10 per cent of the stock, estimated to be valued at $900,000.



How much do you think this Spitfire costs?

Is Giant Perry Using Greasy Kid's Stuff:

Gaylord Perry has been repeatedly accused of throwing a spitter which he insists is a hard slider. The accusations against Perry started in 1966 when the rangy righthander of the Giants became a 20-game winner (21-8) for the first time.

Prior to 1966 Perry's pitching prompted no protests. His won-lost record in 1965 was an undistinguished 8-12 that included 21 homers. In 1966 he threw only three home run pitches in his initial 19 appearances, 14 of which he won including his first major league victory over the Braves against whom he had been 0-7.

"I'll say," said Bobby Bragan then manager of the Braves, "Perry's pitching with a lot more finesse than he was a year ago. He's got the good fast ball, the good slider and the good spitter."

THERE WAS, indeed, a transformation in Perry's pitching between the 1965 and 1966 seasons. Larry Jansen, pitching coach of the Giants, traced Perry's home run problem to two sources: (1) a three-quarter deliver and (2) Perry's experimenting with a sinker in 1965.

In the spring of 1966 Jansen converted Perry into an over-the-top pitcher with an occasional sidearm serve. And it was in the spring of 1966 that Perry acquired the pitch that ultimately would lead to a change in the rules in 1968.

"I FINALLY got the hang of the hard slider in the spring of '66," said Perry. "Larry had patiently worked two years with me on it."

Perry's accusers point out that it also was in the spring of 1966 that he acquired a habit of touching his mouth with the index and middle fingers of his pitching hand.

For 40 years the spitball had been outlawed in baseball but it wasn't until 1968 that a pitcher was prohibited from touching his mouth with the fingers of his pitching hand. He presumably wiped the moisture from the fingers before delivering the ball to the batter.

PERRY AND a number of other pitchers who had acquired the habit of touching their mouths charged that the new rule would interfere with their rhythm. Perry did have trouble breaking the habit. His ERA in spring exhibition games was a worriesome 8.38.

But when the season started Perry, who had been concentrating on not doing something, now was concentrating on pitching. He pitched a no-hitter, one one-hitter, hitters in 1968. He didn't touch two two-hitters and two three-his mouth once.

His accusers now charge he was throwing a grease ball.

Tam Is Winner Of Marin's Soccer League

The unofficial Marin County Athletic League soccer season closed out with Tamalpais High School of Mill Valley sitting on top of both the varsity and junior varsity standings.

Tam won the varsity with a 5-1-1 won-lost-tied record, followed by "Sonato," a combined team made up of Novato and San Marin High School players, at 4-2-1. Drake was next at 3-3, followed by Marin Catholic with a 3-5 mark and Redwood with a 2-6 record.

The jayvee standings followed the same pattern, with the Indians on top with a 4-1-2 mark, followed by Sonato at 2-1-4, Drake at 2-1-3, Marin Catholic, 1-3-4 and Redwood, 2-5-1.

The Tamalpais team was coached by Fernando Silva, a doctor of philosophy and a native of Spain.

Bel Marin Keyes Y.C. Schedules Meeting

Judd A. Amussen, fleet captain for sailing boats for the Bel Marin Keys Yacht Club, has called a meeting for 4 p.m. Sunday at the community center to set up racing schedules for the coming season, according to publicity chairman Joan Wrightsman.

The meeting will be for just yacht club members and they will set the schedule for all classes of boats, she said.

Lombardi Gets Cash From Pack

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — John B. Torinus, secretary of the Green Bay Packer Corp., said yesterday that the Packers would pay Vince Lombardi between $200,000 and $250,000 in deffered compensation and other benefits in termination of his contract, which was to run through Jan. 31, 1974.

Lombardi resigned recently as Packer general manager to become executive vice president, head coach and part owner of the Washington Redskins.

Torinus said even though Lombardi's contract had specified it had to be fulfilled in order to receive the benefits. "It was our judgement he already had fulfilled the terms of his contract."

"Most of it was salary," Torinus said. "He could have taken it all at once, because it was part of his pay. But for tax reasons, he chose to have part of it defered. The other part of it was a pension fund, in which he was a participant with all the other coaches and the front office personnel."

BOWLING TIPS

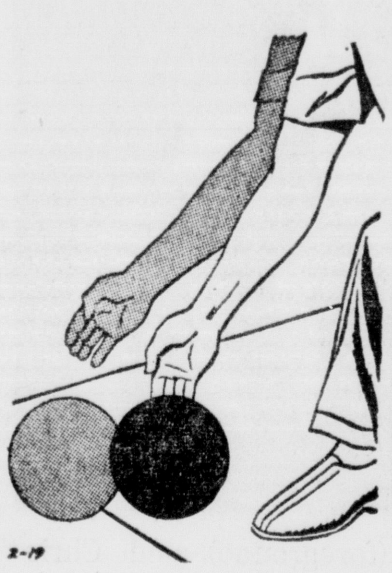
By DON CARTER



The easier the ball slides off the fingertips, the more your ball will roll. And the more it rolls, the more action it will create when it goes into the pins. One way to provide an easier release is to be sure your thumb hole is snug enough so that you don't have to squeeze the ball to keep it from dropping.

Tennis Men To Meet, Draw New Blueprints

NEW YORK (AP) — The game's ruling bodies and pro bosses get together in London this week end to try to draw up a blueprint for big time tournament tennis—and the man they'll be listening to is Jack Kramer.

Big Jack might not emerge as the czar of world tennis, although he has strong support for the job in high places, but there's no question that his will be an influential voice.

"Kramer is the one man who has the respect of the national associations and he is very close to the pros," said a French delegate who will attend the sessions. "He's the best man possible to lead the game out of its present morass."

Kramer, former world champion and top professional, passed through New York today en route to England, where he was invited by the British to sit in as an advisor to the discussions.

"I'm just going to see if I can help," Kramer said modestly.

The talks principally will involve top officials from the Big Four tennis nations—the United States, France, England and Australia—and the two U.S. pro promoters, George MacCall and Bob Briner.

"I understand there will be representatives from many other countries on hand," said a top spokesman of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association. Alistair Martin is the ULSTA president.

The court chieftans will try to work out an agreement with MacCall, president of the National Tennis League, and Briner, executive director of World Championship Tennis, Inc., which would prevent a threatened boycott in the top pros in the some 32 opens.

The USLTA took the initiative yesterday by signing a pact with the two groups insuring pro participation in the four remaining American open events—The $25,000 Madison Square Garden Classic March 25-29, the $100,000 U.S. Open at Forest Hills Aug. 29-Sept. 7; the $30,000 Pacific Southwest and the $50,000 Las Vegas Open, dates not set.

The USLTA made peace by agreeing to pay the two pro groups some $50,000 for travel expenses of the pro competitors.

The pros are expected to offer the same olive branch to the other countries, pending more concessions from the International Lawn Tennis Federation.

They want the ILTF to abolish the distinction between contract pros and association players, thus allowing the pros to play in any tournament in which the players can compete. They also are asking the right to cut in on profits.

Kramer is in favor of the latter, and this is where his influence might be felt.

As pro promoter, he once was the most powerful man in tennis, controlling all of the top money players. In this capacity, he had to deal with the various associations. Since relinquishing control of the pro game, he has concentrated on real estate and other interests on the Pacific Coast.

75 MPH IN A RUN-ABOUT

Marinite Set To Defend Speedboat Racing Titles

By RALPH CHATOIAN

At 50 years of age, Hal Sharrow of San Anselmo will be trying to retain his championship title in the Central California Speedboat Racing Association.

Hal, a "doer" type who also likes to ride cross country aboard his motorcycle scrambler, has won the J Class (120-300 horsepower) Inboard-Outboard division in the racing association the past two years.

A big man who stands 6-foot-1-inch and weighs 215 pounds, Sharrow owns and operates Hal's Auto and Marine at 530 Red Hill Avenue, and lives next door in the family home at 526 Red Hill Avenue. He also owns the San Anselmo Car Wash next door to the auto-marine shop, at 580 Red Hill.

'IT WILL FLY'

He started with a 283 cubic-inch Chevrolet V-8 engine and rebuilt it before putting it in a 16-foot Glastron family type run-about. When he got done juicing up the engine the boat was able to skim atop the water at 75 miles per hour, quite a speed for this family-type boat division.

"If you can keep it together," said Sharrow, patting the engine, "it will fly."

Going at wide-open speed for the 30 to 50 miles of racing involved in each event, there's a tendency to have some problems with the engine. "Sometimes a piston blows, or maybe the valves blow," says Sharrow. "When you push equipment this hard, there are problems."

MASTER MECHANIC

Sharrow was born in Kenosha, Wis., and was brought to Marin as a six-month-old infant. "And I've lived in Marin ever since," he smiles. A master mechanic, he has had his one-man shop since 1947.

It has been a long love of boats and boat engines for Sharrow. "I've been fooling around with boats since I was 13," he said. He also was close to home when he taught water sports, mostly boating, at Lake Tahoe from 1946 through 1949, during the summer months.

As far as that speed boat, "My wife won't have anything to do with it," he said, although wife Joan is also a boat enthusiast. "She likes pleasure boating," he said, "but not racing. But she goes along with my racing, as long as she's not doing it."

In 1967, Sharrow raced his J-47 to four first-place finishes, then powered by a 150-horsepower six-cylinder Chevrolet engine. The following year the classifications were changed and horsepower requirements boosted, so in went the V-8 engine and faster speed.

He plans to defend his two-year title and go for another four-foot trophy when the 1969 racing season opens next month. "I don't have any exact dates yet," he said, "but we'll be racing sometime in March."

NEARBY RACES

Central California Racing Association events are held close to the Bay Area, with one going as far south as Bakersfield. Lake Berryessa in Napa County and Clear Lake in Lake County are among the nearby waters where 150-member CCRA events are held.

Sharrow's co-pilot when he races is 20-year-old son, Steve, a sophomore at University of California at Davis. The Sharrows also have two daughters, Mrs. Linda Reis of Corte Madera, a registered nurse, and Jane, scheduled to be graduated from San Diego State College next June.

BASEBALL STRIKE

Miller Says 'Rejection'

NEW YORK (AP) — A break in the gauntlet laid down by the major league baseball owners may come today. If it does not, a strike by the players would appear to be certain.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players' Association, said he expected to have sometime today the result of his poll of the players' executive committee on whether to accept or reject the owners' latest offer in the pension dispute.

Miller has recommended that the committee reject the owners' offer of Monday, increasing the players pension package to $5.3 million a year, compared to the $6.5 million yearly that the players want.

The owners' latest offer came after they had rejected Miller's offer to submit the pension dispute to binding arbitration.

"The owners still are testing the players," Miller said. "They have laid down the gauntlet."

"The next move is up to the players," said John Gaherin, head of the owners' negotiating committee. Gaherin pointed out the owners' latest offer would increase benefits for 10-year players from $500 a month to $590. The players seek $600, plus various improvements in health and insurance benefits.

Time is of the essence in the dispute since many early training camps already have opened in Florida, although only a token crew of rookies or non-roster players have reported.

The big name players, who have said they will refuse to report until the pension squabble is settled, have until March 1, the official date for holdouts and the actual strike deadline.

Mike Burke, president of the New York Yankees, pointed up the possibility of no major league baseball this season "unless the players become reasonable."

"It's time the players came to their senses," Burke said in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

"There's nothing wrong with anybody getting all they can, legally, but the players and Miller will not be reasonable, even though they have been offered 80 per cent of what they originally demanded."

Ed Short, vice president of the Chicago White Sox, agreed with Burke.

"There is hardly any room for the owners to give in any more," he said in Sarasota, Fla.

There's Some Sport In A Society Story

MY UNFAIR LADIES —

Man, have I got a bone to pick with the little literary lollipops of the I-J Marin Women's section.

The way those social cupcakes report weddings makes them sound about as one-sided as Little Big Horn. The brides get all the ink and the poor slobs who got talked into the matrimonial mess receive second billing — if that much. I can see the day when the groom's name and other vital statistics will be relegated to agate type.

Now they've done it again. Just last Friday on page 17 of ye olde I-J the flowers of the women's section reported the slanted version of the wedding of Maria Louise Helfrich and, incidentally, William Francis Lee III.

Now, To The Meat Of Story

After FIRST identifying Maria as a former Miss Alaska etc. etc. and etc., the journalistic Janes finally got around to the meat of the story, in the last paragraph yet! Apparently as an afterthought, they concluded the story by saying ". . . the couple will travel to Ocala, Fla. where the bridegroom will begin spring training with the Boston Red Sox Team." Period. End of report.

Which is like reporting: "Pat Nixon has moved from Whittier to Washington, D.C., where she has set up housekeeping at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue. Pat is first lady of the United States. Her husband, Dick, accompanied Pat on the trip east."

See what I mean? It's downright unfair and about as slanted as a Kate Smith-Willie Shoemaker teeter-totter duel.

Now, if the little buttercups of the society pages had asked me to report the Lee-Helfrich wedding, I would have submitted the following:

The Way I Would Have Done It

Southpaw slinger Bill Lee, the heralded Terra Linda High School and University of Southern California graduate, checked into spring training camp Fla. today looking forward to his initial season at the professional level of our national pasttime.

Arriving a day later than expected, the Beantown Bosox Bonus Baby explained he was detained briefly in Jackson, Miss. for a ceremony in which he acquired: (1) a gold ring for the third digit on his pitching paw; (2) another mouth to feed, and (3) life-long services of a combination cook-housekeeper-backseat driver in exchange for a diamond bauble the size of home plate.

The lucky girl is the former Maria Louise Helfrich.

20-YEAR-OLD LIGHTWEIGHT

Ramos, Youngest Champ

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The new lightweight champion of the world is Mando Ramos, at age 20 the youngest ever to reach such a lofty position in the history of the 135-pound division in boxing.

The tousled-haired, spindly legged kid from Long Beach won the title when he stopped 31-year-old Teo Cruz of the Dominican Republic in the 11th round of their scheduled 15-round fight last night. Cruz weighted 134¾, Ramos 134½.

Ramos, the ring rage of the teeny-bopper set, was six months off target. He wanted to win the title as a 19-year-old last September against the champion, Cruz.

"Sorry about that," quipped Mando when reminded of the quest which failed in the first fight with the man from Santo Domingo.

Ramos ripped open an ugly gash over Teo's left eye in the eighth round. He kept reopening it, as well as slicing a smaller cut under the eye, until the bloody drama was stopped with 19 seconds remaining in the 11th.

Under California rules, it goes as a knockout, only the second suffered by Cruz in more than a decade as a professional fighter.

"I cut him with a right hand as he came in," said Ramos, whose ring span is some four years and only 26 engagements.

The main cut was 1½ inches long. Veteran cornerman Teddy Bentham patched and repatched the injury and Mando kept reopening it.

Peter Martinez, an American businessman and Teo's manager, had no complaints. "I felt Teo was a little ahead at the time but the doctor was very fair."

Ring officials had different scores after 10 rounds. Thomas had Ramos ahead, 5-3; judge Dick Young had it for Cruz, 6-3, and judge George Latka scored it even., 4-4. The Associated Press had it Cruz, 5-3, and all agreed the youngster was coming on fast.

What's next?

"We really don't know just yet. A guy would have to be a real optimist to make any plans before going into a title fight," said Jackie McCoy, Ramos' manager.

Oaks Win Thriller At Buzzer

OAKLAND (AP) — A 21-foot jump shot and a buzzer and the Denver Rockets were shot down.

Oakland's Henry Logan fired his last-second shot through the hoop last night to give the Oaks the 118-116 overtime victory which widened their lead over Denver to 11 games in the American Basketball Association's Western Division.

The Oaks, who host the Dallas Chaparrals tomorrow night, held a 58-50 halftime margin, and an 85-81 edge at the three quarter mark. Regulation play ended at 101-101.

Warriors Triumph; Host 76ers Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—San Francisco's healthy Warriors try to maintain their season's hex over the Philadelphia 76ers tonight at 8 o'clock in the Civic Auditorrium.

Fresh from a 121-114 National Basketball Association victory over the Detroit Pistons before 2,685 at the auditorium Tuesday night, the Warriors shoot for their fourth win in a row over the 76ers. Philadelphia's only victory over San Francisco this season was on Dec. 14.

Nate Thurmond and Jeff Mullins combined for 69 points to sink the Pistons who led 59-58 at halftime. Thurmond scored 21 points in the Warriors' 43-point third period after being held to six points in the first half. The lanky center finished with 32 points.

San Francisco, paced by Clyde Lee's 21 rebounds, outrebounded Detroit 70-55.

Mullins, who averaged 29 points on the Warriors' recent successful road trip, topped all scorers with 37 points.

The 6-11 Thurmond scored 13 points in a 19-6 outburst that boosted the Warriors from a 70-70 tie into a commanding 89-76 lead with 4:19 remaining in the third period. Detroit closed to 115-112 with 2:49 left to play before Mullins hit five of his team's final six points.

Dave Bing topped the Pistons with 22 points, including 18 in the first half.

Race Champ Sets Mark At Daytona

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — David Pearson, 1968 NASCAR racing champion from Spartanburg, S.C., set a qualifying record for the Daytona 500 today with a 190.029 miles per hour lap around the 2.5-mile Daytona International Speedway.

Pearson said everything was perfect on his run in a 1969 Ford Talladega. There was little wind and the track was cool—ideal for high speeds on the high-banked track.

His record erased the 189.897 M.P.H. set by Paul Goldsmith of Munster, Ind., last Friday in a 1969 Dodge Charger.

YOUTH BASEBALL

STILL NO CONTRACT, BUT . . .

Boccabella Set To Join Montreal

With an eye on a baseball future that could get considerably brighter, San Anselman John Boccabella heads East Friday toward Florida, mecca of spring training camps.

Boccabella, the former Chicago Cub plucked in the expansion draft by the Montreal Expos, will jump into his car Friday, along with one-year-old daughter Ann, and wife Joyce, to head for the Expos' West Palm Beach training camp just "to hang around until this thing gets settled."

"This thing" is the deepening hassle, otherwise known as a strike, between players and management. Boccabella has not signed his contract, and the strike is the reason.

"I'm with the players," Boccabella said. "Marvin Miller (who represents the players legally) explained this to us last year. But it's not just a matter of believing him. I think we should have the right to some of the television money. It's a matter of standing fast until the owners have to give in."

If and when the owners give in or some kind of agreement is reached, Boccabella feels that he has a good chance to play with the Expos, a better chance than he's ever had with the Chicago Cubs and Leo Durocher.

"Gene Mauch is the kind of manager that likes to switch his players around," Boccabella said. "Durocher used to go with pretty much a set lineup."

The former Marin Catholic baseball and grid star was picked as a catcher by the Expos. He can also play, and has played, in the outfield and on first base.

Boccabella's last piece of work for the Cubs, a Triple A fling with Tacoma, Wash., gave him renewed confidence.

"I slipped a little late in the season," he said. "But I was hitting around .290 at one point and my homers and runs batted in were real good."

Boccabella spent the winter working with United Parcel in San Rafael.

"I didn't work for a while after Christmas," he said. "But I've been working the last two weeks, trying to get back into shape."

He has the highest respect for Mauch, the former Philadelphia pilot.

"He's a fiery competitor," he said. "You feel if it's close in the late innings, he can come up with something to win the game."

Boccabella has said he'll play the outfield "as a last resort," but his chief competition at catcher will come from former Houston veteran John Bateman, a husky slugger.

"His only problem is keeping his weight down," Boccabella said. "He's got the experience. He's a good one."

Boccabella, 28, a former all American and graduate at University of Santa Clara, has been in professional baseball since 1963. This could be the best year yet.

After his ups and downs with the Cubs, with the downs including an aborted sale to the Yankees, things are bound to look up for Boccabella, that is if there is going to be a baseball season at all.

Novato, Terra Linda, Wildcats Win Too

Nothing much changed but quite a bit happened in the continuing saga of the Marin County Athletic League basketball race.

League-leading Redwood High School went on a mad orgy of deadeye shooting, played everybody present and all but burned up San Marin's beautiful new gymnasium in Novato in a record 108-61 victory. Novato High stayed a game behind, knocking San Rafael officially out of the race with a scary 67-65 victory in Novato. Terra Linda kept with the trend of high-scoring games, clipping Tamalpais 72-65 in Mill Valley to keep alive and all-but-dead hope for a title tie. And Marin Catholic scored something of an upset, stopping Drake, 77-68, in Kentfield.

54 PER CENT

Redwood had regular Bill Challender and top sub Pete Carroll missing, but fired away for a 54 per cent night from the field in recording its 10th league win, its 20th win of the season and 14th win in its last 15 games.

John Boro, Jerry Piro and Roger Smith led the amazing bombardment with 29, 23 and 18 points, respectively. Boro hits his first seven shots, finished with a 12-for-19 showing. Piro hit on nine of 18 shots and Smith, rejuvinated at last, hit on seven of 10.

However, high game honors went to Gary Howard, San Marin's one and only, who scored 33 points, 17 coming from the free throw line.

FIRST TIME

The 108 points marked the first time a Marin County Athletic League team has scored over 100 points.

Novato never quite managed to deliver the knockout punch to the tough Bulldogs and as a result, the Hornets got scared out of their minds.

The Hornets' usual one-two punch of Steve McNally and Ed Herrnberger were tops again, McNally getting 20 points and Herrnberger 15, but Herrnberger was cold from the field, although doing a great job on the boards.

ON ROPES

Twice, the Hornets had San Rafael on the ropes. Playing for a last shot near halftime with a nine-point lead, they let the Bulldogs get two quickie steals and five points to lead by only 33-29 at the half.

They went ahead by 12 points in the second half, but saw the

Tars Host Solano Tonight

College of Marin's basketball team hosts dangerous Solano College of Vallejo tonight at 8 o'clock in a Camino Norte Conference game in Kentfield.

Solano knocked off West Valley last week by an impressive 89-70 count. That's the team to which the Tars dropped a 63-62 decision during the same week.

College of Marin owns an earlier victory over Solano and is trying to get into second place, now owned by DeAnza of Cupertino. The Tars are 5-3 in league play, same as West Valley, while DeAnza is 6-3. Contra Costa leads the league with a perfect 8-0 record.

Solano has the league's top scorer in Rich McKee, who's averaging 23 points per game in league play. Pat Schafer is tops for Marin with an 18-point average, good for third-best in the league.

Williams' Signing Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman for the Washington baseball team says it may be Friday or Saturday before the finishing touches are put on the million dollar deal that will make former slugger Ted Williams the Senators' manager and give him a chunk of the American League club's stock.

When the deal is completed, Williams will become the best paid manager in baseball history.

The spokesman said yesterday that "no further information will be revealed to the public until the contract is ready to be signed. This may take three or four days."

The club official said there was no specific difficulty in the signing but that it is taking time—more than originally expected—to work out the legal details.

Also, the Senators still haven't started contract talks with their big slugger, Frank Howard. Howard wants a juicy raise this season after leading the major leagues in 1968 in home runs with 44.

It is believed Williams will sign a long-term contract with a salary of around $100,000 a year and get options to buy 10 per cent of the stock, estimated to be valued at $900,000.

Russian Soccer Team To Play

The Kiev squad, which will play the Oakland Clippers later this season, will be introduced before the 1:30 headline game pitting the San Francisco Scots against the Union Espanola.

Four games are set for the day, beginning at 10 a.m. with the Guadalajar of Oakland-Teutonia game. That will be followed by a Mexico United-Greek Americans game at 11:50 a.m. Concordia meets San Francisco Athletic Club at 3:10 p.m. to round out the action.

Marichal Due For A Raise

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Juan Marichal will probably get a raise this year, but Willie Mays will have to struggle along on the same $125,000.

That was the word from a New Jersey stockholders meeting of National Exhibition Co., which is the parent company of the San Francisco Giants.

Marichal, who won 26 games last year, was reportedly paid $100,000 and thus should close the gap on Mays.

HOCKEY

NEW YORK — Emile Francis, general manager of the New York Rangers, will continue to act as coach of the National Hockey League club for the remainder of the season after doctors advised Bernie Geoffrion not to resume coaching because of an ulcer condition.

FOOTBALL

CINCINNATI — Vince Costello, who played under Paul Brown for seven years with the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League, joined his old coach as an assistant with the Cincinnati Bengals of the American Football League.

GENERAL

GLENDALE, Ariz. — John A. "Jack" Zeller, a veteran of more than 65 years in baseball, including seven years with the Detroit Tigers, died of a heart ailment in Northwest Hospital at the age of 85.

HORSE RACING

Two-Team Cage Race For Jayvees

Redwood and Terra Linda high schools remained one-two in the Marin County Athletic League junior varsity cage race, but there was some rumbling in the lower ranks.

The Giants scored a lopsided 87-20 win over weak San Marin while Terra Linda ran up a big lead on Tamalpais and went on to win, 54-45.

But San Rafael was knocked out of the runner-up spot, getting ambushed at Novato, 50-32, and streaking Drake upset Marin Catholic, 38-35, pushing the Pirates into a third-place tie with San Rafael.

lead dwindle to next to nothing as San Rafael got to within 63-61 and 65-63 behind the driving of Bruce Nave.

But sub Chris Brush calmly sank both ends of a one-in-one free throw situation with 15 seconds left to put it out of reach.

QUICK LEAD

Terra Linda, getting unusual balanced scoring, jumped off to a quick lead and held it all the way against Tamalpais, holding a good lead throughout the game.

Pat Purcell with 18 points and Mike Timmel with 19 topped the Trojans, but Mike Peden and Byron Sakanari added ten points each.

Marin Catholic got top performances out of Mike Murray and Steve Tellender to slip by the up-and-down Pirates. Murray had 20 and Tellender added 22.

The Wildcats led by only one at the half but put it away with a 25-point barrage in the final period. Bill Gaddy with 19 and Jeff Meeker with 18 points topped Drake.

Bosox Infielder Says No Strike

BOSTON (AP) — Infielder George Scott of the Boston Red Sox was quoted today as saying that even if the much talked about baseball players' strike does develop, he'll begin spring training on schedule.

Scott's comments were carried in a copyrighted story by the Boston Herald Traveler.

"I cannot afford to sit out," the newspaper quoted Scott. "I plan to sign my contract, if the terms are right, and go to work by next Wednesday's reporting time.

"I hope this strike business is settled by then. But if it isn't, I'll sign. I'll explain my situation to the other players so they'll understand."

The newspaper quoted Scott as saying that "some players can afford to go without a salary."

But, Scott said, "The majority can't, and I'm one of them. There's nothing else I can do but sign."

Macon Net Tournament In 2nd Round

MACON, Ga. (AP) — The second annual Macon International Tennis Tournament went into the second round today with 12 matches, highlighted by the first appearance in the tournament of top-seeded American player, Clark Graebner of New York.

Yesterday's action opened with a pair of matches to cut back the number of international tennis stars competing in the tournament.

In those matches, Luis Arilla of Spain defeated J.L. Provine of Oklahoma City and Hans-Joachin Holecek of Czechoslovakia.

Other matches moved winners into additional rounds.

Nikola Spear of Yugoslavia downed Edison Mandarino of Brazil 3-6, 6-2, 7-5. Jan Kukal of Czechoslovakia defeated Mike Hickey of Ireland 6-2, 6-0, and Manolo Orantes of Spain defeated Istvan Gulyas of Hungary 6-2, 6-3, 6-0.

In the first doubles match, Mark Cox and Peter Curtis of England overthrew Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., and Tom Edlefson of Los Angeles 6-3, 6-4.

The top-seeded foreign player, Thomas Koch of Brazil, came from behind to defeat Ove Bengtsson of Sweden 11-9, 6-4.

Ilie Nastase of Rumania defeated Torbin Ulrich of Denmark 6-8, 6-4, 6-4, and Jim McManus of Berkeley, defeated Zeljko Franulovic of Yugoslavia 5-7, 6-4, 6-4.

In night matches, Bobby Wilson of England defeated Ingo Buding of Germany 8-6, 7-5.

Seals To Home Six-Game Stand

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Seals open a six-game National Hockey League home stand tonight at 8 o'clock with a game against the Chicago Black Hawks in Oakland arena.

After six Eastern road trips in eight weeks, Seals' General Manager Frank Selke said, "We need a rest."

The Seals had won four games and tied three in nine games before losing to Philadelphia 3-2 Sunday, the first game they have lost to the Flyers in a year.

Bay Area's Hockey Fans Not Left Out In The Cold

NEW YORK (AP) — The Oakland Seals might be going places in National Hockey League standings but the franchise isn't moving.

The league made that decision yesterday, rejected bids by Vancouver and Buffalo groups to shift the franchise.

"I'm distinctly bullish about the success of pro hockey in the Oakland rink," NHL President Clarence Campbell said after a meeting of the league's Board of Governors.

Campbell said the franchise may be purchased by a reputable buyer as long as the team remains in the Bay area. He did not rule out a shift to San Francisco, however.

Campbell said final approval on the sale of the financially ailing Seals will be made on March 25 in Miami Beach.

The Seals, who finished in the cellar last season, are now in second place in the West Division. But they still are in the red financially.

Campbell said the transfer of Oakland to Buffalo wasn't considered at the meeting. Vancouver was dismissed in a 9-3 vote, mainly because the Los Angeles Kings would lose a natural rival. However, Campbell said Vancouver still is the league's number one choice should the NHL decide to expand further.

Vancouver had guaranteed the league an average attendance of 12,000 a game. The Seals, who entered the NHL as an expansion team in 1967, had the second worst attendance in the league last season and had even lower attendance than some American Hockey League clubs. However, the team has shown some improvement at the gate this season.

A spokesman for the Vancouver group, Edward Goodman, insisted after his city was turned down that there is no way pro hockey can succed in Oakland.

In another development, the league said that the annual All-Star Game will be rotated starting next season. The St. Louis Blues will host the classic next year and the Boston Bruins in 1971.

75 MPH IN A RUN-ABOUT

Marinite Set To Defend Speedboat Racing Titles

By RALPH CHATOIAN

At 50 years of age, Hal Sharrow of San Anselmo will be trying to retain his championship title in the Central California Speedboat Racing Association.

Hal, a "doer" type who also likes to ride cross country aboard his motorcycle scrambler, has won the J Class (120-300 horsepower) Inboard-Outboard division in the racing association the past two years.

A big man who stands 6-foot-1-inch and weighs 215 pounds, Sharrow owns and operates Hal's Auto and Marine at 530 Red Hill Avenue, and lives next door in the family home at 526 Red Hill Avenue. He also owns the San Anselmo Car Wash next door to the auto-marine shop, at 580 Red Hill.

'IT WILL FLY'

He started with a 283 cubic-inch Chevrolet V-8 engine and rebuilt it before putting it in a 16-foot Glastron family type run-about. When he got done juicing up the engine the boat was able to skim atop the water at 75 miles per hour, quite a speed for this family-type boat division.

"If you can keep it together," said Sharrow, patting the engine, "it will fly."

Going at wide-open speed for the 30 to 50 miles of racing involved in each event, there's a tendency to have some problems with the engine. "Sometimes a piston blows, or maybe the valves blow," says Sharrow. "When you push equipment this hard, there are problems."

MASTER MECHANIC

Sharrow was born in Kenosha, Wis., and was brought to Marin as a six-month-old infant. "And I've lived in Marin ever since," he smiles. A master mechanic, he has had his one-man shop since 1947.

It has been a long love of boats and boat engines for Sharrow. "I've been fooling around with boats since I was 13," he said. He also was close to home when he taught water sports, mostly boating, at Lake Tahoe from 1946 through 1949, during the summer months.

As far as that speed boat, "My wife won't have anything to do with it," he said, although wife Joan is also a boat enthusiast. "She likes pleasure boating," he said, "but not racing. But she goes along with my racing, as long as she's not doing it."

In 1967, Sharrow raced his J-47 to four first-place finishes, then powered by a 150-horsepower six-cylinder Chevrolet engine. The following year the classifications were changed and horsepower requirements boosted, so in went the V-8 engine and faster speed.

He plans to defend his two-year title and go for another four-foot trophy when the 1969 racing season opens next month. "I don't have any exact dates yet," he said, "but we'll be racing sometime in March."

NEARBY RACES

Central California Racing Association events are held close to the Bay Area, with one going as far south as Bakersfield. Lake Berryessa in Napa County and Clear Lake in Lake County are among the nearby waters where 150-member CCRA events are held.

Sharrow's co-pilot when he races is 20-year-old son, Steve, a sophomore at University of California at Davis. The Sharrows also have two daughters, Mrs. Linda Reis of Corte Madera, a registered nurse, and Jane, scheduled to be graduated from San Diego State College next June.

Is Giant Perry Using Greasy Kid's Stuff:

Gaylord Perry has been repeatedly accused of throwing a spitter which he insists is a hard slider. The accusations against Perry started in 1966 when the rangy righthander of the Giants became a 20-game winner (21-8) for the first time.

Prior to 1966 Perry's pitching prompted no protests. His won-lost record in 1965 was an undistinguished 8-12 that included 21 homers. In 1966 he threw only three home run pitches in his initial 19 appearances, 14 of which he won including his first major league victory over the Braves against whom he had been 0-7.

"I'll say," said Bobby Bragan then manager of the Braves, "Perry's pitching with a lot more finesse than he was a year ago. He's got the good fast ball, the good slider and the good spitter."

THERE WAS, indeed, a transformation in Perry's pitching between the 1965 and 1966 seasons. Larry Jansen, pitching coach of the Giants, traced Perry's home run problem to two sources: (1) a three-quarter deliver and (2) Perry's experimenting with a sinker in 1965.

In the spring of 1966 Jansen converted Perry into an over-the-top pitcher with an occasional sidearm serve. And it was in the spring of 1966 that Perry acquired the pitch that ultimately would lead to a change in the rules in 1968.

"I FINALLY got the hang of the hard slider in the spring of '66," said Perry. "Larry had patiently worked two years with me on it."

Perry's accusers point out that it also was in the spring of 1966 that he acquired a habit of touching his mouth with the index and middle fingers of his pitching hand.

For 40 years the spitball had been outlawed in baseball but it wasn't until 1968 that a pitcher was prohibited from touching his mouth with the fingers of his pitching hand. He presumably wiped the moisture from the fingers before delivering the ball to the batter.

PERRY AND a number of other pitchers who had acquired the habit of touching their mouths charged that the new rule would interfere with their rhythm. Perry did have trouble breaking the habit. His ERA in spring exhibition games was a worriesome 8.38.

But when the season started Perry, who had been concentrating on not doing something, now was concentrating on pitching. He pitched a no-hitter, one one-hitter, two two-hitters and two three-hitters in 1968. He didn't touch his mouth once.

His accusers now charge he was throwing a grease ball.

Tam Is Winner Of Marin's Soccer League

The unofficial Marin County Athletic League soccer season closed out with Tamalpais High School of Mill Valley sitting on top of both the varsity and junior varsity standings.

Tam won the varsity with a 5-1-1 won-lost-tied record, followed by "Sonato," a combined team made up of Novato and San Marin High School players, at 4-2-1. Drake was next at 3-3, followed by Marin Catholic with a 3-5 mark and Redwood with a 2-6 record.

The jayvee standings followed the same pattern, with the Indians on top with a 4-1-2 mark, followed by Sonato at 2-1-4, Drake at 2-1-3, Marin Catholic, 1-3-4 and Redwood, 2-5-1.

The Tamalpais team was coached by Fernando Silva, a doctor of philosophy and a native of Spain.

Bel Marin Keyes Y.C. Schedules Meeting

Judd A. Amussen, fleet captain for sailing boats for the Bel Marin Keys Yacht Club, has called a meeting for 4 p.m. Sunday at the community center to set up racing schedules for the coming season, according to publicity chairman Joan Wrightsman.

The meeting will be for just yacht club members and they will set the schedule for all classes of boats, she said.

Lombardi Gets Cash From Pack

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — John B. Torinus, secretary of the Green Bay Packer Corp., said yesterday that the Packers would pay Vince Lombardi between $200,000 and $250,000 in deffered compensation and other benefits in termination of his contract, which was to run through Jan. 31, 1974.

Lombardi resigned recently as Packer general manager to become executive vice president, head coach and part owner of the Washington Redskins.

Torinus said even though Lombardi's contract had specified it had to be fulfilled in order to receive the benefits. "It was our judgement he already had fulfilled the terms of his contract."

"Most of it was salary," Torinus said. "He could have taken it all at once, because it was part of his pay. But for tax reasons, he chose to have part of it defered. The other part of it was a pension fund, in which he was a participant with all the other coaches and the front office personnel."

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

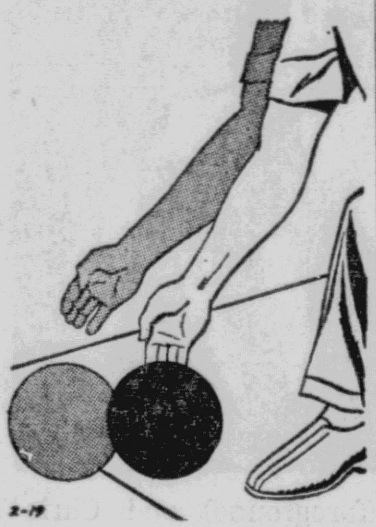

2-19

The easier the ball slides off the fingertips, the more your ball will roll. And the more it rolls, the more action it will create when it goes into the pins. One way to provide an easier release is to be sure your thumb hole is snug enough so that you don't have to squeeze the ball to keep it from dropping.

Tennis Men To Meet, Draw New Blueprints

NEW YORK (AP) — The game's ruling bodies and pro bosses get together in London this week end to try to draw up a blueprint for big time tournament tennis—and the man they'll be listening to is Jack Kramer.

Big Jack might not emerge as the czar of world tennis, although he has strong support for the job in high places, but there's no question that his will be an influential voice.

"Kramer is the one man who has the respect of the national associations and he is very close to the pros," said a French delegate who will attend the sessions. "He's the best man possible to lead the game out of its present morass."

Kramer, former world champion and top professional, passed through New York today en route to England, where he was invited by the British to sit in as an advisor to the discussions.

"I'm just going to see if I can help," Kramer said modestly.

The talks principally will involve top officials from the Big Four tennis nations—the United States, France, England and Australia—and the two U.S. pro promoters, George MacCall and Bob Briner.

"I understand there will be representatives from many other countries on hand," said a top spokesman of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association. Alistair Martin is the ULSTA president.

The court chieftans will try to work out an agreement with MacCall, president of the National Tennis League, and Briner, executive director of World Championship Tennis, Inc., which would prevent a threatened boycott in the top pros in the some 32 opens.

The USLTA took the initiative yesterday by signing a pact with the two groups insuring pro participation in the four remaining American open events—The $25,000 Madison Square Garden Classic March 25-29, the $100,000 U.S. Open at Forest Hills Aug. 29-Sept. 7; the $30,000 Pacific Southwest and the $50,000 Las Vegas Open, dates not set.

The USLTA made peace by agreeing to pay the two pro groups some $50,000 for travel expenses of the pro competitors.

The pros are expected to offer the same olive branch to the other countries, pending more concessions from the International Lawn Tennis Federation.

They want the ILTF to abolish the distinction between contract pros and association players, thus allowing the pros to play in any tournament in which the players can compete. They also are asking the right to cut in on profits.

Kramer is in favor of the latter, and this is where his influence might be felt.

As pro promoter, he once was the most powerful man in tennis, controlling all of the top money players. In this capacity, he had to deal with the various associations. Since relinquishing control of the pro game, he has concentrated on real estate and other interests on the Pacific Coast.

Oldest Golfer To Win New England Crown

NASHUA, N.H. (AP) — Stocky Eddie Barry at 48 is the oldest golfer ever to hold the New England Golf Association title.

The former hockey player with the Boston Bruins rallied from a 4-down deficit after six holes to defeat favored Jimmy Grant of Wethersfield, Conn., 3 and 2 in the 36-hole final at the Nashua Country Club.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Low Card Lead Must Be Backed Later To Show Certain Strength

The opening lead of a low card usually indicates length but does not guarantee strength in the suit. Later on in the hand, however, a defender should indicate by his lead whether or not he has strength in the suit. The method of doing so, and how this affects the outcome, are both shown today.

LEADS HEART

West opens the deuce of hearts, and declarer plays low from the dummy. East knows that his partner has led from a three-card or four-card heart suit, but he cannot tell whether or not West has the queen of hearts. To provide for the possibility, East correctly tries a finesse with the jack of hearts at the first trick.

South wins with the queen of hearts, draws two rounds of trumps and then leads the queen of clubs for a finesse. East takes the king of clubs promptly since otherwise his club trick would evaporate, and now East must get to his partner's hand in such a way as to urge a switch back to hearts.

SHOWS WEAK SUIT

East must obviously lead a diamond to get to his partner's hand, but how does he tell West to switch back to hearts? East can do the job by indicating that his diamonds are worthless.

If East had a high diamond, he would lead a low diamond, such as the three or deuce. In this case East should return the seven or nine of diamonds to indicate that he has no high card in the suit.

WINS WITH ACE

West wins with the ace of diamonds and is warned away from a diamond continuation because East's seven of diamonds indicates a topless suit. West switches back to the ten of hearts, trapping dummy's king. The defenders get two heart tricks, defeating the contract.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ J 9 5 2
♥ K 5 3
♦ Q 6
♣ A J 10 5

What do you say?

ANSWER: bid two clubs.

The hand is not quite worth a jump to three hearts (which would promise at least four trumps). Bid a side suit, and show the heart support later. Avoid bidding a very weak major suit when you can comfortably bid a reasonably strong minor suit in this situation.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1922 Ed Wynn of vaudeville and musical comedy fame became the first big name in show business to sign for a regular radio program.

Also in 1945 War Mobilization Director James Byrnes ordered a midnight curfew on all places of entertainment.

In 1964 King Constantine of Greece was named regent upon worsening of the condition of his father, King Paul.

A thought for the day: British playwright David Garrick, born on this day in 1717, said, "Let others hail the rising sun; I bow to that whose course has run."

Court Finds Dog Is Proper In A Pub

LONDON (UPI) — Friendly hounds have every right to visit the local pub, a judge ruled after a woman sued a man, claiming she went into a pub in northwest London, tripped over his dog and broke her leg.

The judge ruled a dog's master doesn't have to keep a constant eye on his pet in a pub. And he noted that the dog in question was "quiet, good, obedient, of mature age and not the sort to cause trouble."

Marichal Due For A Raise

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Juan Marichal will probably get a raise this year, but Willie Mays will have to struggle along on the same $125,000.

That was the word from a New Jersey stockholders meeting of National Exhibition Co., which is the parent company of the San Francisco Giants.

Marichal, who won 26 games last year, was reportedly paid $100,000 and thus should close the gap on Mays.

HOCKEY

NEW YORK — Emile Francis, general manager of the New York Rangers, will continue to act as coach of the National Hockey League club for the remainder of the season after doctors advised Bernie Geoffrion not to resume coaching because of an ulcer condition.

FOOTBALL

CINCINNATI — Vince Costello, who played under Paul Brown for seven years with the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League, joined his old coach as an assistant with the Cincinnati Bengals of the American Football League.

GENERAL

GLENDALE, Ariz. — John A. "Jack" Zeller, a veteran of more than 65 years in baseball, including seven years with the Detroit Tigers, died of a heart ailment in Northwest Hospital at the age of 85.

HORSE RACING

Two-Team Cage Race For Jayvees

Redwood and Terra Linda high schools remained one-two in the Marin County Athletic League junior varsity cage race, but there was some rumbling in the lower ranks.

The Giants scored a lopsided 87-20 win over weak San Marin while Terra Linda ran up a big lead on Tamalpais and went on to win, 54-45.

But San Rafael was knocked out of the runner-up spot, getting ambushed at Novato, 50-32, and streaking Drake upset Marin Catholic, 38-35, pushing the Pirates into a third-place tie with San Rafael.

lead dwindle to next to nothing as San Rafael got to within 63-61 and 65-63 behind the driving of Bruce Nave.

But sub Chris Brush calmly sank both ends of a one-in-one free throw situation with 15 seconds left to put it out of reach.

QUICK LEAD

Terra Linda, getting unusual balanced scoring, jumped off to a quick lead and held it all the way against Tamalpais, holding a good lead throughout the game.

Pat Purcell with 18 points and Mike Timmel with 19 topped the Trojans, but Mike Peden and Byron Sakanari added ten points each.

Marin Catholic got top performances out of Mike Murray and Steve Tellender to slip by the up-and-down Pirates. Murray had 20 and Tellender added 22.

The Wildcats led by only one at the half but put it away with a 25-point barrage in the final period. Bill Gaddy with 19 and Jeff Meeker with 18 points topped Drake.

Bosox Infielder Says No Strike

BOSTON (AP) — Infielder George Scott of the Boston Red Sox was quoted today as saying that even if the much talked about baseball players' strike does develop, he'll begin spring training on schedule.

Scott's comments were carried in a copyrighted story by the Boston Herald Traveler.

"I cannot afford to sit out," the newspaper quoted Scott. "I plan to sign my contract, if the terms are right, and go to work by next Wednesday's reporting time.

"I hope this strike business is settled by then. But if it isn't, I'll sign. I'll explain my situation to the other players so they'll understand."

The newspaper quoted Scott as saying that "some players can afford to go without a salary."

But, Scott said, "The majority can't, and I'm one of them. There's nothing else I can do but sign."

Macon Net Tournament In 2nd Round

MACON, Ga. (AP) — The second annual Macon International Tennis Tournament went into the second round today with 12 matches, highlighted by the first appearance in the tournament of top-seeded American player, Clark Graebner of New York.

Yesterday's action opened with a pair of matches to cut back the number of international tennis stars competing in the tournament.

In those matches, Luis Arilla of Spain defeated J.L. Provine of Oklahoma City and Hans-Joachin Holecek of Czechoslovakia.

Other matches moved winners into additional rounds.

Nikola Spear of Yugoslavia downed Edison Mandarino of Brazil 3-6, 6-2, 7-5. Jan Kukal of Czechoslovakia defeated Mike Hickey of Ireland 6-2, 6-0, and Manolo Orantes of Spain defeated Istvan Gulyas of Hungary 6-2, 6-3, 6-0.

In the first doubles match, Mark Cox and Peter Curtis of England overthrew Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., and Tom Edlefson of Los Angeles 6-3, 6-4.

The top-seeded foreign player, Thomas Koch of Brazil, came from behind to defeat Ove Bengtsson of Sweden 11-9, 6-4.

Ilie Nastase of Rumania defeated Torbin Ulrich of Denmark 6-8, 6-4, 6-4, and Jim McManus of Berkeley, defeated Zeljko Franulovic of Yugoslavia 5-7, 6-4, 6-4.

In night matches, Bobby Wilson of England defeated Ingo Buding of Germany 8-6, 7-5.

Seals To Home Six-Game Stand

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Seals open a six-game National Hockey League home stand tonight at 8 o'clock with a game against the Chicago Black Hawks in Oakland arena.

After six Eastern road trips in eight weeks, Seals' General Manager Frank Selke said, "We need a rest."

The Seals had won four games and tied three in nine games before losing to Philadelphia 3-2 Sunday, the first game they have lost to the Flyers in a year.

Bay Area's Hockey Fans Not Left Out In The Cold

NEW YORK (AP) — The Oakland Seals might be going places in National Hockey League standings but the franchise isn't moving.

The league made that decision yesterday, rejected bids by Vancouver and Buffalo groups to shift the franchise.

"I'm distinctly bullish about the success of pro hockey in the Oakland rink," NHL President Clarence Campbell said after a meeting of the league's Board of Governors.

Campbell said the franchise may be purchased by a reputable buyer as long as the team remains in the Bay area. He did not rule out a shift to San Francisco, however.

Campbell said final approval on the sale of the financially ailing Seals will be made on March 25 in Miami Beach.

The Seals, who finished in the cellar last season, are now in second place in the West Division. But they still are in the red financially.

Campbell said the transfer of Oakland to Buffalo wasn't considered at the meeting. Vancouver was dismissed in a 9-3 vote, mainly because the Los Angeles Kings would lose a natural rival. However, Campbell said Vancouver still is the league's number one choice should the NHL decide to expand further.

Vancouver had guaranteed the league an average attendance of 12,000 a game. The Seals, who entered the NHL as an expansion team in 1967, had the second worst attendance in the league last season and had even lower attendance than some American Hockey League clubs. However, the team has shown some improvement at the gate this season.

A spokesman for the Vancouver group, Edward Goodman, insisted after his city was turned down that there is no way pro hockey can succed in Oakland.

In another development, the league said that the annual All-Star Game will be rotated starting next season. The St. Louis Blues will host the classic next year and the Boston Bruins in 1971.

Stocks Are Good Mirror In Hawaii

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. You have in the past mentioned several Hawaiian-based stocks. Could you perhaps give me the names and information about some growth stocks centered in Hawaii? — G.A.

A. I am glad for the opportunity to promote our 50th state and its businesses. In the last decade the civilian population of Hawaii rose 40 per cent — two and one-half times the national rate. A state-sponsored planning program has projected an additional 50 per cent increase by 1985. Growth rates might have been higher without the housing shortage that sent construction figures to about $400 million last year. Estimated construction value by 1980 is $970 million.

Reversal of the Civil Aeronautics Board's proposed expansion of route service to Hawaii has thrown a temporary pall over resort-oriented island issues — actually an excellent opportunity for accumulation of better situated shares.

The island's major utility, Hawaiian Electric, has a good record, adequate yield and a partially tax-exempt dividend.

Although two airlines provide inter-island service, Aloha and Hawaiian, neither is particularly attractive for investment at this time.

Castle and Cooke, with 74 per cent of sales coming from food products, has spread out into areas such as land development, stevedoring, apartment house management and construction. Share earnings for fiscal 1969, ending March, should reach $1.60 vs. $1.24 the previous year.

Two diversified concerns for growth are Dillingham Corp. and Hawaii Corp. Inter-Island Resorts is a speculative long-term beneficiary of tourism.

Amfac holds 160,000 acres of Hawaiian property with 30 acres in the downtown area. The company also operates retail outlets and has acquired West Coast retailer Joseph Magnin.

Two concerns heavily invested in sugar plantations — Alexander & Baldwin, operator of Matson Navigation, and C. Brewer, 54 per cent owned by International Utilities — are not recommended for purchase.

Market Hit By Another Big Setback

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed today with its third loss of the week.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which skidded more than 20 points Monday and yesterday,held firm for a brief period during the day. Before noon it even added a few points on a technical rally.

But before closing it had eased off 3.23 to 927.59.

Near the close declines led advances by more than 2 to 1.

Steels were generally off a fraction, motors slipped off after having been up slightly, utilities were off, and rails declined. Oils were mixed.

Du Pont held up under the selling to post a gain of better than a point — it had been up more than three—following news it had developed a new method of freezing foods.

Sinclair, the second most-active issue near the close, gained five points at 99¼. It had been off more than 17 Tuesday after a federal court had granted a preliminary injunction barring it proposed merger with Atlantic Richfield.

Twentieth Century Fox, an active issue all week, topped the 20 most-active list with a gain of 1¾. Loew's Theatres, Control Data and Jim Walters added fractions.

Litton Industries, General Host and City Investing, preferred B, lost more than a point. Fractional losses were absorbed by Occidental Petroleum, Filtrol American Telephone, Budd Co. and Thrifty Drug.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

First $100 Of Ordinary Stock Dividends Excluded From Tax

Wikel

Most dividends received on stocks you own are taxable income. How they are taxed and where you report them depends on the kind of dividends you receive.

The first $100 of ordinary dividends is not taxed. If you and your wife both own stocks, each of you is entitled to a $100 exclusion, for a total of $200 on a joint return.

If either of you receive less than $100 in dividends, you can exclude only what you receive. If your wife receives only $60 in dividends you cannot use her remaining $50 exclusion to apply against dividends you received.

KEEP IN FILES

This should not be attached to your tax return, but you should keep it in your tax records file. If you don't receive a statement of dividends paid, you are still required to report the income.

Some corporations, especially mutual funds, pay dividends called "capital gains dividends." The information Form 1099 you receive will show these separately. Capital gains dividends are taxed as long term capital gain, and should be reported on Schedule D, part I, line 8, Form 1040. Capital gains dividends are not subject ot the $100 exclusion.

Some corporations, often public utilities, pay "return of capital" distributions. Often these are included as a certain percentage of the ordinary dividends you receive. Usually the paying corporation will inform you of the amount of its dividends which are considered to be a return of capital distribution. Such distributions are not taxed, but they are considered a partial return of your cost for the stock.

In other words, if you ever sell stock on which you have received any return of capital distributions, your cost for income tax purposes must be reduced by the total of any return of capital distributions you have received on the stock.

If the total of return of capital distributions ever becomes greater than your cost for the stock, then you are taxed on the amount you receive over the stock cost.

TIRE HEAT TREATMENT

A glass tube becomes a simulated tire as a Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. technician at Akron, Ohio, seals polyester tire cord inside the tube for a 48-hour heat treatment. The cord normally would be part of a tire. In this test the sealed cord is placed in an oven for two days and subjected to extreme heat. It is then removed and given physical tests to guide future tire cord development. (UPI Telephoto)

Remak Expands Five And Dime Stores To Novato And Ignacio

There is expansion in the local five and dime field.

William Remak had two Glen Five and Ten stores — one in Sausalito and one in Strawberry Town and County Village. Now he has two more. He has taken over the Taylor Variety Stores at Novato and Ignacio.

FOR THE BENEFIT of some unidentified reader with a suspicious turn of mind, things are not always what they seem — even when it comes to what appear to be purloined shopping carts

Following a recent article in this column on that subject our attention was called to a subsequent picture in the Independent-Journal of a wood shop class at Santa Venetia Middle School showing two carts of "questionable origin in the background.

But it happens they were acquired quite legally. Ludford Elvy, teacher of the class, purchased one of them and has a receipt to show for it. The other was donated by Purity Stores. Both were rusty discards and being the craftsman he is Elvy refurbished them and gave them a second lease on life. No suspect here.

His biggest problem at the moment, by the way, is not getting more shopping carts but more storage space. He could get more lumber donated to his woodshop if he only had some place to keep it.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Feb. 19, the 50th day of 1969 with 315 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1922 Ed Wynn of vaudeville and musical comedy fame became the first big name in show business to sign for a regular radio program.

Also in 1945 War Mobilization Director James Byrnes ordered a midnight curfew on all places of entertainment.

In 1964 King Constantine of Greece was named regent upon worsening of the condition of his father, King Paul.

A thought for the day: British playwright David Garrick, born on this day in 1717, said, "Let others hail the rising sun; I bow to that whose course has run."

Court Finds Dog Is Proper In A Pub

LONDON (UPI) — Friendly hounds have every right to visit the local pub, a judge ruled after a woman sued a man, claiming she went into a pub in northwest London, tripped over his dog and broke her leg.

The judge ruled a dog's master doesn't have to keep a constant eye on his pet in a pub. And he noted that the dog in question was "quiet, good, obedient, of mature age and not the sort to cause trouble."

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Low Card Lead Must Be Backed Later To Show Certain Strength

The opening lead of a low card usually indicates length but does not guarantee strength in the suit. Later on in the hand, however, a defender should indicate by his lead whether or not he has strength in the suit. The method of doing so, and how this affects the outcome, are both shown today.

LEADS HEART

West opens the deuce of hearts, and declarer plays low from the dummy. East knows that his partner has led from a three-card or four-card heart suit, but he cannot tell whether or not West has the queen of hearts. To provide for the possibility, East correctly tries a finesse with the jack of hearts at the first trick.

South wins with the queen of hearts, draws two rounds of trumps and then leads the queen of clubs for a finesse. East takes the king of clubs promptly since otherwise his club trick would evaporate, and now East must get to his partner's hand in such a way as to urge a switch back to hearts.

SHOWS WEAK SUIT

East must obviously lead a diamond to get to his partner's hand, but how does he tell West to switch back to hearts? East can do the job by indicating that his diamonds are worthless.

If East had a high diamond, he would lead a low diamond, such as the three or deuce. In this case East should return the seven or nine of diamonds to indicate that he has no high card in the suit.

WINS WITH ACE

West wins with the ace of diamonds and is warned away from a diamond continuation because East's seven of diamonds indicates a topless suit. West switches back to the ten of hearts, trapping dummy's king. The defenders get two heart tricks, defeating the contract.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ J 9 5 2
♥ K 5 3
♦ Q 6
♣ A J 10 5

What do you say?

ANSWER: bid two clubs.

The hand is not quite worth a jump to three hearts (which would promise at least four trumps). Bid a side suit, and show the heart support later. Avoid bidding a very weak major suit when you can comfortably bid a reasonably strong minor suit in this situation.

Car Doing 65 Is A Chore To Stop

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— How fast can you stop your car?

A motorist traveling at 65 miles an hour will travel 71 feet before he hits the brake pedal and another 252 feet before he comes to a complete stop.

Washington Street Bridge Bid In Line

The Petaluma City Council yesterday opened bids for construction of a new bridge at East Washington Street and purchased a parcel of property for enlargement of the bridge intersection at Washington Street and Petaluma Boulevard.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said bids were opened at 2 p.m. with the lowest apparent bidder being the Future Construction Co. of Dublin at $275,327. City engineer David Young has estimated the project costs at $281,840. "This figure is $7,000 under my estimate and I consider it a fine bid," Young said. Second on the list of six bidders was Homer J. Olsen of Danville with a bid of $315,265.

Construction costs include construction of a new five-lane bridge with pedestrian walkway and an improved entry intersection. Meyer said council can consider awarding the contract when final approval is received from the Coast Guard to halt navigation on the Petaluma River at the bridge site. Coast Guard officials in San Francisco had indicated that no serious protests had been received and that approval from Washington is expected soon.

The council approved an agreement with John J. King to purchase his property on the northeast corner of Petaluma Boulevard and Washington Streets for $22,500. The additional land will provide space for a separate left turn lane.

Also in preparing for bridge construction, the council approved and agreement with the Northwestern Pacific Railroad to share costs for a new signal system at the Washington Street grade crossing.

Young said costs, which have not been estimated, will be shared equally by the railroad and city.

The Petalluma City Council also:

ANNEXED — Annexed to the city 20.5 acres of land on South McDowell Boulevard as recommended by the Sonoma County Local Agency Formation Commission. McGiven said the land would be subdivided into 100 lots with a proposed new school site to the east of the property.

SEWERS—Ordered plans and specifications advertised for bids on the new sewer line on the Lakeville Highway from Lindberg Lane to a point near Highway 101 with a lateral line for Caulfield Lane. The project construction cost was estimated at $26,000.

RAILING—Authorized advertising for bids for a safety railing at the water pollution control plant as required by new state standards. Cost was estimated at $5,400.

RESIGNATION — Heard report that Edna Bovett had announced her retirement as city librarian effective June 30. Miss Bovett has been a city employee for nearly 40 years, according to Meyer.

REZONING — Adopted an ordinance rezoning 34 acres on Corona Road from light industrial to multiple family residential to permit developer David D. Young to construct a mobile homes park.

JOINT MEETING — Set Monday at 7:30 p.m. for a joint study meeting with the planning and recreation, music and parks commissions to discuss the bedroom tax and how it might be used in Petalulma. Bond issue items might also be discussed.

Students' Leader Gets Probation

Hayden, 28, was convicted yesterday of obstructing a police officer.

Wolf Lowenthal, 29, New York, was found guilty on the same charge and also placed on a year's probation.

Hayden recently has been a guest lecturer at University of California and resides in Berkeley.

The U.S.S. Constitution was launched at Boston in 1797.

Judge Dismisses Yorty Libel Suit

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mayor Sam Yorty's $2 million libel suit against the Los Angeles Times over an editorial cartoon was dismissed yesterday by a judge.

The cartoon by Paul Conrad was "not libelous on its face," said Superior Court Judge Jerry Pacht, and he dismissed the suit on a motion by Times attorneys at a pretrial hearing.

The cartoon published Nov. 19 depicted Yorty saying on the telephone, "I've got to go now. I've been appointed Secretary of Defense and the Secret Servicemen are here."

The four men standing by the desk were dressed like hospital attendants and one was holding a strait jacket.

Townhouse Denial Brings Doom To Park In Petaluma

The East Petaluma developer who was denied rezoning Monday by the Petaluma City Council for townhouse apartments told councilmen yesterday that he would not now be able to provide the city with a free five-acre park in a new subdivision he plans.

The council had unanimously rejected the rezoning of 16.6 acres on Washington Street at Ely Road after hearing hours of protests from the Petaluma Gardens Homeowners Association and the East Petaluma Civic Association. They charged the townhouses proposed by Arthur Condiotti would be detrimental to the single-family area.

Condiotti has received approval from the planning commission on Feb. 4 on a tentative map for a subdivision on the southern edge of Petaluma Gardens with the condition that he dedicate five acres to the city for a park and provide the necessary street improvements.

"The park project will not now be feasible as the result of Monday's council rejection of the rezoning," Condiotti said. He said he had made a verbal agreement with the commission that the park land would be given only if the rezoning was approved.

"If the city still wants a park there — you're welcome to buy the land at absolute cost and provide the street improvements," he said, estimating the land value at $40,000.

Councilman Phillip L. Joerger questioned if the condition to dedicate set by the planning commission wouold be legal. "You can't force any property owner to give land away," he said. "It's unconstitutional."

Condiotti was told to submit a revised tentative map minus the park to the planning commission for the latter's review March 4. Condiotti said the maps would be revised.

Councilman Robert S. Lipman said he felt the problem didn't stop with only the subdivision in question, but must be studied for the entire section of East Petaluma.

"Last night we rejected his rezoning on the basis that the apartments would create problems in traffic and school overcrowding — now we're talking about another subdivision and more people in the area — it doesn't make sense," Lipman said.

Mayor Helen Putnam agreed, saying she would prepare a proposal for council very soon that will plan a procedure for the orderly development of East Petaluma.

The name Massachusetts is a combinaion of three Algonquin Indian words meaning "near the great mountain."

Stocks Are Good Mirror In Hawaii

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. You have in the past mentioned several Hawaiian-based stocks. Could you perhaps give me the names and information about some growth stocks centered in Hawaii? — G.A.

A. I am glad for the opportunity to promote our 50th state and its businesses. In the last decade the civilian population of Hawaii rose 40 per cent — two and one-half times the national rate. A state-sponsored planning program has projected an additional 50 per cent increase by 1985. Growth rates might have been higher without the housing shortage that sent construction figures to about $400 million last year. Estimated construction value by 1980 is $970 million.

Reversal of the Civil Aeronautics Board's proposed expansion of route service to Hawaii has thrown a temporary pall over resort-oriented island issues — actually an excellent opportunity for accumulation of better situated shares.

The island's major utility, Hawaiian Electric, has a good record, adequate yield and a partially tax-exempt dividend.

Although two airlines provide inter-island service, Aloha and Hawaiian, neither is particularly attractive for investment at this time.

Castle and Cooke, with 74 per cent of sales coming from food products, has spread out into areas such as land development, stevedoring, apartment house management and construction. Share earnings for fiscal 1969, ending March, should reach $1.60 vs. $1.24 the previous year.

Two diversified concerns for growth are Dillingham Corp. and Hawaii Corp. Inter-Island Resorts is a speculative long-term beneficiary of tourism.

Amfac holds 160,000 acres of Hawaiian property with 30 acres in the downtown area. The company also operates retail outlets and has acquired West Coast retailer Joseph Magnin.

Two concerns heavily invested in sugar plantations — Alexander & Baldwin, operator of Matson Navigation, and C. Brewer, 54 per cent owned by International Utilities — are not recommended for purchase.

Market Hit By Another Big Setback

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed today with its third loss of the week.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which skidded more than 20 points Monday and yesterday, held firm for a brief period during the day. Before noon it even added a few points on a technical rally.

But before closing it had eased off 3.23 to 927.59.

Near the close declines led advances by more than 2 to 1.

Steels were generally off a fraction, motors slipped off after having been up slightly, utilities were off, and rails declined. Oils were mixed.

Du Pont held up under the selling to post a gain of better than a point — it had been up more than three—following news it had developed a new method of freezing foods.

Sinclair, the second most-active issue near the close, gained five points at 99¼. It had been off more than 17 Tuesday after a federal court had granted a preliminary injunction barring it proposed merger with Atlantic Richfield.

Twentieth Century Fox, an active issue all week, topped the 20 most-active list with a gain of 1¾. Loew's Theatres, Control Data and Jim Walters added fractions.

Litton Industries, General Host and City Investing, preferred B, lost more than a point. Fractional losses were absorbed by Occidental Petroleum, Filtrol American Telephone, Budd Co. and Thrifty Drug.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

First $100 Of Ordinary Stock Dividends Excluded From Tax

Wikel

Most dividends received on stocks you own are taxable income. How they are taxed and where you report them depends on the kind of dividends you receive.

The first $100 of ordinary dividends is not taxed. If you and your wife both own stocks, each of you is entitled to a $100 exclusion, for a total of $200 on a joint return.

If either of you receive less than $100 in dividends, you can exclude only what you receive. If your wife receives only $60 in dividends you cannot use her remaining $50 exclusion to apply against dividends you received.

KEEP IN FILES

This should not be attached to your tax return, but you should keep it in your tax records file. If you don't receive a statement of dividends paid, you are still required to report the income.

Some corporations, especially mutual funds, pay dividends called "capital gains dividends." The information Form 1099 you receive will show these separately. Capital gains dividends are taxed as long term capital gain, and should be reported on Schedule D, part I, line 8, Form 1040. Capital gains dividends are not subject ot the $100 exclusion.

Some corporations, often public utilities, pay "return of capital" distributions. Often these are included as a certain percentage of the ordinary dividends you receive. Usually the paying corporation will inform you of the amount of its dividends which are considered to be a return of capital distribution. Such distributions are not taxed, but they are considered a partial return of your cost for the stock.

In other words, if you ever sell stock on which you have received any return of capital distributions, your cost for income tax purposes must be reduced by the total of any return of capital distributions you have received on the stock.

If the total of return of capital distributions ever becomes greater than your cost for the stock, then you are taxed on the amount you receive over the stock cost.

TIRE HEAT TREATMENT

A glass tube becomes a simulated tire as a Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. technician at Akron, Ohio, seals polyester tire cord inside the tube for a 48-hour heat treatment. The cord normally would be part of a tire. In this test the sealed cord is placed in an oven for two days and subjected to extreme heat. It is then removed and given physical tests to guide future tire cord development. (UPI Telephoto)

Remak Expands Five And Dime Stores To Novato And Ignacio

There is expansion in the local five and dime field.

William Remak had two Glen Five and Ten stores — one in Sausalito and one in Strawberry Town and County Village. Now he has two more. He has taken over the Taylor Variety Stores at Novato and Ignacio.

FOR THE BENEFIT of some unidentified reader with a suspicious turn of mind, things are not always what they seem — even when it comes to what appear to be purloined shopping carts.

Following a recent article in this column on that subject our attention was called to a subsequent picture in the Independent-Journal of a wood shop class at Santa Venetia Middle School showing two carts of "questionable origin in the background.

But it happens they were acquired quite legally. Ludford Elvy, teacher of the class, purchased one of them and has a receipt to show for it. The other was donated by Purity Stores. Both were rusty discards and being the craftsman he is Elvy refurbished them and gave them a second lease on life. No suspect here.

His biggest problem at the moment, by the way, is not getting more shopping carts but more storage space. He could get more lumber donated to his woodshop if he only had some place to keep it.

East German Guards Snarl Border Traffic

BERLIN (UPI)—East German border guards today delayed traffic for two hours at the western end of the highway linking Berlin to West Germany.

Border officials said the delay, supposedly to check identification papers, began at midnight and ended about 2 a.m. It backed up traffic, mostly trucks, more than two miles.

In a second incident that illustrated East Germany's ability to tie up West Berlin's access routes, West Berlin police today delayed all outbound traffic over the main departure highway for 15 minutes in the belief that East German engineers were doing demolition blasting along the road.

The East Germans had scheduled demolition work on a Soviet tank monument along the autobahn for today and succeeding days, including the Feb. 27 date of President Nixon's visit and March 4, the eve of the Western federal election the East Germans are protesting.

West Berlin police stopped traffic from approaching the East German Babelsberg checkpoint at 10:25 a.m., but allowed it to resume when drivers relayed word from the East Germans that today's blasting had been postponed.

The interruption of traffic by East German guards at the West German border backed up trucks and cars for a mile and a half. It came one day after the Communists halted traffic leaving West Berlin for an hour and 50 minutes at the Babelsberg checkpoint.

Youth Bound Over In Theft Of Auto

Larry E. Bell, 19, of San Francisco, was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on a charge of stealing a car Nov. 22 from Boas Pontiac in San Francisco.

Bell was ordered to appear in Marin Superior Court Monday by Judge Alvin B. Goldstein.

Innocent Plea To Drug Charge

John Conners Apostoli, 28, of 19 Glenn Avenue, San Rafael, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to charges of possession of marijuana and refusing to identify himself to police.

A preliminary hearing was set for April 1.

Apostoli was questioned by police Saturday when he was hitchhiking in Sausalito, officers said. They arrested him when he refused to identify himself, and in a search at police headquarters, a marijuana cigarette, marijuana butt and a pipe containing marijuana residue were found, police said.

Washington Street Bridge Bid In Line

The Petaluma City Council yesterday opened bids for construction of a new bridge at East Washington Street and purchased a parcel of property for enlargement of the bridge intersection at Washington Street and Petaluma Boulevard.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said bids were opened at 2 p.m. with the lowest apparent bidder being the Future Construction Co. of Dublin at $275,327. City engineer David Young has estimated the project costs at $281,840. "This figure is $7,000 under my estimate and I consider it a fine bid," Young said. Second on the list of six bidders was Homer J. Olsen of Danville with a bid of $315,265.

Construction costs include construction of a new five-lane bridge with pedestrian walkway and an improved entry intersection. Meyer said council can consider awarding the contract when final approval is received from the Coast Guard to halt navigation on the Petaluma River at the bridge site. Coast Guard officials in San Francisco had indicated that no serious protests had been received and that approval from Washington is expected soon.

The council approved an agreement with John J. King to purchase his property on the northeast corner of Petaluma Boulevard and Washington Streets for $22,500. The additional land will provide space for a separate left turn lane.

Also in preparing for bridge construction, the council approved and agreement with the Northwestern Pacific Railroad to share costs for a new signal system at the Washington Street grade crossing.

Young said costs, which have not been estimated, will be shared equally by the railroad and city.

The Petalluma City Council also:

ANNEXED — Annexed to the city 20.5 acres of land on South McDowell Boulevard as recommended by the Sonoma County Local Agency Formation Commission. McGiven said the land would be subdivided into 100 lots with a proposed new school site to the east of the property.

SEWERS—Ordered plans and specifications advertised for bids on the new sewer line on the Lakeville Highway from Lindberg Lane to a point near Highway 101 with a lateral line for Caulfield Lane. The project construction cost was estimated at $26,000.

RAILING—Authorized advertising for bids for a safety railing at the water pollution control plant as required by new state standards. Cost was estimated at $5,400.

RESIGNATION — Heard report that Edna Bovett had announced her retirement as city librarian effective June 30. Miss Bovett has been a city employee for nearly 40 years, according to Meyer.

REZONING — Adopted an ordinance rezoning 34 acres on Corona Road from light industrial to multiple family residential to permit developer David D. Young to construct a mobile homes park.

JOINT MEETING — Set Monday at 7:30 p.m. for a joint study meeting with the planning and recreation, music and parks commissions to discuss the bedroom tax and how it might be used in Petalulma. Bond issue items might also be discussed.

Students' Leader Gets Probation

Hayden, 28, was convicted yesterday of obstructing a police officer.

Wolf Lowenthal, 29, New York, was found guilty on the same charge and also placed on a year's probation.

Hayden recently has been a guest lecturer at University of California and resides in Berkeley.

Judge Dismisses Yorty Libel Suit

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mayor Sam Yorty's $2 million libel suit against the Los Angeles Times over an editorial cartoon was dismissed yesterday by a judge.

The cartoon by Paul Conrad was "not libelous on its face," said Superior Court Judge Jerry Pacht, and he dismissed the suit on a motion by Times attorneys at a pretrial hearing.

The cartoon published Nov. 19 depicted Yorty saying on the telephone, "I've got to go now. I've been appointed Secretary of Defense and the Secret Servicemen are here."

The four men standing by the desk were dressed like hospital attendants and one was holding a strait jacket.

Townhouse Denial Brings Doom To Park In Petaluma

The East Petaluma developer who was denied rezoning Monday by the Petaluma City Council for townhouse apartments told councilmen yesterday that he would not now be able to provide the city with a free five-acre park in a new subdivision he plans.

The council had unanimously rejected the rezoning of 16.6 acres on Washington Street at Ely Road after hearing hours of protests from the Petaluma Gardens Homeowners Association and the East Petaluma Civic Association. They charged the townhouses proposed by Arthur Condiotti would be detrimental to the single-family area.

Condiotti has received approval from the planning commission on Feb. 4 on a tentative map for a subdivision on the southern edge of Petaluma Gardens with the condition that he dedicate five acres to the city for a park and provide the necessary street improvements.

"The park project will not now be feasible as the result of Monday's council rejection of the rezoning," Condiotti said. He said he had made a verbal agreement with the commission that the park land would be given only if the rezoning was approved.

"If the city still wants a park there — you're welcome to buy the land at absolute cost and provide the street improvements," he said, estimating the land value at $40,000.

Councilman Phillip L. Joerger questioned if the condition to dedicate set by the planning commission wouold be legal. "You can't force any property owner to give land away," he said. "It's unconstitutional."

Condiotti was told to submit a revised tentative map minus the park to the planning commission for the latter's review March 4. Condiotti said the maps would be revised.

Councilman Robert S. Lipman said he felt the problem didn't stop with only the subdivision in question, but must be studied for the entire section of East Petaluma.

"Last night we rejected his rezoning on the basis that the apartments would create problems in traffic and school overcrowding — now we're talking about another subdivision and more people in the area — it doesn't make sense," Lipman said.

Mayor Helen Putnam agreed, saying she would prepare a proposal for council very soon that will plan a procedure for the orderly development of East Petaluma.

East German Guards Snarl Border Traffic

BERLIN (UPI)—East German border guards today delayed traffic for two hours at the western end of the highway linking Berlin to West Germany.

Border officials said the delay, supposedly to check identification papers, began at midnight and ended about 2 a.m. It backed up traffic, mostly trucks, more than two miles.

In a second incident that illustrated East Germany's ability to tie up West Berlin's access routes, West Berlin police today delayed all outbound traffic over the main departure highway for 15 minutes in the belief that East German engineers were doing demolition blasting along the road.

The East Germans had scheduled demolition work on a Soviet tank monument along the autobahn for today and succeeding days, including the Feb. 27 date of President Nixon's visit and March 4, the eve of the Western federal election the East Germans are protesting.

West Berlin police stopped traffic from approaching the East German Babelsberg checkpoint at 10:25 a.m., but allowed it to resume when drivers relayed word from the East Germans that today's blasting had been postponed.

The interruption of traffic by East German guards at the West German border backed up trucks and cars for a mile and a half. It came one day after the Communists halted traffic leaving West Berlin for an hour and 50 minutes at the Babelsberg checkpoint.

Innocent Plea To Drug Charge

John Conners Apostoli, 28, of 19 Glenn Avenue, San Rafael, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to charges of possession of marijuana and refusing to identify himself to police.

A preliminary hearing was set for April 1.

Apostoli was questioned by police Saturday when he was hitchhiking in Sausalito, officers said. They arrested him when he refused to identify himself, and in a search at police headquarters, a marijuana cigarette, marijuana butt and a pipe containing marijuana residue were found, police said.

'NEED A HUNTING LICENSE'

Students Stalking Elusive Seats In Too-Full Classes

By BRUCE COLEMAN

"It's a damn shame that a county as rich as this has to have 70 kids in a class. Teachers can't teach under these conditions."

Speaking was Del Mar, a Negro student from Mill Valley, who was sweating as he carried a large Malcolm X Day poster and some flyers across the College of Marin campus in Monday's rain.

His complaint, echoed by many other students at College of Marin, was voiced as students scurried about the campus, many without chance of success, to find a place in classrooms offering courses needed for completion of their educational programs.

With enrollment about 1,000 students more than last spring, much of the increase attributed by college officials to disturbances on other Bay Area campuses, one student described the situation as amounting to running around "with a hunting license for courses."

Asked if he was affected by the high enrollment and dearth of classes this spring semester, Mar replied: "In political science class, the teacher said, 'We have almost 70 kids.' I said, 'I'll Wait'."

Mary Griffin, a pretty, long-haired brunette, granted there are problems getting into classes but, to fight this, she advocates "persistency."

Miss Griffin, dressed in trousers and a pea coat, said, "A lot of people are too naive. They will never get what they want. They're not persistent enough to keep after it."

The psychology major noted that she was on a waiting list for a human relations class but kept returning until she was admitted.

Olive-skinned Warren Lim from Honolulu reported he tried to get two classes during last week's "hunting season" but both were closed. One was in photography, his minor. Another was psychology. He couldn't get in the latter so he took anthropology which will fulfill his general education requirement.

This is a disadvantage, he said, because he still has to take photography and wants to take psychology.

Sitting in the Student Center in a yellow rain jacket was Todd Patterson who said he was snookered out of three classes, all closed — psychology, sociology and social geography.

"There were waiting lists but there were like 50 on most of them," said Patterson. "So I took different classes."

It's a loss to him, he continued, because he didn't get as many classes as he wanted. He is signed up for twelve-and-one-

CAPTURE ON CAMPUS

Jet In Zurich Takeoff Hit By Guerrilla Fire

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel warned Arab nations and airlines today they must "take immediate measures to prevent further attacks on Israel's air routes." It claimed the moral right and ability to break up guerrilla raids at any place.

Transport Minister Moshe Carmel outlined the government's position before the Knesset, Israel's Parliament, in Jerusalem in the wake of the Arab attack on an El Al jetliner in Switzerland yesterday.

The jet, a Boeing 720, was attacked as it taxied down a runway at Zurich's Kloten airport. Fire by the guerrillas, three men and a woman, came from behind a snowbank.

Six of the 27 passengers were wounded with the most serious being trainee pilot Yoran Peres. He was hit in the abdomen by three bullets.

One of the four raiders was gunned down, and the three others taken into custody. Also the passenger, who allegedly did the shooting, was detained by Swiss police, an El Al spokesman said.

"Israel's air routes are of the highest security priority", he said. "Israel has the full moral right and operational ability to take all necessary defensive

Failure Of Bonds Linked To Unrest

San Rafael Elementary School District's $2.1 million bond proposal was defeated at the polls yesterday, failing to garner the necessary two-thirds majority.

The unofficial final count was 3,729 yes votes and 2,459 no, for a 60.26 per cent favorable vote.

There were 6,188 votes cast, a 37.9 per cent turnout.

Dr. John F. Plank, superintendent of schools, said the defeat reflected taxpayer criticism of the present turbulence on college campuses.

Since rejection of the bond issue also "reflects on the quality of education in the district and on the children, it's deplorable," Plank said.

He declined to predict the board of education's next course.
seewerker

Passage of the bonds would have provided $1,577,900 toward construction of a Glenwood Middle School and $522,100 for improvements at the district's 14 existing schools.

The financing also would have enabled the district to switch to a middle school program, eliminating sixth grades in neighborhood schools.

The bond measure was a scaled down version of a $3.1 million bond proposal which was defeated by district voters in October, 1967.

In 1964 district voters approved a $3.3 million bond issue.

The proposal was heavily favored in the Glenwood School area as expected, but failed to get even a majority vote in the Davidson Junior High School area.

The voter turnout was one of the two lowest in special bond and tax elections in Marin County since the start of last year. A 38 per cent turnout — almost

Nixon Says Poverty War Stays

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon told Congress today he is stripping the Office of Economic Opportunity of two major programs—Head Start and the Job Corps—and delegating their work elsewhere.

In a special message, however, Nixon promised to keep OEO alive as an "incubator" for experimental programs bearing on the antipoverty campaign.

And he called for a national commitment aimed at "providing all American children an opportunity for healthful and stimulating development during the first five years of life."

During his campaign for the presidency, Nixon described Head Start as "one of the programs that deserves continuing, and could even be accelerated." But he said the Job Corps should be eliminated, declaring, "This is one program that has been a failure."

Effective July 1, the popular Head Start program, to offer summertime preschooling to deprived youngsters, will be delegated to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

On the same day, responsibility for the Job Corps, which seeks to train school dropouts and unskilled jobless youths for gainful employment, will be delegated to the Labor Department.

The President proposed no new legislation in his message but promised that before June 30 "I will send Congress a comprehensive proposal for the future of the poverty program, including recommendations for revising and extending the act itself beyond its scheduled 1970 expiration."

He said he would ask Congress to also extend for one year authorization for anti-poverty appropriations that run out on June 30.

Nixon, while critical of some aspects of administration of poverty funds, said OEO has proven "the value of having in the federal government an agency whose special concern is the poor."

Zucker Claims Grand Jury Story Distorted

County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker, who was criticized by the 1968 grand jury, reported today that "relations with this year's grand jury were very cordial."

"Withing the constraints of the grand jury system we believe they have attempted to do a good job," said Zucker.

He said the news article in Saturday's Independent-Journal appears to be a distortion of the grand jury's report.

"Nowhere does the report use the words, 'rude, arrogant and extravagant' as headlined by the news article. Nowhere does the report indicate members of the planning staff other than the planning director were interviewed by the jury as implied."

(The grand jury report, on page 10, said: "Plans would be submitted . . . necessary changes made to meet various requirements of the law, only to be thrown out by the planning director on some technicality or new thought. . . From other witnesses, evidence of similar arbitrariness was received. . . Does the planning director consider himself the only competent staff arbiter?"

(The following page said "it came as a surprise to this committee how often the planning director became an advocate of his own position before other bodies which was at variance to the commission's decision." It called this "a distortion."

(On page 11, it charged the director with "uneconomic and, at times, capricious application and administration of planning objectives." On the same page, it urged that "the planning department budget be carefully scrutinized" and listed planning cost of $1.91 per capita in Marin, compared with other Bay Area counties ranging from $1.10 in Sonoma down to 24 cents in Alameda.

(On page 12, it recommended "that the planning director, in some manner, should be made to realize that he is a public servant and that the public is entitled to cordial service.")

Zucker said the grand jury report was not accurate when it suggested he refused to furnish the number of applicants for

Deadline Nears For Ballot Spots

The deadline to file candidacy papers for mayor and for the city council and board of education of San Rafael is noon tomorrow, according to City Clerk W. C. Cornwell.

Only incumbents have filed thus far. They are Mayor C. Paul Bettini, Councilmen Fred C. Robbins Jr. and Harry A. Barbier and Lawrence I. Kramer and Paul L. Jones, members of the board of education.

A typographical error in yesterday's Independent-Journal said that Bettini, Barbier and Robbins had "failed" to retain their seats in the April 15 election. It should have said the three filed to keep their seats.

Also, Jones names was omitted from the school board filings.

Court Told How Sirhan Practiced

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan spent at least five hours at a firing range the day before Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was fatally shot, using up at least eight boxes of ammunition and at times shooting as fast as he could, witnesses at his murder trial said today.

One said Sirhan commented that his gun was powerful enough "to kill a dog."

This was the fourth day of testimony at Sirhan's trial on a charge he killed the New York senator after the latter's win in the California presidential primary last June.

Michael Saccoman, one of several who said they saw Sirhan at the San Gabriel Valley Gun Club last June 4, was asked if he discussed hunting with the defendant.

"He said he was going on a hunting trip with the gun. I told him it was against the law because you can't use pistols. I explained the reason was lack of accuracy," Saccoman said.

Asked for Sirhan's reaction to that, Saccoman said the defendant said: "I don't know about that. It would kill a dog." Saccoman said he took this to mean it was powerful enough to kill an animal.

State Students Balk; Judge Orders Pleas

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Municipal Judge Walter Calcagno ordered innocent pleas entered yesterday for 110 of the 456 demonstrators arrested during a demonstration last month at San Francisco State College.

He issued the order after the defendants filed past the judge and refused to enter pleas. Instead, they demanded copies of the complaints filed against them.

The remainder of the defendants are scheduled to enter pleas before Judge Calcagno today, tomorrow and Friday. The demonstrators were charged with disturbing the peace, failing to disperse and illegal assembly on Jan. 23.

Calcagno said the defendants would be tried in lots of 10, beginning March 17. He ordered the public defender's office to represent the students, few of whom had representation during yesterday's appearance.

The San Francisco State Legal Defense Committee, the legal arm of the Third World Liberation Front, requested an immediate end to arrests and prosecution of strikers. It asked the court to declare unconstitutional sections of the California Penal Code dealing with unlaw-

Campus Violence Bills Set; Reagan Sounds A Warning

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The legislature's initial action against violence on college campuses reached the Senate floor today as Gov. Ronald Reagan warned "the very fate of higher education is at stake." (Related stories page 2)

Both Reagan and the Senate Judiciary Committee moved against militant dissidents yesterday—Reagan in a strong statement at his news conference and the committee in approving new student control legislation, clearing the way for final Senate action.

The governor reiterated his belief that a group of students forced the enrollment of 40 people at knifepoint at a state college, and cited this as part of a pattern of violence. His office later identified the college as San Francisco State.

"It never happened," replied a San Francisco State spokesman.

He said Reagan might have been referring to an incident last summer when some high school students of Latin descent entered the office of Charles Stone, San Francisco State's dean of admissions. They asked for admission of more Mexican-Americans and others with a Latin background.

Reagan, however, said he learned of the incident when it was reported to state college trustees at a closed-door meeting, by "an administrative of-

Supervisors Veto $15,000 For EOC

Marin County Economic Council will not get an extra $15,000 from county reserves to run its program for the coming year, the Marin County Board of Supervisors decided yesterday. (Other supervisors stories, page 24.)

Supervisors stressed they were turning down the request only because the county's own budget is still unclear, and the extent of shortages will not be known until budget discussions begin in June.

Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson of Fairfax, member of the EOC, and Victor H. Carey, executive director, appealed for the extra $15,000 for the program year, from April 1 this year to March 30 of next year.

They said two more staff members, costing $15,000, are needed to carry on the current level of work. The anticipated total budget, including the $15,000, is $174,000.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar noted that $147,000 of the $174,000 is allocated to wages. "What do all these people do?" he asked.

"As Mr. Baar says, most of the money seems to be going to salaries," declared Michael Wornum. Until he gets more information, Wornum said he does not feel qualified to vote on the request.

"I am sympathetic to the EOC program but until we go through our budget sessions, I will not vote another dollar for this," said chairman John F. McInnis.

Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. declared the EOC is moving in the right direction. "If we play too close to the hilt, we may remove the impetus created by the new board (of the EOC)."

Cary and Mrs. Wilson acknowledged that the county has already committed $25,000 for the EOC, and the $15,000 would bring the total county contribution to $40,000.

But without the extra $15,000, Carey said he would lose valuable field workers.

"Personally, I have to admit I've reached battle fatigue."

"Lots of people have battle fatigue," replied Baar. "People are getting tired of taxes, so battle fatigue is not only one way."

"You operated on $15,000 less last year," commented William A. Gnoss.

The supervisors concluded they are all in favor of the EOC program, but they cannot commit $15,000 more at this time while the county's own budget is still up in the air.

Marin Road Damage Set At $200,000

Marin County supervisors yesterday declared the county a disaster area at the request of County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost, who reported road damages amounting to $200,000 since the rainstorms hit last December.

Frost said the supervisors must proclaim a state of emergency in order to qualify for various federal aid for damages wrought by the rain and windstorm.

"There is no price tag attached to the amount of federal aid," said Frost. On county road damage, the federal government provides a certain percentage of the amount of damage over the normal, he explained. In 1967, Frost recalled that road damages came to $300,000, and the government chipped in about $160,000.

Aid from the Small Business Administration also goes to some losses suffered by private individuals and special districts, said Frost.

He told the supervisors that one house off Laverne Avenue in Homestead Valley was demolished, and several others are threatened by slides.

Pentagon Seeking To Cut Draft Call

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon planners say the draft ultimately could be cut to just a few hundred men a month if enough money and effort are spent on recruiting, improving morale and polishing the services' image.

While more money is important, the officials say a higher pay scale won't be enough alone to attract and hold the volunteers needed even when the Vietnam war ends and U.S. forces are cut by 700,000 men.

What is needed, they contend, is a concerted drive to "improve morale and job satisfaction," to burnish the "overall service image" and stage an intensive recruiting effort.

If this works out, then the draft could be used mostly to obtain doctors and other specialists.

However, some senior Pentagon officials would regard it a victory if the draft—now taking about 33,000 men a month—could be trimmed to 2,000 or 3,000 monthly after the war is ended.

They recall that inductions fell to the 3,000 mark in February 1965, only a few months before the big Vietnam war buildup which led to drafting of as many as 48,000 a month.

Few officials are for a complete abolishment of the draft.

While the Pentagon tries to work out a long-range plan moving in the direction of an all-volunteer force, efforts also are under way to erase draft inequities, chiefly by switching to a lottery system, provided Congress approves.

White House Silent On Moscow Visit Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has refused to knock down speculation that President Nixon already has been invited to visit the Soviet Union.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler was asked yesterday whether Nixon had been invited to meet with Soviet leaders and said he didn't have anything to report on the subject.

Reminded that was not a denial, Ziegler said:

"I wouldn't discuss anything in relation to this speculation."

Talk about an invitation escalated following Nixon's hour-long conference Monday with Soviet Ambassador Anatoliy Dobrynin—a session that lasted twice as long as scheduled.

In his most recent news conference, Nixon scoffed at "instant summitry" but indicated he would be glad to talk with Soviet leaders later after full advance preparations.

Ziegler flatly ruled out the possibility Nixon would add Moscow to the intinerary of his five-nation Western European trip that starts Sunday.

No American president has ever visited the Soviet Union. An invitation to Dwight D. Eisenhower was canceled in 1960 after the U2 spy plane was shot down over Russia.

Soviet leaders were believed to have been interested in meeting with former President Johnson in hopes of offsetting criticism for the invasion of Czechoslovakia, a goal some say they still hope to achieve by an early Nixon visit.

Wilkinson Or Morton May Replace Bliss

WASHINGTON (AP) — The names of Maryland Congressman Rogers C. B. Morton and former football coach Charles "Bud" Wilkinson were prominent today in speculation over a new republican national chairman.

President Nixon, however, apparently intends to wait until returning from his European trip early in March before naming a replacement for Ray Bliss.

Bliss, who served as national chairman for four years, told Nixon in a letter released by the White House yesterday that he plans to resign by mid-April and return to his insurance business in Akron, Ohio.

Morton aides said he remains in the dark about whether he will be offered the assignment. Morton himself declined comment.

A Nixson associate who predicted shortly after the November election that Bliss was on his way out, named Morton and Wilkinson, former University of Oklahoma football coach and now GOP national committeeman from that state, as front-runners.

Morton, brother of former National Chairman and former Sen. Thurston B. Morton, served as Nixon's floor manager at the 1968 convention. Wilkinson, a football expert for ABC television, managed many of Nixon's campaign TV appearances.

The students surged through the streets all night to demand lifting of a round-the-clock curfew and withdrawal of troops who were deployed last Sunday in the wake of day-long rioting.

Word spread that Prof. Shamsuzzoha, head of the chemistry department at Rajshahi University 100 miles away, had been shot by police, and the students charged the troops. The professor was fatally wounded as he tried to persuade demonstrating students to return to their campus.

Smoking To Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The— Agriculture Department said today trends indicate that by 1975 the average American smoker will puff about 15 packs fewer cigarettes a year than he does now.

Because of population growth, total U.S. cigarette consumption is not expected to change much.

Arthur G. Conover, an Economic Research Service analyst, presented the report to the Agricultural Outlook Conference. He described it as only a projection of past and current trends, not a forecast.

The projection assumes that present antismoking campaigns will continue.

Washington Campus Hit By Unrest

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The current wave of student unrest spread to predominantly Negro Howard University in Washington, D.C., while black students at the University of Wisconsin in Madison called for a cooling-off period.

At Howard several hundred students occupied the law school building yesterday morning seeking a meeting with the faculty to discuss demands. They left early today after a U. S. marshal read a temporary court injunction ordering them out.

There was no violence but protest leaders said their protest would continue today with a boycott of classes.

Elsewhere there were these developments:

Madison, Wis.—Black students called for a temporary halt in the class boycotts and disruptions ending 10 days of turmoil on campus. Chancellor H. Edwin Young said a "substantial portion" of the 1,900 National Guardsmen called out at the height of the crisis has been deactivated.

The Negroes urged whites to return to classes and win faculty over to their cause but vowed they would continue their own boycott to back a list of 13 demands including creation of an autonomous black studies department.

Chapel Hill, N.C—Leaders of the Black Student Movement at the University of North Carolina said they would resort to "revolutionary tactics" if their demands for a black students studies program and other concessions are not met by Friday.

Philadelphia—About 700 protesters began a sit-in last night at the University of Pennsylvania administration building to protest a new $10 million science center. They said construction of the center would displace residents of a poverty area.

Providence, R.I.—Several students at Moses Brown School, a college preparatory institution, refused to wear their required shirts and ties to protest the expulsion of two students for drunkeness and suspension of another for wearing his hair too long.

Stink Bombs, Violence Spark 13 U.C. Arrests

BERKELEY (UPI)—Thirteen more persons were arrested at the strike-torn University of California Tuesday during five hours of sporadic violence in which stink bombs were thrown, many windows broken, and police pelted with rocks and bottles. (Related stories, page 7.)

A scheduled noontime rally on Sproul Hall steps by the newly-organized Radical Student Union was canceled by school authorities and this angered the strikers and heightened the tempo of protest.

Another event which incensed strikers occurred with the rough arrest of Jim Nabors, leader of the Third World Liberation Front which is in the vanguard of the strike.

Students closed in and then patrolmen moved into the crowd, swinging nightsticks and receiving taunts and obscenities. Nine of the arrests occurred there.

Three more were arrested at Sather Gate where about 300 attempted to block the main entrance to the campus.

Eleven of those arrested were students, bringing the total to 90 students arrested so far. The administration has begun moving to hold hearings in the cases of the arrested students.

Stink bombs exploded in the crowded student cafeteria and outside administration offices in Sproul Hall. Groups of pickets also clogged traffic in the nearby downtown Berkeley area and went to other campus entrances. A few demonstrators also went on a rampage through the Life Sciences Building, breaking inner glass doors and windows.

Patrolmen and deputies formed a wedge and got the demonstrators rounded up near Sproul Hall, but not before rocks, bottles and any debris at hand were thrown at them by some of the militants.

The Berkeley campus newspaper meanwhile blasted "empty-headed mobsters" who engage in vandalism.

In another move, the administration called for a hearing regarding the Third World Liberation Front which could lead to the group's interim suspension as a campus organization.

Plane Carrying 35 Missing; Search On

HAWTHORNE, Nev. (UPI)—Ground parties, some on skis or snowshoes, battled rain and heavy snow today in their search for a DC3 airliner missing with 35 persons aboard on a "gamblers flight."

"We've got three good leads," said Col. Clarence Brown of the Western Air-Sea Rescue Service headquartered at Hamilton Air Force Base. However, he said, all but two of 37 search planes remained grounded today by the weather.

The clues came from persons who reported hearing the sounds of twin engines which suddenly stopped.

At the Circle L ranch near Dyer, Nev., a cowboy said "I thought it was coming right through the house," Col. Brown said.

The leads placed the DC3, similar to the C47 which was the workhorse of World War II, in an area deep in snow around Mount Tom and Mount Montgomery on the California-Nevada border, about 50 air miles from Hawthorne, Nev., where it took off at 4:06 a.m. yesterday.

The plane, carrying 32 passengers and a crew of three, was operated by Mineral County Airlines, which also conducts business as Hawthorne Nevada Airlines.

Most of the passengers were on the return leg of a flight that carries Southern California customers to a Hawthorne casino on an overnight $10 excursion plan which includes air fare, dinner and cocktails.

The flight originated Monday night in Long Beach, where 14 persons boarded the plane. Eighteen others were picked up later at Burbank, where they were due to return at 6:30 a.m. yesterday.

The air search was called off at sundown Tuesday but crews with jeeps, four-wheel drive vehicles, snowshoes and skis continued the ground search throughout the night.

Yesterday Hamilton ordered three HC130 Hercules rescue aircrafts for the search party. The planes are part of the base's 41st Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Squadron.

One of the planes is operating out of Hamilton and the other two from Nellis Air Force Base, near Las Vegas.

measures at any place to break up the ring of terrorism on the airways and assure that Israel has completely free air traffic."

He singled out neighboring Lebanon and declared the government in Beirut had the duty to "uproot any nest of piracy from its territory."

Carmel's words received close attention throughout Israel. He was the first high-ranking government official to blame Lebanon for the Arab attack on an Israeli jet at Athens in December. Israeli commandos subsequently struck Beirut's International Airport and destroyed 13 Lebanese planes.

Carmel said the hijack of an El Al plane to Algiera last July and the attacks in Athens and Zurich all originated in Israel's view, from Lebanon. He pointed out the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine took full credit for the Swiss incident in a statement published in Beirut yesterday.

He warned of "complete chaos among the airways of the Middle East unless" the attacks are halted and added: "Safeguarding air safety is important not only to Israel but the Arabs and all the Arab airlines who want to keep their routes open. They should take immediate action."

ficer of the campus concerned."

Glenn S. Dumke, chancellor of the state colleges, said the incident happened "some time ago," although the participants — whom he identified as Negroes — now deny using knives, "but if they were not, it was quite clear they might as well have been," he said of the reported use of knives.

Reagan made it clear he will continue his strong stand, declaring "the very quality and the very success of our educational institutions is at stake and I don't think it is confined to California."

Less than two hours before he made the statement, members of the Senate Judiciary Committee completed action on the first of some 65 measures introduced to combat protesters.

Sent to the Senate floor on a bipartisan vote was a bill making it a felony — with a maximum state prison sentence of 10 years — to assault a campus police officer. The offense is now a misdemeanor, punishable by a maximum one year in the county jail.

Approved and referred to the Finance Committee was a bill giving campus officials the power to remove faculty, students or outsiders whose presence "threatens the orderly operation" of the institution. Present trespass law gives officials only the power to tell outsiders to leave the campus.

The committee also sent to the floor a resolution telling university, state college, junior college and local school officials to enforce current campus rules and file criminal charges against dissidents if necessary.

Petaluma Child, 5, Injured By A Truck

A 5-year-old Petaluma boy was struck yesterday at 3:45 p.m. by a truck at McGregor Avenue and South McDowell Boulevard.

Arnold James McClymonds, 705 Regina Cou, was treated by a private physician. Police said he stepped into the path of a truck driven by Michael L. Sepulveda, 40, of Santa Rosa.

ful assembly, failure to disperse and disturbing the peace.

The committee's suit listed as defendants Acting President S. I. Hayakawa of the strike-torn school, Police Chief Thomas J. Cahill and District Attorney John Ferdon.

Other developments:

Student Body President Russell Blass described as "groundless" charges by the State Attorney General's Office that his administration has mishandled student funds. About $500,000 in such funds were frozen by court order.

The administration prohibited students who have been arrested since November from working in its program for minority students. The ban applied to 32 positions in the campus Education Opportunity program.

Striking members of the American Federation of Teachers continued discussions on a proposal to end their walkout, which began Jan. 6. It provides reinstatement of strikers whose "separation notices" have been sent to the State Controller. As of Tuesday, 187 such notices had been received in Sacramento and 23 more were expected.

building permits and the number of permits issued. "Such material was included in my presentation to the grand jury and is also included in numerous public documents such as the county annual budget and the department's annual report.

"We did refuse to furnish information on the number of applications filed, with a decision not to build. As we explained to the jury our records are not organized this way. Nor do we have any way of knowing when a decision not to build was made. For example, it is not uncommon to find approved subdivisions still having vacant lots after 20 years."

The grand jury report noted that applicants should be treated politely and with respect. "We strive to do so," said Zucker. "We recognize our role as public servants. In doing so, we realize that the public must be defined, not only as the applicant, but also the over 200,000 residents of the county as well as the future residents of the county. This is what planning is all about."

Historic Sanctuary

Over 90 years ago, Marin pioneers dedicated beautiful Mount Tamalpais Cemetery as a resting place for their loved ones. Close to the heart of the county, this lovely 50-acre site is a natural sanctuary—abounding in trees and views typical of the county. Here every type of final resting place is available, including ground interment, mausoleum entombment and cremation. We cordially invite your visit. Our staff is always ready to answer your questions.

ON THE WAY DOWN — Parachutes billow as a U.S. Air Force C130 drops supplies on a remote airstrip in South Vietnam. The parachutes pull the cargo from the belly of the plane and permit the plane to deliver supplies to bases where runways can handle only small, light aircraft. The operation has been stepped up since a new Red push started last weekend.

Red Push Costly Near Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — American Air Cavalrymen clashed briefly today with North Vietnamese troops who military sources said were moving into attack positions 35 miles northeast of Saigon.

Sharp fighting also was reported 18 miles north of Saigon, in the Mekong Delta, south of the capital, and along the jungle trails from Laos and the A Shau valley, west of Da Nang and Hue.

U.S. and South Vietnamese forces reported killing 145 enemy soldiers at a cost of six Americans and 13 South Vietnamese killed, 13 Americans and 33 South Vietnamese wounded and seven South Vietnamese missing.

Allied troops also uncovered many more tons of rice and munitions near the Cambodian border, another indication the enemy is still trying to stock up for an offensive in the Saigon area, military spokesmen said.

The American Air Cavalrymen were riding helicopter gunships looking for troops from the North Vietnamese 5th Division in the triple-canopied jungle of War Zone D. Suddenly they spotted several men in an opening and cut into them with machine guns.

A short while later, Air Cavalrymen on the ground discovered the bodies of 15 North Vietnamese killed by the gunships. Two-and-one-half hours later, more Air Cavalrymen were landed to pursue the enemy.

A U.S. spokesman said American bombers and artillery sent the North Vietnamese fleeing through the jungle, and eventually all contact was lost during the afternoon.

Military sources said troops of North Vietnam's 5th Division are moving through War Zone D to join up with an independent regiment and two sapper battalions for an attack, most likely on major allied bases and headquarters just north of Saigon.

Pueblo Crew Claims No Capture Training

CORONADO (UPI) — The Navy sent the 83 men of the USS Pueblo on a spy mission to the edge of a Communist country without telling them how to behave if captured.

That was the testimony yesterday of three officers of the Pueblo before a Navy court of inquiry into the ship's capture off the coast of North Korea Jan. 23, 1968. The hearing is in its third phase, dealing with the conduct of the men in captivity.

The secret testimony resumed today before a board of five admirals with four more witnesses waiting to describe their 11 months in a Korean prison.

Still at the witness table when today's session opened was to be Lt. (j.g.) Timothy Harris 23, Jacksonville, Fla., who began telling the court his story yesterday. Harris was to be followed today by CWO Gene H. Lacy, 37, Seattle.

Like two other officers who testified before him, Harris said his only advice on how to behave as a prisoner of war came before he was commissioned, when he was still in Officer Candidate School.

There, he was told about the U.S. government's official code of conduct for men who became prisoners of war. It forbids any form of collaboration with the enemy and requires a serviceman to tell his captors only his name, rank, service number and date of birth.

Harris said he received no more instructions after he left OCS, even when he was assigned to the Pueblo, an electronic espionage vessel. His testimony paralleled that of Lt. Edward R. Murphy Jr., the Pueblo's second in command, and Lt. (j.g.) Frederick C. Schumacher, the operations officer.

All three said that after violent beatings by the Koreans they agreed to sign "confessions" the Pueblo entered Korean waters and engaged in espionage.

The only variation to their stories involved the length of time they held out.

Schumacher said he stood his ground in the face of Korean threats he would be killed if he din't "confess"—but came to terms during a beating by Korean guards.

"I didn't think I could resist torture, and I couldn't see any point in going through with it," Schumacher said. He admitted fear preyed on him after his capture.

Goldenaires Set Three-Day Trip To San Diego

A three-day trip to Dan Diego, with a side jaunt to Tijuana, has been planned by the San Rafael Goldenaires.

The trip, March 18 to 20, is open to all Marin residents over 50.

An installment plan has been set up at the city's recreation center to help senior citizens pay the cost of the trip and further information is available at the center.

The trip will include a San Diego Harbor excursion, tours of the San Diego Zoo and Sea World and a tour of La Jolla.

The Goldenaires club is sponsored by the city parks and recreation commission.

Courthouse Fate Is Panel's Topic

Disposition of the courthouse in San Rafael will be discussed at 9 a.m. tomorrow on the KTIM Sounding Board.

Panelists will be John F. McInnis, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors; Roderick P. Martinelli, attorney for an organization interested in exchanging property at the Civic Center for the courthouse property; Dan E. Andersen, San Rafael city manager, and Ernest N. Kettenhofen, past chairman of the board of supervisors.

Questions will be accepted for the live broadcast tomorrow. The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be repeated at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

OMBUDSMAN SOUGHT

San Quentin Inmates Talk To Lawmakers

San Quentin convicts yesterday called for several changes in the penal system, including an ombudsman who would also serve as the prisoner's channel to the legislature and the public.

Twenty-two convicts, selected to represent the 3,800 San Quentin inmates, spoke for four hours yesterday in a study session with three members of the Assembly Criminal Procedures Committee.

Inmates spoke on five major topics, using an 85-page bill of particulars drawn up by prisoners since a similar meeting last spring, according to Associate Warden James W. L. Park.

Park said inmates objected to the California Adult Authority practice of automatically reinstating the maximum sentence after parole is violated.

Speakers also objected to the practice of holding an alleged offense a parole violation. Park explained that if a man on parole is suspected of burglary, that is grounds for a parole violation even though the offense is not proven in court.

"On parole, you don't just have to be a normal citizen . . . you have to be something better," one convict said. Another added, "You gotta be superman."

Convicts also spoke out against the "excessive severity" of mandatory narcotics sentences and pointed out the big pushers are rarely affected by the laws. Park said narcotics offenders frequently serve 15 years, the average term for murder.

Prisoners also touched on the uncertainty of rules for parole. Park said there is "considerable confusion" about what a man must do to win parole and said prisoners called for an individual prescription for each man who enters the prison.

Official's Son Is Fined $500

I-J Special Report

REDWOOD CITY — Keith R. Goldsmith, 25-year-old son of U. S. Commissioner Richard S. Goldsmith of Mill Valley was fined $500 and placed on probation for three years after pleading guilty yesterday to charges of possessing marijuana.

Goldsmith, a Stanford University student, was sentenced in San Mateo County Superior Court by Judge Allison Rouse.

He was arrested for reckless driving in Atherton last July. Police who stopped him for the traffic violation reported finding the marijuana during a search of his car.

Rouse put Goldsmith on probation instead of giving him a jail sentence on the recommendation of Probation Officer P. A. Tye who said Goldsmith had suffered a personality change as a result of brain damage suffered in a 1964 auto accident.

TODAY'S NEW LAMB

Ever notice how the best food stores always have the biggest lamb displays? This winter, go adventuring to your meatman's lamb display. Take home a variety of cuts. Lamb chops and steaks to broil or panfry. Lamb for a stew or a ragout. Lamb to roast. For a special cold weather treat, try an American favorite, lamb hot. Hot from the oven and hot with the sauces and seasonings of the Southwest. Here's a recipe that tells you how to do it.

Tangy Lamb Shoulder (makes 4 to 6 servings)

1 pre-carved shoulder of lamb*
Salt and pepper to taste
¾ cup chili sauce
¾ cup chopped onion
3 tablespoons capers
1½ tablespoons firmly packed brown sugar
1½ teaspoons prepared horseradish

Sprinkle lamb with salt and pepper. Place on rack in shallow roasting pan. Roast in 325° (slow) oven 30 to 35 minutes per pound or until meat thermometer registers 175° to 180° for lamb as done as you like it. Combine chili sauce, onion, capers, sugar and horseradish. Spoon ½ cup of this mixture on lamb a half-hour before end of roasting time. Heat remaining sauce and serve with lamb.

 Have your meatman pre-carve the lamb roast on a bandsaw and tie. It's then already sliced for serving.*

Grand Jury Lauds Water Operations

"Marin Municipal Water District is well managed and is doing a good job in providing water in sufficient quantity and of good and safe quality," the 1968 Marin County Grand Jury concluded after studying district operations.

The grand jury commended the water district for its foresight in planning for supplemental water sources to stay ahead of the demand, citing plans for immediate extra water through the North Marin County Water District and future additional water from the Russian River.

Data contained in the water district's annual report of the 1967-68 fiscal year, issued last week by Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger, preceded by a few days the grand jury's report.

Seeger reported there are now 49,222 service connections in the district with an annual consumption of 9.7 billion gallons. The figures represent an increase in the past 20 years of 260 per cent in the number of services and 340 per cent in the annual consumption, he said.

During the past 55 years, water rates have been raised once — a 15 per cent hike in 1965.

The water district, one of the largest landowners in Marin County, held plant and property valued at $42,247,000 at the end of the fiscal year, Seeger reported.

It collected $3,774,313 from the sale of water, a 6.5 per cent increase over the 1966-67 fiscal year.

Seeger reported that a slowdown in home construction limited new services to 693 during the fiscal year and noted a new fee schedule for service installation had been approved by the board.

The new rates upped installation costs as much as $120 depending on the size of the meter.

While new construction was minor, major repairs and improvements were made to the system, Seeger reported.

Thirteen major contract jobs were let for a total of $378,705, Seeger reported, and 6,475 feet of water mains were replaced at a cost of $88,905.

Fireline installations, improvements shared by the water and fire districts, totaled 7,429 feet at a cost of $93,218, Seeger said.

The district now has a total of 758 miles of pipe, an increase of 25 per cent in the past 10 years.

Other activities reported by Seeger included approval of an enlarged data processing system; rehabilitation of Phoenix Dam, and preparation for entering the sewage business if the need arises.

The major complaint noted by Seeger and the grand jury was on the taste and odor of water. Seeger reported to the jury that steps were taken to correct the problem and that the water was safe, despite its taste.

Speck Appeals Death Sentence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Condemned slayer Richard F. Speck says he shouldn't be put to death because 50 prospective jurors were excused from his trial because they objected to capital punishment.

Speck, 27, convicted of killing eight nurses in a Chicago dormitory in 1966, filed his appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court yesterday.

The appeal, made through three public defenders, points to a court decision last June forbidding execution of William C. Witherspoon, who had been convicted of killing a Chicago policeman in 1960. In that case the court said no death sentence would be valid if returned by a jury screened to eliminate persons with conscientious objections to the death penalty.

Marijuana Charge Ordered Dismissed

A motion to suppress evidence obtained illegally was granted Monday in Marin Municipal Court by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. in the case against Timothy Brooks Hogue, 23, and Sandra Christine Hanson, both of San Anselmo, and narcotics charges were dismissed against both.

Hogue had been charged with possessing marijuana, dangerous drugs and using a minor to procure dangerous drugs. Miss Hanson, who was babysitting for Hogue and his wife at the time of the arrest Dec. 3, was charged with possession of marijuana.

Campus Blamed For Crime Rise

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —The need for keeping police on the strife-torn San Francisco State College has contributed to a higher crime rate in the city, Police Chief Thomas Cahill says.

He said yesterday that the city's crime rate has gone up 19 per cent the past year and that the police intelligence bureau spends 98 per cent of its time "on what's happening on the streets or at colleges" instead of on organized crime.

He told a meeting of two civic groups that even on so-called quiet days at the college, 250 officers are used to police the campus.

Preschool Eye Tests Proposed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An eye doctor says a vision problem that affects six million Americans can be prevented by a simple test given between the ages of three and four.

Preschool eye testing on a universal basis is the way to erase disuseamblyopia or "lazy eye," Dr. Leonard Apt told newsmen yesterday. He said a slight misalignment of the eye may hold back eye development, but if discovered early, usually can be corrected by glasses or an eye patch.

Marinite's Vote May Be Key To Bail Bond Funds

By CHARLES YOAKUM

DAVIS — Does a university belong in the bail bond business?

That's the unusual and controversial question that goes before the University of California's Davis campus student legislature tomorrow and a Marin County resident's vote may well decide the issue.

The student legislature will consider using student body money to establish a bail bond fund for Davis students who are arrested.

Freshman legislator Robert Figari of Tiburon has indicated that he will vote against the proposal as it now stands. His vote may prove decisive since the 25-member legislature is almost evenly divided on the hot issue.

Under the proposal up to $1,000 would be made available to any student who is arrested and cannot provide his own bail. The proposal puts no restrictions on offenses to be covered by the fund.

The money would be in the form of a 60-day loan and would be interest free.

This latest proposal is an outcropping of another piece of legislation which was presented two weeks ago when 14 Davis students were arrested in connection with the disturbances at San Francisco State College.

Members of the Davis student legislature at that time tried to rush through a bill authorizing student body funds to bail out the 14 students. Opponents to the bill, however, walked out of the legislative session and no action could be taken due to a lack of a quorum.

The proposal before the legislature tomorrow does not concern those 14 students specifically, but sets up a standing bail bond fund available to any student arrested in the future.

Figari told the Independent-Journal that he doesn't oppose the concept of a student-funded bail bond, but has objections to the present proposal for several reasons, the primary one being the lack of money.

"We've already decided on deficit spending for next year," he said, "so to approve this bail fund would mean robbing some other activity of money or raising the student body card price."

Student body funds come from the mandatory purchase of a $5 activities card by each student.

"We don't even know how much money to budget for such a bail bond fund," he continued. "If $1,000 is to be made available to a student, its going to take a lot of money to have an adequate reserve."

Figari also said he was concerned about the bill turning the legislature into a "body of students making moral judgments."

He said, "Any student wanting to borrow money would have to request approval through us (the legislature). And that means that we have to make moral decisions about what sort of offenses should be given priority."

Figari also saw problems in the legislature "becoming political."

"If we approve money, for example, to bail out a student who is arrested while picketing at San Francisco State, then it would appear that we as a body approve of the strike," Figari added.

Figari said he was also concerned about how delinquent loans could be collected.

"About all we could do is take away the student's registration card," he said, "but that wouldn't get our money back from those students who didn't repay their loan."

The freshman legislator said that his discussions with students showed a 50-50 split on the proposal.

The university's administration has remained uncommitted to date. Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs, Dr. James Murphy, however, did note that the final authority on the student's budget is the university's chancellor.

"It is possible that if he objected to the item, he could decide not to approve the budget, I suppose," Murphy said.

Another administrative source, who preferred not to be identified, said, however, that due to the shaky relationships between students and administration in the university structure, it "was doubtful" that the university would question the item "as long as it was not out-and-out illegal."

The bail bond issue takes on special significance in light of recent developments involving student money at San Francisco State. There, the state attorney general's office announced Monday that control of student body money was being sought by an injunction because of alleged misuse of funds.

Preserving Of Marshes Held A Must

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A marine biologist commended yesterday the growing concern of California leaders for preserving what he called "the priceless values" of the state's coastline and bays and estuaries.

John P. Harville, director of the Moss Landing Marine Laboratry sponsored by California state colleges, said the state has 1,200 miles of open ocean washed shoreline and 650 additional miles of shoreline in bays and estuaries.

'IRREPLACEABLE'

"All of these irreplaceable assets are vulnerable to the most massive population growth pressures that have ever faced any people any place on earth," Harville said.

He appeared at a joint federal and state conference on waterquality management for estuaries

Harville declared that a significant value of marshes and mudflats was the enormous wet surface area they provided for absorbing air pollutants.

ESTUARY VALUES

Joseph Bodovitz, executive director of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission, emphasized also the air pollution control value of estuaries.

Bodovitz said reducing San Francisco Bay's surface area with fills would increase the frequency and intensity of temperature inversions.

Temperature inversions trap pollutants and increase Bay Area smog, he said.

Bodovitz said filling estuaries would increase the danger of water pollution by reducing both the water surface area and the volume of water required to assimilate increasing quantities of liquid waste.

FILL PERILS

He also said the fills would destroy the habitat of wild fowl and fish.

He said the open water, mudflats and marshlands of the bay constitute a complex biological system in which plants, fish and waterfowl live in a delicate balance created by nature.

He said a new fill or dreging project may sometimes have highly destructive effects on this biological balance.

Federal Grant Set For Health Planning

The Bay Area Comprehensive Health Planning Council has been awarded a $200,000 federal grant to develop an organization for multicounty health planning, Justice John B. Molinari, council president, announced today.

The grant will enable the council to hire an executive director and planning staff to pinpoint health needs and resources, he said.

State Estimates Oil Well Slick Has Caused $1 Billion Damages

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — The State of California estimates the oil from an uncontrollable well in the Santa Barbara Channel caused more than $1 billion damage (See other Sacramento stories on pages 12 and 13.)

And that figure may be revised upward, said Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, if the current seepage of "residual oil" from the ocean floor continues.

Lynch announced yesterday state and local officials filed a $500 million damage claim against the federal government and the Interior department.

Another $560 million suit will be filed against Union Oil Co. of California, operator of the drilling platform, and the three other oil companies who lease the site with Union.

The well that created a vast slick fouled 35 miles of beaches. It was plugged with tons of drilling mud and cement more than a week ago, but oil continued to seep from a shallow strata pressurized by the original leak.

Patches of crude petroleum continued to splotch the surface of the Pacific off Southern California but the major concentration was about two miles long and from 10 to 30 feet wide.

At its height, the original slick covered an estimated 800-square miles of the Pacific.

The state claim against the U.S. government charged that Interior Department officials "failed to appropriately inspect and supervise" drilling operations on Union's rig.

The suit against the companies will contend negligence in drilling operations.

CONTINUE OIL BATTLE — Workmen at Carpinteria Beach, south of Santa Barbara, gather oil-soaked straw that has collected on the shore near the site of the Union Oil Co. offshore drilling rig rupture. Mop-up operations are continuing this week. (UPI Telephoto)

Officer Tells Rally Plans

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Another Oakland police officer who infiltrated Stop the Draft Week planning sessions in October 1967 testified yesterday in the felony conspiracy trial of the Oakland Seven.

Officer Robert Wheeler, 23, testified he had volunteered to provide a two-way radio, pass out leaflets urging participation in the demonstration and drive a sound truck urging support in the demonstrations.

Wheeler, like James Bruce Coleman, the other police infiltrator who testified last week, was uncovered a day before he actually took part in the demonstration.

Wheeler testified that he had never seen all of the seven defendants at one meeting together and during his testimony, in which he referred frequently to a stack of typed notes, spoke of other leaders in the antidraft planning sessions who are not on trial.

Among the seven is Michael J. Smith, formerly of Corte Madera.

Presidio's Sentences Criticized

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The trial of one of the 27 soldiers accused of mutiny at the Presidio stockade was tentatively set to begin today at Fort Irwin in the Mojave Desert, while in the Bay Area politicians decried harsh sentences given those already convicted.

A mistrial was declared yesterday in the court-martial of Pvt. John Colip, 20, of Sacramento, as a result of a legal technicality involving granting of a change of venue. The court legal officer held that with the change of venue, a new start must be made.

The change must be approved by the Sixth Army commander and Army officials said the court-martial would be reinitiated as soon as approval is granted.

Meanwhile, Congressman Jerome Waldie of Antioch condemned sentences averaging 15 years imposed on three soldiers convicted so far.

He called them "ferocious and vindictive" and added: "Certainly the balance of compassion of the officers who arrived at this verdict can be questioned."

The soldiers were charged with mutiny following a sitdown strike last October to protest the killing of a fellow prisoner during an escape attempt and conditions at the Presidio.

Among the 23 still awaiting trail is Pvt. Keith C. Mather of San Bruno, one of the Marin City Nine who chained themselves to clergymen in an antiwar protest at St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church last summer.

Shaw's Alleged Alias Name Enters Case

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A prosecution witness testified today she saw Clay Shaw, charged with conspiring to assassinate President John F. Kennedy, sign a guest registration book as "Clay Bertrand."

Bertrand is the alias that the prosecution contends Shaw used in plotting with Lee Harvey Oswald and others to murder Kennedy.

Mrs. Jessie Parker, the state's 41st witness, said she was working as a hostess at the VIP room at New Orleans International Airport when she saw Shaw sign in as Clay Bertrand on Dec. 14, 1966.

"Is it not a fact," asked defense lawyer F. Irvin Dymond on cross-examination, "that the next time you saw Shaw—in this courtroom—you refused to identify him until the district attorney's office threatened you with a lie detector or polygraph test?"

Mrs. Parker denied that she was "threatened," but agreed the test was proposed.

When she was referred back to Asst. Dist. Atty. James Alcock for redirect examination, he jumped up and said, "Did you not take a lie detector test?"

When Mrs. Parker said she had, Alcock asked for an immediate subpoena of the police office who conducted the test and a report on the results. Such testimony is seldom admissible at a trial, but Alcock contended that Dymond had "opened the door" for it during cross-examination.

Mrs. Parker's testimony marked a shift back to Shaw after a long series of witnesses called in connection with the Nov. 22, 1963 assassination in Dallas' Dealey Plaza.

She was preceded by Dr. John M. Nichols, a University of Kansas pathologist. He testified that an examination of the Zapruder movie showing the assassination indicated the President could have been shot by a gunner in front of him.

Auto Is Entered

Mrs. Michael Chiechi reported to police yesterday that during the night someone broke her car windshield, probably with a rock, while the car was parked in front of her hoe at 30 Granada Drive, Corte Madera.

SACRAMENTO SUMMARY

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

THE ASSEMBLY

Constitutional Amendment Introduced

Legislature — Changes terms of senators from four years to six years and terms of assemblymen from two years to four years; ACA 19, Townsend, D-Torrance.

Bills Introduced

Oil — Makes oil and gas companies liable for all damages and cleanup costs from offshore drilling operations; AB 559, Unruh, D-Inglewood.

Insurance — Provides for relief for insurers who voluntarily write insurance in "brush hazard areas;" AB 558, Priolo, R-Pacific Palisades.

Librarians — Establishes a comprehensive program for the employment and training of school librarians; AB 557, Dent, R-Concord.

Police — Requires State Allocation Board to reimburse cities and counties for costs incurred by police or sheriff's departments in assisting control of civil disorders on state college or University of California campuses if funds are appropriated; AB 556, Mulford, R-Piedmont.

Racing — Repeals provisions requiring running of at least one race limited to California-bred horses and requiring ten per cent of the first money of every purse won by a California-bred horse to be paid to the breeder; AB 554, Fenton, D-Montebello.

Obscenity — Makes it a misdemeanor to sell, deliver, distribute or exhibit material depicting nudity, sexual conduct or sexual excitement which is patently offensive to minors under age 17; AB 552, Russell, R-Tujunga.

Poultry — Makes it unlawful to sell or advertise poultry which was frozen when received by retailer but subsequently unfrozen and requires that frozen poultry be sold in its original package with the word "frozen" on it; AB 548, Z'berg, D-Sacramento.

Teachers —Requires schools with high percentage of students from poverty and social tension areas to limit to a maximum 25 per cent the number of classroom teachers having one year or less of classroom teaching experience; AB 545, B. Greene, D-Los Angeles.

Minors — Permits employment of a minor under 18 years of age between 10 p.m. and 5 a.m. if the labor commissioner determines the employer has written consent of the minor's parents or guardians and the school district the minor is attending, and he determines the employment will not be detrimental to the minor's health, safety or welfare; AB 541, Campbell, R-Hacienda Heights.

Employment — Removes prohibition against employment of minors under 16 in certain hazardous occupations if the labor commissioner grants permission to work at such occupations; A B540, Campbell.

THE SENATE

Bills Introduced

School — Reduces time required for computing average daily attendance of adult school students to seven class hours; AB 337, Alquist, D-San Jose.

Alcoholism — Maintains state program for prevention, treatment and control of alcoholism as a permanent program; SB 338, Marks, R-San Francisco.

Elections — Requires statement of qualifications for candidates to be printed in type of uniform size, darkness and spacing; SB 339, Schmitz, R-Tustin.

Tuition — Grants a $20 tax credit from state personal income taxes for tuition and fees paid by a taxpayer for himself, his spouse or dependents to public and private schools and institutions of higher learning; SB 340, Schmitz.

Education — Requires inclusion in history, government or similar courses in elementary, secondary and junior college classes instruction in the role of labor, labor-management relations, labor law and labor economies in the development of the free public school systems in the United States and California; SB 342, Rodda, D-Sacramento.

Transit Mail Carrying Is Asked Again

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to authorize transit districts to carry freight and mail as well as passengers — a power sought in past years by the Marin County Transit District — has been introduced in the Legislature.

A similar bill was killed in committee last year by lobbyists for the trucking and bus industries, which want to keep the profitable service in the hands of private companies. The transit district has argued that it should have the profitable service if it takes over the deficit passenger operations from Greyhound Bus Lines.

The Marin district also has tried unsuccessfully to get the power to operate a bus charter service, but here, too, could not make a dent in lobbyists' opposition.

The new bill is authored by Assemblyman Patrick D. McGee, R-Van Nuys.

Unruh Attacks GOP On Election Reforms

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assembly Democratic Leader Jesse M. Unruh blames Republicans for killing a resolution he sponsored urging a direct popular election for president.

The former speaker said the Assembly's Rpublican - controlled Committee on Elections and Constitutional Amendments had jeopardized "the entire election reform movement in this country" Yesterday by defeating his resolution for a direct popular vote.

Unruh said he hoped that "more judicious thought among Republican assemblymen" would lead to a reversal of the Republican position.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, whose rival resolution urging reform of the electoral college system failed to get enough support for a vote, said he planned to ask for a compromise measure.

"I intend to ask the chairman to take both resolutions under advisement and come up with something that may be more general in nature, dealing with reform of the electoral college system," Bagley said.

Unruh's resolution urged Congress to propose a constitutional amendment abolishing the electoral college and providing for direct popular election of the president.

Bagley's resolution urges an amendment eliminating electors — but retaining the same number of electoral votes for each state. It would also substitute a "one-man, one-vote" system if an election was thrown into the House of Representatives instead of the present "one-state, one-vote" rule.

Unruh called Bagley's resolution, which was supported by State Controller Houston I. Flournoy, "a gimmick" to salvage the electoral college system.

Bagley countered that his proposal to have both resolutions taken under consideration certainly was no gimmick. "Jess has been oriented to his minority status quickly," he said. "When you're a member of the minority you charge gimmickry — we did it against him for years."

Unruh walked out of the committee meeting, shaking his head, and said: "This is an unbelievable performance that the Republicans don't want to let the people vote directly on the president."

Better Court Reporters' Pay Sought

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to increase the pay of court reporters and probate commissioners in Marin County was introduced yesterday by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Court reporters' maximum annual salary, under the bill, would go from $12,900 in superior court and $12,000 in municipal court to $17,448 in both. Temporary court reporters would get a pay raise from $45 to $50 a day.

Probate commissioners would get a raise from a maximum of $12,000 to $18,000.

The bill was requested by the Marin County Board of Supervisors. The salaries are paid from local taxes, unlike judges' salaries, which are partly paid by the state.

Bagley also introduced a bill to allow tabulated indexes of registered voters to be kept in alphabetical order instead of only by street addresses. It was asked by the supervisors at the request of the county elections department.

Motor vehicle deaths in the United States during 1968 are estimated at 54,900, says the National Automobile Club.

Charges Denied By Young Suspect

Robert Bruce Jones, 20, of no fixed address, who walked out of Marin Superior Court Feb. 10, pleaded innocent in Municipal Court yesterday to charges of escaping from custody, car theft and possession of marijuana.

A preliminary hearing on the three new charges was set for Tuesday.

Jones was arrested Thursday by the California Highway Patrol, who said that he was driving a stolen car and that he had a marijuana cigarette tucked in his waistband.

He already faces car theft charges in Superior Court on March 17 when a jury trial will be held in an earlier case.

Bill Seeks Span Panel Transportation Power

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to empower the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District to operate all forms of transportation, including ferry boats, was introduced today by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco.

Foran, chairman of the Assembly Transportation Committee, said his bill anticipated a favorable report on the feasibility of ferries. A feasibility study now being done for Marin and San Francisco counties by concultant Arthur D. Little Inc. is due June 30.

His bill, if passed and signed into law, would not become effective until late this year, depending on when the Legislature adjourns, but a Foran aide said progress on planning a ferry system would not be delayed.

"I feel it is high time the functions of the bridge district be expanded to meet the needs of the modern day commuter," said Foran, adding the district no longer can be concerned only "with serving the automobile."

The bridge board voted Friday to seek just this sort of bill. The board made a similar request last year, but the 1968 Legislature rejected the request on the ground that changes in the composition of the district board must be made before it could be entrusted with new powers. Since then, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, won passage of a law expanding the board to include county supervisors and city councilmen.

The bridge board's vote Friday, however, was for an urgency bill, which would be effective immediately upon being signed into law. Urgency bills are more difficult to pass because they require a two-thirds approval in both houses of the Legislature.

Jerome B. White, attorney for the bridge district, has ruled that such legislation would be necessary for the district to to go into the ferry business. Present law empowers the district to go into the commuter bus business, however, he has said.

McCarthy Seeking Leeways On Pickup Truck Hauling

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to let owners of pickup trucks haul a wide range of items, without paying $17 extra for a commercial license plate, was introduced yesterday by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

Present Department of Motor Vehicles regulations sharply limit what can be carried in a pickup truck without a commercial plate, and McCarthy's bill would license pickups according to their use. Owners' statements on how they intend to use them would be accepted, but the California Highway Patrol still would enforce the ban against commercial use of pickups with passenger car plates.

Under the present code, "personal property" can be hauled in pickups with passenger car plates, but the attorney general has ruled that this includes only such things as suitcases, briefcases, golf clubs, groceries and camping equipment.

"Nonpersonal property" that cannot be carried under the present code, according to the attorney general, includes building materials, garbage, grass, fertilizer, furniture, boat motors and boats. Thus, boat owners can tow their boats if they have a station wagon with passenger car plates, but may not if they have a pickup with passenger car plates — despite the fact that the have to pay a personal property tax on the boat.

Another oddity in the present code is that pickups may carry passenger car plates if they have permanently attached campers, but must have commercial plates if the camper can be removed from the pickup.

Violators under the present code court face both perjury and vehicle code prosecution because they have to sign an affidavit that they will not carry "nonpersonal" property when they get passenger car plates for a pickup.

Farm Bureau's Officers Elected

Alfred L. Poncia of Fallon was succeding James A. Marshall of elected president of the Marin County Farm Bureau yesterday, Tomales.

Other officers selected yesterday were Stanley Swift and Henry Tomasini, both of Nicasio, vice presidents, and James Grossi of Novato, treasurer.

Poncia and David Burbank of Fallon were named as delegates to the state Farm Bureau convention to be held next month, with Marshall and Swift as alternates.

The next meeting will be at 10 a.m. March 11.

Foran Asks Bay Panel Pay Boosts

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to hike the pay of the 12 directors of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District from $25 to $50 a meeting has been introduced by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco.

Each of the six counties in the district has two directors, and Marin's are Supervisor William A. Gnoss and San Rafael City Councilman John A. Miskimen.

The bill, asked by the district board at the Feb. 5 meeting at which they banned all backyard burning after Dec. 31 of this year, also increases directors' maximum yearly pay from $660 to $1,200.

The district's chief administrative officer, D. J. Callaghan, commented then that such a bill would be "timely" because no state legislators "are running for election this year."

Surtsey, which burst up from the Atlantic Ocean off Iceland in 1963, is providing a rare opportunity to study the emergence of life on a barren island. Icelandic and American scientists have launched a long-term biological research program.

Wedding Day Starts Off In Hectic Manner

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) —The bridegroom's wedding gift had to be hosed down. The wedding car wouldn't start and a police car was pressed into service. But Dame Zara Holt married gentleman farmer and member of Parliament Jeff Bate today in Australia's wedding of the year.

Television carried the ceremony throughout Australia's eastern seaboard.

Dame Zara, whose age is her secret, is the widow of Prime Minister Harold Holt, who drowned in 1967. Bate is 62, wears mutton chop whiskers, and it's the third marriage for both.

Bate gave his bride a $2,000 stud Friesian calf, named Meadow Glen-Dame Zara, and brought it by plane to Melbourne early today. Friends lifted it from the plane, and a taxi truck took it to Dame Zara's home in the Toorak suburb. There the calf was hosed down so it would be spic and span.

When time came for the bride to leave for the ceremony at a daughter-in-law's house, the family car wouldn't start. The party piled into a police squad car and roared off with two uniformed troopers up front.

The soup is a blend of condensed chili beef and bisque of tomato, with onion and mexicorn added.

Celebrate A Birthday With Theme Taken From The Astrological Chart

The signs of the Zodiac are signs of the times. You see them everywhere these days. And what a perfect setting they make for a birthday celebration! Take advantage of this comic craze, and have a horoscope party for the next birthday on your list.

Set up a birthday bar with both food and the decorations following the astrological theme. Have lunar sandwiches, starry cupcakes, and soup in a big tureen with the birthday party's zodiac sign. It's wonderful, if you have one ready-made, like a fish tureen for Pisces; but you can make a beauty yourself with a straight-sided kettle or casserole covered in colored foil. Just paste on a paper fish or a ram for Aries, or a bull for Taurus. If you don't already know the zodiacal signs, almost anyone can tell you these star-gazing days.

Everybody serves himself at a birthday bar, which makes for comfortable guests and a relaxed hostess. The sandwiches and cakes can be as simple or elaborate as you care to make them. The soup should be a sensation.

You'll find it so easy to make a really spectacular soup, you'll think you, too, were born under a lucky star. All you need is some canned soup, a few extras, and a simple recipe. Chili beef soup, blended with bisque of tomato, onion, and mexicorn, and garnished with shredded cheese is a heavenly bowlful, astrologically speaking. Chicken and stars soup, an appropriate beginning, with ham, mushrooms, and watercress added, is equally delicious.

PISCES BIRTHDAY PARTY SOUP

¼ cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (11 ounces) condensed chili beef soup
1 can (11 ounces) condensed bisque of tomato soup
2 soup cans water
1 cup cooked mexicorn
Shredded mild process cheese

Cook onion in butter until tender. Blend in soups and water; add corn. Heat; stir now and then. Garnish with cheese. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

LUCKY STAR CHICKEN SOUP

½ cup chopped cooked ham
1 can (2 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed chicken & and stars soup
1 soup can water
¼ cup snipped watercress leaves

Brown ham and mushrooms in butter; add remaining ingredients. Heat; stir now andd then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Dessert Ideas With Cooked Apples Perk Up Appetites

The cool and damp days of winter call for something homey and delicious for dessert. Spicy baked apples, apple crisp and cream or apple-raisin cobbler are variations on the cooked apple theme.

APPLE-RAISIN COBBLER

4 cups sliced apples (about 4 medium)
½ cup raisins
⅔ cup sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
Dash of salt
½ cup water
1½ cups biscuit mix
2 tablespoons sugar
⅓ cup milk

Heat oven to 400°. Mix apples and raisins in square pan, 9x9x2 inches. In small bowl, blend ⅔ cup sugar, the cinnamon, salt and water; pour over apple mixture. Mix biscuit mix, 2 tablespoons sugar and the milk. On lightly floured cloth-covered board, roll dough into 9-inch square; place over apple mixture. Bake 30 minutes or until crust is golden brown. 8 servings. "Cobbled up" in a hurry.

CINNAMON BAKED APPLES

Choose baking apples, such as Rome Beauty, Golden Delicious or Greening.

Heat oven to 375°. Wash, core and remove 1-inch strip of skin around middle of each apple or pare upper half of each to prevent splitting. Place apples upright in baking dish. Place in center of each apple 1 to 2 tablespoons granulated or brown sugar, 1 teaspoon butter and ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon. Pour water (¼ inch deep) into baking dish. Bake until tender when pierced with fork, 30 to 40 minutes. (Time will vary with size and variety of apple.) If desired, spoon syrup in pan over apples several times during baking.

APPLE CRISP AND CREAM

Pare half a dozen tart, firm apples and cut each into 8 parts, removing core and seeds. Place the segments closely together in a buttered 8-by-12-inch pan. Mix together 2 tablespoons granulated sugar and ¼ teaspoon cinnamon and sprinkle this over the apples. Now mix 1 cup flour with ¼ cup brown sugar, and rub into it with the fingertips ½ cup butter until it is a crumbly consistency. Spread this over the apples and pat firm.

Bake in 450 degree oven for ½ hour or until the apples are tender. Eaten warm, either plain or with heavy cream, this is perfect with ham or sausages for breakfast. With hard sauce or sweetened whipped cream it becomes dessert.

MINTED APPLE chunks make a delightful accompaniment for meat (especially lamb) or poultry. Peel Pippin apples, cut into chunks and cook in syrup (using 1 cup sugar and 1 cup water) to which a few drops of oil of peppermint have been added. Cook until tender, then add either green or pink food coloring.

'La Chaudiere' Tradition Becomes New World Chowde

A famous chef, when asked to define chowder, described it as a thick, hearty soup containing fish or shellfish. He suggested that it probably originated in early New England.

This was a natural assumption because early settlers along New England's shores did utilize fish and shellfish in many ways. Seafoods were theirs for the taking and they developed many nourishing, filling, and comforting chowder recipes that were cherished and handed down from generation to generation.

CHOWDER ACTUALLY developed several centuries ago in coastal villages of France. When the fishermen came home from the sea, each man would throw a part of his catch into a huge copper kettle called "la chaudiere." The community would share in a feast celebrating their safe return. This tradition found its way to Canada and down the coast of New England where "la chaudiere" became chowder.

Haddock, a favorite fish in New England since early colonial days, is available, either fresh or frozen, in markets across the country. The white, tender meat is protein-rich and low in fat content and can be used in a wide variety of tasty recipes. Most of the haddock fillets are frozen in blocks and processed into fish sticks and portions which have become very popular as a convenience item.

OLD-FASHIONED haddock chowder is a true old-time New England chowder. The basic recipe has been modified and tested by home economists of the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries to simplify the preparation for today's busy homemaker. Large pieces of haddock add an unusual and satisfying touch that make this chowder so nourishing it could easily be used as the main course for any meal. Add a salad and some crispy bread — and the menu is complete.

1½ pounds haddock fillets, fresh or frozen
¼ cup chopped bacon or salt pork
½ cup chopped onion
2 cups diced potatoes
1 cup water
1 teaspoon salt
Dash white pepper
1½ cups milk
1 can (6 ounces) evaporated milk
Dill pickle strips

Thaw frozen fillets. Remove skin and bones from fillets. Fry bacon until crisp in a 12-inch fry pan. Remove bacon and reserve fat. Drain bacon on absorbent paper. Cook onion in bacon fat until tender. Add potatoes and water. Place fillets on top of potatoes. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cover and simmer for 15 to 20 minutes or until potatoes are tender and fillets flake easily when tested with a fork. Do not stir. Add milk. Heat. Sprinkle with bacon. Serve with dill pickle strips. Makes 6 servings.

Marinade Is Sauce For This Chicken Teriyaki

The raisin marinade serves as a sauce during baking.

½ cup seedless raisins
½ cup soy sauce
½ cup sherry
½ teaspoon ground ginger
1 teaspoon brown sugar
1 crushed clove garlic (optional)
1 (2½-pound) broiler-fryer, cut up

Chop raisins. Combine with soy sauce, wine, ginger, brown sugar and garlic. Pour over chicken and refrigerate several hours or overnight. Place chicken in baking pan, pouring marinade over pieces. Cover tightly with foil. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour. Uncover and continue baking about 30 minutes, until chicken is tender and browned. Makes 4 servings.

Warm Sugar

Butter and sugar can be creamed easily when the butter is hard by warming the sugar slightly in a preheated 250-degree oven.

SOAKS BRILLIANCE INTO WHITES AND COLORS

Procter & Gamble's new pre-soak invention.

Housewives who tested Biz against another laundry pre-soaker prefer Biz almost 2 to 1.

Housewives all over America conducted tests in their own homes. Given unidentified samples of Biz and the other pre-soaker by an independent testing organization, housewives used both on their own laundry problems.

The results are conclusive:

Biz is overwhelmingly preferred! Housewives volunteered these preferences. For tough stain removal, Biz was preferred by almost 2 to 1. For whiter clothes, by almost 3 to 1.

Biz is the most effective pre-soaker you can buy! Biz soaks out stains which no other pre-soaker can. Biz has Bio-Enzim – a combination of stain and dirt removal ingredients, including enzymes that break down stains and dirt biologically so you can easily wash them away.

Prove to yourself that Biz is better. Test Biz yourself and you'll see that Biz gets out stains that the other pre-soaker does not. Tough stains like dried-in mushroom gravy, grape juice, blueberry pie filling, coffee and many more. Yet Biz is safe for all washable fabrics and colors – even delicate lingerie. Take the Biz challenge and go soak your clothes in Biz. You'll see for yourself. Biz is better! Biz soaks out stains and dirt which no detergent, no bleach, or no other pre-soaker can remove!

TALKING THINGS over are the "talk of the London fashion scene," Ossie Clark and his partner, Alice Pollock. The two own Quorum, a tiny Chelsea boutique, featuring not so tiny prices.

Ossie Clark Digs Far-Out Fashions

By NADEANE WALKER

LONDON (AP) — A full-length python-skin dress for torrid singer Eartha Kitt?

As the newest lion on the London fashion scene, Ossie Clark must expect such orders, and take them in stride. His price was 300 pounds ($720) for the job.

A pale, lean young man with the sensitive face of a post, Ossie's only resemblance to the king of the jungle is his floppy mane of hair. Because his hair flops, he tied it back with a narrow scarf and launched a craze for headbands.

The wizardy of Ossie (pronounced Ozzie) is making him, along with Alice Pollock, his partner in Quorum, a tiny Chelsea boutique, possibly the most-talked about talent British fashion.

Last fall Ossie and Alice gave fashion editors who don't shock easily a jolt with their open-hanging, no bra-no blouse "Nude Look" collection. Twiggy bought some, but she pins them together at the bust. Another well-known model girl wears them as they come.

"SURE PEOPLE will wear them," says Ossie. "Just give them time."

Ossie and Alice reckon they're at least a year ahead of the American buyers, but then say Quorum has a lot of private customers in the United States, "and the buyers will catch on." Already one buyer has sold copies of one of their coats. London price 17 pounds ($40.80 dollars) for 500 dollars in America.

His fans claim everybody copies Ossie, so Ossie has decided to "knock off my own range" for mass production. With Alice, he recently signed a contract with Radley, a British company which will put its label in dresses selling for under five pounds ($12).

"I don't know where fashion is going until I'm actually working on a collection," says Ossie. "That's what makes it enjoyable. Every woman I see in the streets, I mentally redesign her clothes. Everything influences me.

"Customers have to listen to us. We criticize their hairstyles, shoes, everything."

Ossie was born in 1942 in Liverpool, the port city that spawned the Beatles, the youngest of six children. On the same day Alice was born in Southern Rhodesia, the daughter of a mining engineer. To escape wartime bombing, Ossie was evaculated to Oswaldtwistle, Lancashire. ("That's where I got my name. My real name's Raymond.") while Alice was brought up "by my granny" from the age of nine in Shrewsbury, England.

AT 12, OSSIE was making clothes for his two neices, aged 2 and 3. Encouraged by a high school art teacher and his mother, he went on to the Royal College of Art School of Fashion. Alice thought she was going to be a pianist, then a dancer.

"I was so bad at it I changed to languages, did a secretarial course, worked at the French Embassy and then for a film company."

They got together while Ossie was still at fashion school, and with his help Alice opened Quorum in Kensington early in 1965.

They moved to Chelsea two years ago.

"Our first collection," says Alice, "didn't sell much, but it made people talk." As green kids, "we had some fantastic disasters." One of these happened when actress Julie Christie stepped on a nail in their shop. She's still a customer; so is singer Cleo Lane and designer Schiaparelli's granddaughter.

They both say, with some satisfaction, "We're singing our own pop song now."

ELENA ZELAYETA

Things Still Cooking At 70

"Everyone can't have everything in life," said Elena Zelayeta.

The lively, gray haired woman in the becoming royal blue dress talked with enthusiasm about her family, friends, enlarging her food factory, a new book, travel . . . It seemed that Elena did have everything.

A world-acclaimed authority on Mexican cooking, Mrs. Zelayeta will give a cooking demonstration for members and friends of St. Stephens Guild at 1 p.m. Tuesday at Whitaker Hall in Belvedere. Mrs. J. Paul Silvestri Jr. of Tiburon is chairman.

Before her Marin appearance she will preview the kitchen, making sure that she can find each item and each appliance with ease.

"I AM BLIND — totally blind," she said. "There is nothing they can do, so I have to do something about myself. You've got to want to help yourself."

This philosophy and the determination to follow it through have been Elena's guiding forces. Girlhood struggles in San Francisco, where her parents and four younger brothers and sisters were stranded after political upheavals in Mexico in 1910, began the strengthening process. Her parents, natives of Spain, had gone to live in Mexico City, where they had a successful restaurant and hotel. All this was lost when, on a vacation trip to San Francisco, they learned of the revolution which made it impossible for them to return to Mexico. Elena's eyesight had not been good since a childhood attack of scarlet fever. She lost her vision entirely just before her second son was born, and when she was operating a Mexican restaurant in downtown San Francisco. She was widowed in 1945, while her two sons, Larry and Bill "still needed a home. I had to be both mother and father," she says.

Seventeen years ago she started a small food business in her own home.

"At that time I had three books out, but I was afraid that they might stop selling and my family would not have an income." At first she sold her Mexican foods to fine food stores in San Francisco. One complaint from a store owner was that all the boxes in which she wrapped her delicacies were different, and not uniformly marked. The blind Elena had, of course, no idea what the containers looked like.

Both of her sons helped with her business in the early stages. Now Larry continues to assist with factory operations, while Bill is a salesman traveling the Western United States for his firm.

"Parents have a very important part to play," Elena emphasized. "We were brought up a little bit differently. There was respect. My father had rules. Spanish women are very strict about their children. When dinner time comes everyone must be at the table together. Now parents are afraid of their children, afraid to cross them, afraid the child won't love them. . . . I am glad for the strictness of my own home. Without it I'd never have been able to tackle my blindness."

Now 70, an age when many think of taking life a little easy, Elena has many plans. Her sixth book, "Favorite Foods California Style," was published late last year and was the publisher's December Book of the month club selection. She recently appeared on a television program, "Success Story." She gives lectures and demonstrations throughout the country. Trips to Mexico and a return to Europe are in the future. At the time of our visit she was preparing for a visit from the representative of the Fonda del Sol restaurant in New York which she serves as food consultant, and a dinner party at her home was part of the plan.

"In entertaining everything is organization," she said. "On Wednesday I order for a Saturday party. There are so many prepared foods now — even in Mexico tortillas are made by machine — but with me it's complicated. I try not to use too many prepared foods. I have pride."

A DREAM MENU, something like she will prepare for the St. Stephens Guild program, includes her own concoction, Foam Soup, a chicken broth with tiny fluffy dumplings, a salad shaped like a Mexican Hat, green enchiladas and flan.

"Having a large number of dishes from which to choose is like having a large wardrobe," Elena chuckled. "As my mother said, 'if you only had one dress you would have no trouble making up your mind.' So it is with the many good things to eat. For my own entertaining I use both Mexican and continental dishes."

She sums up her approach to living, "My best in someone else's eyes may not be very good, but I can't torture myself with that thought. I don't strive for perfection; if I did, I'd be a nervous wreck. I think that one of the most important rules for successful living is to make use of what you have, understand your limitations and live accordingly. Some people are never happy even when doing their best because they want more — from themselves and from others, too. And some people never try at all because they're so afraid the results won't be perfect. I do the very best I can, and let it go at that."

For Elena's friends, her best is very good.

Newlyweds Feted At Ross Reception

By MOLLY MARIN

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hallett Jr. were honored at a reception Sunday afternoon hosted by his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Harold E. Hallett, and the Women's Guild of St. John's Church in Ross.

More than 200 friends attended the reception held at the rectory for the couple, who were married Dec. 29 at St. Eugene's Cathedral in Santa Rosa. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Ward of Santa Rosa.

Following a wedding trip to Hawaii the couple returned to their studies at Sonoma State College. The bridegroom was graduated from Yale University and is working toward a Ph.D. in marine biology at Sonoma State, where he is also a teaching assistant.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Is The Forbidden More Enticing Or Does It Just Seem That Way?

DEAR HELEN:

I agree with "Outdated" who claims men should stay pure until marriage. It's great to know that my marriage partner never made love to another, and she feels the same about me. My wife and I were both ignorant before marriage, but we managed to work things out all right without any real hassle. Doing what comes naturally isn't difficult.

This reminds me of the story about the Army sergeant who asked his men, "All guys whose unmarried sisters are virgins, raise your hands." Of course all hands went up, whereupon the sergeant remarked, "Since it's fair to say that all men would answer the same, I could only assume that either you are all lying, or there's one girl running around, who is brotherless and mighty busy!"

In other words, if a guy loses his virginity, somewhere along the line a girl must also. Therefore, I think it's sort of hypocritical for a man to deflower girls right and left and expect to find a pure rosebud waiting to be picked when he decides it's time to settle down. — DAVE

DEAR HELEN:

Isn't it true that in Sweden, where they've tossed away false prudery about sex, there is less going on between unmarried people than there was when "illicit" sex was considered a sin?

If you let adults govern themselves about morality they won't go on a non-stop orgy. They may indulge even less, because the forbidden is almost always more enticing. More likely they'll keep on doing as they've always done, but they'll cut out the sneaking around and pretending — and isn't that a relief? — EMMETT

DEAR EMMETT:

Make up your mind: Is the "forbidden more enticing" or the unforbidden "a relief"?

I don't know whether Swedes are less or more sexy since the switchover, but I might point out repeal of the Volstead Act didn't cut down on liquor consumption. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Our daughter was a bridal attendant three times in 1968. The cost of clothes, showers, etc. ran into the hundreds of dollars, but I'm not complaining about that.

What bothers me is that only one of these girls, now wives, has ever invited my daughter in for so much as coffee in her new home. And only one sent a Christmas card: The same girl, of course, and she was the most underprivileged of the group. The others never even called to thank us for the showers we gave.

What kind of people are these? — MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER:

Impolite and ungrateful! When the babies start coming, don't get roped into showers or gifts. — H.

PERSONAL TO IMPATIENT: It is written: He who hurries often passes up more than he overtakes. Slow down: You've got a few good years left, you know. — H.

Beauty Tips For Eyelashes, Hands

One good way to judge placement of false eyelashes comes from Ron Buchardt, makeup designer for Charles of the Ritz. Start the inner corner of the lash one finger depth from the nose, he says. In other words, leave about one-half inch from the inner corners without the falsies, rather extending them toward the outer lids. Buchardt offers another makeup tip to the woman wanting to make her hands longer and slimmer. Use very pale polish instead of the deep tones.

Rain, rain go away. We want to go to the beach and play. This firecracker stripe group is shown in a bikini style and a two-piece boy-leg. The button front swim jacket with elasticized sleeves and hip band can cover-up either.

Children Who Are Overweight May Be Overeaters Through Adult Years

The overweight adult is well known to be handicapped in more than looks. He is likely to develop hypertension, have heart disease, and die earlier than an individual of normal weight. He is more prone to have diabetes and gall bladder disease. If he requires an operation, the work of the surgeon is more complicated and the patient's risk is increased. Often obesity begins in childhood.

To become obese an individual must have an intake of potential energy greater than his expenditure of energy. This excess he stores as fat. This does not mean an obese individual is necessarily a glutton. A very small excess of calories taken in daily for many months and years will cause an accumulation of excess pounds. As a person becomes very heavy, moving around is increasingly difficult, activity diminishes, and fewer calories are burned.

Most obese people who go to a doctor hope the condition will be attributed to "glands" and medication prescribed which will effortlessly melt away the extra pounds. Less than 2 per cent of obese patients have demonstrable glandular disorders. For the rest the cause is unknown and the only treatment is to reduce the intake of food, increase the expenditure of energy, or both.

Most information on increased death and disease rates from obesity is derived from life insurance statistics and deals only with adults. Although statistics are not available for children, it is known that overweight children develop into overweight adults. As many as 5 per cent of children are above the normal range of weight for their height and age. Of these children, about 70 per cent have one or both parents who are obese. Does this mean that obesity, or at least a tendency to gain weight easily, is inherited? Perhaps, but it is also possible that family eating patterns are at fault.

CHILDREN CAN become overweight at any stage of childhood. Some mothers who consider it desirable for their baby to be chubby feel it is their duty to feed him as much as he will take. During the toddler years, when children normally become taller and relatively thinner, some of these mothers urge more food on the child than he needs, and gradually the feeling develops that food means mother's love. If the child has been sickly, food is urged on him "to make him strong."

During pre-adolescent years children normally deposit fat and gain weight before they start their adolescent growth spurt, but excessive weight gain results in a fat child.

During adolescence, the combination of normal growth spurt with new interest in personal appearance gives some overweight children incentive to reduce to normal weight. For others, however, being unattractive makes it easier to avoid the anxiety of social contact with the opposite sex.

The overweight child is often told not to worry — he will "grow out of it." The mildly chubby child who gained weight in the pre-adolescent years probably will become a normal adult, but the habitually overweight child probably will not. Real obesity in childhood is not only a handicap to physical accomplishments — athletics, dancing, etc. — but is also a serious psychologic problem. The pre-adolescent who is fat, slothful, and socially unacceptable resorts to eating like an alcoholic takes to the bottle. This constitutes a vicious circle which may go on into adult years.

THE EMPHASIS today is on prevention rather than cure of obesity. Preventing obesity in children requires alert attention at all ages:

1. The mother of the chubby infant and toddler should limit sweets and second helpings. Candy and most desserts provide "empty calories" without the nutrients needed for growth.

2. Food should not be used to pacify children.

3. The school child should be encouraged toward increased physical activity and to limiting between-meal snacks to fruit, milk, etc.

4. The older child who is concerned about his weight should be helped by offering him foods recommended by his doctor and eliminating the temptation of candy, pop, and rich desserts.

The origin of obesity involves cultural, family, psychological, and genetic factors. It is no wonder that this complicated problem has no simple solution, says the California Medical Association.

Former Teacher, Travel Guide Heads Belvedere Guild 3 Of Sunny Hills

Fixing up old houses and second homes is a hobby of Mrs. Donald J. O'Leary, newly-elected president of Belvedere Guild 3 of Sunny Hills.

A graduate of the University of California at Santa Barbara, Mrs. O'Leary did graduate work at the University of California at Los Angeles, Long Beach State College and Arizona State University. Loris O'Leary is a former teacher and counselor, and is qualified to give intelligence tests. With this background, she is very interested in local public schools.

Travel, too, is a major enthusiasm, perhaps spurred by her experience as a tour director in Japan for the United States government. Frequent ski trips to Lake Tahoe, tennis and swimming are her outdoor pleasures.

The new president is a former Girl Scout leader, treasurer for the Reed Union School District Parent-Teacher Club, and belongs to the Belvedere-Tiburon Guild of the Boyd Museum of Science.

The O'Learys have lived in Tiburon for five years. Mr. O'Leary is an attorney and business consultant. They have two children, Karen, 13, and Kevin, 12.

The guild president has been a member for three years. She has been Belvedere June tea chairman, and Guild Grape Festival chairman. Any interested woman who will give her time to the guild's projects — a fund-raising picnic, staffing the Bargain Box, assisting at the Grape Festival, and participation in the All-Belvedere Guilds June tea — is welcome to become a member.

Other new officers are Mmes. B. G. Johnston, vice president; Raymund Millzner, secretary; Ralph Schilling, treasurer; and Victor Grant, Bargain Box.

Engagement Announced In East Bay

A champagne party, hosted by Mr. and Mrs. George Y. Johnson of Oakland, was the occasion for the announcement of their daughter Emilene's engagement ot Jeffrey Fearn, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Fearn of San Rafael.

Emmy is a senior at the University of California at Davis, where she is editor of the Students' Viewpoint, a member of Prytanean Society and a resident adviser.

Jeff, who was graduated from U.C. at Davis, also was a resident adviser. He begins active duty as a second lieutenant with the Army Field Artillery at Ft. Sill, Okla., in March.

Husband-Wife Team To Perform For Thursday Musical Club

The Thursday Musical Club will feature Istvan Nadas and his wife, Rosalie, in a program of four-hand works for piano at their February concert tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. at the Mill Valley home of the Harrison Leppos. President Mrs. Hugh Middleton will assist the hostess in welcoming members and their guests.

MRS. ISTVAN NADAS

Istvan Nadas studied piano in his native Hungary with Bela Bartok and Louis Kentner. While in his teens, he toured Europe as soloist with orchestras and in recital, performing the classics as well as the music of contemporary composers.

ISTVAN NADAS

After World War II, having received the highest decorations from the Italian government for his blossoming career as an artist of the piano, he was subsequently appointed to the directorship of the piano department at the National Conservatory of Caracas, Venezuela. In 1953 he moved to the United States.

Mr. Nadas is a professor of piano at San Francisco State College. He, his wife and young daughter make their home in the city. Mrs. Leland Jordan will introduce the artists.

Following the program, tea will be served by the refreshment committee headed by Mmes. Fred Stribling and A. Dean Gough, assisted by Mmes. John D. MacAuley, Roger Wurtz, Elliott Stevens, Carlos Freitas, Paul Daly and John Anton. Pouring at the tea table will be Mmes. Delmar Clinton and Rodney Hartman.

THE SUNNY HILLS Bargain Box will be open as usual on Saturday, Washington's Birthday. A 22 cents sale on wearing apparel and other items will be featured.

The regular monthly silent auction will be held at 2 p.m.; unusual items to be auctioned are a pre-Civil War flintlock rifle; a rocking chair, which is a twin of the one that the late President Kennedy used; many old cast iron untensils; a white ostrich feather cape and matching purse; and a collection of old bottles.

Every half hour during the business day, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., a cherry pie will be awarded to a customer.

PLANS ARE underway to form a new bethel of the International Order of Job's Daughters in the Novato area, according to Mrs. E. W. LeVan of Novato. Twenty-five girls between the ages of 12 and 20 who are related to members of the Masonic fraternity are needed to start the group, which would meet twice a month and also have dinners, dances, trips and other social activities. Adult counselors have been chosen for the group, Mrs. LeVan states.

MARIN CHAIRMEN for the June 1-7 annual KQED Auction have been named. With an unprecedented record of $334,000 raised during last year's auction, volunteers are enthusiastic about the 1969 big fund-raiser for the non-commercial Channel 9.

In Marin Mrs. Thomas Parks of San Rafael will direct area solicitation. Mrs. Thomas Kearney of Mill Valley and Mrs. Jarvis Gates, formerly of Sausalito, who recently moved to Piedmont, are chairmen of auctioneers.

Solicitation chairmen are Mmes. Bryan Chapman for Sausalito, Belvedere and Tiburon; Norman Solari, San Rafael; Robert Bilger, Mill Valley, Corte Madera, Larkspur; Mark Morris, San Anselmo; Barbara Vorhees, Fairfax; Mervyn Dowd Jr., Kentfield, Greenbrae, Ross; Jerome London, Novato and Terra Linda; and Ellen Clarke Eilert, Woodacre, Stinson Beach and Bolinas.

Prospective donors may contact area chairmen for cash or merchandise gifts they wish to give to KQED for the annual auction.

In charge of art donations is Mrs. Mason Fleming Jr. of Ross.

The auction will again be telecast in color from the Palace of Fine Arts daily from 2 p.m. June 1 through June 7. A preview will be held the last week in May for art, antiques and items of unusual interest and value.

Bach Group Concert Scheduled On Sunday

The Bach-to-Mozart Chamber Group will present the fourth concert of the 1968-69 Candlelight Chamber Music Series Sunday at 8 p.m. in Brown's Hall, Mill Valley.

Part I of the program will consist of the Purcell Trumpet Voluntary for Trumpet and Strings; the J. S. Bach Aria "Es ist Vollbracht" from Cantata 159 for Baritone, Oboe and String, and Monteverdi's "Ahi, Sciocco Mondo" for Soprano Baritone and Continuo.

Part II includes Joseph Fiala's Quartet in F Major for Oboe and Strings, three traditional songs of the troubadours for soprano and viola, and Monteverdi's "Ardo E Scoprir" for Soprano, Baritone and Continuo.

Concluding the evening will be a duo for viola and cello by Walter Piston, "Lungi dal Ben Ch'Adoro" by Bernardo Gffi for Soprano, Cello and Continuo, and Handel's Occasional Oratorio for Baritone, Trumpet, Oboe and strings and Continuo.

Musicians performing will be soprano Gwen Curatilo and baritone Edgar Jones; George Nagata and Gail Denny, violins; Rolf Storseth, cello; Asbjorn Finess, viola; Margaret Fabrizio, harpsichord; Edward Haug, trumpet, and Raymond Duste, oboe.

The fifth concert in the series will be presented by the Danzi Woodwind Quintet on March 28.

Orchid Talk Set

Mrs. A. F. Lawton of Tiburon, who specializes in growing out-of-door orchids, will speak at 8 p.m. tomorrow at a public meeting of the Marin Orchid Society at 735 Center Boulevard, Fairfax.

Grading System Is Due Board Study

A change in grading to eliminate credit for grades fo D and F at College of Marin will be presented to the board of trustees for action at a meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Fine Arts Building at the college.

Trustees will also be asked to approve a plan to restrict attendance by out-of-district students at College of Marin.

Scientist Feels Doom Avoidable

PASADENA (AP) — Although 98 per cent of all the species that have existed in 3.5 million years of life on earth are now extinct, man has the knowledge to avoid a similar fate, says a Caltech biologist.

Prof. James Bonner said yesterday man has the ability now to increase the supply of favorable genes by selective breeding.

Normally, "We would expect to be superseded eventually by some other creature more intelligent than we, just as we superseded Neanderthal man," Dr. Bonner told a Caltech symposium on "The Far Reach of Science."

Improved genetic management may also mean organ transplants will become obsolete, he said.

"Instead, we will grow new organs to replace worn-out ones."

Teachers Get Blame For School Unrest

Heavy blame was placed yesterday on "racist teachers" for unrest in Bay Area high schools.

"I hear the word 'nigger' used by teachers," said Stanley M. Pease, a Tamalpais High School social studies instructor who last fall completed a study of unrest at six Bay Area high schools.

"You go to any school and it (racism) is there," he said. "I don't know of any school that's free of it."

Pease, reporting to the discipline study committee of the Tamalpais High School District board, said some teachers assumed minority students were "not really going to do well" in class and did little to help them.

SPECIAL PROGRAMS

Among the recommendations in Pease's report was to start special programs for teachers and counselors to enable them to develop greater sensitivity to students.

"Many times teachers create problems merely by the way they talk and act toward students," according to the report. "This type of training might include an examination of minority group problems and those of various subcultures.

Other recommendations in Pease's report were creation of a Black Students Union at Tamalpais High School, provision for a room at Tamalpais High School as a meeting place for blacks and for "furthering black culture," creation of a black parent-student advisory group and the start of greater efforts to bring "disaffected" students into student government and other school activities.

NO INFORMATION

District Trustee Gloria Melbostad said the school board "feels of no help" in avoiding possible strife at district schools because "we get absolutely no information on what's going on."

"We're told everything's fine and we only hear when Bob (Robert Prather, principal of Tamalpais High School) gets in a bind," she said.

The 23-member study committee was formed last fall to see if it can reach new policy on student discipline.

At its next meeting, at 4 p.m. March 4 at the district office, the committee is expected to discuss policy on parent responsibility and mass absences.

Plea Entered In Drug Case

Frank Emory Prewett of Elm Road, Bolinas, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to possession of dangerous drugs and a narcotic injection device.

A preliminary hearing was set for April 11.

Prewett was arrested Jan. 31 in Mill Valley.

Bench Warrant Is Issued In Drug Case

A bench warratn with bail set at $1,000 was issued yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for Jon Theodore Kilpatrick, 24, of no known address, who failed to appear in court.

Kilpatrick, who is charged with possession of dangerous drugs, was first arrested in a December raid at 14 Sentinel Court, San Rafael.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

REJECTED — Sausalito city councilmen last night turned down this proposal for development of the American Distillery site as a residence and entertainment center for 700 young single persons. R and B Development Company has built seven other such communities it calls South Bay Clubs, one of them in Mountain View, the rest in Southern California.

School Fund Need Urged In Fairfax

Fairfax School Supt. H. Reginald Hammond warned school district trustees last night that present school programs would have to be cut back next year unless the district either raises taxes or gets more aid from the state.

The board postponed a decision on whether to approve a tax hike, raising the current $3.035 per $100 assessed valuation tax rate, until its next meeting on March 4.

Dr. Hammond estimated income for the next fiscal year would be roughly $800,000 compared to projected expenditures — keeping all programs at their present level and adding no new ones — would be about $863,000. This would mean a deficit of about $60,000 unless taxes were boosted, more state aid was received or programs were cut back, he said.

Hammond will present budget estimates on three different levels at the next meeting. He said he would present one budget that would hold the line on present programs but still require increased income.

Another set of figures would reflect what programs would have to be cut to the bone to match expected expenditures with expected income.

A third budget proposal would include some new programs school authorities feel are needed.

Fairfax School District trustees also:

DEER PARK — Heard Pierre Joske of the county parks and recreation department propose continuation of a 30-year agreement for joint development of the Deer Park School area. Such development has been blocked by the objections of residents and the Fairfax City Council and Hammond said the school trustees probably would want to scrap the agreement unless something was done within a year.

AGREEMENT—Approved an agreement under which the county superintendent of schools office will provide full-time emotionally handicapped classes for Fairfax students.

CALENDAR — Postponed approval of the 1969 school calendar until it is decided whether students will get both Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays off or just get one free "Presidents' Birthday" day.

Street Link Speed Urged

The Marin County Redevelopment Agency last night recommended the county build the proposed connector road between Marin City and Tennessee Valley.

Agency member Collie B. Gaines urged quick action by the county because the people of Marin City want a second route out of the community. The only access now is to the south toward Highway 101 and Bridgeway.

County Public Works Director Donald Frost said the road would connect Keys Court with Tennessee Valley road near Highway 1. The road, 1,500 feet long, would cost an estimated $175,000, Frost said.

Agency Director Donald O. Stutsman estimated today the redevelopment agency and housing authority might be able to contribute $60,000 to $70,000 toward the project.

The agency also awarded a $690 contract to Alvis Allen of Marin City to build a new temporary bus shelter on Donahue Street. Only other bidder was J. B. Madden at $715. The old shelter blew down in a storm several weeks ago.

Sausalito Turns Down Young Singles Project

Sausalito City Council last night rejected an appeal to permit an apartment development for 700 young single persons, charging it was too big for the city to absorb.

Residents asserted that the development would alter the character of the community at a two-hour hearing which attracted a standing room audience of about 75 persons at city hall.

Under fire was a proposal by R and B Development to construct the apartment on the American Distillery Co. property north of the city.

The firm was appealing planning commission denial of its application for a higher density than the city ordinance permits.

Atty. Albert Bianchi, representing the firm, explained it was seeking pre-zoning because it intended to annex to the city.

The firm proposed 16 three-story apartment buildings grouped around a recreation center on the 13-acre site along Bridgeway.

Councilman George C. Hoffman said the proposed density would be a drastic digression from the city's general plan, and "I just don't think it's for Sausalito."

Councilman Alexander R. Imlay noted that a large influx of single adults would throw the population makeup of the city out of balance.

One resident, making a plea for variety in population, said the young adults would be monogamous in "terms of habit and wouldn't support the organic growth of this town."

Bruce E. Woelfel and David E. Freedheim, members of the Sausalito School District board, said the proposed development would have no benefit to the district.

It would be "in the midst of two schools, and not in the best interests of the district,'' Freedheim said. "Sausalito must invite families with children."

One woman, who identified herself as a businesswoman, said the city must be aware of the times with half the population soon to be under 25 years of age.

Bianchi contended that previous opposition to the project has been based on emotionalism, and that the apartments would be better use of the site than single family homes or industry.

"It's too big and it's too massive," said Councilman Robin Sweeny. We already have a transient population and to add transient residents would compound the problem.'

The city needs a population that will assimilate and will participate in civic affairs, Hoffman said. "I don't think you can do that with large enclaves, each with individual and private interests."

Mrs. Charles Lester, representing the Sausalito Parents Club, said 'a large group of any one type is out of scale to the community, a working way from a varied community."

One resident said the plan "had all the charm of a corporate plan . . . and seems to have a fast buck flavor that indicates lack of concern for the community."

After the hearing the council unanimously voted to uphold the planning commission's denial.

Council Objects To Price Of Proposed Library Site

Sausalito City Council isn't ready to give up on the Northwestern Pacific Railroad Co. property at Caledonia and Bee streets as a possible site for a new library.

Library trustees last night reported that the cost of the railroad site, estimated at $216,000, was too high. They recommended that the council consider acquiring the Sausalito Fuel and Ice Co. property at Litho and Caledonia streets.

Councilmen questioned the $216,000 figure and authorized City Atty. Leland H. Jordan to hire an appraiser.

The council appointed George R. Chapman of 210 West Street, a credit collection manager, as city treasurer to succeed Edwin S. Long, who resigned Jan. 21, after serving since April, 1952.

Chapman will complete Long's term which ends in April, 1972. The council passed a resolution of appreciation commending Long for his service.

Councilmen also approved an agreement whereby Madden and Lewis Inc. granted the city an easement along Humboldt Avenue, about 530 feet long and six feet wide, for a walkway or boardwalk to provide public access to the waterfront and to a triangular parcel at the southeast corner of Humboldt and Johnson Street.

The easement was granted in lieu of 11 parking spaces.

The Sausalito City Council Also:

WATERFRONT PLAN — Postponed until next Tuesday review of a proposed plan for Sausalito's central waterfront submitted by property owners in the area, noting that the proposal would be before the city planning commission tonight.

RETIREMENT -- Introduced an ordinance to increase employee and city contributions to provide increased retirement benefits for employees under the state retirement system, a plan ndorsed by employees. The complicated sliding scale provides that a 20-year-old joining the system who now pays 3.58 per cent of his salary retirement would pay 5.37 per cent of his salary above $133 a month. A 30-year-old would pay 6.03 per cent instead of 4.06, and a 40-year-old would pay 7.13 per cent instead of 4.83.

PARK LANDSCAPING — Approved a contract with Eckbo, Dean, Austin and Willians, of San Francisco, landscape architects, to design Princess Park, at Princess Street and Bridgeway, at a fee of 15 per cent of the cost of the project.

CAAB REVIEW — Adopted an ordinance requiring review by Advisory Board of proposed signs and hillside cuts and grading.

701 PLANNING — Authorized the city's planning consultant William Spangle and Associates of Portola Valley to provide staff work at a cost of $1,216 as part of the city's contribution toward its 701 planning grant from the state.

COUNTY CHARGES — Authorized City Mgr. George M. Patterson to seek a reduction in the deductions made by Marin County for processing the city's parking tickets, a change Patterson said would save the city $10,000 a year. The deductions are based on dollar amounts, not number of tickets, and Sausalito which has $2 parking tickets is paying more revenue than cities which have $1 tickets, Patterson explained. It costs no more to process a $2 ticket than a $1 ticket and the city shouldn't have to pay a percentage on the second dollar, Patterson contended.

FIRE ENGINE — Transferred $9,000 from the budget reserve to make the first payment on a new fire engine which has been delivered and is expected to be in operation soon.

CLAIM DENIED — Denied a claim from Jeff Grinnell of 1661 Mar West, Tiburon, for $376 damage to his car, which he said was struck by a city fire truck Jan. 31, 1969.

ADJOURNMENT — Because the agenda was not completed due to the late hour, adjourned until 8 p.m. Tuesday and adjourned in memory of Josie Rosa, 95, of 195 Woodward Avenue, a native of Sausalito and 70-year resident, who died last week.

Pay Demands Bring Tax Rate Worry

Recent demands for higher salaries and fringe benefits by county social workers and the Marin County Employees Association could send the tax rate soaring to $2.69, a jump of 42 cents over the current rate, the Marin County Property Owners Association warned yesterday.

In a letter delivered to the county administrator, association president Albert J. Bianchi announced his group will fully study and compare the $2.5 million pay demands of county employees with salary scales of comparable governmental agencies and private industry in the Bay Area.

Bianchi pointed out that the board of supervisors issued a statement last month, declaring its intent to hold the tax rate to the current $2.27, and that the new pay demands could seriously jeopardize fulfillment of this goal.

Bianchi said the $2.5 million pay demand was comparable to a $45 million increase in assessed property valuation over last year's figures.

The association asked for copies of the salary demands made by the employees association, the Social Workers Union, and any future pay requests from other county employee groups.

Bianchi's letter zeroed in particularly on social workers' demands. He pointed out that the highest pay increases given last year went to 23 eligibility workers in the Department of Public Social Services.

"These people received 15 per cent pay increases last year and recent demands by the Social Workers Union could give them additional 15 per cent salary raises in both 1969 and 1970," said Bianchi.

"We recognize that our county employees must receive wages commensurate with the cost of living index, and we would certainly support reasonable salary increases of this nature. However, the stated salary demands appear to be more than a little excessive."

Upset Cats Lead To Discovery Of House's Burglary

Mrs. Jacqueline Jeremy of Greenbrae felt something was wrong last night when her two cats ran to the front door, apparently trying to get out.

She called to her son, Joseph, and together they found the upstairs bedroom in disarray. Larkspur police were called at 9:35 p.m.

Mrs. Jeremy, who lives at 291 Via Lerida, told officers she hadn't heard anything probably because she had been watching television in the dining room. Her son, she said, saw two young men running down the street, one carrying a guitar under his arm.

Entry was made through an unlocked back door. Missing, Mrs. Jeremy told police, were a portable TV set, $200; a guitar, $100; two radios, 125, $5 change from a piggy bank and credit cards.

Car Looted

Arthur R. Crowe of 165 Novato Street, San Rafael, reported to police yesterday the theft of clothing and a rotisserie, with a total value of $110, from his car parked outside the Country Club Bowl on Vivian Way in San Rafael.

North Marin Water Post To Churchill

Eugene S. Churchill, auditor and office manager of the North Marin County Water District, last night was named general manager of the district, effective March 1. He will replace Jerome B. Gilbert who resigned to become executive officer of the State Water Resources Board.

Churchill, who has been with the district since 1960, will have his salary increased from $13,800 to $17,400 per year, he said.

He is married; he and his wife, Jean, have five children: a married daughter, Mrs. Linda Migeley of Novato; Steven, 11; Barbara, 9; Laurie, 5 and Lee, 3. They live at 6 Truman Drive.

Senior engineer of the district, James D. Fritz, was named chief engineer and his salary increased from $16,200 to $16,800 per year, Churchill said.

The North Marin County Water District board also:

WARM SPRINGS — Voted to ask Congressman Don H. Clausen, R-First District, to get warm springs dam funds increased. The flood control benefits of the dam had been cut from $9 million to $1.5 million, Churchill said.

REPORT — Received the semiannual report in which operating income was reported as $396,207, slightly above the estimated $395,303. The expenses were $222,232, less than the estimated $227,213. The district has performed $102,138 of its capital improvements budgeted at $179,832 for the fiscal year.

HIDDEN VALLEY — Approved replacing corroded Main connections in Hidden Valley at a cost estimated at $2,200.

REBATES — Made $26,093 in rebates to contractors and developers who have installed mains which benefit other areas.

San Rafael Captain Appointed Bar Pilot

Capt. Donald J. O'Brien of San Rafael, has been appointed a bar pilot for the San Francisco, San Pablo and Suisun bays, Capt. Joseph W. Dickover, president of the board of pilot commissioners, reported.

O'Brien, 48, of 15 Wolfe Avenue, has been with Pacific Far East Line since 1950 and most recently commanded the Oregon Bear. He holds an unlimited master's license and first class pilot endorsements for San Francisco Bay and tributaries to Stockton.

Hub Teachers Seek 20 Pct. Pay Hike

San Anselmo School District teachers last night asked district trustees for an approximately 20 per cent salary hike for 1969-70.

No action was taken, the subject to be negotiated at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, at Redhill School, Supt. Stephen L. Parodi reported.

Total cost of the package is $201,523 which includes the normal $25,155 increment increase.

The 96 teachers, now being paid a total of $891,838, would be paid $1,093,361. Requested is a new salary range from $6,900 per year to $14,688. Salary range is now $6,000 to $12,352.

Parodi explained that, if the raise were approved, it would require an increase in the present tax rate of $3.415 per $100 assessed valuation.

Parodi said he and two trustees will meet with classified employees at 4 p.m., tomorrow, at Redhill School to discuss salaries and job discriptions.

San Anselmo School District Board Also:

RESIGNATION — Accepted resignation of trustee Robert W. Corlett. Corlett resigned due to "press of business," then filed to run for Tamalpais High School District trustee.

TEACHER-AIDES — Hired kindergarten teacher-aides Mrs. Mollie Reilly, Wade Thomas School; Mrs. Marilyn Citti, Yolansdale School; Robyn McKinley, Brookside School and Mrs. Marjorie Pope, Isabel Cook School, at $270 per month for a six-hour day.

CLASSROOM SPACE — Heard a letter from Mrs. James Denebeim, a Sleepy Hollow parent volunteer, noting deficiencies in classroom space for special classes. Trustees discussed renting portables, bond issues and a tax increase but took no action.

ARCHITECT AGREEMENT — Approved a $1,500 agreement with architect Schachtman Velikonia of Vallejo to make preliminary renderings of proposed new school buildings.

SHOPLIFTING BULLETINS — Agreed to make bulletins regarding shoplifting available for use of teachers with pupils but not to send them home with children.

Martyrs' Day Program Set

A Martyrs' Day program in memory of slain American leaders will be held for parents at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the library of Martin Luther King School, Sausalito.

The program will be "an attempt to show contemporary life through the eyes of children," said Mrs. Raye Richardson, multiethnic coordinator for the Sausalito School District. The persons honored will include president John F. Kennedy, Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, Malcolm X, and Medgar Evers.

The main part of the program will be "A Primer For Malcolm," using pictures to illustrate words beginning with M — such as malnutrition, mother, mourner, mercy, memory — Mrs. Richardson said.

The program is to be positive in tone, showing man emerging immortal through his children, she said.

$200 Scholarship Is Being Offered

A $200 scholarship to encourage young people to continue their education in the fields of agriculture or home economics is being offered by the North Bay Wool Growers Association headed by Ernest Broderson of Petaluma and the North Bay Bo-Peeps.

Students, who are residents of Marin, Sonoma and Napa counties and are high school seniors or who have completed less than two years of college, may apply through the Farm and Home Advisers Office, Room 100-P, 2555 Mendocino Avenue, Santa Rosa, by April 1.

Teen Nabbed As Suspect In Burglary

A 15-year-old youth who matched the description of a teen-ager seen leaving the scene of a $1,000 burglary in San Rafael Saturday, was arrested last night after a brief flight from police.

San Rafael Patrolman Kenneth R. Homen said he was patroling on Fourth Street near the Rafael Theater about 6 p.m. when he noticed that one of two boys walking together was wearing a fur cap of the type seen on a youth leaving the home of Dan Gilmer at 34 Paloma Street Saturday.

Gilmer said $1,000 was stolen from a cabinet in a bedroom of his home.

Homen said he left his patrol car to question the youth, who also matched the physical description of the suspected burglar, but the suspect ran. The companion was held and questioned.

Later, police went to St. Vincent's School for Boys and arrested Anthony Logan Thomas, a resident there, on suspicion of burglary. A quantity of clothing, a radio, tape casettes and other items, said by police to have been bought by Thomas with the stolen money, were confiscated.

Police said $27 was left of the $1,000.

Thomas, whose home is in San Francisco, was taken to Juvenile Hall. His companion, also a resident of St. Vincent's, was cited to the probation department, although he was not involved in the burglary, police said.

Marijuana Case To Superior Court

Judith Hinojosa, 23, of San Francisco was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on a charge of possessing marijuana Aug. 11 in Mill Valley.

Judge Hadden W. Roth ordered her to appear in Superior Court March 3.

Supervisors Rescind Inverness Pier Vote

Marin County supervisors, who approved a 224-foot long pier with a two-story house on the end of it in Tomales Bay last month, rescinded that action yesterday and asked the county planning staff to study an interim ordinance to control construction along the bay. (Other Supervisors stories, page 1.)

R. K. Joerger of Millbrae applied to the Army Corps of Engineers last December for permission to build the pier and house on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, north of Inverness Yacht Club.

On Jan. 28, supervisors wrote to the corps that the county approved the construction because no policy had been set on length of piers in Tomales Bay.

Yesterday, stiff opposition came from David N. Plant, who owns property just south of Joerger's; Harold E. Gregg, president of Marin Conservation League, and Allen D. Telford, president of Iverness Improvement Association.

Construction of piers 200 and 300 feet long with multistory houses perched on the end would "create another mess similar to the condition now existing in Richardson Bay," declared Plant.

Gregg and Telford argued that Joerger's pier would be precedent-setting, a hazard to navigation, and create sewage problems.

Michael Wornum, who was absent when the pier was approved on Jan. 28, said he had misgivings about the board action. His motion to reconsider was seconded by Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and approved unanimously.

Chairman John F. McInnis deplored the lack of a policy on construction in Tomales Bay and suggested that another letter be sent "to express to the Corps that our earlier letter was filed without adequate information."

"So moved," said Baar. His motion passed unanimously. The supervisors asked the planning department to study the area and consider an interim ordinance to control construction on Tomales Bay.

300,000 Book Circulation Seen In The Novato Area

The Novato branch of the Marin County library, which now has a book circulation of 100,000 per year, should double or triple that circulation when the new branch is built on Novato Boulevard, County Librarian Bruce D. Bajema predicted yesterday.

He presented his report, along with a request for county application for federal funds. Supervisors authorized an application for $186,570 federal matching funds to help build the 11,000-square foot library at an estimated total cost of $573,710.

North Marin now has a population of 33,000 which will grow to 40,000 by 1970 and 63,000 by 1980, the librarian reported.

He said the new building should be designed so that it can be enlarged in the future.

Benjema predicted the book circulation would jump to 220,000 to 240,000 during the first year, and to 300,000 in three or four years. Construction is scheduled to begin late this year and the building completed next summer.

The one and one-half acre site, on the north side of Novato Boulevard, west of Tamalpais Avenue, was purchased from Jerome Hoyt last year for $134,475. Parking spaces for 45 cars will be provided. Architects Marquis and Stoller of San Francisco are preparing plans and specifications.

Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

TASK FORCE — Appointed Mrs. Elaine B. Guthrie of Ross to fill a vacancy on the Aid to Families With Dependent Children Task Force.

AMBULANCE SERVICE — Asked the county administrator to study improved ambulance service in West Marin because of crowds expected at Point Reyes National Seashore, and to negotiate with Petaluma Fire Department to provide ambulance service in the Point Reyes Station area. Improvements were recommended by Thomas Larke Jr., chairman of the Emergency Medical Care Committee.

YOUTH CONFERENCE — Designated the County Superintendent of Schools to coordinate preparations for county participation in the Governor's Conference on Children and Youth to be held in Sacramento next fall.

COMUNUICATIONS — Approved changes in classification of communications employees so that two more dispatchers can be added to the staff. These will come from the four teletype operators authorized for this year, but not yet filled.

HUMAN RIGHTS — Authorized an application by the Human Rights Commission for federal funds to pay for two staff members to administer Fair Employment Practices legislation. Austin J. Thompson, executive director, said no county funds will be needed.

ABATEMENT — Authorized a resolution to abate a home owned by Jean Paul Pickens at the corner of Alta and Centura streets, Lagunitas, because it is a fire and health hazard.

NEW CHURCH — Approved plans for a new church sanctuary, social hall, classrooms and offices for the California Conference Covenant Church on a five-acre knoll at the end of Ellen Drive, Marinwood.

REZONING — Approved a rezoning from one-family residential to planned residential for 2.6 acres of land at Trillium Lane and Erica Road, Tamalpais Valley, for Peterson-Cobby Co. of San Francisco. The new zoning will allow two units per acre.

MERRYDALE ROAD — Continued until March 25 a request by the First Congregational Church of San Rafael for apartment zoning of four-and-one-half acres on the southwest corner of Merrydale Road and North San Pedro Road. Supervisors asked the planning commission to rush a zoning plan for the entire Merrydale area instead of zoning "piece-meal."

EXTEND TERM — Changed the county code so that Human Rights commissioners James Quiett and Arthur Brown can serve more than two terms, the maximum allowed at present.

RUNWAY EXTENSION — Awarded a $103,746 contract to low bidder Brown Ely Co. of San Rafael to extend the runway at Gnoss Field from 2,200 feet to 3,300 feet and install lighting for the runway and taxiway.

Courthouse Land Swap Under Study

An offer to trade $800,000 worth of land north of the Civic Center for the old San Rafael courthouse square was referred to the county administrator for study and a report on future land needs at the Civic Center complex.

Marin County supervisors asked the administrator and county counsel to report back in two or three weeks.

DSI Corp., which owns 63 acres immediately to the north of the Civic Center is willing to swap a portion of that property, the price of the land to be determined after an appraisal by three independent appraisers.

Chairman John F. McInnis said he wants the staff to study details of the offer and the future needs for land by the county.

San Rafael City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen urged immediate action to call for bids on the courthouse property. He noted that San Rafael has discussed the possibility of swaping the courthouse square for city property on Francisco Boulevard.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar asked Anderssen to present the city's proposal if it has concrete offers to make. He also asked County Administrator Alan Bruce to present any other proposals that might come in.

"There are several other parties who have nibbled or shown some interest," said Bruce. "But I have no right to tip anyone's hand as to specifics."

Closed Session

The Fairfax City Council will meet in closed session at 8 p.. today to consider hiring City Clerk Frances Lestanguet as city administrator and to consider appointment of a city treasurer. The meeting will be in the Fairfax Women's Club, 46 Park Road.

Maren Rinne To Personnel Chief's Post

Mrs. Maren F. Rinne, personnel analyst in Marin since July 1967, was promoted yesterday to personnel director at a salary of $1,348 per month.

Marin County Board of Supervisorvisors approved the salary on a 4-to-1 vote, with Louis H. Baar objecting to the salary raise, which would bring Mrs. Rinne's pay to the same rate as the present personnel director, Robert D. Elliott. Elliott will leave at the end of this month for a higher paying job with a private firm.

Mrs. Rinne had been getting $1,084 per month.

Session On Signs

The San Rafael Planning Commission will hold a study session on new sign regulations at 7:30 p.m. today at San Rafael City Hall.

Panels Named For Drug Study

Subcommittees to study various aspects of controlling drug abuse on the Tiburon Peninsula have been appointed by the Tiburon Peninsula Citizens Committee on Drug Abuse.

Rampton W. Harvey and Dr. Charles J. Epstein have been named to investigate how to improve community and school education on the dangers of drug use and A. H. Harris and Henry C. Mahlman will study the kinds of discipline the community wants the schools to enforce on students found using drugs, according to Harvey.

The committee, meeting Monday night, discussed the drug problem with inspector Dennis Sawdon of the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau, Sheriff's Lt. Harvey Teague of the Marin County Juvenile Bureau, Belvedere Police Chief William S. Woodington and Tiburon Sheriff's Capt. William Johansen of the Tiburon substation.

The committee will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in the Belvedere City Hall.

Guilty Plea Halts Trial On Auto Theft

Leonard Paul Jason, 41, of San Francisco, changed his plea to guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court as a jury trial was set to open in his case. He was accused of stealing a car in Larkspur Nov. 28.

Judge Harold J. Haley set sentencing for March 23.

Six Arrested In Drug Raid Plead Innocent

Six of seven persons arrested in a $350,000 drug raid in Tamalpais Valley Jan. 17 pleaded innocent to a variety of drug charges yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

A preliminary hearing was set for April 8 for Richard Conrad Pace, 24, owner of the Resh Gallery in Tamalpais Valley where most of the drugs were allegedly found; Richard Raymond Argento, 21, of San Rafael; Charles Noell Hess, 26, of Oakland; Richard Frankling Black, 27, of Sausalito; Frederick Martin Englehardt, 28, of San Francisco, and Linda Jean Shack, 21, of Mill Valley.

The seventh defendant, Jeffrey Linn Frocier, 20, of Belmont, was referred to juvenile court.

They face charges ranging from selling and transporting drugs to possessing marijuana and other drugs.

Santa Venetia Crash Injures Cyclist

George W. Noel, 19, of 1060-C Los Gamos Road, San Rafael, was treated yesterday for multiple bruises and scrapes at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, San Rafael, after a two-car collision in Santa Venetia, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The Patrol said Noel's motorcycle collided at 9:15 p.m. at North San Pedro Road and Washington Street with a car driven by Benny T. Quigley, 17, of 321 Glen Park, San Rafael.

Candidate Will Seek Petaluma Districting

Petaluma Council candidate Donald P. Petro said today he will seek a charter amendment to provide that city council be elected from specified districts rather than "at large."

In dividing up the city into six districts, Petro said the areas would reflect the voting population in ratio to the six council seats available. The seventh seat is that of the mayor, elected at large.

Saying it was a move to get city government closer to the people, Petro said, "If a councilman is elected by a specific district, he will have more contact with his constituents and be more responsive to their needs."

He said the voters often feel alienated from the council and speak of the councilmen in terms of "they." "If the voters have a councilman for a neighbor and know he is responsible for their district, they will be more inclined to make their feelings known to him," the candidate said.

In his plan, the first district would be the entire eastern portion, all areas east of Highway 101; the second district, the central portion south of Highway 101 to Petaluma Boulevard; district three, the northwestern section, south of Petaluma Boulevard; district five, from B Street to G Street, and district six, from G Street to the southern city limits.

Petro said he will notify City Clerk Lillian Nomsen of his intention to circulate a petition to request the charter amendment.

The petitions must carry 15 per cent of the voters who cast ballots in the previous general election. Petro said this is estimated at 1,600 persons.

"I know it will take work. I feel confident that the petitions requirements can be fulfilled and returned to the clerk in the required 21 days," he said. That date will probably be March 27.

According to the city charter, the clerk would then have 10 days in which to verify the petitions names. "This would mean that the proposed amendment would be presented to the council at the April 7 meeting," he said.

The council at that time could accept the proposal and introduce an ordinance to enact it. Feeling this is an improbability, Petro said the council would most likely order the measure put on the June 15 municipal election ballot.

Petro's proposal also calls for a special council election within six months if the charter amendment passes on June 15. "If that special election weren't called, it would be another two years before the district voting plan would be put into operation," he said.

Noting he expects the plan to meet a great deal of criticism, Petro said he feels most will be directed at the proposed district boundary lines.

Two Firms Get Permits In Petaluma

The Petaluma Planning Commission last night approved use permits for two new businesses.

Kaiser Sand and Gravel Co. was granted a permit to operate a ready mix concrete batching operation at 592 Lakeville Highway. As a condition, the firm must set the building back to allow for future street widening.

Also granted was a use permit requested by Bonnie Gray to operate a dog bathing and clipping business at her home at 520 Reynolds Drive. The commission stipulated that only one customer's dog may be on the premises at a time.

The Petaluma Planning Commission also:

PUMP STATION — Granted site design approval for the new city pump station in a residential section on Mission Drive at McNear Avenue.

REZONING — Recommended that the Sonoma County Planning Commission grant the request of Val-Cargo Co. to rezone six acres at 717 North McDowell Boulevard from agricultural to multiple residential to allow expansion of a mobile home park.

BEAUTY SHOP — Recommended the Sonoma County Board of Zoning Adjustments grant the application of Paul Guachat of 416 Thompson Lane be approved to allow him to operate a beauty shop in his home.

Sentencing Set On Drug Charge

Nicholas Robert Miles, 32, of Mill Valley, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a felony charge of possessing marijuana for sale, and misdemeanor charges of indecent exposure and driving without a license were dropped.

Judge Peter Allen Smith ordered him to appear in Superior Court March 17 for sentencing.

Miles was arrested Dec. 11 on Shoreline Highway.

Zucker Blockbuster Not Only Jury Bomb

The 1968 Marin County Grand Jury, which made little noise during its 12 months of existence, dropped a few bombs in its final report.

Biggest blockbuster was the all-out criticism of Paul C. Zucker, county planning director. He was singled out personally for castigation as being capricious, arbitrary, opinionated and uncooperative. The grand jury recommended that "the planning director, in some manner, should be made to realize that he is a public servant and that the public is entitled to cordial service."

The report even raised a question of Zucker's veracity. It said he "assured this committee that for every unhappy applicant, he could produce 10 letters of commendation," and that he then produced 18 letters, cards and telegrams. These were listed. They ranged from a "thank you" greeting card to "appreciation for assistance in acquiring Kent Island." Several of them commended members of the planning department other than Zucker.

The grand jury had particular reason for being unhappy with the planning director, aside from the numerous complaints about him which it reported. Despite repeated requests, said the report, he failed to furnish information sought to substantiate the high budget of his department. The grand jury's county offices committee found this frustrating, it commented.

THE ALMOST-UNPRECEDENTED censure of Zucker in the grand jury report should not, however, be allowed to overshadow some other possibly significant findings that received more cursory attention in the report.

The county purchasing officer, said the jury, was "attempting to force unwieldy services on various offices," and had devised a "clumsy, expensive and time-consuming" plan for central purchasing of small supplies which now are bought by departments.

The county personnel office was unable to provide data on employee turnover by departments, and in two of four departments in which personnel files were checked, they were found unlocked and in disorder.

"Juvenile Hall has no line of authority," said the report, also flatly declaring: "Juvenile court law in California is wrong, particularly that part in dealing with detention hearings."

Probation department personnel files were reported not up to date, and there was a hint of irregularity in the recommendation that "security checks be required of not only new but all present personnel" in that department.

SOME LAXITIES of the grand jury itself were bared by the report. Foreman Austin W. Little suggested that terms of grand jurors be staggered, complained that the jurors did not have time enough to acquaint themselves with their duties, and asked for an instructional seminar for committee chairmen. Yet the organization of the grand jury — and the laws governing it, which prevent staggered terms—were outlined quite fully in an 88-page "Grand Jury Manual" prepared by Clifford S. Lund, foreman of the very active 1967 grand jury, for the use of future juries.

Perhaps the presiding judge should give more attention to getting the 1969 grand jury properly underway. And certainly the fusillade of condemnation of the county planning director — however deserved it may be — should not be allowed to overshadow the jury's other findings.

Grand jurors work hard and long. Their findings deserve attention.

Cal-Expo Cancels Exhibits; Legislator Proposes Liquidation

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Troubles of the state exposition and fair executive committee are multiplying. The general manager of Cal-Expo, as the state fair is now known, has advised livestock exhibitors that the traditional open division livestock show will not be possible at the 1969 fair because of the financial situation.

The announcement followed an earlier statement that the art show in 1969 has been called off because of financial shortages.

THE OPINION is being expressed in some quarters that if the executive committee keeps following this pattern, it is likely to have nothing left for the 1969 fair except a racing meet and a carnival, events which can hardly carry out the total concept of a "California showcase" as anticipated when development of the new fair, at an expense of some $33 million, was conceived.

Representatives of art and livestock groups are up in arms, but it is a hard fact that something will have to give if the committee is to recoup its financial difficulties and go ahead with the "showcase" as originally planned in future years.

SOME LEGISLATORS feel this isn't possible, and legislation actually has been introduced to junk the entire operation and sell off the assets, which consist for the most part of the fair site and buildings off the Elvas Freeway north of Sacramento.

This legislation came from Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Anaheim, who describes the fair as "abortive" and a project the state should abandon "before the taxpayers are forced to pay any more for this white elephant."

He claims that continuation of the Cal-Expo experiments would lead to deficits of $27 million over the next five years; that it is clear Cal-Expo is not operating on a pay-as-you-go basis, and that the outlook is only for pouring more money down a bottomless drain.

Cory has a lot of facts on his side, the most pertinent one being that the executive committee does not have enough funds available to put on a full-scale show this year and no cohesive plan for raising such capital. It is doubtful as to whether even the money needed to fund the bonds used to furnish capital for the original investment, amounting to more than a million dollars a year, is in sight.

GOV. RONALD Reagan's 1969-70 budget indicates the administration is relying heavily on "private enterprise" to pull the fair out of its financial hole. Investments of private capital, the budget says, "will eventually reduce or eliminate the necessity for state subsidy."

From action so far, this appears to be a faint hope. Private enterprise is interested only in projects which have either the proven ability or the potentiality to generate profits. Cal-Expo has demonstrated neither.

Marin Has Rink For Ice Skating

We enjoyed Mr. (Jim) Gilmartin's column last week and the great coverage he gave to figure skating. However, I was quite surprised to read that the lady he interviewed didn't know about our great ice skating facilities here in Marin and had to take her daughter to Berkeley to practice.

We have a new modern rink centrally located in Corte Madera, together with the service of an outstanding professional staff. The Marin Figure Skating Club, an affiliate of the United States club, meets at the rink and is active both as a social club and as a meda for encouraging young people to participate in competitive skating. There is also hockey for the boys and plain and fancy skating for all. Great fun and a great sport.

Yesterday's Freedom Today's Monopoly

Its strange how times changes things. The railroads wanted and received free lands, monopolies on freight and passenger service. Now they want to keep the free lands, can't get a monopoly on freight and don't want the passenger business unless run under a communistic basis.

The same holds true to the Golden Gate Bridge. In its formative stage a railroad with public interest at heart and a bank with the same thoughts instigated court action to prevent its construction as being unsafe for public use.

The suit was not pressed by the railroad who received the coveted exclusive bus franchise and the bank acquired the bonds. Now the bus company wants to step out of the picture and the bank would like the bonds to on to eternity financing public owned ferries, buses, investigations, etc.

Its strange how our interpretation of freedom of enterprise changes from time to time. Or is it?

Monagan's Plan Deserves Backing

Everyone feeling that we have enough concrete poured over our lovely state for freeways and feel we have too much air pollution please write to all of your representatives to get them to support Assembly Speaker Robert Monagan in his effort to use any excess gasoline tax money for a "total transportation system." That would include not only rapid transit but also fast electric trains between cities.

Sen. Randolph Collier who is chairman of the Senate Transportation Committee has wealthy lobbiests backing his wanting the money used only for concrete highways.

Wealthy lobbiests are hard to beat but if enough letters go in maybe they will no longer ignore the people's rights to breathe clean air and have a public transportation system that is fast, convenient and economical in this beautiful State of California.

Plans For Schools Ignore Economy

The article and picture on page 23 of the Feb. 5 issue of the Independent-Journal, describing the new proposed Glenwood School for the San Rafael Elementary School District, prompt a few comments from this interested Marin County resident. Having served for several years on the board of education of a substantial school district in the Middle West, I believe qualifies me as having some knowledge as to the problems of providing adequate educational facilities in burgeoning communities.

At the time when two other members and I were elected to the board, the cost of providing a classroom plus ancillary facilities had risen to approximately $42,000 per unit. This extravagance resulted primarily from flights of fancy indulged in by architects, coupled with a considerable amount of momument building indulged in by spstem superintendents. Our system was not alone.

Within a year, however, through the implementation of a program designed to educate architects to the economic factors of life, continuous control of overall planning and the institution of a system of stringent bidding controls coupled with strict supervision of construction, we had managed in a period of rising costs to reduce the cost per classroom in the next building program to approximately $25,000 per unit.

Certainly today when on every hand we are witnessing the beginnings of a taxpayers revolt and with this revolt being directed toward the schools, the only area the average person can any longer control (through his vote on bond issues), it should be incumbent on those responsible for planning school systems to provide the maximum classroom facilities with the minimum expenditures.

We seem to be long overdue for the institution of a system of controls that will build school buildings to the maximum efficiency at minimum costs to provide the best type of basic education. . . .

Nixon Warns Russia To Keep Hands Off Explosive Mideast

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — Though it was hardly noticed at the time, President Nixon has delivered his first warning to the Soviet Union. It concerns the Middle East.

It is apparent from his actions that Mr. Nixon is convinced that major war between Arabs and Israelis can be averted if both the United States and the Soviet Union keep hands-off — and are careful to keep their matches in their pockets.

This is the real reason the President used his first press conference to show how gravely he viewed the consequences of renewed fighting — not alone as they would affect the Arabs and the Israelis, but the nuclear powers as well.

MR. NIXON is acting on the premise that both Russia and the United States want above all, to avoid direct military confrontation and therefore want to make sure that no war crisis drags them into conflict.

This is why the President did not hesitate to describe the Mideast as a "powder keg," as "very explosive," as ungently requiring a "cooling off."

Then, without making it formal, he went to the heart of the message he wanted to get over to the Kremlin. He said we must "reduce the possibility of another explosion, because the next explosion in the Mideast, I think, could involve very well a confrontation between the nuclear powers, which we want to avoid."

THIS IS the core of the thought that the President hopes the Russian leaders will ponder carefully: that the best way to cool the most explosive danger spot in the world today is for the two nuclear powers to make it crystal clear to the Middle Eastern nations and to each other that they will not allow themselves to become involved.

Why is this the key to averting renewal of the six-day war of 1967?

President Nasser can't risk losing another war to Israel without assurance that the Russians would come to his rescue before it was too late.

Israel has no need, no incentive, to attack the Arab countries because, as a result of the 1967 war, it has adequate security until a peace settlement can be attained.

The harassment of the hit-and-run Arab terrorists is not great enough to weaken Israel or provoke it into renewing the war.

FOR THESE reasons Mr. Nixon apparently feels that war in the Mideast can be averted for the visible future, if Washington and Moscow do what is necessary to convince the Arabs and Israelis that neither side will have one of the nuclear powers as a fighting ally.

Behind this feeling is the conviction here that the essential deterrent which can keep the Soviet Union from taking the risk of becoming Egypt's fighting ally — should war occur — is its fear of a military confrontation with the United States.

This is why the President is warning that war in the Mideast "could involve very well a confrontation between the nuclear powers."

HE DOES NOT mean that preventing war in the Middle East is the same as making peace in the Middle East. He sees a state of nonwar there as no more than buying time while stronger efforts are made to reach a tolerable settlement.

To this end the President is accepting De Gaulle's proposal for four-power discussions at the United Nations, is supporting the U. N. Jarring peace mission, and is going to Europe, among other reasons, to enlist the active help of the NATO countries in promoting a settlement.

But Mr. Nixon does not believe that a peace could be imposed by the big powers or that an imposed peace could be enforced. He believes the only way to peace in the Mideast is for the belligerents to make it through direct negotiation.

This will take time, and time is in short supply if either side makes a miscalculation.

SDS, Black Panthers Map Joint Spring Campaign

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Conclusive evidence is in the hands of congressional investigators disclosing existence of a detailed plan for fomenting student uprisings in universities and high schools throughout the country.

Instigator of this nationwide conspiracy is the revolutionary Students for a Democratic Society in close alliance with the extremist Black Panther party.

Some 300 representatives of SDS, the Black Panthers, the Progressive Labor Party and other radical elements deliberated this plot at an unpublicized meeting at Princepton University early this month.

PRIMARY BASIS of their discussion was a five-page SDS tract titled "Smash the Military Machine in the Schools: A National Winter-Srping Offensive."

Throughout, the document parallels communist doctrine. In tenor, terminology and every other aspect, it echoes undiluted party line ideology and policy, including its characteristic racist appeal to Negroes.

Great emphasis is placed on portraying them as the spearhead of the "mass anti-war and anti-imperialist offensive."

To "denote the mid-point" of the "spring-winter offensive," the SDS calls for a "mass mobilization in Washington in early April."

Its purpose is summarized as follows: "This mobilization will be the clearest presentation since 1965, of SDS' political position: Support for black liberation; immediate withdrawal (from Vietnam); smash imperialism." . . .

TO FUEL the "Smash the Military Machine in the Schools" offensive, the SDS propounds the following five demands:

No ROTC.

No war or counter-insurgency research.

No military or war recruiting

No draft assemblies in high schools.

No high school sending of names to draft boards.

The SDS tract directs that chapters adopt the five demands as the basis for local drives and for initiating "militant actions around these demands immediately after the Washington march."

Strongly advised is that "initial contacts in high schools be made with black groups."

THE FOLLOWING is outlined as a possible regional model for the "winter-spring offensive":

"February: Develop a petition city-wide drive for an end to military in the schools.

"April 12-13: March on Washington. . . .

"April 14-20: March on local board of education; . . . picketing of recruiting stations; attack on draft center; petition for a call for a general strike of students if demands not met by May 1.

"May 1: General student strike which continues to build from the first day; non-negotiability of the demands and the struggle."

Strong emphasis is placed on the thesis that "the demands and the struggle must be non-negotiable."

Patriotic Observance Tends To Dull Through Repetition

Terra Linda High School students believe the pledge of allegiance has become a meaningless exercise through daily recitation and would like to have some other form of patriotic observance.

The fact that students have challenged the daily pledge probably will cause a few more gray hairs at American Legion posts and shake up a few self-styled patriots.

Before those over 30 have apoplexy, it must be pointed out that students don't want to do away with the pledge entirely, but want to have a little variety in their patriotic observances.

Logically, the students have a point. Mumbling through or ignoring the pledge every morning certainly doesn't do much for patriotism.

Neither does playing the "Star-Spangled Banner" before ball games prompt anyone to meditate about the value of his country.

SAN RAFAEL Board of Education members are receptive to hearing suggestions from students about possible patriotic observances.

Whatever proposal they come up with should allow for variations or the observance will fall back into the rut of repetition, and in time become meaningless.

Even hearing Jose Feliciano playing the "Star-Spangled Banner" in his own style would lose it's impact if you had to hear it at the start of each day.

One student suggested having a moment of silence so students could think about becoming better persons and thereby better Americans.

A moment of silence is always welcome, but some minds are bound to wander to thoughts about the opposite sex, a car, a ball game, the latest gossip or when the moment of silence will end.

Another student suggested that the patriotic observance be based upon current events, noting that some people know more about events in U.S. history than of events in their own time.

IS IT of any greater patriotic value to remember every battle of the Civil War than to study the events of the last political campaign or the programs of President Nixon?

The theory is that what's happening now will have more meaning to the students.

The request for a change in daily patriotic observances, came not from some small activist group, if there is such at Terra Linda High School, but from the student council after study by a student committee since early in the school year.

It's a tough job to think of some activity that would qualify as patriotic and have meaning to all hands. For some, patriotism means enlisting in the armed services while to others it means refusing to serve because they believe it is wrong for their country to engage in a war they deem immoral and unjust.

'Family Life' May Bring Ban On Sex Education

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The fuss over "family life education" may result in doing away with all sex education in California elementary schools.

That would be accomplished with passage of a bill introduced in the Legislature by Assemblyman Carl A. Britschgi, R-San Mateo, with seven co-authors.

Britschgi's bill (AB 247) provides that no instruction in sex education or the sexual aspects of family life may be given below the high school level, except by a licensed physician and surgeon or registered nurse who also meets the teacher certification requirements of the California Education Code.

Since there are very few physicians and surgeons who have California teaching certificates, and probably fewer still registered nurses with such certificates, this would mean no sex education in the schools, with perhaps a handful of exceptions.

"FAMILY LIFE education" has been under particularly heavy fire in Britschgi's San Mateo County district. Aroused parents, banded together as Citizens for Parental Rights, have brought court action there to prevent "family life" studies in the schools. Similar court actions have been brought in Sacramento and San Luis Obispo counties.

Britschgi's bill, however, would outlaw not only the "family life education" program — a special program beginning in kindergarten which was the first new course widely introduced in California schools after enactment of the George Miller Jr. Act to allow local curriculum control. The bill would outlaw all sex education in the elementary schools — unless a doctor or nurse who held a teaching certificate could be found for instructor.

PRIOR TO the introduction of the "family life" program, there was some sex education in most California schools, as part of the health education program. The amount varied from district to district and from school to school. Teachers and school administrators felt it was inadequate in most.

"Family life education" has been pushed by the National Education Association. It has not, however, had unanimous support from education organizations.

The National School Boards Association and American Association of School Administrators last year asked their permanent joint study committee to investigate and report on the desirablilty of adding "family life education" to school curricula.

The 12-member committee (which, incidentally, included two doctors of emdicine among its school board members) recommended unanimously against the program. It held that sex education should be part of health education.

It noted that "school systems throughout the United States are being pressured to offer courses in sex and family life education." Declaring, "the school curriculum is already overloaded," it said flatly: "there is neither time nor justification" for a "family life education" program.

(Incidentally, although the full report of this joint committee was published in the American School Board Journal last May, few California school board members seem aware of it.)

IF CALIFORNIA school districts had followed the advice of their national association and the American Association of School Administrators, it is unlikely Assemblyman Britschgi would have introduced his bill. Sex education could have been improved as part of the health education program — instead of being threatened with legislative extinction.

Despite the attacks by Citizens for Parental Rights and similar groups under other names elsewhere in the state, few districts have dropped "family life education." Some that discontinued certain features of it — including a KQED television series that came in for major criticism in the San Francisco Bay Area — have since re-introduced these features.

Citizens for Parental Rights, meanwhile, has turned its attack on another innovation which also has National Education Association backing "sensitivity training." This is something that has not previously had a place in the schools as part of any standard curriculum. It would not be surprising if a bill to outlaw it appeared soon in the Legislature.

CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF NOVATO
RESOLUTION NO. 23-69

RESOLUTION GIVING NOTICE OF PROPOSED ANNEXATION TO THE CITY OF NOVATO OF UNINHABITED TERRITORY DESCRIBED HEREIN AND DESIGNATED "CENTER ROAD ANNEXATION NO. 3" AND GIVING NOTICE OF TIME AND PLACE FOR HEARING OF PROTESTS THERETO.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF NOVATO:

1. That is has come to the attention of the City Council of the City of Novato, and this Council finds, that it would be for the best interests of said City and of the residents of the contiguous area herein described to alter the boundaries of said City by annexing thereto and incorporating therein as a part thereof under the provisions of the annexation of Uninhabited Territory Act of 1939, as amended, certain property situated in the County of Marin, State of California, hereby designated "Center Road Annexation No. 3", and described in Exhibit "A" attached hereto and made a part hereof.

2. The reasons why the City of Novato desires said annexation are as follows:

(a) Said territory because of its location and other features should be governed in its development by the same zoning and planning regulations which govern territory within the City of Novato.

(b) Because of its location, said territory will receive the benefit of and should therefore participate in supporting the municipal services of said city.

3. The City of Novato has heretofore filed with the Local Agency Annexation Commission of Marin County, a notice of intention to annex the territory more particularly described in Exhibit "A". Said notice contained the specific boundaries of the territory proposed to be annexed. The description of said territory was submitted to the Marin County Boundary Commission, and the attached description in accordance with the report of said Commission. Thereafter, the Local Agency Annexation Commission of Marin County after public hearing did approve said proposed annexation.

4. That Tuesday, March 25, 1969, at the hour of 8:00 o'clock P.M., in the Council Chambers, Novato Community House, in the City of Novato, County of Marin, California, is hereby fixed as the time and place when and where any person owning real property within the uninhabited territory above described and proposed to be annexed to the City of Novato, and having any objections to the proposed annexation, may appear before the Council of the City of Novato and show cause why such uninhabited territory should not be so annexed to the City of Novato. The protest must be in writing, may be filed at any time before the hour set for hearing objections to the proposed annexation, and shall state the name or names of the owner or owners of property affected and the description and area of such property, in general terms.

5. The City Clerk of the City of Novato is hereby authorized and directed to cause a copy of this resolution to be published at least twice, but not oftener than once a week, in the Novato Advance, a newspaper of general circulation published in said City of Novato and in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Marin, said publication to be complete at least twenty (20) days prior to the date set for hearing.

6. The City Clerk is directed to cause written notice to be given to such other persons as may be legally entitled thereto in the manner required by law.

* * * * *

I HEREBY CERTIFY that the foregoing resolution was duly and regularly adopted by the City Council of the City of Novato, Marin County, California, at a regular meeting thereof, held on the 11th day of February, 1969, by the following vote, to wit:

Sonoma State Sees 1,000 Disappointed

"There will be about 1,000 disappointed students next fall," said H. J. Soeters, dean of admissions at Sonoma State College in announcing that a waiting list has already been established for the fall semester.

Terming the sudden rush of applications "awfully unusual," Soeters said last year persons could enroll through Sept. 1.

Noting that more than 2,000 applications have been received since Dec. 2, Soeters said his office stopped sending application packets on Feb. 7 only to receive another batch of 160 completed forms in the following Monday mail.

Although the list of students bound for disappointment has not been analyzed, it is expected that most will be from Marin and Sonoma counties. In order to accommodate more local students, enrollment was open only to first-time freshmen and junior college transfers with more than 60 hours credit. Soeters said this ruling was made at the request of the College of Marin and Santa Rosa Junior College.

The dean said between 3,100 and 3,200 students will be admitted for the fall semester, with that number limited only by a lack of space. "At that figure we're operating at maximum capacity, because there are only so many classrooms and we don't have the space or enough hours in the day to schedule classes," he said.

He said the waiting list being prepared will be limited to 150 freshmen and 200 upper division transfer students. He would not estimate what the chances are of those students being enrolled.

"This is not a problem unique to Sonoma State," Soeters said. "It's happening at all the state colleges in Northern California." He said Sacramento State has already closed admissions with San Francisco and San Jose State expected to do the same very soon despite campus unrest.

The dean predicted the fall crush of applications last year when 500 eligible students were turned away for admission in the spring semester. Applications for the term begining this week were closed on Oct. 10.

He said the news is brighter, however, for graduate students. Sonoma State will accept 175 graduates and will maintain a waiting list of 200 more. He also noted that no limits have been placed on continuing students.

Collegiates Scramble To Get Right Classes

half units but wanted to take eighteen-and-one-half.

"Everybody's having troubles," the youth related. "The people who there first get their classes. "If you're not there first, you're out of luck. However," he added, "most of my classes I did get are back down to 25-30 kids."

Several students who were questioned said they had no problems getting into classes but they quickly added, that this was because thy were continuing students and had preregistered.

A freshman at 28, because he chose to wander the world first in the Merchant Marine, goateed Leslie Zuver said his drama teacher told the class he'd like to cut it down but couldn't.

The teacher told us, Zuver said, he couldn't turn anyone away because he wanted to see everyone have a chance.

Several members of the Associated Students executive council will meet Dr. Sidney W. Brossman in Sacramento at 2 p.m., Feb. 28, Harry C. Gilbert, council vice president said.

The students will ask Brossman, chancellor of California Community Colleges, about possible state aid to open more classes.

They will also ask how the California Coordinating Council for Higher Education's recent staff report will effect College of Marin developments.

Gilbert has had problems getting classes himself. He said his Psychology I class was so crowded that, when the instructor said he couldn't take any more people, three-fourths of the class left. "That left 35-40 students. Ideally a psychology class should be 15-20," he said.

"Yes, we're overcrowded," said dean of students Irwin P. Diamond.

A gentle, professorial man, he discussed the problems:

"The big problem is teachers," he said. "If we had more teachers we could have more classes. If we had more money, we could hire more teachers. There isn't enough money. Space is not the problem at the moment."

Are the students being shortchanged because too much of the college's facilities are tied up in night adult courses?

"No," answered Diamond. "Priority of class space is for the credit program first of all. If necessary, we would remove these (night) classes and try to find other locations for them. They (night classes) are financed in a different way, too."

Is the educational program in imbalance? That is, are 900 students trying to take English courses with room for only 300 while 72 are trying to take Esperanto with accommodations for 75?

Diamond replied that this semester the college has asked students to list their first choice of classes. "It is a check to see if we are in imbalance. We expect to know the results by early next week," the dean said.

Diamond explained that the college keeps no overall record of numbers of students on waiting lists. Asked why, he said, "we get a list of open spaces in classes so we can redirect students.

"When students sign up on waiting lists it doesn't mean much because of the large numbers of variables. For instance, the student may be on the list because he needs the course or because he doesn't have enough units and wants to add the course. Open spaces vary from two to 10 in classes and courses where open spaces are available are limited," he added.

Asked if students who are unable to get necessary courses due to overcrowding will be delayed in entry to a four-year college, Diamond said "no."

They will not be delayed in admission to the four-year college, he said but they could be delayed in completing all the courses for a major.

College enrollment increased more than 1,000 this spring over last spring — a 21 per cent increase. The largest increase was in students enrolled for less than nine units.

Twelve new sections (classes) were added this spring to try to take care of the large number of students who carry less than nine units, the dean commented. All courses are in liberal arts.

The deadline for students to be accepted into classes was advanced from last Friday to today. Diamond said that he expects to know by Friday, when class cards are filed, the capacity of each class and the student load.

Usually, said the dean, we drop a few hundred students from the start of registration. "I don't think we're going to drop too many this semester," he said.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

A Nervous Person's Heart Disease Not Easy To Treat

VAN DELLEN

Neurocirculatory asthenia (NCA) is an ill-defined nervous disorder characterized by complex symptoms.

The victim is certain he has heart disease because of spells of shortness of breath, rapid pulse, palpitation, and pain in the chest. During the attack he breaks out into a clammy sweat, becomes dizzy, and starts to tremble.

Although pain ensues in the region of the left breast, the physician is unable to find anything wrong with the heart.

The nervous person is told that it is natural for the organ to beat rapidly following excitement or after unusual exertion such as running across the street. Even minor effort can produce the symptom.

Most of us are unaware of such changes or are unconcerned when they occur.

Emotionally insecure individuals worry about the pounding heart, and in time the ensuing anxiety leads to a further increase in the beat, often when at rest.

Sufferers of NCA tend to be high-strung and in a chronic state of tension. In this respect, the heart is responding to emotional upheaval in a normal way — by beating rapidly. In time, even normal stimuli cause the heart to beat rapidly for no apparent reason.

THE OLD TICKER becomes the fall guy for their lack of security and inability to cope with the vicissitudes of life.

Most victims prefer to latch onto an organic cause for their symptoms. Influenza leaves the victim weak and the slightest exertion may increase the heart rate and produce exhaustion. The same applies to those who become overly concerned about their heart whenever they hear about the death of a friend from a coronary thrombosis.

MANY INDIVIDUALS with NCA are helped by avoiding factors that bring on symptoms. Others need reassurance, which can be given, because no one ever has died of NCA. Severe cases require psychiatric help.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

HERNIA FROM COUGH

W. W. writes: Can a severe bronchial cough cause a hernia in the abdomen?

REPLY

The basic cause of hernia is an inherent weakness of the abdominal wall. Coughing forces out the defect and may aggravate the condition. But a person with a strong abdominal wall (not only the muscles) can hack until the cows come home without developing hernia.

MOOD AND SPLEEN

D. C. writes: Is melancholy caused by a diseased spleen?

REPLY

A 15th Century physican might have answered yes to this question. That was the era in which the humoral theory was in flower. Melancholia is an old term for depression. And it may be caused by any number of physical and emotional states that affect the mood.

NEEDS LIGHT FOR READING

Mrs. A. K. writes: I wear glasses for reading but seem to have trouble unless the light is excellent. The eye doctor I consulted said the lenses are all right. What does this mean?

REPLY

Middle-aged eyes usually require more illumination than young eyes for reading, even with proper refractions.

BLIND SPOT NORMAL

A. O. writes: An optometrist told me that I have a blind spot in one eye. Is there any special treatment or operation to correct it?

REPLY

Don't be gullible and take treatments or buy glasses to overcome a normal phenomenon. We all have a blind spot.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Best bets on television tonight:

KPIX (5), KXTV (10), 7:30 p.m. — Recording stars Roger Miller and Stevie Wonder join Pat Paulson and singer-composer John Hartford, as well as John Wayne, Steve Allen, Jayne Meadows and Monte Hall in cameo appearances, for an hour of comedy and song with Glen Campbell on "The Glen Campbell Goodtime Hour."

KPIX (5), 8:30 p.m. — "Merv Griffin's Sidewalks of New York" is a one-hour musical salute to the City of New York with guests Dionne Warwick, Dick Shawn, the Union Gap, Joel Grey, Renee Taylor, Hendra and Ullet, Julie Budd, Arthur Treacher and Mort Lindsay and his orchestra. It is a repeat.

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 8:30 p.m. — Marlon Brando stars as a modern-day sheriff in "The Chase" on the ABC Wednesday Night Movie. Co-starring are Jane Fonda, Robert Redford and Angie Dickinson.

KRON (4), KCRA (3), 9 p.m. — Hosts Don Adams and Don Rickles are joined by guest stars Joseph Cotten, Kaye Ballard and the Beach Boys in "Don Adams and Don Rickles Are Alive and Well and Living in California" on the Kraft Music Hall.

KQED (9), 9:30 p.m. — "Performance" presents a Laura Weber and Pete Seegar special. They sing and reminisce. Seeger talks about his early years playing the banjo, new song writers and his father's advice on folk music.

KRON (4), KCRA (3), 10 p.m.—Perry Como hosts "Academy of Professional Sports Awards," the second annual presentation of awards honoring outstanding professional athletes. Personalities from the sports and entertainment fields will present the awards.

KQED (9), 10 p.m — "Homage to Seurat" is a tour of the current exhibit at the California Palace of the Legion of Honor with Albert Elsen, professor of art history at Stanford University. French neo-impressionist Georges Seurat introduces "pointillism," a painting technique.

Four Drinking Drivers Fined

Four persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving on Marin streets and highways.

Thelma Marie Yuvan, 57, of 20 Fairhills Drive, San Rafael, was fined $100 and placed on six months probation. She was arrested Sept. 29 on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Edward Lewis Lane, 57, of 48 Walnut Avenue, Mill Valley, was fined $250 and placed on six months probation. He was arrested on Highway 101 Wednesday.

William Raymond Radford, 42, of 637 Vendola Drive, San Rafael, who was arrested Jan. 11 in Mill Valley, was fined $125 and placed on six months probation.

William Cooper Shaw, 40, of 85 Hillside Drive, Fairfax, was placed on six months probation and fined $150. He was arrested Thursday in San Rafael.

Pleas Of Innocent To Marijuana Sales

Two Larkspur women, Kathy Davenport and Deborah Paganini, have pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court to charges of selling marijuana to an agent of the sheriff's department at their home at Boardwalk One on April 15, 1968.

A motion asking that the charges be dismissed was denied by Judge Harold J. Haley, and he set a jury trial for May 5.

Making Of Commercials Vs. Films

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The effects of television commercials on motion pictures are obvious: more telescoping of time, space and story, less reliance on traditional narrative and exposition, and so forth.

Like many new things, these effects are not always for the best, and are frequently overdone. Merely being fashionable can be wrong just as often as it is right. Or haven't you noticed how pleasant it is to find a movie with a beginning, a middle and an end these days?

Nevertheless, video commercials have had a great effect on moviemaking. So it is no surprise that the current issue of "Action," the magazine of the Directors Guild of America, carries a special report on commercials.

One of the articles, "What I Learned from Commercials," is an explanation by Richard Lester, director of "Petulia," the Beatles films and other movies, about the intertwining of video ads and motion pictures.

In a talk with William Hall, film columnist of the London Evening News, Lester, who was born in Philadelphia and moved to England in 1955, said:

"Instant impact, I suppose I learned that from the commercials I directed, and a lot of that approach has rubbed off into my feature films.

"I had no film shooting in the accepted sense—most people come up through the cutting rooms, or on the floor via assistant directors. I didn't. I learned through making commercials, and I was doing them at the rate of 80 a year for six years—and doing feature films as well. I must have done about 500 commercials in my life, and although now I don't get too much time, I still like to fit them in . . ."

NBC — TV's expected series cancellations next season include "Star Trek," "Get Smart," The Jerry Lewis Show, "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir," "The Mothers-in-Law," "My Friend Tony" and "The Outsider."

Among the new series will be a half-hour comedy based on the writings of the late, incomparable humorist, James Thurber. Entitled "My World and Welcome to It," it will feature a family and attempt to delve into the fantasies of Thurber, employing both live action and animation.

Soviet Woman Ordered To Jail

MOSCOW (AP) — A court today sentenced a woman member of Moscow's small group of dissenting intellectuals to a year in a labor camp for possessing leaflets protesting the arrest and trial last summer of another member of the group.

The defendant, Irina Pelogorodskaya, 30, an engineer in a patent office when arrested last Aug. 7, was given credit for the more than six months she has spent in jail.

The court rejected a defense request for acquittal. Her court-appointed lawyer, Vladimir Romm, argued that her only motive had been "to help another human being who was in trouble."

Miss Belogorodskaya was found guilty on a charge of distributing "deliberately false fabrications defaming the Soviet state and public order." The offense carries a maximum penalty of three years.

Car Hits Trees; Two Injured

Two persons were injured in San Anselmo yesterday when a Greenbrae youth's car swerved off Saunders Avenue and struck a utility pole, then hit three small trees at Sir Francis Drake High School.

James K. Henington, 21, of 2000 Redwood Highway, suffered facial cuts while his passenger, Sharon Polman, 20, of 1552 San Pedro Road, San Rafael, received cuts on her right arm. They were treated at Marin General Hospital.

Police said Henington reported he was northbound on Saunders Avenue near Park Avenue at 12:40 a.m. Seeing a car coming at him in the wrong lane, he swerved to avert collision.

Youth Must Spend Weekends In Jail

Robert Charles Baldi, 19, of San Rafael, who had pleaded guilty was given a suspended prison sentence but ordered to spend weekends in the county jail until Aug. 31.

He was also placed on two years probation by Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court.

BASEBALL STRIKE

Miller Says 'Rejection'

NEW YORK (AP) — A break in the gauntlet laid down by the major league baseball owners may come today. If it does not, a strike by the players would appear to be certain.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players' Association, said he expected to have sometime today the result of his poll of the players' executive committee on whether to accept or reject the owners' latest offer in the pension dispute.

Miller has recommended that the committee reject the owners' offer of Monday, increasing the players pension package to $5.3 million a year, compared to the $6.5 million yearly that the players want.

The owners' latest offer came after they had rejected Miller's offer to submit the pension dispute to binding arbitration.

"The owners still are testing the players," Miller said. "They have laid down the gauntlet."

"The next move is up to the players," said John Gaherin, head of the owners' negotiating committee. Gaherin pointed out the owners' latest offer would increase benefits for 10-year players from $500 a month to $590. The players seek $600, plus various improvements in health and insurance benefits.

Time is of the essence in the dispute since many early training camps already have opened in Florida, although only a token crew of rookies or non-roster players have reported.

The big name players, who have said they will refuse to report until the pension squabble is settled, have until March 1, the official date for holdouts and the actual strike deadline.

Mike Burke, president of the New York Yankees, pointed up the possibility of no major league baseball this season "unless the players become reasonable."

"It's time the players came to their senses," Burke said in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

"There's nothing wrong with anybody getting all they can, legally, but the players and Miller will not be reasonable, even though they have been offered 80 per cent of what they originally demanded."

Ed Short, vice president of the Chicago White Sox, agreed with Burke.

"There is hardly any room for the owners to give in any more," he said in Sarasota, Fla.

There's Some Sport In A Society Story

MY UNFAIR LADIES —

Man, have I got a bone to pick with the little literary lollipops of the I-J Marin Women's section.

The way those social cupcakes report weddings makes them sound about as one-sided as Little Big Horn. The brides get all the ink and the poor slobs who got talked into the matrimonial mess receive second billing — if that much. I can see the day when the groom's name and other vital statistics will be relegated to agate type.

Now they've done it again. Just last Friday on page 17 of ye olde I-J the flowers of the women's section reported the slanted version of the wedding of Maria Louise Helfrich and, incidentally, William Francis Lee III.

Now, To The Meat Of Story

After FIRST identifying Maria as a former Miss Alaska etc. etc. and etc., the journalistic Janes finally got around to the meat of the story, in the last paragraph yet! Apparently as an afterthought, they concluded the story by saying ". . . the couple will travel to Ocala, Fla. where the bridegroom will begin spring training with the Boston Red Sox Team." Period. End of report.

Which is like reporting: "Pat Nixon has moved from Whittier to Washington, D.C., where she has set up housekeeping at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue. Pat is first lady of the United States. Her husband, Dick, accompanied Pat on the trip east."

See what I mean? It's downright unfair and about as slanted as a Kate Smith-Willie Shoemaker teeter-totter duel.

Now, if the little buttercups of the society pages had asked me to report the Lee-Helfrich wedding, I would have submitted the following:

The Way I Would Have Done It

Southpaw slinger Bill Lee, the heralded Terra Linda High School and University of Southern California graduate, checked into spring training camp Fla. today looking forward to his initial season at the professional level of our national pasttime.

Arriving a day later than expected, the Beantown Bosox Bonus Baby explained he was detained briefly in Jackson, Miss. for a ceremony in which he acquired: (1) a gold ring for the third digit on his pitching paw; (2) another mouth to feed, and (3) life-long services of a combination cook-housekeeper-backseat driver in exchange for a diamond bauble the size of home plate.

The lucky girl is the former Maria Louise Helfrich.

20-YEAR-OLD LIGHTWEIGHT

Ramos, Youngest Champ

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The new lightweight champion of the world is Mando Ramos, at age 20 the youngest ever to reach such a lofty position in the history of the 135-pound division in boxing.

The tousled-haired, spindly legged kid from Long Beach won the title when he stopped 31-year-old Teo Cruz of the Dominican Republic in the 11th round of their scheduled 15-round fight last night. Cruz weighted 134¾, Ramos 134½.

Ramos, the ring rage of the teeny-bopper set, was six months off target. He wanted to win the title as a 19-year-old last September against the champion, Cruz.

"Sorry about that," quipped Mando when reminded of the quest which failed in the first fight with the man from Santo Domingo.

Ramos ripped open an ugly gash over Teo's left eye in the eighth round. He kept reopening it, as well as slicing a smaller cut under the eye, until the bloody drama was stopped with 19 seconds remaining in the 11th.

Under California rules, it goes as a knockout, only the second suffered by Cruz in more than a decade as a professional fighter.

"I cut him with a right hand as he came in," said Ramos, whose ring span is some four years and only 26 engagements.

The main cut was 1½ inches long. Veteran cornerman Teddy Bentham patched and repatched the injury and Mando kept reopening it.

Peter Martinez, an American businessman and Teo's manager, had no complaints. "I felt Teo was a little ahead at the time but the doctor was very fair."

The match was stopped after several examinations by referee John Thomas and ring physician Bernard Schwartz.

Ring officials had different scores after 10 rounds. Thomas had Ramos ahead, 5-3; judge Dick Young had it for Cruz, 6-3, and judge George Latka scored it even., 4-4. The Associated Press had it Cruz, 5-3, and all agreed the youngster was coming on fast.

What's next?

"We really don't know just yet. A guy would have to be a real optimist to make any plans before going into a title fight," said Jackie McCoy, Ramos' manager.

Oaks Win Thriller At Buzzer

OAKLAND (AP) — A 21-foot jump shot and a buzzer and the Denver Rockets were shot down.

Oakland's Henry Logan fired his last-second shot through the hoop last night to give the Oaks the 118-116 overtime victory which widened their lead over Denver to 11 games in the American Basketball Association's Western Division.

The Oaks, who host the Dallas Chaparrals tomorrow night, held a 58-50 halftime margin, and an 85-81 edge at the three quarter mark. Regulation play ended at 101-101.

Warriors Triumph; Host 76ers Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—San Francisco's healthy Warriors try to maintain their season's hex over the Philadelphia 76ers tonight at 8 o'clock in the Civic Auditorrium.

Fresh from a 121-114 National Basketball Association victory over the Detroit Pistons before 2,685 at the auditorium Tuesday night, the Warriors shoot for their fourth win in a row over the 76ers. Philadelphia's only victory over San Francisco this season was on Dec. 14.

Nate Thurmond and Jeff Mullins combined for 69 points to sink the Pistons who led 59-58 at halftime. Thurmond scored 21 points in the Warriors' 43-point third period after being held to six points in the first half. The lanky center finished with 32 points.

San Francisco, paced by Clyde Lee's 21 rebounds, outrebounded Detroit 70-55.

Mullins, who averaged 29 points on the Warriors' recent successful road trip, topped all scorers with 37 points.

The 6-11 Thurmond scored 13 points in a 19-6 outburst that boosted the Warriors from a 70-70 tie into a commanding 89-76 lead with 4:19 remaining in the third period. Detroit closed to 115-112 with 2:49 left to play before Mullins hit five of his team's final six points.

Dave Bing topped the Pistons with 22 points, including 18 in the first half.

Race Champ Sets Mark At Daytona

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — David Pearson, 1968 NASCAR racing champion from Spartanburg, S.C., set a qualifying record for the Daytona 500 today with a 190.029 miles per hour lap around the 2.5-mile Daytona International Speedway.

Pearson said everything was perfect on his run in a 1969 Ford Talladega. There was little wind and the track was cool—ideal for high speeds on the high-banked track.

His record erased the 189.897 M.P.H. set by Paul Goldsmith of Munster, Ind., last Friday in a 1969 Dodge Charger.

STILL NO CONTRACT, BUT . . .

Boccabella Set To Join Montreal

With an eye on a baseball future that could get considerably brighter, San Anselman John Boccabella heads East Friday toward Florida, mecca of spring training camps.

Boccabella, the former Chicago Cub plucked in the expansion draft by the Montreal Expos, will jump into his car Friday, along with one-year-old daughter Ann, and wife Joyce, to head for the Expos' West Palm Beach training camp just "to hang around until this thing gets settled."

"This thing" is the deepening hassle, otherwise known as a strike, between players and management. Boccabella has not signed his contract, and the strike is the reason.

"I'm with the players," Boccabella said. "Marvin Miller (who represents the players legally) explained this to us last year. But it's not just a matter of believing him. I think we should have the right to some of the television money. It's a matter of standing fast until the owners have to give in."

If and when the owners give in or some kind of agreement is reached, Boccabella feels that he has a good chance to play with the Expos, a better chance than he's ever had with the Chicago Cubs and Leo Durocher.

"Gene Mauch is the kind of manager that likes to switch his players around," Boccabella said. "Durocher used to go with pretty much a set lineup."

The former Marin Catholic baseball and grid star was picked as a catcher by the Expos. He can also play, and has played, in the outfield and on first base.

Boccabella's last piece of work for the Cubs, a Triple A fling with Tacoma, Wash., gave him renewed confidence.

"I slipped a little late in the season," he said. "But I was hitting around .290 at one point and my homers and runs batted in were real good."

Boccabella spent the winter working with United Parcel in San Rafael.

"I didn't work for a while after Christmas," he said. "But I've been working the last two weeks, trying to get back into shape."

He has the highest respect for Mauch, the former Philadelphia pilot.

"He's a fiery competitor," he said. "You feel if it's close in the late innings, he can come up with something to win the game."

Boccabella has said he'll play the outfield "as a last resort," but his chief competition at catcher will come from former Houston veteran John Bateman, a husky slugger.

"His only problem is keeping his weight down," Boccabella said. "He's got the experience. He's a good one."

Boccabella, 28, a former all American and graduate at University of Santa Clara, has been in professional baseball since 1963. This could be the best year yet.

After his ups and downs with the Cubs, with the downs including an aborted sale to the Yankees, things are bound to look up for Boccabella, that is if there is going to be a baseball season at all.

Novato, Terra Linda, Wildcats Win Too

Nothing much changed but quite a bit happened in the continuing saga of the Marin County Athletic League basketball race.

League-leading Redwood High School went on a mad orgy of deadeye shooting, played everybody present and all but burned up San Marin's beautiful new gymnasium in Novato in a record 108-61 victory. Novato High stayed a game behind, knocking San Rafael officially out of the race with a scary 67-65 victory in Novato. Terra Linda kept with the trend of high-scoring games, clipping Tamalpais 72-65 in Mill Valley to keep alive and all-but-dead hope for a title tie. And Marin Catholic scored something of an upset, stopping Drake, 77-68, in Kentfield.

54 PER CENT

Redwood had regular Bill Challender and top sub Pete Carroll missing, but fired away for a 54 per cent night from the field in recording its 10th league win, its 20th win of the season and 14th win in its last 15 games.

John Boro, Jerry Piro and Roger Smith led the amazing bombardment with 29, 23 and 18 points, respectively. Boro hits his first seven shots, finished with a 12-for-19 showing. Piro hit on nine of 18 shots and Smith, rejuvinated at last, hit on seven of 10.

However, high game honors went to Gary Howard, San Marin's one and only, who scored 33 points, 17 coming from the free throw line.

FIRST TIME

The 108 points marked the first time a Marin County Athletic League team has scored over 100 points.

Novato never quite managed to deliver the knockout punch to the tough Bulldogs and as a result, the Hornets got scared out of their minds.

The Hornets' usual one-two punch of Steve McNally and Ed Herrnberger were tops again, McNally getting 20 points and Herrnberger 15, but Herrnberger was cold from the field, although doing a great job on the boards.

ON ROPES

Twice, the Hornets had San Rafael on the ropes. Playing for a last shot near halftime with a nine-point lead, they let the Bulldogs get two quickie steals and five points to lead by only 33-29 at the half.

They went ahead by 12 points in the second half, but saw the

Tars Host Solano Tonight

College of Marin's basketball team hosts dangerous Solano College of Vallejo tonight at 8 o'clock in a Camino Norte Conference game in Kentfield.

Solano knocked off West Valley last week by an impressive 89-70 count. That's the team to which the Tars dropped a 63-62 decision during the same week.

College of Marin owns an earlier victory over Solano and is trying to get into second place, now owned by DeAnza of Cupertino. The Tars are 5-3 in league play, same as West Valley, while DeAnza is 6-3. Contra Costa leads the league with a perfect 8-0 record.

Solano has the league's top scorer in Rich McKee, who's averaging 23 points per game in league play. Pat Schafer is tops for Marin with an 18-point average, good for third-best in the league.

Williams' Signing Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman for the Washington baseball team says it may be Friday or Saturday before the finishing touches are put on the million dollar deal that will make former slugger Ted Williams the Senators' manager and give him a chunk of the American League club's stock.

When the deal is completed, Williams will become the best paid manager in baseball history.

The spokesman said yesterday that "no further information will be revealed to the public until the contract is ready to be signed. This may take three or four days."

The club official said there was no specific difficulty in the signing but that it is taking time—more than originally expected—to work out the legal details.

The Senators will begin spring training, postponed a week, next Monday in Pompano Beach, Fla.

Also, the Senators still haven't started contract talks with their big slugger, Frank Howard. Howard wants a juicy raise this season after leading the major leagues in 1968 in home runs with 44.

It is believed Williams will sign a long-term contract with a salary of around $100,000 a year and get options to buy 10 per cent of the stock, estimated to be valued at $900,000.

Russian Soccer Team To Play

Members of the Kiev Dynoa Soccer team from Russia will take part in a special Washington's Birthday soccer show at Balboa Stadium in San Francisco Saturday.

The Kiev squad, which will play the Oakland Clippers later this season, will be introduced before the 1:30 headline game pitting the San Francisco Scots against the Union Espanola.

Four games are set for the day, beginning at 10 a.m. with the Guadalajar of Oakland-Teutonia game. That will be followed by a Mexico United-Greek Americans game at 11:50 a.m. Concordia meets San Francisco Athletic Club at 3:10 p.m. to round out the action.

75 MPH IN A RUN-ABOUT

Marinite Set To Defend Speedboat Racing Titles

By RALPH CHATOIAN

At 50 years of age, Hal Sharrow of San Anselmo will be trying to retain his championship title in the Central California Speedboat Racing Association.

Hal, a "doer" type who also likes to ride cross country aboard his motorcycle scrambler, has won the J Class (120-300 horsepower) Inboard-Outboard division in the racing association the past two years.

A big man who stands 6-foot-1-inch and weighs 215 pounds, Sharrow owns and operates Hal's Auto and Marine at 530 Red Hill Avenue, and lives next door in the family home at 526 Red Hill Avenue. He also owns the San Anselmo Car Wash next door to the auto-marine shop, at 580 Red Hill.

'IT WILL FLY'

He started with a 283 cubic-inch Chevrolet V-8 engine and rebuilt it before putting it in a 16-foot Glastron family type run-about. When he got done juicing up the engine the boat was able to skim atop the water at 75 miles per hour, quite a speed for this family-type boat division.

"If you can keep it together," said Sharrow, patting the engine, "it will fly."

Going at wide-open speed for the 30 to 50 miles of racing involved in each event, there's a tendency to have some problems with the engine. "Sometimes a piston blows, or maybe the valves blow," says Sharrow. "When you push equipment this hard, there are problems."

MASTER MECHANIC

Sharrow was born in Kenosha, Wis., and was brought to Marin as a six-month-old infant. "And I've lived in Marin ever since," he smiles. A master mechanic, he has had his one-man shop since 1947.

It has been a long love of boats and boat engines for Sharrow. "I've been fooling around with boats since I was 13," he said. He also was close to home when he taught water sports, mostly boating, at Lake Tahoe from 1946 through 1949, during the summer months.

As far as that speed boat, "My wife won't have anything to do with it," he said, although wife Joan is also a boat enthusiast. "She likes pleasure boating," he said, "but not racing. But she goes along with my racing, as long as she's not doing it."

In 1967, Sharrow raced his J-47 to four first-place finishes, then powered by a 150-horsepower six-cylinder Chevrolet engine. The following year the classifications were changed and horsepower requirements boosted, so in went the V-8 engine and faster speed.

He plans to defend his two-year title and go for another four-foot trophy when the 1969 racing season opens next month. "I don't have any exact dates yet," he said, "but we'll be racing sometime in March."

NEARBY RACES

Central California Racing Association events are held close to the Bay Area, with one going as far south as Bakersfield. Lake Berryessa in Napa County and Clear Lake in Lake County are among the nearby waters where 150-member CCRA events are held.

Sharrow's co-pilot when he races is 20-year-old son, Steve, a sophomore at University of California at Davis. The Sharrows also have two daughters, Mrs. Linda Reis of Corte Madera, a registered nurse, and Jane, scheduled to be graduated from San Diego State College next June.

Is Giant Perry Using Greasy Kid's Stuff:

Gaylord Perry has been repeatedly accused of throwing a spitter which he insists is a hard slider. The accusations against Perry started in 1966 when the rangy righthander of the Giants became a 20-game winner (21-8) for the first time.

Prior to 1966 Perry's pitching prompted no protests. His won-lost record in 1965 was an undistinguished 8-12 that included 21 homers. In 1966 he threw only three home run pitches in his initial 19 appearances, 14 of which he won including his first major league victory over the Braves against whom he had been 0-7.

"I'll say," said Bobby Bragan then manager of the Braves, "Perry's pitching with a lot more finesse than he was a year ago. He's got the good fast ball, the good slider and the good spitter."

THERE WAS, indeed, a transformation in Perry's pitching between the 1965 and 1966 seasons. Larry Jansen, pitching coach of the Giants, traced Perry's home run problem to two sources: (1) a three-quarter deliver and (2) Perry's experimenting with a sinker in 1965.

In the spring of 1966 Jansen converted Perry into an over-the-top pitcher with an occasional sidearm serve. And it was in the spring of 1966 that Perry acquired the pitch that ultimately would lead to a change in the rules in 1968.

"I FINALLY got the hang of the hard slider in the spring of '66," said Perry. "Larry had patiently worked two years with me on it."

Perry's accusers point out that it also was in the spring of 1966 that he acquired a habit of touching his mouth with the index and middle fingers of his pitching hand.

For 40 years the spitball had been outlawed in baseball but it wasn't until 1968 that a pitcher was prohibited from touching his mouth with the fingers of his pitching hand. He presumably wiped the moisture from the fingers before delivering the ball to the batter.

PERRY AND a number of other pitchers who had acquired the habit of touching their mouths charged that the new rule would interfere with their rhythm. Perry did have trouble breaking the habit. His ERA in spring exhibition games was a worriesome 8.38.

But when the season started Perry, who had been concentrating on not doing something, now was concentrating on pitching. He pitched a no-hitter, one one-hitter, two two-hitters and two three-hitters in 1968. He didn't touch his mouth once.

His accusers now charge he was throwing a grease ball.

Tam Is Winner Of Marin's Soccer League

The unofficial Marin County Athletic League soccer season closed out with Tamalpais High School of Mill Valley sitting on top of both the varsity and junior varsity standings.

Tam won the varsity with a 5-1-1 won-lost-tied record, followed by "Sonato," a combined team made up of Novato and San Marin High School players, at 4-2-1. Drake was next at 3-3, followed by Marin Catholic with a 3-5 mark and Redwood with a 2-6 record.

The jayvee standings followed the same pattern, with the Indians on top with a 4-1-2 mark, followed by Sonato at 2-1-4, Drake at 2-1-3, Marin Catholic, 1-3-4 and Redwood, 2-5-1.

The Tamalpais team was coached by Fernando Silva, a doctor of philosophy and a native of Spain.

Bel Marin Keyes Y.C. Schedules Meeting

Judd A. Amussen, fleet captain for sailing boats for the Bel Marin Keys Yacht Club, has called a meeting for 4 p.m. Sunday at the community center to set up racing schedules for the coming season, according to publicity chairman Joan Wrightsman.

The meeting will be for just yacht club members and they will set the schedule for all classes of boats, she said.

Lombardi Gets Cash From Pack

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — John B. Torinus, secretary of the Green Bay Packer Corp., said yesterday that the Packers would pay Vince Lombardi between $200,000 and $250,000 in deffered compensation and other benefits in termination of his contract, which was to run through Jan. 31, 1974.

Lombardi resigned recently as Packer general manager to become executive vice president, head coach and part owner of the Washington Redskins.

Torinus said even though Lombardi's contract had specified it had to be fulfilled in order to receive the benefits. "It was our judgement he already had fulfilled the terms of his contract."

"Most of it was salary," Torinus said. "He could have taken it all at once, because it was part of his pay. But for tax reasons, he chose to have part of it defered. The other part of it was a pension fund, in which he was a participant with all the other coaches and the front office personnel."

BOWLING TIPS

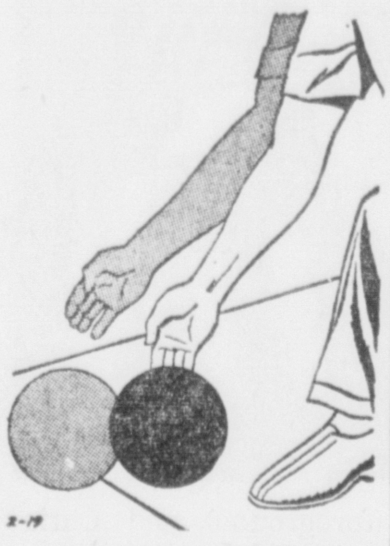
By DON CARTER



The easier the ball slides off the fingertips, the more your ball will roll. And the more it rolls, the more action it will create when it goes into the pins. One way to provide an easier release is to be sure your thumb hole is snug enough so that you don't have to squeeze the ball to keep it from dropping.

Oldest Golfer To Win New England Crown

NASHUA, N.H. (AP) — Stocky Eddie Barry at 48 is the oldest golfer ever to hold the New England Golf Association title.

The former hockey player with the Boston Bruins rallied from a 4-down deficit after six holes to defeat favored Jimmy Grant of Wethersfield, Conn., 3 and 2 in the 36-hole final at the Nashua Country Club.

Tennis Men To Meet, Draw New Blueprints

NEW YORK (AP) — The game's ruling bodies and pro bosses get together in London this week end to try to draw up a blueprint for big time tournament tennis—and the man they'll be listening to is Jack Kramer.

Big Jack might not emerge as the czar of world tennis, although he has strong support for the job in high places, but there's no question that his will be an influential voice.

"Kramer is the one man who has the respect of the national associations and he is very close to the pros," said a French delegate who will attend the sessions. "He's the best man possible to lead the game out of its present morass."

Kramer, former world champion and top professional, passed through New York today en route to England, where he was invited by the British to sit in as an advisor to the discussions.

"I'm just going to see if I can help," Kramer said modestly.

The talks principally will involve top officials from the Big Four tennis nations—the United States, France, England and Australia—and the two U.S. pro promoters, George MacCall and Bob Briner.

"I understand there will be representatives from many other countries on hand," said a top spokesman of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association. Alistair Martin is the ULSTA president.

The court chieftans will try to work out an agreement with MacCall, president of the National Tennis League, and Briner, executive director of World Championship Tennis, Inc., which would prevent a threatened boycott in the top pros in the some 32 opens.

The USLTA took the initiative yesterday by signing a pact with the two groups insuring pro participation in the four remaining American open events—The $25,000 Madison Square Garden Classic March 25-29, the $100,000 U.S. Open at Forest Hills Aug. 29-Sept. 7; the $30,000 Pacific Southwest and the $50,000 Las Vegas Open, dates not set.

The USLTA made peace by agreeing to pay the two pro groups some $50,000 for travel expenses of the pro competitors.

The pros are expected to offer the same olive branch to the other countries, pending more concessions from the International Lawn Tennis Federation.

They want the ILTF to abolish the distinction between contract pros and association players, thus allowing the pros to play in any tournament in which the players can compete. They also are asking the right to cut in on profits.

Kramer is in favor of the latter, and this is where his influence might be felt.

As pro promoter, he once was the most powerful man in tennis, controlling all of the top money players. In this capacity, he had to deal with the various associations. Since relinquishing control of the pro game, he has concentrated on real estate and other interests on the Pacific Coast.

Marichal Due For A Raise

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Juan Marichal will probably get a raise this year, but Willie Mays will have to struggle along on the same $125,000.

That was the word from a New Jersey stockholders meeting of National Exhibition Co., which is the parent company of the San Francisco Giants.

Marichal, who won 26 games last year, was reportedly paid $100,000 and thus should close the gap on Mays.

HOCKEY

NEW YORK — Emile Francis, general manager of the New York Rangers, will continue to act as coach of the National Hockey League club for the remainder of the season after doctors advised Bernie Geoffrion not to resume coaching because of an ulcer condition.

FOOTBALL

Two-Team Cage Race For Jayvees

Redwood and Terra Linda high schools remained one-two in the Marin County Athletic League junior varsity cage race, but there was some rumbling in the lower ranks.

The Giants scored a lopsided 87-20 win over weak San Marin while Terra Linda ran up a big lead on Tamalpais and went on to win, 54-45.

But San Rafael was knocked out of the runner-up spot, getting ambushed at Novato, 50-32, and streaking Drake upset Marin Catholic, 38-35, pushing the Pirates into a third-place tie with San Rafael.

lead dwindle to next to nothing as San Rafael got to within 63-61 and 65-63 behind the driving of Bruce Nave.

But sub Chris Brush calmly sank both ends of a one-in-one free throw situation with 15 seconds left to put it out of reach.

QUICK LEAD

Terra Linda, getting unusual balanced scoring, jumped off to a quick lead and held it all the way against Tamalpais, holding a good lead throughout the game.

Pat Purcell with 18 points and Mike Timmel with 19 topped the Trojans, but Mike Peden and Byron Sakanari added ten points each.

The Trojans are still mathematically in the race at 7-4, three games behind.

Marin Catholic got top performances out of Mike Murray and Steve Tellender to slip by the up-and-down Pirates. Murray had 20 and Tellender added 22.

The Wildcats led by only one at the half but put it away with a 25-point barrage in the final period. Bill Gaddy with 19 and Jeff Meeker with 18 points topped Drake.

Bosox Infielder Says No Strike

BOSTON (AP) — Infielder George Scott of the Boston Red Sox was quoted today as saying that even if the much talked about baseball players' strike does develop, he'll begin spring training on schedule.

Scott's comments were carried in a copyrighted story by the Boston Herald Traveler.

"I cannot afford to sit out," the newspaper quoted Scott. "I plan to sign my contract, if the terms are right, and go to work by next Wednesday's reporting time.

"I hope this strike business is settled by then. But if it isn't, I'll sign. I'll explain my situation to the other players so they'll understand."

The newspaper quoted Scott as saying that "some players can afford to go without a salary."

But, Scott said, "The majority can't, and I'm one of them. There's nothing else I can do but sign."

Macon Net Tournament In 2nd Round

MACON, Ga. (AP) — The second annual Macon International Tennis Tournament went into the second round today with 12 matches, highlighted by the first appearance in the tournament of top-seeded American player, Clark Graebner of New York.

Yesterday's action opened with a pair of matches to cut back the number of international tennis stars competing in the tournament.

In those matches, Luis Arilla of Spain defeated J.L. Provine of Oklahoma City and Hans-Joachin Holecek of Czechoslovakia.

Other matches moved winners into additional rounds.

Nikola Spear of Yugoslavia downed Edison Mandarino of Brazil 3-6, 6-2, 7-5. Jan Kukal of Czechoslovakia defeated Mike Hickey of Ireland 6-2, 6-0, and Manolo Orantes of Spain defeated Istvan Gulyas of Hungary 6-2, 6-3, 6-0.

In the first doubles match, Mark Cox and Peter Curtis of England overthrew Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., and Tom Edlefson of Los Angeles 6-3, 6-4.

The top-seeded foreign player, Thomas Koch of Brazil, came from behind to defeat Ove Bengtsson of Sweden 11-9, 6-4.

Ilie Nastase of Rumania defeated Torbin Ulrich of Denmark 6-8, 6-4, 6-4, and Jim McManus of Berkeley, defeated Zeljko Franulovic of Yugoslavia 5-7, 6-4, 6-4.

In night matches, Bobby Wilson of England defeated Ingo Buding of Germany 8-6, 7-5.

Seals To Home Six-Game Stand

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Seals open a six-game National Hockey League home stand tonight at 8 o'clock with a game against the Chicago Black Hawks in Oakland arena.

After six Eastern road trips in eight weeks, Seals' General Manager Frank Selke said, "We need a rest."

The Seals had won four games and tied three in nine games before losing to Philadelphia 3-2 Sunday, the first game they have lost to the Flyers in a year.

Bay Area's Hockey Fans Not Left Out In The Cold

NEW YORK (AP) — The Oakland Seals might be going places in National Hockey League standings but the franchise isn't moving.

The league made that decision yesterday, rejected bids by Vancouver and Buffalo groups to shift the franchise.

"I'm distinctly bullish about the success of pro hockey in the Oakland rink," NHL President Clarence Campbell said after a meeting of the league's Board of Governors.

Campbell said the franchise may be purchased by a reputable buyer as long as the team remains in the Bay area. He did not rule out a shift to San Francisco, however.

Campbell said final approval on the sale of the financially ailing Seals will be made on March 25 in Miami Beach.

The Seals, who finished in the cellar last season, are now in second place in the West Division. But they still are in the red financially.

Campbell said the transfer of Oakland to Buffalo wasn't considered at the meeting. Vancouver was dismissed in a 9-3 vote, mainly because the Los Angeles Kings would lose a natural rival. However, Campbell said Vancouver still is the league's number one choice should the NHL decide to expand further.

Vancouver had guaranteed the league an average attendance of 12,000 a game. The Seals, who entered the NHL as an expansion team in 1967, had the second worst attendance in the league last season and had even lower attendance than some American Hockey League clubs. However, the team has shown some improvement at the gate this season.

A spokesman for the Vancouver group, Edward Goodman, insisted after his city was turned down that there is no way pro hockey can succed in Oakland.

In another development, the league said that the annual All-Star Game will be rotated starting next season. The St. Louis Blues will host the classic next year and the Boston Bruins in 1971.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Feb. 19, the 50th day of 1969 with 315 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1922 Ed Wynn of vaudeville and musical comedy fame became the first big name in show business to sign for a regular radio program.

In 1945 U.S. Marines landed in Iwo Jima to start one of the bloodiest battles in the Pacific.

Also in 1945 War Mobilization Director James Byrnes ordered a midnight curfew on all places of entertainment.

In 1964 King Constantine of Greece was named regent upon worsening of the condition of his father, King Paul.

A thought for the day: British playwright David Garrick, born on this day in 1717, said, "Let others hail the rising sun: I bow to that whose course has run."

Court Finds Dog Is Proper In A Pub

LONDON (UPI) — Friendly hounds have every right to visit the local pub, a judge ruled after a woman sued a man, claiming she went into a pub in northwest London, tripped over his dog and broke her leg.

The judge ruled a dog's master doesn't have to keep a constant eye on his pet in a pub. And he noted that the dog in question was "quiet, good, obedient, of mature age and not the sort to cause trouble."

WINNING BRIDGE

Low Card Lead Must Be Backed Later To Show Certain Strength

The opening lead of a low card usually indicates length but does not guarantee strength in the suit. Later on in the hand, however, a defender should indicate by his lead whether or not he has strength in the suit. The method of doing so, and how this affects the outcome, are both shown today.

LEADS HEART

West opens the deuce of hearts, and declarer plays low from the dummy. East knows that his partner has led from a three-card or four-card heart suit, but he cannot tell whether or not West has the queen of hearts. To provide for the possibility, East correctly tries a finesse with the jack of hearts at the first trick.

South wins with the queen of hearts, draws two rounds of trumps and then leads the queen of clubs for a finesse. East takes the king of clubs promptly since otherwise his club trick would evaporate, and now East must get to his partner's hand in such a way as to urge a switch back to hearts.

SHOWS WEAK SUIT

East must obviously lead a diamond to get to his partner's hand, but how does he tell West to switch back to hearts? East can do the job by indicating that his diamonds are worthless.

If East had a high diamond, he would lead a low diamond, such as the three or deuce. In this case East should return the seven or nine of diamonds to indicate that he has no high card in the suit.

WINS WITH ACE

West wins with the ace of diamonds and is warned away from a diamond continuation because East's seven of diamonds indicates a topless suit. West switches back to the ten of hearts, trapping dummy's king. The defenders get two heart tricks, defeating the contract.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ J 9 5 2
♥ K 5 3
♦ Q 6
♣ A J 10 5

What do you say?

ANSWER: bid two clubs.

The hand is not quite worth a jump to three hearts (which would promise at least four trumps). Bid a side suit, and show the heart support later. Avoid bidding a very weak major suit when you can comfortably bid a reasonably strong minor suit in this situation.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Stocks Are Good Mirror In Hawaii

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. You have in the past mentioned several Hawaiian-based stocks. Could you perhaps give me the names and information about some growth stocks centered in Hawaii? — G.A.

A. I am glad for the opportunity to promote our 50th state and its businesses. In the last decade the civilian population of Hawaii rose 40 per cent — two and one-half times the national rate. A state-sponsored planning program has projected an additional 50 per cent increase by 1985. Growth rates might have been higher without the housing shortage that sent construction figures to about $400 million last year. Estimated construction value by 1980 is $970 million.

Reversal of the Civil Aeronautics Board's proposed expansion of route service to Hawaii has thrown a temporary pall over resort-oriented island issues — actually an excellent opportunity for accumulation of better situated shares.

The island's major utility, Hawaiian Electric, has a good record, adequate yield and a partially tax-exempt dividend.

Although two airlines provide inter-island service, Aloha and Hawaiian, neither is particularly attractive for investment at this time.

Castle and Cooke, with 74 per cent of sales coming from food products, has spread out into areas such as land development, stevedoring, apartment house management and construction. Share earnings for fiscal 1969, ending March, should reach $1.60 vs. $1.24 the previous year.

Two diversified concerns for growth are Dillingham Corp. and Hawaii Corp. Inter-Island Resorts is a speculative long-term beneficiary of tourism.

Amfac holds 160,000 acres of Hawaiian property with 30 acres in the downtown area. The company also operates retail outlets and has acquired West Coast retailer Joseph Magnin.

Two concerns heavily invested in sugar plantations — Alexander & Baldwin, operator of Matson Navigation, and C. Brewer, 54 per cent owned by International Utilities — are not recommended for purchase.

Market Hit By Another Big Setback

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed today with its third loss of the week.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which skidded more than 20 points Monday and yesterday,held firm for a brief period during the day. Before noon it even added a few points on a technical rally.

But before closing it had eased off 3.23 to 927.59.

Near the close declines led advances by more than 2 to 1.

Steels were generally off a fraction, motors slipped off after having been up slightly, utilities were off, and rails declined. Oils were mixed.

Du Pont held up under the selling to post a gain of better than a point — it had been up more than three—following news it had developed a new method of freezing foods.

Sinclair, the second most-active issue near the close, gained five points at 99¼. It had been off more than 17 Tuesday after a federal court had granted a preliminary injunction barring it proposed merger with Atlantic Richfield.

Twentieth Century Fox, an active issue all week, topped the 20 most-active list with a gain of 1¾. Loew's Theatres, Control Data and Jim Walters added fractions.

Litton Industries, General Host and City Investing, preferred B, lost more than a point. Fractional losses were absorbed by Occidental Petroleum, Filtrol American Telephone, Budd Co. and Thrifty Drug.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

First $100 Of Ordinary Stock Dividends Excluded From Tax

Wikel

Most dividends received on stocks you own are taxable income. How they are taxed and where you report them depends on the kind of dividends you receive.

The first $100 of ordinary dividends is not taxed. If you and your wife both own stocks, each of you is entitled to a $100 exclusion, for a total of $200 on a joint return.

If either of you receive less than $100 in dividends, you can exclude only what you receive. If your wife receives only $60 in dividends you cannot use her remaining $50 exclusion to apply against dividends you received.

Ordinary dividends are reported on page 2, part II, of form 1040. Ordinarily, you will receive a Form 1099 information return from the paying corporation showing the dividends paid to you during the year.

KEEP IN FILES

This should not be attached to your tax return, but you should keep it in your tax records file. If you don't receive a statement of dividends paid, you are still required to report the income.

Some corporations, especially mutual funds, pay dividends called "capital gains dividends." The information Form 1099 you receive will show these separately. Capital gains dividends are taxed as long term capital gain, and should be reported on Schedule D, part I, line 8, Form 1040. Capital gains dividends are not subject ot the $100 exclusion.

Some corporations, often public utilities, pay "return of capital" distributions. Often these are included as a certain percentage of the ordinary dividends you receive. Usually the paying corporation will inform you of the amount of its dividends which are considered to be a return of capital distribution. Such distributions are not taxed, but they are considered a partial return of your cost for the stock.

In other words, if you ever sell stock on which you have received any return of capital distributions, your cost for income tax purposes must be reduced by the total of any return of capital distributions you have received on the stock.

If the total of return of capital distributions ever becomes greater than your cost for the stock, then you are taxed on the amount you receive over the stock cost.

TIRE HEAT TREATMENT

A glass tube becomes a simulated tire as a Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. technician at Akron, Ohio, seals polyester tire cord inside the tube for a 48-hour heat treatment. The cord normally would be part of a tire. In this test the sealed cord is placed in an oven for two days and subjected to extreme heat. It is then removed and given physical tests to guide future tire cord development. (UPI Telephoto)

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Remak Expands Five And Dime Stores To Novato And Ignacio

There is expansion in the local five and dime field.

William Remak had two Glen Five and Ten stores — one in Sausalito and one in Strawberry Town and County Village. Now he has two more. He has taken over the Taylor Variety Stores at Novato and Ignacio.

FOR THE BENEFIT of some unidentified reader with a suspicious turn of mind, things are not always what they seem — even when it comes to what appear to be purloined shopping carts.

Following a recent article in this column on that subject our attention was called to a subsequent picture in the Independent-Journal of a wood shop class at Santa Venetia Middle School showing two carts of "questionable origin in the background.

But it happens they were acquired quite legally. Ludford Elvy, teacher of the class, purchased one of them and has a receipt to show for it. The other was donated by Purity Stores. Both were rusty discards and being the craftsman he is Elvy refurbished them and gave them a second lease on life. No suspect here.

His biggest problem at the moment, by the way, is not getting more shopping carts but more storage space. He could get more lumber donated to his woodshop if he only had some place to keep it.

Anderson

Heinlein

STEWART M. ANDERSON has been appointed service manager, traffic department, for Kaiser Steel Corp. He joined the company in 1964 as a rate analyst in the traffic department at the Oakland general offices.

EDWIN B. HEINLEIN of San Rafael has been appointed manager of the San Francisco office of Computer Sciences Corp. and will also direct all information systems activities in Northern California. Before joining the company last year he directed the planning of an information system for the San Francisco Police Department. Earlier he was associated with Western Union Telegraph Co. and for the Burroughs Corp.

FORMER NOTATO RESIDENT William Berry has joined the National Bank of Agriculture at Delano. For many years he as associated with the Novato office of Crocker-Citizens National Bank. Recently he has been with the Upper Lake Bank in Lakeport.

Clippinger

Walsh

DR. E. CLIPPINGER of Terra Linda has been appointed manager of the product development division, chemical research department, at the Richmond laboratory of Chevron Research Co. He joined the company in 1954.

ROBERT V. WALSH JR. of Larkspur has been promoted to installment loan officer at Crocker-Citizens National Bank's Northgate office and will continue to serve as manager of the installment loan department. He joined the bank in 1964 as a trainee and was assigned to the East San Rafael office the following year. He has been manager of his department at Northgate since 1967.

ROLAND A. ASHNER, salesman with J and B Ford Sales, Corte Madera, has completed an advanced truck selling course conducted by the Ford Marketing Institute in Burlingame.

Washington Street Bridge Bid In Line

The Petaluma City Council yesterday opened bids for construction of a new bridge at East Washington Street and purchased a parcel of property for enlargement of the bridge intersection at Washington Street and Petaluma Boulevard.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said bids were opened at 2 p.m. with the lowest apparent bidder being the Future Construction Co. of Dublin at $275,327. City engineer David Young has estimated the project costs at $281,840. "This figure is $7,000 under my estimate and I consider it a fine bid," Young said. Second on the list of six bidders was Homer J. Olsen of Danville with a bid of $315,265.

Construction costs include construction of a new five-lane bridge with pedestrian walkway and an improved entry intersection. Meyer said council can consider awarding the contract when final approval is received from the Coast Guard to halt navigation on the Petaluma River at the bridge site. Coast Guard officials in San Francisco had indicated that no serious protests had been received and that approval from Washington is expected soon.

The council approved an agreement with John J. King to purchase his property on the northeast corner of Petaluma Boulevard and Washington Streets for $22,500. The additional land will provide space for a separate left turn lane.

Also in preparing for bridge construction, the council approved and agreement with the Northwestern Pacific Railroad to share costs for a new signal system at the Washington Street grade crossing.

Young said costs, which have not been estimated, will be shared equally by the railroad and city.

The Petalluma City Council also:

ANNEXED — Annexed to the city 20.5 acres of land on South McDowell Boulevard as recommended by the Sonoma County Local Agency Formation Commission. McGiven said the land would be subdivided into 100 lots with a proposed new school site to the east of the property.

SEWERS—Ordered plans and specifications advertised for bids on the new sewer line on the Lakeville Highway from Lindberg Lane to a point near Highway 101 with a lateral line for Caulfield Lane. The project construction cost was estimated at $26,000.

RAILING—Authorized advertising for bids for a safety railing at the water pollution control plant as required by new state standards. Cost was estimated at $5,400.

RESIGNATION — Heard report that Edna Bovett had announced her retirement as city librarian effective June 30. Miss Bovett has been a city employee for nearly 40 years, according to Meyer.

REZONING — Adopted an ordinance rezoning 34 acres on Corona Road from light industrial to multiple family residential to permit developer David D. Young to construct a mobile homes park.

JOINT MEETING — Set Monday at 7:30 p.m. for a joint study meeting with the planning and recreation, music and parks commissions to discuss the bedroom tax and how it might be used in Petalulma. Bond issue items might also be discussed.

Students' Leader Gets Probation

Hayden, 28, was convicted yesterday of obstructing a police officer.

Wolf Lowenthal, 29, New York, was found guilty on the same charge and also placed on a year's probation.

Hayden recently has been a guest lecturer at University of California and resides in Berkeley.

The U.S.S. Constitution was launched at Boston in 1797.

Judge Dismisses Yorty Libel Suit

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mayor Sam Yorty's $2 million libel suit against the Los Angeles Times over an editorial cartoon was dismissed yesterday by a judge.

The cartoon by Paul Conrad was "not libelous on its face," said Superior Court Judge Jerry Pacht, and he dismissed the suit on a motion by Times attorneys at a pretrial hearing.

The cartoon published Nov. 19 depicted Yorty saying on the telephone, "I've got to go now. I've been appointed Secretary of Defense and the Secret Servicemen are here."

The four men standing by the desk were dressed like hospital attendants and one was holding a strait jacket.

Townhouse Denial Brings Doom To Park In Petaluma

The East Petaluma developer who was denied rezoning Monday by the Petaluma City Council for townhouse apartments told councilmen yesterday that he would not now be able to provide the city with a free five-acre park in a new subdivision he plans.

The council had unanimously rejected the rezoning of 16.6 acres on Washington Street at Ely Road after hearing hours of protests from the Petaluma Gardens Homeowners Association and the East Petaluma Civic Association. They charged the townhouses proposed by Arthur Condiotti would be detrimental to the single-family area.

Condiotti has received approval from the planning commission on Feb. 4 on a tentative map for a subdivision on the southern edge of Petaluma Gardens with the condition that he dedicate five acres to the city for a park and provide the necessary street improvements.

"The park project will not now be feasible as the result of Monday's council rejection of the rezoning," Condiotti said. He said he had made a verbal agreement with the commission that the park land would be given only if the rezoning was approved.

"If the city still wants a park there — you're welcome to buy the land at absolute cost and provide the street improvements,'' he said, estimating the land value at $40,000.

Councilman Phillip L. Joerger questioned if the condition to dedicate set by the planning commission wouold be legal. "You can't force any property owner to give land away," he said. "It's unconstitutional."

Condiotti was told to submit a revised tentative map minus the park to the planning commission for the latter's review March 4. Condiotti said the maps would be revised.

Councilman Robert S. Lipman said he felt the problem didn't stop with only the subdivision in question, but must be studied for the entire section of East Petaluma.

"Last night we rejected his rezoning on the basis that the apartments would create problems in traffic and school overcrowding — now we're talking about another subdivision and more people in the area — it doesn't make sense," Lipman said.

Mayor Helen Putnam agreed, saying she would prepare a proposal for council very soon that will plan a procedure for the orderly development of East Petaluma.

East German Guards Snarl Border Traffic

BERLIN (UPI)—East German border guards today delayed traffic for two hours at the western end of the highway linking Berlin to West Germany.

Border officials said the delay, supposedly to check identification papers, began at midnight and ended about 2 a.m. It backed up traffic, mostly trucks, more than two miles.

In a second incident that illustrated East Germany's ability to tie up West Berlin's access routes, West Berlin police today delayed all outbound traffic over the main departure highway for 15 minutes in the belief that East German engineers were doing demolition blasting along the road.

The East Germans had scheduled demolition work on a Soviet tank monument along the autobahn for today and succeeding days, including the Feb. 27 date of President Nixon's visit and March 4, the eve of the Western federal election the East Germans are protesting.

West Berlin police stopped traffic from approaching the East German Babelsberg checkpoint at 10:25 a.m., but allowed it to resume when drivers relayed word from the East Germans that today's blasting had been postponed.

The interruption of traffic by East German guards at the West German border backed up trucks and cars for a mile and a half. It came one day after the Communists halted traffic leaving West Berlin for an hour and 50 minutes at the Babelsberg checkpoint.

Youth Bound Over In Theft Of Auto

Larry E. Bell, 19, of San Francisco, was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on a charge of stealing a car Nov. 22 from Boas Pontiac in San Francisco.

Bell was ordered to appear in Marin Superior Court Monday by Judge Alvin B. Goldstein.

Innocent Plea To Drug Charge

John Conners Apostoli, 28, of 19 Glenn Avenue, San Rafael, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to charges of possession of marijuana and refusing to identify himself to police.

A preliminary hearing was set for April 1.

Apostoli was questioned by police Saturday when he was hitchhiking in Sausalito, officers said. They arrested him when he refused to identify himself, and in a search at police headquarters, a marijuana cigarette, marijuana butt and a pipe containing marijuana residue were found, police said.
